

My Billionaire Ex-Wife by H. D. Cynthia Chapter 5

Chapter 5

When Jessica returned to Hannah's place, Hannah had already cleaned up the house. Hannah was putting the fried steak onto a plate, and the red wine was on the table as well.

"Welcome back!" Hannah looked at Jessica excitedly. "Let's have a lavish meal today and hang out tonight."

Jessica sat down in front of the table and smiled at Hannah. "No, I'm leaving LA tonight."

Three years ago, for the sake of Lucas, Jessica had left New York, where her parents lived.

Now that Lucas and Jessica were done, she didn't want to stay in LA anymore.

However, before leaving, she had to give Trissy the gift she had prepared, so she said to Hannah, "You can get someone to send out the video I sent you."

Didn't Lucas ask her to apologize to Trissy all the time?

Soon, the news reached Lucas. After watching the video, Lucas remained silent at his table with a grim face.

Then, Lucas' secretary told him that Jessica emptied her Twitter, leaving only one tweet, saying "Sorry, it's all my fault".

Jessica did apologize, but after the truth was revealed. How ironic! It made the Thomas family ridiculous.

The atmosphere in the office was so depressing that people even found breathing hard. Lucas, who was sitting at the desk, wore a grim face.

"Remove it now!"

"I'm sorry, Mr. Thomas. I've already contacted the public relations company. It can't be removed." The secretary felt nervous.

Well done, Jessica!

With a stern face, Lucas reached for his phone. He was about to call Jessica when his phone suddenly rang.
