Chapter 16 bad luck

Too late to think about anything, Nora took the stray dog and went to the pet hospital.

Even though she flew out to save the puppy just now, the puppy's front leg was hit by a car and injured.

Look at the time, she must be late to work.

Nora thought for a moment and dialed Asher's telephone.

"What is it?" On the other end of the phone, the man's deep and clear voice came.

"I have something to do. I will go to work late in the morning." Nora asked for leave.

Before she could finish, she was interrupted by the voice on the other end of the phone. "Don't tell me about such a small matter."

After saying that, the phone had been impatiently hung up.

Nora curled her mouth. The man was so cold that he didn't even want to say a word to her.

Anyway, she had already taken a leave of absence. Nora asked the doctor to examine the stray dog carefully. Fortunately, it was only a flesh injury and there was no serious problem.

"Can I be hospitalized for observation?" Nora was still a little uneasy.

The doctor laughed, "No problem."

Nora paid 2,000 yuan and left the dog in the hospital. She planned to find a dog lover to adopt her when she was cured in a few days.

When Nora hurried to The Howe Group after all this, it was almost eleven o'clock.

"Do you still know to come to work? Just look at what time it is!" Nora had just stepped into the door of the Secretariat when she saw Sarah coming towards her angrily.

"I have something delayed." Nora looked light way.

"Something delayed?" Sarah sneered, and her sarcastic eyes fell on Nora. "Nora, you were absent from work on your second day. Do you think of yourself as Mrs. Howe?"

Facing Sarah's accusation, Nora was calm. "Firstly, I am late, not absent from work. Second, I have a leave of absence, so it is not late."

"How dare you say that? When did you ask me for leave?!" Sarah pointed at Nora, and her anger became fiercer. "Nora, you are innocent and absent from work, you are fired!"

Feeling the strong hostility of the woman in front of her, Nora cleared the hand which was pointing to her. She smiled, "I gave Asher a leave of absence. You fired me in the name of absenteeism. Do you think Asher has no right to approve my leave?"

Sarah was embarrassed and he took Nora to the president's office. "You are nonsense! Let's go to Asher and make it clear in person!"

"Good." Nora agreed.

Then they could have the chance to figure out the problem about last night.

Sarah took Nora to the door of the president's office, tidied up her hair and clothes with her hands, and carefully mended her makeup before reaching out and knocking at the door.

Compared with Sarah, Nora could be a mess.

To save stray dogs, the original refreshing professional dress was wrinkled, and the chest was dirty by mud on the dog.

Looking at the little shyness and admiration on Sarah's face, Nora could understand why Sarah was targeting her everywhere.

Sarah liked Asher.

And she happened to be Asher's nominal fiancée.

No wonder Sarah took her as a thorn in her side.

"Come in." Asher's magnetic voice came, Sarah showed what she thought was the most charming smile and pushed open the door.

Just walked in, I saw the smile on Sarah's face suddenly solidified.

Nora looked intently. Beside Asher was standing with a woman.

A wave of curly hair, red skirt,

Nora frowned slightly, and her slightly dissatisfied eyes fell on the man above.

A black Armani handmade suit shows his perfect figure incisively and vividly. His knife-shaped eyebrows were frowning, his nose bridge was high and upright, his thin lips were sexy, and his whole body exuded noble breath, just like God's most perfect darling.

Indeed, this man was handsome and rich and had the capital to indulge countless women.

However, this did not include Nora.

She still despised this arrogant man who attracted bees and butterflies everywhere.

Forget it. Anyway, she and he were only betting for three months. After three months, they would break off their engagement.

How many relationships did he have, and what did it have to do with her?

Chapter 17 Justice

"Jennifer, I have something to say to the president." Sarah glanced at the woman in red, and her eyes fell on the man who attracted much attention.

Jennifer?

Nora remembered that this woman was the design minister of The Howe Group's Jewelry. She heard that The White's family and The Howe family were friends, so Jennifer became a minister at a young age.

"I am also reporting to the president. Don't you know about the rules?" Jennifer said disgustedly.

Asher leaned back, and his indifferent eyes swept Nora faintly, frowning slightly.

Didn't this woman call him this morning and say that she needs a break?

How could she become like this and let Sarah pull over here angrily?

Asher handed the design draft to Jennifer. "You can revise it again."

"Yes, Boss." Jennifer nodded, took the design draft, and stood aside, but did not go out.

Asher became pretty serious. "What's the matter?"

"Boss, Nora was absent from work today. I absolutely can't allow such undisciplined people in our secretarial department to stay." Sarah complained about this.

Rumor had it that Nora was just Howard's fiancée who forced Asher. Asher not only had no feelings for her but also hated her. If Sarah could take the opportunity to help Asher drive away Nora, Asher would certainly pay more attention to her.

"She asked me for leave." Asher played with the pen in his hand, lifting his thin lips slightly.

Sarah was stunned. Her lips mumbled twice, but she didn't know what to say.

Didn't people say Asher hated his fiancée? Why would he speak for her?

"All right, you all go out!" Asher loosened his tie, and his clear voice was already impatient.

Sarah and Jennifer turned and walked to the door. Nora cleared her throat. "Sarah, wait a minute!"

Sarah stopped. "What for?"

Nora's eyes sank. "Don't you give me an explanation about last night?"

"What happened last night?" Sarah asked with an unnatural twinkle.

"You deliberately said that you would send me data and let me stay in the company to work overtime. There is no data to deal with. Right?" Nora's eyebrow narrowed. "You deliberately asked me to wait for you in the company all night. Shouldn't you give me an explanation?"

Sarah didn't expect Nora to say what happened last night in front of Asher. Sarah was nervous and then she pretended to be calm. "Nora, what are you talking about? I just asked you to finish your work before going home yesterday. When did I say I would send you the data? You misheard yourself!"

Nora had expected Sarah not to admit it, so she took out her mobile phone and pressed the button.

Sarah's voice came out from the mobile phone. "I just received a phone call from Terry, saying that there is still data to be added. I will send it to you now, just wait here."

"Bitch!" Sarah didn't expect Nora to record her phone call last night. Sarah bit her lips and tried to retort, "Asher, that's not the case. Don't believe Nora..."

Nora interrupted Sarah with a smile casually, "Sarah, are you going to say that this recording is fake? Did I find someone to synthesize it? It is very simple. As long as you find an expert to identify it, you will know whether it is true or not."

Sarah became pretty nervous. She was going to say that the recording was fake and Nora had wronged her, but Nora said this, so she couldn't say anything.

What if Asher found an expert to identify it?

"I..." Sarah opened her mouth with difficulty, but she heard Asher sink in his voice. "Apologize to Nora."

Nora was a little surprised. She thought things didn't go so smoothly. After all, Sarah was an old employee of The Howe Group, and Asher hated herself.

In this way, Asher was not a person who did not distinguish right from wrong.

Chapter 18 Familiar Tastes

Sarah secretly shook her fist and reluctantly said to Nora, "I'm sorry."

Nora rubbed her ear. "What did you say? I didn't hear you."

Sarah could only raise her voice for a few minutes. "I'm sorry!"

"I don't want to see this happen again!" Asher said indifferently and Sarah couldn't help shaking.

Out of the president's office, Sarah rolled her eyes to Nora.

Sarah didn't expect this bitch to be smarter than she thought. This time she failed and made a fool of herself in front of Asher.

Sarah would revenge. And everything she suffered today would be doubled to Nora.

When it was time to get off work, Nora worked overtime for a while and checked the data given to her by Sarah before going back.

Walking out of The Howe Group Tower, Nora was about to take a taxi when a black Rolls Royce stopped beside her impartially.

It's Asher's car.

"Get in." Asher pressed the window and looked sideways at Nora.

Nora took a step back. "No, I'll take a taxi myself."

Asher frowned, opened the car door directly to get off the car. He looked at Nora from a high position. "It is difficult to take a taxi at this time. I don't want to go to the company in the middle of the night to take care of you for one night."

Referring to last night's embarrassing incident, Nora angrily gave Asher a supercilious look, "It's all your fault!"

Asher was stunned. What did last night have to do with him?

"You don't know that Sarah has a crush on you, do you?" Nora raised her lips and asked. If it weren't for Asher, how could Sarah regard her as an enemy and tried every means to expel her?

Sarah had a crush on him?

Asher couldn't recognize any feelings. His heart was completely occupied by the girl of childhood. He even didn't look at other women at all.

But to Nora, he inexplicably raised his eyebrows and seemed to smile.

"What, are you jealous?"

"Bullshit!" Nora glared at him grumpily and turned to leave. But she was pulled back by Asher's slender hand.

He pulled her into the car and said in an imperative tone, "Sit down!"

Before Nora could react, Asher sat in the driver's seat and locked the door. "I promised Grandpa that I would ensure your safety within three months."

Seeing Asher insisted on doing so, Nora nodded.

She also promised Grandpa to get along well with Asher.

As long as these three months had passed, they would return to be strangers and they would not meet each other.

It's just that these three months seemed a bit difficult.

Nora was thinking when suddenly a big hand with clear bones passed around her chest.

"What are you doing!" Nora was surprised and looked warily at the men around her.

Nora saw Asher leaning slightly, his big hand bypassing her chest, almost holding her half in his arms.

How ambiguous of this posture.

Asher looked faint. "Help you fasten your seat belt."

"No, I'll do it myself." Nora held down Asher's hand and was annoyed. How could she be distracted and forget to fasten her seat belt?

The temperature of the back of the man's hand came from the palm, and Nora's face was inexplicably hot.

Asher withdrew his hand, sat upright, and started the car. He looked gentle at this time.

Just now he smelled the faint fragrance of Nora, which was the same as he remembered.

Was... Nora the girl who saved him as a child?

Asher leaned sideways, his deep eyes staring at the girl around him. His voice was clear and low, with a throb that could not be hidden. "Nora, have you ever been kidnapped before?"

"Ah?" As soon as Nora fastened her seat belt, she heard this puzzling question of Asher.

Kidnapping? What the hell?

This man was really strange.

Nora shook her head. "No."

Chapter 19 Stealing a Diamond Ring

No?

In other words, the girl as a child could not be Nora.

Asher's eyes dimmed and his handsome face flashed a look of disappointment.

Nora sipped her lips, feeling puzzled.

What did he mean? Hoping she was kidnapped?

The two were speechless all the way home. Madge handed Asher a red invitation, "Steph's seventieth birthday this weekend, don't forget."

Steph's birthday party was held in Arial city's most luxurious Imperial Court Hotel, attended by prominent figures.

Nora was dismissive of such a banquet, but could not bear to be called up by Madge early in the morning.

Madge glared at Nora coldly. "Don't embarrass The Howe family!"

The banquet was full of excitement, but Nora felt bored and glanced at the man who attracted much attention in the crowd. She got up and prepared to get some air on the roof.

After a few steps, they were blocked by a group of people, Brittany, and her girlfriends.

Brittany stretched out her hand, wearing a sparkling diamond ring on her white fingers, which made her more noble and generous.

She deliberately glanced at Nora, and her mouth raised a proud smile. "See, this is designed by the world master Ada, the global limited edition. Grandpa bought it from the Parisian auction on my birthday last year."

"How beautiful!" Brittany's little sister kept complimenting, "Only Brittany deserves such a noble ring."

It's boring.

Nora glanced at the diamond ring on Brittany's hand. It was good-looking, but the DIA was a little smaller, which was far worse than that Grandpa gave her.

"Excuse me." Nora passed them straight and walked on without squinting.

Behind her came the voice of Brittany, who despised her. "Such a country girl!"

Nora stayed on the roof for a while, and when she returned to the banquet hall, a uniformed waitress pointed at her and shouted, "It's here! That's the person I just saw!"

Nora was stunned. What's wrong with this woman to point at her for no reason?

When Brittany heard this, she quickly walked to Nora and asked, "Nora, did you steal my diamond ring?!"

Stealing a diamond ring? What's the mess?

Nora frowned and glanced at Brittany. "What diamond ring?"

Brittany's girlfriends followed and accused Nora:

"I really can't know that Asher's fiancée turned out to be a thief."

"What fiancée? It's just a poor from the countryside. I'm afraid she had never seen such a precious diamond ring in her life. She can't afford it, she has to steal it."

"Brittany, don't be polite to her, call the police directly!"

Nora had figured it out. It turned out that this group of people wanted to accuse her of stealing.

She glanced at Brittany's hand. The diamond ring was gone just now.

"What happened?" Steph, who heard the movement, also came over on crutches.

"Grandpa, you have to make decisions for me." Brittany took Steph's arm wronged and glared at Nora angrily. "Nora stole the diamond ring you gave me."

Steph soothingly patted Brittany on the shoulder and narrowed his eyes to look at Nora. "Nora, did you take Brittany's diamond ring?"

Nora smiled calmly. "No."

Steph frowned. "Originally, a diamond ring was no big deal, but this is Brittany's favorite thing. If you like it, I will send you a better one another day. Now please return the diamond ring to Brittany."

Nora was speechless. "I didn't take it, how can I pay it back?"

"Nora, don't be shameless. Someone saw that you took it and you wanted to deny it?" Lany, the little sister beside Brittany, pulled the waiter who pointed at Nora just now and said angrily.

Chapter 20 The Flawless Plan

"Really?" Nora raised her lips and asked, it seemed that Brittany had set a trap to wronged her to steal things. She would like to see how Brittany could do.

"What the hell is going on?" Steph frowned and asked. He didn't quite believe that Asher's fiancée would steal things, but his granddaughter said it with conviction, and some people saw it with their own eyes, so he couldn't help believing it.

"Well, when Brittany showed us her diamond ring just now, Nora happened to pass by. She seemed to like the diamond ring very much and stared at it for a long time." Lany stepped forward and said with great certainty.

Nora: ? ? ?

When did she like this diamond ring? Still, staring at it for a long time??

Lany paused and continued, "Then we went dancing. Brittany took off the diamond ring and put it in her bag. But after we finished dancing, the diamond ring disappeared."

"Yes, then we looked in the banquet hall and met this waiter. She said that she saw someone take my diamond ring, and this person is Nora!" Brittany held back his excitement and added.

Today Brittany set up this flawless plan. Nora must be powerless. And Nora would become a rat crossing the street. How could Asher marry such a thief?

As long as Asher and Nora broke off their engagement, the position of The Howe family's housewife would have to belong to her Brittany.

Looking at Brittany and Lany echoed each other, Nora sneered and looked straight at the waiter with sharp eyes. "Did you see me take Brittany's diamond ring?"

The waitress was busy dropping her eyes and did not dare to look Nora in the eye, but nodded and whispered, "Well, I saw it."

"Don't be afraid, just tell the truth!"

Lany took a glance at the waitress.

The waitress reacted. "I went to the bathroom just now and saw Nora wearing the diamond ring on her hand. When she saw me, she hid the diamond ring in her bag in a panic."

"Nora, just turn back the diamond ring to Brittany! The Howe family have lost all the reputations!!" Madge came up with Ashley and shouted angrily.

"Auntie, don't be angry, what does this have to do with our The Howe family?" Ashley comforted her.

She stared at Nora again. "This girl has nothing to do with The Howe family. My brother won't marry a thief."

Ashley said this, which made people firmly believe that Nora stole Brittany's diamond ring, and they couldn't help talking about it.

Nora looked indifferently at these people in front of her, and she sneered.

The play was getting more and more lively.

"In this case, please return the ring to Brittany." Steph's face was so pale that this happened at his birthday party, and it was Asher's nominal fiancée who stole things.

Nora was impatient and didn't want to talk to them anymore. "I said I didn't take it."

"Open your bag and show us the truth!" When Brittany saw that Nora wanted to go, she stepped forward to block Nora.

Several security guards also surrounded Nora.

Seeing this posture, Nora couldn't help twisting her eyebrows. It seemed that if she didn't solve this matter today, she couldn't leave.

After thinking about it, Nora handed Brittany the bag in his hand. "Since you want to see it so much, take it!"

Brittany took Nora's bag. And then Nora saw Brittany smiled proudly for a minute.

Brittany handed the bag to the person in charge of security. "Open it and check it."

The person in charge of the security guard did not dare to neglect, carefully took the bag and unzipped it.

The next second, everyone exclaimed, "It's her!"

Brittany's sparkling diamond ring was lying in Nora's bag!
