Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1197

Chapter 1197

Ninian's fans probably could not defeat Everett's fans, so they opened up a new narrative and started promoting her. Even if she became famous for the wrong reason, she was still well known. It was most important for more people to see their treasure, Ninian!

Soon, a sneakily-shot photo of Ninian on set was directly pushed until it started trending. Her gorgeous appearance directly blinded Everett's fans.

[Everett is the most handsome and coolest man in the world: Honestly, if Everett's girlfriend looks like this, I'm willing to accept

her. Sob!)

[My love for Everett is as deep as the ocean: She's so gorgeous, isn't she? Is this photoshopped? Or has she undergone cosmetic surgery? Oh, my goodness, I actually want to fangirl over her!)

(Semi – refined eyebrows: I'm just an audience member, but I actually fell for her as I watched the show! What kind of beautiful woman is she? Her beauty is shocking!)

(Custard Pie: She's the Elliot White in my heart! Amazing actress! I love her!)

Ninian's followers on Twitter rose from hundreds of thousands to more than five million.

The conflict had directly raised her reputation.

Most importantly, her name only spread among Everett's fans and her own fans. It was not really a trending topic.

Nerola and Lana's corners of lips twitched simultaneously.

Everett was really presumptuous . He wanted to like and follow Ninian, so he did just that. Later, he even managed to salvage the incident that he caused and turned the tide in Ninian's favor.

It was really thrilling.

Zayn was amazing too. He was indeed Everett's agent with his strong public relations tactics.

The whole thing even planted a seed for Ninian and Everett's intimate relationship. Once they made the official announcement in the future, the fans would be able to bear it.

Nerola and Lana admired them very much. Meanwhile,

Ninian crinkled her eyes, which were filled with pride.

She knew that her "baby" would not disappoint her.

"Baby, I'd also like to apologize to you about one thing,"

Everett said.

After Nerola and Lana looked at each other, both of them left the room and gave them some space.

Ninian curiously asked, "What's wrong?"

“Baby, don’t you want George and Alden to find out about us?” Everett asked.

“It’s fine, actually,” Ninian said seriously. “I’m mainly afraid that they’ll disagree. But if this creates a big fuss, I won’t be afraid. I’ll firmly stand by you.”

“So, if I slowly give them some clues and let them learn about us, will you be unhappy?”

When Ninian heard Everett’s careful tone, there was a glint in her eyes, and she immediately thought of something

“So, everything you did today was intentional ?” Ninian asked. “You slowly raised my popularity and attracted more fans, while you also left a clue. Once all the conditions are right one day, my family can know the truth. Am I right?”

Everett pursed his lips and answered in a low voice, “Yes.”

He did not plan to cover this up forever, and he also did not want the members of the Winters family to be mad at Ninian when they suddenly found out. Hence, he paved the way.

He planned every step very carefully, including her reputation.

Everett always could not help but reflect on his actions.

He had always despised himself for being so wicked, and he doubted whether he was good enough for Ninian who was so innocent and wonderful.

He was hesitant and anxious all the time.

While Everett held his breath and waited apprehensively,

Ninian said, “You’re doing all this for me, aren’t you?”
