

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1195

Chapter 1195

The top trend on Twitter was (Everett's latest focus).

Everett was the top celebrity in the entertainment industry.

Any gossip related to him would be on the top trend, regardless of marketing account or fans. Everyone else in the entertainment industry was unable to be on par with his popularity.

When the Twitter trend was clicked, the first pinned post was Ninian's tweet last night. ,

[It's Ninian: I wish you happiness and safety every day and night.]

At the bottom, it clearly showed Everett liking the tweet.

Therefore, all the fans went crazy.

The number of comments under Ninian's tweet rose from a few thousand initially to hundreds of thousands . The popularity was shocking. It was only after Ninian clicked into it and read that she realized almost all the comments were made by Everett's fans.

(I'm Everett's wife: Who's this? Who is this woman? Why would my husband follow her? Have I been betrayed? Ah! Unbelievable!)

(Love Everett Deeply: This is the first time I've seen Everett following someone on Twitter. Up to date, Everett has followed less than five people, right?]

[Mom, I want to marry Everett: Everett is not in a relationship, right? I'm speechless! I'm gloomy!)

(Miss Craig: Who is this woman? Ladies, find out all about her in three seconds!)

[Everett is the most handsome and coolest man in the world: She's just a new actress. She is a supporting actress in "In Full Bloom“. She is so junior that she doesn't even exist on the list of actors when the crew made the official announcement.]

(I love you, Everett!: How magical! My friend is a hacker expert, but he says he can't find out more personal information about this girl on the internet.)

The internet was in chaos, and even many irrational fans started attacking Ninian. (Where did this chick come from?

Did she just intentionally ride on Everett's popularity?] (What's wrong with you, The Everett? If you're kidnapped, please tell us!)

(Did your

silly agency, Cloud Entertainment, force you to follow her?

Is this woman your boss' sweetheart?]

[I suspect that Everett's account is controlled by a mysterious power, or his account must be hacked!)

(I agree! +1]

[ +10086]

[+my identity card number! Thank you!]

Ninian was slightly speechless when she saw that the popularity and comments were rising.

Was this called being slightly high profile?

Her phone rang, and she looked askance at it. Her phone restarted automatically after it was charged with sufficient battery.

Ninian took up her phone and cast a glance. It was a call from Everett.

“The Everett? He’s gone too far this time. He didn’t think about the consequences...” Nerola’s expression darkened, and she was slightly unhappy. For her, Everett was admired and envied by people, but her best friend was still more important.

She knew that Ninian was always worried about her identity being exposed, which attracted the attention of her family. She also felt sorry for Ninian, and she understood her. But what Everett did now was just to feel good at the moment. He had not considered Ninian's situation. Ninian's name was not on the trend, but based on Everett's fans' insanity, it was just a matter of time to dig out Ninian's information.

More importantly, countless crazy fans would flood Ninian's Twitter, attack, and insult her!

Therefore, Nerola who did not like to comment on people would say something like this in front of Ninian. How should they deal with the follow-up of this matter?