Chapter 407 An Important Day

Days passed by quickly and finally, it was July 21st.

The bright sun looked as if it was indicating the enthusiasm of the people in Jork.

It was the day of the banquet that was held by Ronald, the master of the Sanderson family. It was held in Season Hotel and many celebrities were invited to the banquet.

People were so enthusiastic that they were even motivated to help others on the road.

They helped old people cross the road, pointed out directions to outsiders, helped ladies to carry heavy objects... ⓘ

After all, the one who brushed past them that day could be a rich person.

Among the citizens who tried to join in the fun, Trevor would be the most excited one.

After all, it would be the most important day in his entire life!

Right now, Trevor was making his last minute preparation before going out. He carefully straightened his tie as he looked at his confident and handsome face in the mirror.

According to the reports from Maison recently, there was still no news about Jacob. It seemed that he was likely to release the fake news today.

However, Trevor didn't care much about it!

In fact, all the internet accounts of Jacob, including a suspected personal media account that had just been registered yesterday, were monitored closely.

Once the fake news was released, Jacob would be the one who lost his reputation!

Trevor got to spend time with Luisa. It would be his priority.

After checking his looks, Trevor picked up the clothes bag in the corner, which contained the dress that he had personally asked Danna to design for Luisa.

Today, Trevor didn't put on the fake clothes that Rodney and Keyla prepared for him. He bought a new set of branded clothes.

After all, the banquet had significant meaning for him and so, he made extra effort for this event.

He didn't even bring the necklace and jewelry that Rodney and Keyla gave him.

It was because Trevor believed that Luisa deserved a better memory which didn't involve fake items.

When everything was ready, Trevor drove his Bugatti

Chiron out of his villa.

When he arrived at the downstairs of Luisa's house, he found that the neighborhood was quite lively.

In the originally empty parking lot, a eye-catching new Mercedes Benz multi-purpose car was parked. The price of it was estimated to be seven to eight million dollars.

There were no other cars parked in the two parking spaces near it as it was expensive.

With a faint smile on his face, Trevor parked his Bugatti beside the new Mercedes Benz.

Then, he slowly approached the door of the Burke family's house. When he got nearer, he found that the door was a little ajar and there seemed to be guests inside.

"Keyla, what's wrong with Luisa's friend? Why is he so late? You said that he is handsome and rich, right? When is he coming?"

"Don't be so impatient. He'll come soon. The lifestyle of the rich men is different from ours."

Hearing the conversation, Trevor smiled. Judging by the voice, he could tell that Keyla was a little unhappy.

Without thinking too much, Trevor reached his hand out and knocked on the door two times politely.

At that time, the door was ajar.

Trevor was about to push open the door and enter when the door was opened from inside.

He didn't expect that Keyla would be this fast to open the door.

However, once he saw the expression on her face, he nearly laughed.

Obviously, Keyla pulled a long face. She looked as if everyone owed her hundreds of thousands of dollars.

It was needless to say that she was angry.

After all, Trevor was late.

Therefore, Keyla had planned to vent her dissatisfaction.

However, once she saw the way Trevor was dressed, she was stunned!

The saying 'the tailor made the man' was indeed true.

Since Trevor had never dressed up so carefully in his life, he looked more confident than before. His new look also surprised Keyla.

If she didn't know him, she would have thought that the man standing in front of her was indeed a young man from a rich family!

However, her face darkened the moment her eyes fell on the logo on his suit.
