Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1165

Chapter 1165 She wanted to seek Harold in the afternoon to solve this problem.

Ninian then forwarded all the messages from Paul to Harold.

Then, she successfully received three question marks from him.

Ninian did not explain. She just replied. (Hal, this is the schoolmate who has been going after me.)

Harold was shocked. He had just returned from the laboratory and walked into the house. When he saw his sister's message, he instantly became enraged.

What kind of brat dared to set his mind on his baby sister?

Did that brat think all the Winters family members were dead?

Harold used his power to start stealing projects and resources from the Whittle family straight away.

Within half an hour, his subordinate called him and said that the Whittle family could not bear it any longer. They fell apart, and their share prices dropped drastically.

Harold was puzzled.

Was that it?

Was this a joke? What the heck?

It was like an elephant stepping on an ant. They were too weak to be played with.

When Harold discovered Paul's private number, he sent him a warning message. [If you dare to go after my baby again, I'll kill you.]

After Harold warned Paul, he slicked back his hair, entered his cool sports car, and went all the way to the airport.

Once he boarded the plane and switched on the airplane mode on his phone, his laboratory staff started searching for him.

The most advanced intelligent simulation robot developed by their studio had been stolen!

The robot had Ms. Ninian's appearance, and it was stolen one day ago. But they just received the news.

By the time his subordinates learned of this, they realized that Harold had already boarded the flight to Ufrya. Realizing that they could not contact him for almost ten hours, they completely collapsed.

Oh, gosh! They would be doomed!

Young Master Harold's secret would be exposed! If Young Master George and Young Master Alden knew that Harold was still privately studying this project and even made a human simulator that looked exactly like Ninian, they would definitely investigate and find out that Young Master Harold had used the robot to act as Ms. Ninian in Manbula and escape the Winters family's spy.

When that happened, Young Master Harold would be doomed!

What should they do? Should they run away in advance? Or should they honestly confess to Young Master George so that they could receive a lighter punishment?

The assistants looked at each other at a loss, and they could not make a decision.

Meanwhile, on the other side, Everett smiled faintly when he saw the latest news.

"The problem with Harold is almost settled."

"Huh?" Ninian curiously widened her eyes. Her gaze was bright, and she asked, "What did you do?"

"Drag him to our side." Everett smiled faintly, and his gaze was sinister. "Since he's gone to Ufrya, he can be George's spy to watch you. But he can also be our undercover agent to fool them."

Ninian opened her mouth slightly, and her eyes were full of shock.

“How did you come up with this? Why is your style exactly the same as mine?”

Her initial plan was also to drag Melody and Harold to her side. She would trick Harold into standing on her side so that she could escape being watched by George and Alden.

Everett did the same thing as her!

People who did not understand the Winters siblings would not be able to make such a decision!

Everett looked at her with a smile before he winked and said, “This is called ‘like husband, like wife.’”

Ninian laughed so hard that she bent down and held her belly. Poor Harold!

While she mourned for Harold, she did not notice a glint of darkness in Everett’s eyes. Against the light, his expression was obscured.
