

My Wife Is A Secret Assassin

Chapter 4: Someone Died

"What happened? Why are people panicking?" The handsome asked her as he too saw the uproar and got worried.

"Someone died"

"What the fuck" He looked a bit terrified.

Samantha understood his reaction was normal as any normal person would get scared hearing a news like this.

Then Samantha saw some policemen head towards the rooms and they asked them all to not go into this area.

"Don't be scared, everything will be alright" The handsome who himself was scared tried to make Samantha feel better assuming she too is as terrified as him.

"I am fine" She indifferently told him.

"You can hold my hand, if you are scared" The man offered.

Samantha again rolled her eyes, "Don't you have better ways to flirt, hold your hand? You are trying to take advantage of the situation, aren't you?"

By the time Samantha said this and turned around to face him, she saw he looked pale and his hands were shivering, she understood he was not flirting with her but rather wanted to hold her hands as he was scared.

She doesn't know why but she held his shivering hands and tried to calm him down, "Relax, don't worry, everything will be alright" She suddenly took on her gentle florist persona.

"What is there are some murderers around and they killed him?" The handsome man shared his fearful thoughts with her.

"Why would you think so? Maybe that man died naturally" She tried to comfort him but he still looked pale and was sweating.

She stroked his back and tried to comfort him when suddenly a guy showed up near them.

"Chance, you alright?" The new guy asked the handsome man whose back Samantha was stroking.

Chance nodded his head.

Then his friend looked at Samantha and thanked her, "Thank you for taking care of my friend, Chance. I am David" He extended his hand after introducing himself.

"Hi David, nice to meet you"

Chance was still feeling a bit hot so he removed his black coat and Samantha could see how amazing his body is although he was wearing a t-shirt on it.

The cops and the medical staff carried Mario's body back and Samantha confirmed that it was indeed Mario.

David asked the resort staff how Mario died and they said, heart attack is the cause of death.

After knowing the reason Chance relaxed, Samantha didn't understand why Chance was acting like this.

"Chance, all our friends are near the pool, we have been waiting for you"

"I saw this attractive young lady, so couldn't join you guys" Chance was back to his flirting and winked at Samantha.

"Chance behave yourself." David was embarrassed at his friend's behavior.

"Hey beautiful, would you like to join us at the pool?" Chance offered her with a huge grin on his face.

"No thanks, you guys have fun"

Samantha walked away and Chance was disappointed.

"Chance, what the hell are you doing?"

"I am pursuing the woman I like"

Chance then ignored David and joined his friends at the pool.

Samantha went back to her room and called Bill, her boss using the safe line.

"Sam, I just got the news that Mario died"

"Yes, I didn't even meet him once"

"Did you get hold on that hard disk?"

"Not yet, his room is sealed by the cops and they barred entry until they verify it is a natural death."

"How the hell did he suddenly die?"

"Heart Attack"

"Oh, come on"

"Maybe his business partner hired other people too for the same job"

"No, I just had a word with him, he didn't"