

Marriage To The Mafia Boss -

Chapter 9 - His Affection

‘Why do you need to go to the hospital?’ Vito is asking her about it. She does not look sick, or does she hurt her hand to slap his face? There is a big question mark on his head. He is going to get closer to his wife and get her hand.

‘I am fine. I need to check about my attending schedule, or else I will be jobless....’ Emma told him naively. If she is not wrong, she was refusing the offer to become the neurosurgeon attending post after her marriage with Luo Han Zheng because of the pressure of his jealousy.

Ru Ya is pursuing her career as the intern of a general surgeon and report all her movement in the hospital to Lin Yan. Apparently, Lin Yan career in entertainment is rising due to some support from the Luo Corporation. However, in reality, she is making her life to be in hell.

‘Get ready, and I will drop you at the hospital on my way to work,’ Vito is telling her about his plan.

‘Are you not going to feed me also ? I am hungry, and I need coffee....’ Emma is looking at him with her puppy eyes as if a small kid needs her milk.

‘There is a set of breakfast plates on the table for you.... Go eat that, and I will wait for you to finish the food,’ Vito is drying his hair inside the walk-in closet. He sees Emma’s hair is still wet from the wet towel on her head, but she is going to the bedroom to eat her breakfast.

Vito is following his new wife with her clumsy behaviour and bring the hair drier. He is standing behind her and take off the towel before he dries her short hair. He brushes and shakes her hair as if he does his own hair.

‘Ouch... be gentle,’ Emma is complaining to him due to the rough way to dry her hair.

‘Stop complaining and keep eating your food. this is the first time I ever touch and dry someone else hair,’ Vito is informing her, who continues to eat her food. He makes his move in her hair gentle when she is smiling at his action.

Vito leaves her alone when he thinks her hair is already dry enough and goes back to the walk-in closet. He is coming out with his impeccable appearance and Italian design black suit. He is wearing his wedding ring on his finger when He sits down in front of Emma, who is still enjoying her morning cup of coffee.

‘Where is your hospital?’ Vito is asking while his eyes are glued to his tablet on his cross leg.

‘I am graduating from the University of Qing in the capital, and I work in the hospital university for my resident. Hopefully, I got my attending and fellow position in the university hospital,’ Emma is answering him while devouring her coffee. She is stunned to drink such a nice coffee in this house.

Meanwhile, Vito is taking out his handphone and make a text to Ai Jia.

‘Buy the Qing University and Hospital now! Merge it to the portfolio of Bupa Corporation group....’

There is a reply from the shocked assistant who cannot believe his boss text message. He is well aware of their company goal for this quarter which did not include any health and education provider.

‘Boss, they are not selling their company at the moment. Do you still want to buy it?’

Vito is reading his assistant text message with a cold expression.

‘I SAID BUY THE QING UNIVERSITY AND THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL UNDER THEIR GROUP!’ Vito replies to his text with emphasis on his emotion in his text message. Ai Jia is spiting his coffee toward Max’s face to see his boss answer the text message.

‘Thank you, Ai Jia...’ Max is pissed off with a dirty coffee on his face.

‘Sorry... Max!!’ Ai Jia is helping to clean his colleague face who got his coffee. Ai Jia tries to pacify his angry friend due to his action.

Vito and Emma are walking out of their room and walking down to the house’s main area. Emma is looking really surprised to see the size of the mansion with all the luxury items inside the house, which is dominant with black and white. It gives a domineering and masculine feeling to her. At least, it is reflecting the owner boring and domineering characteristics.

Everyone is lining up with their full uniform and bowing to them as soon as they approach the main entrance. Emma gets gobsmacked to see the size of the land in front of her which occupy the mansion. Vito is standing in front of the car door to let his wife enter as a gentleman.

Emma is entering his car and sit in the back seat next to him. Max and Ai Jia are sitting in the front seat and take care of the driver. This time, Vito is taking the precaution of security really seriously compared to yesterday. This time, they are travelling with the others two SUVs full of his bodyguards.

‘Jia, what is my schedule today?’ Vito is resting his head and closing his eyes while asking his assistant for his schedule.

‘The first meeting will be with the President of C country regarding your big investment to this country. And then before lunchtime, there is a meeting with A Country defence minister regarding our contract for their weapon and defence project with our corporation. You will have a quick lunch break when the Europe Union meeting regarding the defence project with you and in the afternoon, Prince Albert is occupying your meeting time for your investment to his project in Northern UK.’ Ai Jia is reading his boss schedule until in the evening. Emma listens to the schedule and realises he even did not have time to eat his meal properly.. However, his appearance is not like people mention about him being old, fat and mean.