

My Wife Is A Secret Assassin

Chapter 2: On A Mission

"Hello Mr. Bill, good morning" Samantha politely wished the old man who is of her father's age.

"Hi dear, can you suggest some fresh flowers like you always do for my wife?"

"Sure"

Samantha then looked over some flowers and then she herself picked a few ones and showed them to Bill.

"How about this combination?"

"As always you know what to pick, it is beautiful, I will take it"

Samantha then handed over those flowers to Andy to pack.

While Andy was busy putting the bouquet together, Bill pretended to be taking a walk around the flowers, checking them out, then he took out a cream-coloured envelope and dropped it between a bunch of flowers.

"Miss Samantha, these flowers are beautiful, what are they called?"

Samantha approached him and saw the envelope he dropped, "These are called Anemone, would you like to see it?"

"Sure"

Then Samantha bent down to pick a flower and she also took the envelope from there and hid it in her dress pocket and showed the flower to Bill who admired it and gave it back to Samantha.

By then Andy was done preparing the bouquet and she gave it to Bill, who thanked the two girls and left after paying them.

"Mr. Bill is so sweet, right?" Andy asked Sam.

"Hmm, he is"

"His wife is so lucky"

"Indeed, she is"

Bill then placed the bouquet he bought at a graveyard and left for work.

After working for a few hours, Samantha and Andy took their lunch break.

Samantha's house was near her shop so she quickly went back to her house to check the contents of the envelope.

Their target is called Mario, he is an Italian businessman and he would be flying to Hawaii for a vacation but the truth is he has some evidence against his business partner which he has in some hard disk and he is blackmailing his partner.

After taking a lot of money from his partner, he quit the business and is travelling to Hawaii to enjoy but he didn't delete the evidence he has and Mario's partner knows he would be using it against him in the future, so he hired an assassin in California to kill Mario and to get the hard disk back from him.

Samantha helplessly shook her head after knowing the details, she wondered why Mario is being greedy even after getting so much money, she thought, 'Idiot, he is anyway going to die now, he shouldn't have been greedy.'

She called Andy, "Hey Andy, there is a problem again, my sister had fits attack today, I am flying to New York to meet her."

"Chill Sam, I'll manage the shop here, don't worry, take care of your sister"

"Thanks Andy, you are always so understanding, I'll pay you double the money as you are working in the weekend."

"Don't bother, take care of your sister and do update me if possible"

"Sure"

Samantha wondered how she would have had managed her fake disguise if Andy was not with her and was thankful to this girl.

In the envelope she found two tickets to and from Hawaii and her flight would be leaving in four hours, so she packed her clothes and left for the airport.

Few hours later, she finally reached Hawaii and checking in the hotel room booked for her.

It was already late in the night, so she slept.

"Room Service"

There was a knock on her door and she got annoyed as she didn't order room service and the next moment, she realized she is on a mission.

She opened the door where a middle-aged woman was standing with the cleaning equipment.