

Mrs. Gibson Your identity is Exposed Chapter 652

Melissa was on Shayna's side. Although Shayna did not say it, Melissa could also feel that she was hurt.

No one could stand the betrayal of his lover.

"Shayna can't stand it. She is still an entertainer and wants to develop her career. If you continue to bother her like this, what does it mean to her?"

Melissa's tone was firm, without any sympathy at all.

"I know. I was a bastard before. I already know that I was wrong. I just want to make up for my mistakes now."

Calvin was filled with regret. Melissa was tough, but he still forced himself to beg for mercy.

"It's too late to make up for it," Melissa directly refused. For the sake of Shayna's future, she would never let Calvin hurt Shayna again. She added, "If you had faced public opinion on the Internet with Shayna before, I would still respect you as a good and responsible boyfriend, but what you had done indeed disappointed me."

Calvin had already done it once. He knew that he would not be able to regain Melissa and Shayna's trust this time. "I'm willing to explain it now and prove her to be innocent on that matter."

"Do you want our company to be shut down?"

Melissa was furious, and she looked down upon Calvin at that moment.

It had already happened. The company had finally made it through. Shayna was also slowly moving on. If Calvin dug the secret out now, he would seriously hurt Shayna again.

Calvin kept silent. He knew that he was reckless this time.

"Shayna is no longer the Shayna before. The company will be in charge of her matters.

There is no need for you to worry about it."

Melissa said indifferently. What she could do now was to give Shayna a good environment to recover.

"What do you mean?"

Calvin widened his eyes. Could it be that after that incident, Shayna would care little about their relationship?

"She is much stronger than before. You abandoned her first, so you can't blame her for being heartless."

and then directly bypassed Calvin to leave. "If you went to the hospital to Melissa's tough threat, Calvin could stood unmoved, his mind constantly replaying the days he spent left the office, she went straight downstairs of the company with it angered her to such a entrance of the company when she saw a familiar eyes and looked at the license plates. Only then did she realize did not think too much about it. She curled her lips and walked over. She put herself in the here?"

still looked see you after I was the annoying matter a lot. So Murray gently, "What's wrong? Who made else could it be? It's about them were usually domineering and tough. But when facing each other, they work, don't even think her.
got blushed. She hurriedly covered her face
"Well..."
Eugen, don't tell me that you think I am going to kiss you."
"No, I don't."
murmured and had already
"Really?"
and gently kissed slowly closed her eyes, preparing to kiss second, Murray freed her again. He turned around and fastened her seat belt behind her.

follow the traffic rules and

“What?”

Melissa realize that she had been turned the steering wheel and drove the

the way. Melissa was now childlike, which made Murray

the car stopped in front

Only then did Melissa realize why Murray came. She smiled elegantly. “What? Is Mr. Gibson now interested in dating me?”

“Don’t laugh at me.”

Murray gently touched Melissa’s delicate nose, his eyes filled with love and care.

Ever since their company got into trouble, they had been focused on dealing with the company’s affairs. It had been a long time since they went on a date.

It just so happened that a new movie was being released today. Murray also heard the staff mention it, so he wanted to bring Melissa to watch a movie.

Murray got out of the car and quickly walked to the other side. He leaned down gently and opened the door for Melissa like a gentleman. Then, he stretched out his hand. “Please, my princess.”

Melissa lowered her head and smiled. She placed her beautiful hand on Murray’s. She then stepped out of the car and stood up elegantly.

Melissa naturally held Murray’s hand and they walked into the movie theater like normal couples. They looked so sweet and walked together happily.

Murray had already asked his secretary to buy the movie tickets. Their seats were in the fifth row, No. twenty and No. twenty–first.

Melissa did not expect Murray to be so good at flirting.

After watching the movie, Melissa was exhausted. Murray chose a love movie, which was not interesting to Melissa at all.

They were already married, but Murray rarely tried to be romantic, so Melissa decided not to disappoint Murray.

Murray noticed Melissa was so exhausted. He put his hand on her shoulder. "Let's go. We'll buy you new clothes."

"What?"

Melissa hesitated for a moment and asked,

"Didn't you ask the servants to buy some new products every quarter? There are so many clothes at home, and I have enough to wear."

"Liar."

Murray would not give Melissa the chance to refuse, "You should have more new clothes now. No girl would refuse it. You are my wife and you have to wear new clothes every day."

Melissa smiled and nodded. She didn't know where Murray learned it from, but he indeed learned it well.

Melissa was pulled into a luxury store by Murray. He was not like other boyfriends who only sat by the side and waited, but accompanied her to pick new clothes up.

Melissa was very happy about it. She did not expect that Murray would have become such a skillful husband.