

My Eye 57

Chapter 57 Gratitude

"David..." Autumn felt uneasy to be called Mrs. Lu. She frowned and said, "Just call me Ye..."

After hesitating for a while, David responded, "It's..." 'Charles didn't want anyone in the company to know that she is his wife. It seems improper to call her Mrs. Lu.' David thought. Then, he nodded a yes and called, "Ye."

Hearing this, Autumn felt relieved and asked with a bright smile, "What's my duty here as the secretary of Mr. Lu?"

David flurried and replied, "Well... Listen to Mr. Lu's orders. Do whatever he asks you to do." He didn't dare assign tasks to Autumn. After all, she was Charles's wife. 'If I displease her, Charles would blame me for it.

Besides, Charles hasn't set up a post for personal secretary in the company. No one knows why he brought his wife in the company.' David reflected.

David took Autumn to the Secretary Department. There were two girls in the office. With Autumn and David, Charles had four secretaries in total. David said, "Your attention please..." He introduced Autumn to the two girls, "This is the personal secretary of Mr. Lu, Yvonne. You can call her... Ye."

'I can't call her Mrs. Lu as Charles doesn't want anyone in the company to know they are married.' David thought.

Autumn stood in front of the girls and introduced herself, "Hello, everyone. I'm Ye. I hope that we can get along well in the coming days."

"David, I don't think that Mr. Lu employed her to be his secretary. She looks more like..." At the sight of Autumn, the two young pretty secretaries became alert and restless. They decided to unite and be against Autumn. One girl said, "She is good-looking, but I'm not sure if she is a qualified secretary. Don't ask us to handle the trouble she makes later."

The other girl followed her and said, "Don't get us into trouble." The first girl grumbled while retouching her make-up, "We already have lots to deal with. We don't want someone else to come and affect our work."

her.' He thought to himself. He turned to Autumn and said, "Ye, don't take their words seriously. They always talk in that mean manner, but they're good was doing her make-up was Linda. Both of them had graduated from first-rate colleges. They always thought of themselves as superior to others for they took pride in their they started to treat the seat opposite to him, and said, "Ye, this is your desk." Autumn nodded slightly. Before she sat down, Jenny told David, "David, that's for the secretary of CEO. We wouldn't always entertained them, but not today. He continued, "Just mind your own business. It's not your call to decide who frowned. She stared at Autumn with dissatisfaction and said, "David, what's your relationship with her? Why graduated from first-rate colleges. Besides, we have worked for Mr. Lu for long. Why can she sit there but Jenny and I can't? Is it only because she is more good-looking there could get more of Charles's attention. To get that seat, Jenny and Linda had made great efforts but failed. Now a new face showed up and took that seat.

mouth and continued, "None of us can take seat, except that it was closer to Charles. Then, she collected a long time. No one was willing to sit there for it is near to good-tempered lady who doesn't put on airs. She doesn't even get angry after receiving such treatment from Jenny and Linda.' He fine, David." Autumn smiled and proceeded, "I am good here. I can use it after persuaded her, but Jenny interrupted him, "David, save your words. She isn't willing to accept your kindness. Why do you a rich and charming man. Although he was married, it didn't affect their obsession to

Though they had tried all means to saw him with any other woman.