

Marriage To The Mafia Boss -

. Chapter 61 - Emma Is Back To Her Grandmother

‘I will come with you to the ICU. Are you the person appointed by the hospital director to take care of Madame Lin, Professor Li? I think this arrangement is a little too much,’ Professor Lin is telling him after he tries to wheel the bed out from the operation room. Li Wen Liang is pushing the gurney with him toward the ICU room.

They manage to move her to the ICU where Li Wen Liang is writing and recording all the patient conditions meticulously. He might be the youngest surgeon in history, but he is one of the best transplant surgeons in general surgery.

He is really good with all his patients and her will not put down his reputation. The Mancuso’s security guard already securing in front of Madame Lin ICU room. Professor Lim is checking from time to time, but he did not bother to inform Lin Yan in front of the operation theatre.

Professor Lim is going to continue for his next patient. He left Madame Lin under Professor Li watch and feel assure under his care.

===

Emma is bidding goodbye to her maternal grandmother and explaining the reason for her sudden departure. Vito also with his wife to bid farewell to her maternal family before left the hotel to the airport.

‘Hey, Santi, how they are going to fly this time of hour?’ Fenny is asking her sister-in-law.

‘My nephew-in-law is having his own plane. We are going to stay in their luxurious penthouse until mom’s house fixes,’ Aunt Santi is telling her without any restrain and forget all the politeness. She hates her sister-in-law so much to keep her brother away.

Aunt Santi words make her be quiet straight away for her nephew-in-law to have a plane. It means that he is a beyond wealthy man.

Vito takes Emma to the airport, and they are going in the VIP hangar this time to board the wide-body plane of the Mancuso. They are entering the plane where Emma is sitting quite far away from Vito.

‘Hey, are they in the cold war?’ Andrea is asking AI Jia after they witness the position of their sitting location.

‘I do not know,’ AI Jia is sitting next to Andrea on the plane.

Vito did not complain about his wife sitting position as he is busy reading the report. He has been behind on all his work lately. He has to prepare for the test of the head family of Sun on the weekend. If the test is not changing then he can get through the whole ordeal. He already put his arrangement with Andrea earlier and put some backup plan.

As soon as the plane touches the sky, Vito can see his wife drift to sleep. He is going up from his seat and put the chair to flatbed before wrapping her with the blanket. He is going to the bathroom to wash up his make-up and take off his tie. He is sitting on the chair next to his wife and drift to sleep. He can’t sleep without his wife, and he is not going to start it any time soon.

The flight arrives early morning at the private VIP hangar. He looks at his wife still sleeping soundly when he nudges her softly.

‘Sweetheart, we are arriving. Do you want to change your clothes before going straight to the hospital?’ Vito is telling his wife to wake up. Emma is stretching her body and see her under the blanket.

‘Good morning.’ She smiles so beautifully and makes his heart flutter in happiness. She is standing up and walks to the bathroom inside the plane where there is a set of clothes for her to change from her gown. She is also cleaning her makeup and brush her hair. She changes her contact lens to her glasses.

She goes out of the bathroom with a fresh face after the long rest on the way back. She is going straight to the hospital. Vito is already changed into a casual suit from the other lavatory. He is escorting his wife out of the plane to their car on the bottom of the stair.

They are going to the Qin hospital where they are going to the ICU area. They can see Lin Yan and Han Zheng are waiting in front of the ICU room. As soon as they are arriving in front of the ICU room. Emma and Vito are going inside the ICU without even blinking their eyes to greet Lin Yan.

It makes Lin Yan burns in anger but Luo Han Zheng is sitting next to her. She needs to hold up and take everything inside her heart. She will count keep a tally on every treatment from Emma.

They are using a surgical robe to cover their outfit and use a mask to enter the ICU room. Inside Emma’s grandmother, there is a man with a scrub uniform who make sure all her vital and medication are on her grandmother. She did not know him in this life and previous life. Emma also never sees him in this hospital.

‘Who is this?’ Emma is asking her husband when he bows to Vito as soon as they are coming inside the room.

‘My beloved cousin, Li Wen Liang and this is Emma, my wife,’ Vito is introducing us when Emma is busy looking at her grandmother chart. She is bowing to her husband cousin.

‘Professor Li Wen Liang. I have observed her for the whole night, and everything is looking normal. Professor Lim did a good job of releasing her cranial pressure from the bleeding and this excellent professor on the general surgeon is observing and taking care of her grandmother.

‘Vito, are you telling the genius professor in the transplant surgery to babysit my sick grandmother?’ Emma remembers him from a medical journal as one of the geniuses in medical history for transplant. His mortal rate on transplant surgery is one hundred per cent.

‘Thank you, sister. At least, you manage to realise my position,’ Wen Liang is smiling and smirk at his cousin.

‘If he is a genius then I will be the king of all geniuses,’ Vito is making his opinion. There is something about Vito that no one knows. He always keeps one of the secrets about his life regarding his own passion. Vito is reading Grandmother Lin chart and look at his cousin meticulously handwriting on the patient chart.

Wen Liang is not refuting his cousin word and sit down on his chair in the corner of the small room. Emma is going to hold her grandmother hand to realise she start to wiggle her finger. Emma tries to call her grandmother's name when Grandmother Lin starts to open her eyes. Vito stands behind Emma who needs support with the miracle that happens to her grandmother. Wen Liang is standing closer to check all her vital before he clears her condition.

He is going out to talk with his cousin and leaves Emma to stay behind with her grandmother. There is Professor Lim arriving in the ICU. He is going closer to Li Wen Liang and Vito to get an update on the condition of Lin Mei Hui

'I am afraid, she needs to undergo another operation for draining all the excess fluid in her brain. At the moment, the fluid is kept flowing out and it does not look good,' Wen Liang is explaining to his cousin and Professor Lim comes closer to hear about Old Madame Lin condition.

'I will do another CT scan today and this afternoon, I will schedule another operation on her. Do you suspect hydrocephalus [1] in her brain as the cause of her fall?' Professor Lim is asking professor Li.

‘I think so. I oversee the fluid come out from the shunt installed to drain the excess blood and fluid. The tremendous amount of fluid come out is really concerning,’ Li Wen Liang is telling everyone in the group.

‘Professor, you needed in the emergency room. There is your previous patient, and they need you to operate on her,’ The nurse is letting Professor Lim about the phone call.

‘Can you tell Professor Qing to take the case?’ Professor Lim is trying to get his colleague to take the case for him.

‘Professor Qing is still in operation room 3. Professor Chu is in a medical symposium since yesterday and Professor An call off sick,’ the nurse is informing him about all the neurosurgeon professor. He is well aware of his department condition. Professor Lim did not have any other choice rather than go to save another patient.

‘Go. I will oversee madame Lin in here,’ Li Wen Liang is tapping Professor Lim shoulder before he walks out from the ICU.

‘Someone helps!’ Emma is screaming about her grandmother condition inside the room. They are rushes to Grandmother Lin room to find out Emma putting her hand on grandma’s head to prevent everything goes to worse.

[1]an abnormal build-up of fluid in the ventricles (cavities) deep within the brain.