

Marriage To The Mafia Boss - Chapter 26

. Chapter 26 - Luring His Nephew

As Vito is acquiring the hospital including the university. It means the head of the university comes in hurry to meet up with their new owner. They are rushing to the hospital meeting room with their budget and financial audit plan to get presented to their new owner.

Vito is really tough to deal with the business when it comes to his personal project and this time, it is related to his dear wife. He will not spare anything on the company expense to make her wife to be comfortable.

Li Wen Liang is finishing the last operation on the critical patient from the accident and manages all the accident victim to be send stabilize on their ward. Their occupancy from normal fifty percent goes up into one hundred percent. He got headache straight away to think his uncle instruction.

His assistant is running to him in the operation theatre corridor with the tablet in his hand.

‘What happen ? Why do you need my signature ?’ Wen Liang is looking tired toward his assistant.

‘Professor Li, Ai Jia is asking all the inventory for our latest medical equipment and tools. I made a list, and you just need to sign it as the protocol as we are going to send out one of our important file,’ his assistant is getting his boss consent.

‘Why does my uncle assistant ask for our hospital inventory ? Normally, it will goes to the financial director if we are requesting the budget...’ Wen Liang is asking some explanation.

‘I really do not know about it, boss... do you want me to call Mr Ai ?’ Wen Liang assistant is asking him back some question.

‘I will call my uncle...’ He finishes to sign the consent before he takes out his mobile phone to call his uncle. It did not take a long time before he can hear a familiar voice on the opposite side.

‘Speak’

‘Uncle, why do you need the hospital equipment inventory? Are you going to buy me the latest equipment?’ Wen Liang is boasting about himself and his company.

‘Have you managed to make profit this month? If I do not send you the patient today, you will still be having 50% occupancy in your hospital,’ Vito is refuting to his idea for more funding.

‘Uncle, we are private exclusive hospital, and we have to keep our bed to cater the need of our exclusive customer,’ Wen Liang is trying to rebuke his uncle idea.

‘I do not care, but your hospital is having the best equipment in the whole country. So, I will register your hospital to the government as public private hospital to make money for our insurance provider,’ Vito is reprimanding his nephew about his stupid idea for the whole concept of his idea. he might be good surgeon and smart, but he is such a bad businessperson.

‘Uncle, are you going to kill me by turning my hospital into public hospital with the emergency treatment?’ Wen Liang is pleading to his uncle.

‘I will not turn your hospital to the public hospital as long as you are going to pay me % 150 million. You can do whatever you want with the hospital,’ Vito is answering his nephew pleas about his plan.

‘Uncle, even if I sold all my family inheritance and myself, I can’t come with % 150 million. I am not like you who has your fortune on every corner of your eyes,’ Wen Liang is complaining toward his uncle for his short-term idea to make him work tiredly.

‘Then work and I might throw you one of the newest radio imaging SPECT for your hospital,’ Vito is luring his nephew to work harder.
