

Mrs. Gibson Your identity is Exposed Chapter 663

Melissa was very disgusted, directly shaking off Quentin's hand and turning to leave.

"Then I will buy you breakfast tomorrow. Remember to eat it."

Quentin's words came from behind, making Melissa feel even more disgusted.

Murray had just stepped into the company when the secretary rushed up with a document, looking very flustered.

"What's the matter?"

Murray frowned. The secretary had been following him for many years. He had always been a mature and steady person. Now that he looked like this, something big must have happened.

"Mr. Gibson, a few customers just called and said that they wanted to cancel the contracts with us. We have been with these projects for a long time. If the contracts are canceled, we will suffer great losses."

The secretary handed the document in his hand to Murray. He did not expect that those customers would rather pay a high penalty fee to cancel the contracts.

"What's going on?"

Murray thought, why did these people suddenly act like this? They must have been provoked!

The secretary said, "We just went to check. We found that these customers all received a call in the morning, and it was from Robert."

Murray raised his eyebrows slightly. He thought, Robert? How dare he snatch customers from the company so openly?

"What did you say?"

"I'm not sure yet. Mr. Gibson, are we going to look for him?"

The secretary checked Murray's schedule for today. It was originally arranged very well, but now because of this matter, several things must be delayed.

Every project of the Gibson Corporation was carefully calculated. It was a great loss to lose several clients.

"That's why we have to be careful and do better confidential work of our customer resources. If there is a mole in the company, don't blame me for being rude."

Murray's sharp eyes frightened the employees. They had no choice but to agree. Since Robert had done such a thing, it meant that he had a strong background. The employees didn't know if they could defeat Robert's men.

The secretary understood what Murray meant and said, "You guys go back tonight and think of a plan. Tell me at the meeting tomorrow."

Then the meeting was dismissed.

Murray had just returned to the office when he found that the company's website was being attacked fiercely.

Fortunately, the company's firewall had always been designed by the top talents, and it was not easy to break it.

The other party was obviously coming for the Gibson Corporation.

"It's from Robert."

The secretary had just received a notice from the other side, which made Murray even angrier.

Murray thought, even Robert dared to bully me. I will never forgive him!

"Guard well. If they dare to attack again, we will not back down."

The programmers in charge of the firewall all nodded and then began a series of operations.

Sure enough, the other side only launched a wave of attacks, and then all disappeared on the website as if they had never been there.

This was a provocation to the Gibson Corporation.

Murray's face darkened. He returned to the office and asked someone to find out about the attack site of Robert Company.

In less than an afternoon, the Gibson Corporation also launched an all-out attack online. All of a sudden, the Gibson Corporation occupied the territory that originally belonged to Robert.

Robert realized the danger and immediately sent people to deal with it to minimize the loss.

The Gibson Corporation was a big company. Losing a few clients was nothing but a drop in the bucket for them. However, they couldn't stand being bullied. Naturally, they would not allow Robert to mess around.

"We can't let him have the chance to catch his breath."

Murray gave the order, and the programmers launched an even more violent attack.

Murray thought, I won't attack unless I am attacked. Since Robert wants to play a trick on me, don't blame me for being rude!
