

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1166

□ □ □

Chapter 1166

Everett would not tell Ninian about the darkness that he had hidden in his heart.

Over the years, he had figured out the characters of the Winters family members as he guarded her, and he nearly understood them completely.

For the Winters family members, this was definitely not a good thing. It might seem like a threat.

However, he could not stop his stalking. He cared about Ninian, so he paid insane attention to the people around her.

Sometimes, dirty and unspoken thoughts would occupy his mind.

He wanted all of them to disappear so that both of them would be left in the world. Nobody would disturb them again.

Right then, he heard clear and melodious laughter.

Ninian's watery eyes shone, and her laughter was like a breeze that blew away those filthy thoughts that he had been suppressing.

It also brought him back to this reality and his human body.

Everett secretly breathed out and got rid of the gloominess in his heart. He held his phone and sent out the last message.

At the same time, in Harold's laboratory, his subordinates were about to call George and confess Young Master Harold's crimes of helping Ms. Ninian. After all, the lost robot had Ninian's face. It was definitely not a small deal!

If something went wrong and reached an international level, the Winters family would be in trouble.

Just as they were about to make the call, a message suddenly popped out on the phone.

When they read it, they instantly widened their eyes. [The thing you are searching for is with Ms. Melody Winters. Young Master Harold knows about it, and he hopes you can keep it confidential.) "Is this real? Who sent this message?"

"The smart robot that simulates Ms. Ninian is with Ms. Melody right now? Why does Ms. Melody know about things that Young Master Harold has covered up?"

"This is not the time to talk about that. We have to confirm with Ms. Melody. This isn't a small matter!"

The assistants discussed for a while before they immediately made the call.

Meanwhile, in Ufrya, Melody could not help but feel shocked when she saw the robot that simulated a real person very accurately.

Whether it was in terms of figure, appearance, gaze, and behavioral details, it was difficult to differentiate it from the real person.

If it did not take the initiative to greet Melody and admit to its identity, even Melody would not be able to identify it.

“Melody, your brother is amazing.” Brooklyn’s eyes were full of admiration. He stared at the robot in shock, and his eyes shone with enthusiasm. “A technological genius! He’s amazing!” Melody could not help but nod and agree with his words too.

When they were still young, Harold used to create a robot that resembled their mommy when their mommy accidentally went missing those few years. But at that time, the robot did not have the function of thinking and speaking for itself. It could only repeatedly play recordings of their mommy singing them a lullaby.

Now, Harold’s achievement was impressive.

No wonder Harold could help Grapie cover up and sneak back from the university. She had been back for so long, yet she had not been discovered by George and Alden. In this aspect, Harold was a real genius!

While Melody sighed with emotions, her phone suddenly rang.

It was a call from the assistants in Harold's laboratory. When she picked up, she answered their question with an indifferent voice.

“Yes, it's with me.”

□ □ □