

Marriage To The Mafia Boss

Chapter 110 - The Red Pocket

"It is so easy as long as I have your two individual pictures. Anyway, you have your honeymoon already and there is nothing to delay the process. I bless you with this marriage and we can be one whole family," Vito is answering their question. It is not hard to make them official and they can spend time together. No one knows their age when they are already in such a condition.

"I never see the Don speak so much like that. He even makes tea for his wife. Is he the real Don Mancuso?" Little Jack is asking curiously. He is taking off his jacket and folding his sleeve.

"Just wait and see..." Ai Jia is standing while checking the email from his phone. Andrea is already working in the company, and he is already working on behalf of their boss with full cursing in the air.

They are talking and chattering when Grandmother Lin is finding out about the young foreign man in the corner with AI Jia.

"Ah, he is your new grandson-in-law. He is sister Lin Yan's husband," Vito is answering while feeding his wife some fresh cut fruit.

Grandfather Sun is doing the same as his grandson to his new wife.

"Come here, young man. Tell me what you are doing for life?" Grandmother Lin is asking him for some introduction.

"My name is Jack Bruno. I am born in the United States of America. I was working with Russo family company in Queen when Mr Mancuso recruit me to work with him," Little Jack is answering Grandmother Lin with his clear answer. He is such a good person who never lies even though he works in a mafia family.

He never lies or hurt someone when he works with Mr Russo. He only works behind the scenes or drives Mr Russo everywhere. This is the reason for Vito to put him as his brother-in-law. His sincerity moves Vito.

"You have to be patient and care toward Lin Yan. She is liked to be pampered. You can learn from A Man to work from the bottom of the company. I believe you can make my granddaughter happy," Grandmother Lin is walking toward this young foreign man. She is holding his hand and making sure to comfort him as a gesture to welcome him into the family.

"I will learn from Mr Mancuso, Madame," Little Jack is answering politely to the elder in front of him. Grandmother Lin is satisfied with his good characteristic.

Vito did not have any choice to marry Lin Yan and blow it up into the media. Lin Yan has conveyed the title as the first lady of Mancuso. She is eyeing the position of his wife. No one can bully his wife as long as Vito is still alive.

He can't allow it to happen in this life. No one can take away his wife from his side. Now, he will not allow her to get her marriage to be annulled or divorce.

In the plane to the C city, he is already sending the email to every person relate to blow up their marriage in the C city. They are going to get invited as the couple of the year.

Vito also becomes one of the stake holders of Lin Yan agency. He is making it secret as a request and told the agency to keep Lin Yan marriage as the couple of the year.

They can groom Lin Yan husband as his appearance is really not bad. He will be ready after the family business has been deal. They are going to make their wedding ceremony to be streaming into the public.

The television station is already giving out their slot for the wedding of the centuries of their Goddess. Vito has to make everyone knows about their marriage and she can't look or wish to replace Emma on his side.

Lin Yan is getting drop home by her agencies. Grandmother Lin and everyone else is having a dinner together in the backyard due to the nice weather.

Lin Yan is leaving her suitcase to the maid and joining her family. She finds little Jack who leave her this morning. She is dragging him out from his seat and take him away from her family.

"Why did you leave me? And why we get married?" Lin Yan is looking at him with a puzzled mind. All her plan in the future scatter on the floor and it has to do with this foreign guy in front of her. He is kind of cute and perfect gentleman.

"You do not remember? You beg me to be responsible and marry you after last night. I run to the city hall to register in our marriage when I come back, you already left the hotel," Little Jack is answering her question as instructed by Mr Mancuso. He admits to Mr Mancuso that Jack falls in love in the first sight with Lin Yan, the perfect beauty from east Asian.

However, Little Jack can't deny about the beautiful facial expression of Madame Mancuso. She is equal with the miss universe.

"I was drunk, and you take my word seriously. How do you find me here?" Lin Yan is interrogating him before she can think for any solution. Her agency wants her to keep the marriage and create image of their prefect marriage couple.

"I am man of my word. If I do promise you to become your husband than I will become your husband. No One can stop me. I took the earliest flight to C city when I bump into Mr Mancuso in the airport. He takes me into his private plane, and it turn out about your family relationship with Don Mancuso," Little Jack is telling her about his journey into her home which move Lin Yan. She is getting moves by his gesture and want to settle down everything with him.

"Xiao Yan, come and have dinner. you must be starving," Grandmother Lin is calling her so lovingly. Maybe she can make her husband as one of the directors in the Lin corporation and take the whole company as herself.

Lin Yan is holding his hand and escort him to the table. She is sitting into the empty seat next to Jack seat. They are having a barbeque when Vito is cutting the steak for his wife.

Little Jack is learning from his boss and doing the same thing for Lin Yan. She is getting moves again with all his attentiveness. Last night, she must be stranded on the street and have sex with stranger if it is not saved by Little Jack.

"Now, Yan and Emma, what is your plan?" Grandmother Lin is asking them after the dinner finished.

"I do not need any wedding ceremonies. I got enough getting married," Emma is refuting her grandmother plan to hold a grand wedding. She does not want something grand and already contempt with her marriage life at the moment.

"How about you Lin Yan?" Grandmother Lin is shifting her gaze locked to her other granddaughter.

"The television station is going to relay the wedding on air. So, I have to make it as grand as possible. I might need to borrow some stuff or money from grandmother. However, I have secured some sponsorship from my ambassador product to chip into my wedding ceremonies," Lin Yan is explaining to them.

"I will pay for all your wedding expense. We are from the Lin family, and we do not need to find money for your wedding. You find a good man as your husband and it is already making my wish come true," Grandmother Lin is expressing her wishes.

"I also can pay for my granddaughter wedding expense. You have to make it grand," Grandfather Sun is telling them about his idea to support the decision of his wife.

"Who are you, sir?" Lin Yan is asking him politely.

"I am your new grandfather. I just marry your grandmother, so if you need something or build, please let me know," Grandfather Sun is answering Lin Yan question.

"Grandmother, you are getting married also!" Lin Yan is getting choked from the news.

"Congratulation. Please do not forget the generous amount of red pocket for your new Granddaughter." Emma is clasping her hand to congratulate them as newlywed.

"Thick red pocket. I want one also," Vito is looking seriously to his grandfather.

"You brat, I give you the head family position and yet, you still ask me for red pocket," Grandfather Sun is complaining about his cheeky grandson.

"Can I exchange it with money? The position is making me headache and it is not really solvable. Can I just ask for money instead?" Vito is answering ashamedly toward his grandfather.

"Wait a second. Uncle is the head of Sun family?" Lin Yan did not believe the fact regarding her sister husband wealth.. Heaven is not fair at all when her sister get the best in her life while she has only a foreigner.