

My Eye 54

Chapter 54 Little Ye

Autumn thought that she could hide the matter from Charles. But Chris, Charles's sister, was a beautiful and smart lady. And she told Charles about it.

Autumn indeed kept a distance from Sam, but Sam didn't do the same.

Sam looked at Autumn with great eagerness, seeming to be very possessive about her.

Chris didn't believe that Sam didn't have any relationship with Autumn.

So she pretended to go to the bathroom and called Charles.

She liked Sam openly and brazenly. She didn't care if he and Autumn once were in love with each other. And what had happened in the past didn't prevent her from liking Sam.

Autumn was her sister-in-law who she liked a lot. She didn't want Sam to destroy their good relationship. If Charles took Autumn away, he could not only help Autumn get rid of the embarrassing situation, but also help herself get the chance to spend some time alone with Sam.

But to her surprise, Charles appeared minutes after she called him.

"Sam, where's my sister-in-law?" After she saw Charles take Autumn away, Chris came out of the bathroom and walked up to Sam. Though she and Autumn were both strong-minded lady, they have rather different personalities. Autumn was gentle and quiet.

Chris, however, was passionate. She would bravely pursue whoever she liked.

Although Autumn had already known Sam before Chris met him, Chris believed that she could win Sam's heart since Autumn was now married.

Sam remained expressionless. He wanted to chat with Autumn, but Charles's sudden appearance disturbed his plan. He was about to turn around and leave. Then an idea came to his mind. He thought he could use this chance to know more about the things between Charles and Autumn. In this way, he could know Charles well and figure out the best way to win Autumn's heart.
