My Villainous Wife

Chapter 78 – Give Me A Kiss

When Yan Xiaoran turned around to look behind her, she felt her vision spinning.

Alexander was standing in front of her and he was holding a man by the collar but his eyes were glued to her.

She saw him frowning after looking up and down on her figure. She caught sight of his intense gaze and she knew that he didn't like what he was seeing.

Not because he thought that she looked ugly. It was the opposite, Alexander thought that he would lose control of himself in public and take her right there and then. He was also angry at the fact that she wore something so revealing.

He suddenly had the urge to gouge the eyes of everyone in the club so they wouldn't look at her. As for the two guys who tried to hit on his woman, he'll deal with them by himself and hope they won't die after a few beatings.

Yan Xiaoran almost laughed out loud when she saw his eyes flashing in jealousy. She already knew that Alexander was possessive of her but she didn't like it. Quite the opposite, she finds his possessiveness and obsession towards her cute.

Unlike two years ago, the innocence that was visible when one look at Yan Xiaoran was gone. Her alluring curves and her sensual stare was the only thing that was left after she became more mȧturė.

What's more, she was once conservative with her scars and didn't like others to see it but after facing her fears, she didn't hide her scars any longer and treated them as her trophies to the past that should have killed her.

She got off her chair and walked towards Alexander. Her eyes didn't leave his as she ignored the stares she was getting. Xie Na was also anxiously watching what was happening and felt that her boss somehow knew the man who had just appeared out of nowhere.

However, there was also a nagging part of her that tells her that the man that her boss was walking to was extremely dangerous.

When Yan Xiaoran stopped right in front of him, Alexander felt his body turning rigid. Just from having her up close to him was making him lose his mind.

It was not only Alexander who was being affected by their encounter tonight. Alexander looked like he came out of a magazine. His black coat gave him an image of a grim reaper and his handsome face made it hard for her to breathe. His dark eyes raked over her body like he could see her standing nȧkėd before him.

Feeling hot all over, Yan Xiaoran became bolder and to everyone's surprise, they saw her arm hooking around Alexander's neck.

"Husband?" She raised his eyes to look at him. A smile was playing on her lips, "But we're not married."

He didn't expect her to act this way to him...

She was clearly trying to tease him by brushing her ċhėst against him. She wanted for him to see that the present her was different from the innocent and naive Yan Xiaoran he met when he was young and two years ago.

That the woman he loved was gone and only a hateful woman who tricked and left him without a word was now in front of him.

She wanted him to hate her so she could repent for the mistake she did in the past.

But… who knew that Alexander snaked his strong arm around her slim waist and pulled her closer to him.

His reaction, however, wasn't different from the past and it was still as quick as the speed of light.

Alexander leaned forward and whispered next to her ear, "You're right, we're not married." He stared at her eyes and continued, "But don't be so quick to forget that I already ate your tofu. I'm only here to take responsibility for my actions."

Yan Xiaoran felt frustrated, "Mr. Qu, I'm not going to ask you to take responsibility for that. So, don't be burdened by it."

That night, nothing happened fo them aside from their kisses and other things but Alexander never penetrated her so there was no need for him to take responsibility, and besides, she didn't ask for that from him.

She tried to push him away after noticing the dozens of eyes that were looking at them but Alexander didn't allow her.

Alexander heard her words and his eyes became sharper as his line of sight landed on her soft lips, "Then, you take responsibility since you already ate my tofu."

He backed away slightly so he could look at her stunned and blushing face, "What do you say to that, love?"

Yan Xiaoran glared at him. She couldn't believe how shameless Alexander could be to use his own body and the fact she ate his tofu to entrap her to him!

This was not how things should go…

Why was he acting like a mistress demanding the son of a CEO to take responsibility because he got her pregnant?

At this moment, the music in the background blended with the muffled whispers of the people around them.

Feeling ashamed of her actions, Yan Xiaoran wanted to get out of the club as soon as possible. She didn't want to stay around so many people watching them and she certainly didn't want to lose control of her self in front of the public.

Biting her lips, Yan Xiaoran blinked her eyes and told him, "Let's go outside. Let's finish our conversation outside."

Her eyes were pleading him and that interested him some more. He grinned and that made Yan Xiaoran swallow hard.

"Alexander, please." She tried to push him but he won't budge.

"Then, give me a kiss first." A wicked smile was on his lips.

Yan Xiaoran speechlessly stared at him. She thought that he was only joking and was teasing her but his eyes told her otherwise. He was serious about this.

Glaring at him, Yan Xiaoran decided to give him a peck on the lips and she felt him opening his mouth to give more access to their kiss and deepen it.

Unfortunately, before their kiss could deepen and their tongue intertwine with each other, Yan Xiaoran pulled away, making him groan in frustration.

"Let's go out."
