

Marriage To The Mafia Boss - Chapter 40

Chapter 40 - The Food Stall

as soon as they settle grandmother to her new room. The nurse is giving her some medication and make her drowsy. Out of a sudden, there is a growling sound come out from Emma's stomach. It means she is already hungry and the time show almost ten pm the night.

'I don't think there is any food stall open in this hospital. How about you go back and rest?' Aunt Santi is telling them to go back and rest after their long trip.

'Auntie, is there any food stall in the night? How about the chicken satay?' Emma asked her aunt for a place to buy some food.

'There is in the night market by the name 'Pak Marwah'. I will write down the area and you give it to the driver to bring you there,' Auntie Santi is writing the address and the exact area for the stall. Emma is so happy to get her favourite food in the country.

Emma takes the paper and goes to the gobsmacked facial expression of Vito. He is a clean freak who never eat out from the unknown street stall. He always takes care of all his well-being and pays attention to everything inside his body.

They are going out to their car where Emma is passing the paper to the driver. Vito does not have the heart to hurt or disappointed his wife. He only can see the kind of food that his wife carves.

The driver brings them toward the city centre and drops them into the area of the food night market. He is parking the car in the nearby area and guide them through the market. The driver is an old guy who guides them through the crowd in the night. Max and his subordinate got a headache with the situation when it come to their boss security measure in the public.

Finally, they are arriving in the food stall for chicken satay. The crowd in the stall means that the food quality is actually really good. Ai Jia is telling the driver to book the whole table for his boss and willing to pay for their revenue for the whole night. They still can take orders for taking away, but they can't serve the customer for dine-in while their group is in the food stall.

The food stall owners got surprised by the offer, but it does make sense as they are coming for the whole pack, and it will make the whole table full.

‘Mr Ai, the owner said no need to pay for their whole night revenue. You all are eating in this food stall already make bless for the owner because of the sale,’ The driver is explaining the food owner word to them.

‘It’s okay because we are wanting this time exclusively for us, so we want to compensate for their loss of dine-in customers.’ Ai Jia is explaining to the driver and the owner. They are happy to accept their order and clean up the table.

Ai Jia and Max take out the disinfectant from their pocket and clean up the table with special wipes for Vito to sit down. Emma is gobsmacked with the treatment from Ai Jia and Max for preparing Vito seat and table.

‘Are you seriously germ-phobia?’ Emma is looking at her husband with an amusement expression. It never comes to her mind about his habit of cleanliness.

‘Is it wrong? I take care of my body really well,’ Vito answered her obvious question of whether he got OCD.

‘Nope... nothing is wrong,’ Emma is smiling and taking her seat on the empty clean table. Vito is sitting down and cleaning his hand with a hand sanitiser and a wet towel. Emma really amused to see the level of cleanliness of her husband.

‘Are you going to scrub in?’ Emma can’t stop teasing him but his way of cleaning his hand remind her about the surgeon scrub.

‘No,’ he answers her in a short and cold expression. Emma really gets used to his attitude and behaviour. She is ordering all the menu on the food stall and tell all the bodyguard to sit and eat the food. Emma also tells the driver to join them at the table to eat the food. Ai Jia is really happy to get the native local food on the street.

‘Madame, how do you know if the local food is the best from the street vendor?’ AI Jia is feeling thrilled and forget about his pain.

‘I know. I can already smell the food in the air and make my mouth drooling,’ Emma is telling AI Jia about her food thought. Vito is smiling to see his wife and assistant actually click together about the food.

The food stall is serving the food they ordered on the table. Emma is really happy to get lamb and chicken satay dress in peanut sauce. There is cube rice cake on the plate and lamb curry. Vito is reluctant to eat the food.

‘Honey.’ Called Emma with her mouth open when she stuffed a skewer with the rice cake to Vito open mouth. He chews it and feels the sensation of taste blow up in his mouth. His expression changed at the moment he eats through the food.

‘it’s good, right? I told you,’ Emma is mocking him. she gives him the set of food in front of him when he eats them straight away. Emma does not need an answer from him to see by her own eyes that her husband loves the food. she also eats the food in front of her until everything is on the plating finish. They are feeling hot and takes the ice mineral water for the drink.

Many passers-by are stopping to see the three handsome foreign men eats the food on the stall. It makes the food stall become really full of the crowd. They are thinking an actor come and eat in the stall.

Vito told Ai Jia to settle the payment and they have to move out from the food stall as the crowd get bigger and bigger.

Emma and Vito decide to go back to the hotel where Vito is working in the night with Andrea to solve the problem of the middle east.

In C city, Lu Xi gets released after paying her bail with her assistant. She is going back to her apartment to recharge her energy to find that the company takes back all of her assets. They are going to the hotel to gather her mind.

‘Why did he not answer the phone?’ Lu Xi is getting angry with him. as soon as her assistant said that she needs to be inside the house alone to avoid the ruckus while the agency tries to find the way out.

She is so angry when her own agency tries to wash up their hand and tries to put her inside the shelf. She is not that bad, and she has talent.

In the downstairs of the hotel, Lin yang is taking brother Han Zheng to have a meal in the restaurant. This is actually one of the ways Lin Yan seduce brother Han Zheng. She feels down when he ignores her after the incident.

She manages to slip some aphrodisiac drug into his food and drink. As usual, she is pretending to be the good girl and being obedient.

‘Yan, I think something wrong with my body. I need to go back home and rest,’ Luo Han Zheng is telling her in the middle of their meal.

‘Let me arrange room for you up the stair. I am afraid if you have to drive in this condition,’ Lin Yan said with her gentle voice. She is happily arranging the room for brother Han Zheng and her when she meets with one of the managers from Star Management.

‘Do you get the room?’ Han Zheng is approaching Lin Yan as the receptionist when the hotel staff is handing the room key. Lin Yan wants to go up with him, but the management staff stop her. Luo Han Zheng with his delirious mind goes up by himself.

He hears the room number on the 30th floor and room number 6. However, he tries to open it with the room key, and it did not work. He only can only knock on the door and hope it open out of his mind. He really can’t think straight anymore.

Lu XI is opening the door and Han Zheng pushes her inside the room. He is kissing her so passionately and push her into the wall. Apparently, Lu Xi is in the middle of her bath when she hears the knock on the door. She is only wearing a towel in her naked body when Han Zheng continuously kissing her lips and touching her inner thigh to arouse her.

Her towel falls down on their way to the lounge room when he pushes her into the sofa and exposes her naked body. she gets aroused from his kiss and pushes him down to open his pants. Lu Xi is having sex with Han Zheng to release all the effects of an aphrodisiac in his body.. he feels really good from the whole release sex session.