

My Villainous Wife

Chapter 90 - Alexander Felt Neglected

After they reached home, Yan Xiaoran went to the bathroom to wash up the sweat in her body. She let her body soak in the bathtub and left Alexander, who was on the phone with someone in the living room.

She thought that he would follow her inside the bathroom but even after she was done wrapping the robe in her body, Alexander still didn't appear in the bathroom thus, she made her way out to check upon him.

However, as soon as she stepped inside the living room, her body stiffened as she saw him standing there facing the wall.

The ceiling to floor curtain that covered the wall was drawn to the side and all the stuff that she collected and pinned to the wall was now seen by Alexander.

She planned to place them somewhere else since Alexander will start living with her but she didn't find a time to do it and completely forgot about it.

Feeling her gaze on his back, Alexander turned slightly and looked at her, "You have a lot of collections here..."

Yan Xiaoran walked to him and didn't say a word. She stared at the stuff in the wall and sighed. She really did have a lot of things in there without her realizing it.

Alexander stared at her side profile as he stood beside her. At first, he didn't notice the things that were in the wall as he thought that the curtain was there to cover the ceiling to floor mirror and ignored it.

But when he passed by it while he was on the phone with Li Sheng, he caught sight of the tiny gap that let him see that behind the curtain wasn't a mirror but a normal wall.

And when he pulled the curtains aside, he saw a map-like thing that one would always see in a detective drama where investigators would put out their findings and hints from a crime.

He even had one back in Japan to keep track of his territory and enemies.

Seeing that the people's name that was usually on the papers pinned in the wall was the members of the Zhao family and Yu Jin Yan. It seems that his woman has been keeping tabs on them while she was away.

"Xiaoran, I am happy that you are willing to go this far for them..." Alexander suddenly began as he stepped towards her. "But I wish my name was also put in there." The smile on his face was frightening. It was different from the usual gentle smile that he used to put on his lips.

Something definitely broke inside Alexander when he saw what was on the wall.

The thought of Yan Xiaoran keeping tabs on them and following every move of these filthy people throughout these two years made him feel somewhat jealous.

However, Yan Xiaoran didn't get what he was talking about and stared at him with a confused look in her face.

"Why would you wish to be put there?" Asked Yan Xiaoran who felt the hairs on the back of her neck standing up upon seeing his dark smile.

"Because I feel neglected." He said as he took another step forward and that made Yan Xiaoran step a few more backward.

Neglected? Why would he feel neglected? Yan Xiaoran thought to herself as she didn't understand why was he suddenly becoming aggressive to her.

From her point of view, Alexander's face was as handsome as she could remember but gentleness that he had been showing to her was gone and what replaced it was an unfamiliar cold face that made her assume that he was angry at her because she cheated on him.

"You suddenly disappeared for two years and didn't even contact me. And yet, you've been looking out on other people but not me?" He narrowed his eyes at her.

Yan Xiaoran stared wide-eyed at him. She was beyond in disbelief at his reason why he became angry at her.

Was this really his reason why he's glaring at her? Thought Yan Xiaoran who bit her lips to stop the laughter that was threatening to escape from her mouth.

Putting a hand on his chest to stop him from going forward anymore, Yan Xiaoran sighed. "It's not like that. Don't be so childish. Besides, does having your name in the wall so important?"

She looked up at him and used her other hand to touch his face, "Rather than putting your name in the wall and keeping tabs on you... I'd rather have you inside my heart."

"Or perhaps... you want someone else's name inside my heart?" She teased him and was about to get her hands off him but before she could do that, Alexander's hands kept it on his chest and face.

He didn't take his eyes off her as he said with a smile, "If you do have other man's name in there... Tell me his name and I'll rip it out so my name will only stay there."

Yan Xiaoran shuddered at his words but Alexander continued as he leaned forward to whisper beside her ear, "But I doubt you have other men in there."

Alexander pulled away but not from where he stood and with a confident smile on his face, Yan Xiaoran saw that Alexander was sure that he was the only one in her heart.

Like a spell that was cast on her, Yan Xiaoran couldn't deny his words. He was indeed the only man in her heart.

However, she felt that something has changed from Alexander or maybe, it has always been there but she chose to ignore it. The coldness in his eyes when he glared at her and when he first showed his true emotions to her shocked her.

She's been too used to seeing his gentle look ever since that she even forgot that Alexander wasn't a simple businessman but a man that has his hands dyed in blood.

"Don't stare at me too much, Wife." Alexander ran across his teeth seductively and he suddenly said in a low deep voice, "That reminds me... Isn't tonight our first night as husband and wife?"
