Chapter 361

Even though Sadie was delighted to get the project, she found Kayson overly arrogant for mocking Sheldon in such an impolite manner.

“Kayson, you did well. The company will be rewarding you for this. Take a seat first.”

Kayson shook his head. “I still have another set of information with me. May I use the projector, Ms. Wolfenden?” Sadie furrowed her eyebrows as she had no idea what Kayson was trying to do. Still, she agreed. Soon, Sheldon’s connections and related information were displayed on the screen. Sadie, Sean, and the other departments’ managers had strange expressions on their faces when they read the familiar names. Sadie inhaled a deep breath and looked toward the ghastly pale Sheldon. She suppressed her anger and asked, “Did Miles send you, Sheldon?” Sheldon’s expression changed drastically. However, he said coldly soon, “What are you trying to say, Ms. Wolfenden? I haven’t done anything detrimental to the company!” Sadie furrowed her beautiful eyebrows. He was right indeed. So what if Miles had sent him? He had not done anything that was bad for the company anyhow. Kayson said nonchalantly, “Is it considered a breach of confidence by providing the company’s project details and revenue statements to an outsider?”

Sadie’s pupils constricted. She said in anger, “Are you telling the truth, Kayson?”

Sheldon expressed his shock and said, “That’s a false accusation! I will never do something like that, Ms. Wolfenden! I swear on my professional ethics!” Kayson was rendered speechless. “Your professional ethics are worthless.” Upon saying that, he displayed the next file that contained a video clip of him handing the information to Miles and the Allens, together with sound. All the administrative officers of the company glared at him in anger at once! Sadie was shaking in rage and smacked the table abruptly. “Sheldon, Miles... all of you are relentless!”

Sheldon was scared out of his wits. He bowed in a panic with tears and snot running down his face.

“It was my bad, Ms. Wolfenden. Please give me a chance, I’m begging you. They bluffed me into believing them because my mind was clouded for a while!” He bowed repeatedly and begged for mercy with his sad cries. Sadie composed herself for a moment and said, “Tell that to the judicial authorities.” Then, she called the police.

Sheldon was so startled that his eyes rolled back, instantly losing consciousness.

Captain Yeager entered to drag Sheldon out of the boardroom while the entire boardroom was silent.

Sadie looked at Kayson-her expression overwhelmed with emotions. In truth, she had looked into this before too, but nothing turned up. There were way too many hidden agendas in this case, so there was nothing for her to find. Had it not been Kayson, she could not imagine how much trouble Wolfenden Corp. would be in the future.

It was a time bomb ticking next to them that could be detonated at any moment to destroy the whole company! Sean’s eyes lit up, then he heaved a sigh and said, “It’s all thanks to Mr. Yarde! Had it not been him, who knows what was going to happen in the future? “Please cite Mr. Yarde for his meritorious service to the company, Ms. Wolfenden... No, it should be two meritorious services!” He had scored the Westspring's Forest Garth project and exposed Sheldon, so the two cases should be considered two meritorious services! The rest of the departmental managers chimed in gradually. Those managers, who found The Tetrad an eyesore, were backing Kayson at this very moment.

Sadie darted a look at Kayson's nonchalant expression and felt displeased. 'B*st*rd! You could have at least shown some excitement or made pleasantries, right?

'Yet, you're standing there all quiet with a nonchalant expression. What is that supposed to mean, you damned scoundrel!?' Despite her displeasure, Sadie spoke slowly and complimented Kayson

Chapter 362

Sadie said, "The deputy team leader of The Tetrad, Kayson Yarde, has scored Westspring's Forest Garth construction project for the company. Moreover, he has also exposed the spy planted by Miles Lawson in the company. "The company will issue a certification of outstanding employee to him and a reward of $ 15,000 in addition

"At the same time, the original team leader, Easton Oxley, will be demoted as the deputy team leader in view of his lack of work performance over the years, and Kayson will be promoted to his position."

"Great!" Sean agreed loudly. It would be much more normal for him to meet up with Kayson from now on if Kayson was the team leader. Otherwise, it would seem strange that he would meet with the deputy team leader of The Tetrad frequently instead of the team leader. Despite being a deadbeat, Easton was still the grandson of a member of the company's board of directors. He still had to show some respect to Easton.

Sadie grunted in her heart. Sean used to be her trusted subordinate, yet he had become Kayson's trusted subordinate these days.

Sheldon seized the opportunity to attack The Tetrad during Kayson's absence when he traveled to Northspring, yet Sean spoke out to back Kayson frequently. In fact, Sean would frequently quarrel with Sheldon in the boardroom like women fighting over clothes.

'Since when did Sean form such a close relationship with Kayson?' Sadie said nonchalantly, "Work well, Mr. Batley. Otherwise, there might come a day that Kayson will take over your position as the projects department's manager." Sean was momentarily stunned upon hearing that. Then, he said in all apparent seriousness, I think that it's time for me to yield my position to Mr. Yarde. I'll be fine being the assistant manager."

"The corner of Sadie's lips twitched, and she felt the urge to beat up Sean. She wondered if Sean was under Kayson's spell or something.

Her warning and sarcasm were rendered futile. Sadie said in a displeased tone, "Meeting adjourned!"

"Hold on!"

Meanwhile, Kayson called out.

Sadie asked, "Is there anything else, Kayson?" Kayson said, "Isn't there an opening for the CFO position of the company? I have a friend who studied finance at university and has been looking for a job recently. "I would like to recommend her for the position if it's okay."

Sadie furrowed her eyebrows. "You can speak to Mr. Green about that." The company's original chief of the human resource department was River Snyder, but he was on Miles' side. Following Miles' banishment from the company, things did not end well for River.

After River's departure, Sadie assessed and promoted someone from the human resource department, and the newly-promoted chief was named Franklin Green. Franklin said in haste, "Just talking to me will do, Mr. Yarde. I shall perform her interview later and report to Ms. Wolfenden." He spoke to Kayson in a very polite manner. After all, Miles' downfall and River's departure were related to the Tetrad's deputy team leader, who joined the company recently. He was scared in his heart after witnessing the incident with Sheldon today! It was a great opportunity that he had been promoted by luck, so he would never ruin his chance.

"Sure."

Kayson nodded. Sadie said, "Meeting adjourned if there's nothing else." She could not be bothered to question how Kayson discovered such a well-hidden secret. Kayson arrived at the chief of the human resource department's office. Franklin said extremely courteously, "Please take a seat, Mr. Yarde!" He was so polite that there was no telling who the chief was. Kayson explained briefly while Franklin inquired on a few things before saying, "Sure, send me her resume, and I shall arrange an interview with her. "However..."

Franklin was slightly hesitant when he said, "She has just graduated recently, Mr. Yarde. Frankly, it's almost impossible for her to pass the interview. Kayson was stunned. "If that's the case... that's fine too. Just follow the normal protocol."

Chapter 363

Franklin was relieved because he was very scared that Kayson would insist on getting his friend hired regardless. Returning to his office, Kayson called up Queenie. The person he had recommended was precisely Celeste. He had found out that Celeste was a finance major in university during his chat with them when he sent them off.

She had working experience in an international enterprise, and she was back to further her career in the country. Queenie was delighted to learn that Kayson recommended her good friend, so she sent Celeste's phone number to Kayson. Celeste was pleasantly surprised as well upon hearing about the news. She was very grateful for Kayson's help. Michael called up Kayson to find out how he had handled the matter. Kayson talked about the incident. Then, Michael talked about handling Miles and his father. Kayson fell quiet for a moment but did not reject the idea. He had let Miles and Trevor off the hook previously, yet he did not expect they still refused to give up on their evil endeavor of trying to entrap Wolfenden Corp. If that were the case, there was no point for him to spare their feelings anymore. At the same time, a loud boom echoed in Clouspring's Martial Alliance. An early-stage energy fighter was blasted away by the son of the president, Tyler. "Kayson Yarde?" Tyler's expression was icy cold. "How dare he ruin our matter? Is he trying to get himself killed?" A middle-aged man with a tall, strong figure said solemnly, "Mr. Hann, Kayson is a terrific fighter. He even defeated Steelification Doyen in a fight. It would be best not to get in a conflict with him." Tyler said coldly, "What a joke. Should I be afraid of him just because he killed Steelification Doyen? He should be prepared to pay the price of ruining my matter!" The middle-aged man's gaze turned solemn. "Mr. Hann, this is an important matter. We should talk this over with the president first-” “My father is in isolation training now, and he doesn’t want to be disturbed. He’s going to be a peak-stage master-level fighter when he has completed the training!” Upon saying that, Tyler ignored the middle-aged man, pulled out his phone, and dialed a number.

Tyler asked, “Are you free, Fuller?” The person known as Fuller said, “Yes, I am. What’s going on, Hann?”

Tyler heaved a sigh and said, “Do you know that I have a master-level fighter as my bodyguard? His name is Ricky Lee, and someone has murdered him. I would like to seek your help, Fuller.”

Fuller exclaimed, “Huh? You may seek revenge if you want. Why are you asking for my help then?”

Tyler said with a bitter expression, “This person is extremely skilled in fighting, and he’s capable of killing Steelification Doyen. I’m no match for him.”

“Are you talking about the highly-acclaimed Kayson Yarde?” Tyler said, “It seems that you’re aware of him too, Fuller.” Fuller pondered for a moment before he said, “That man is exceptional indeed for killing Steelification Doyen...” Tyler raised an eyebrow. “Judging by your tone, you don’t have the courage to deal with him either, right?” Fuller seemed displeased upon hearing that and said coldly, “I don’t have the courage to deal with him? What a joke. I’m a level-1 Admiralporium member. Since you’ve reported the case, I will accept and hear the case for sure.”

Tyler was overjoyed in his heart. He chuckled and said, “How are you planning on dealing with him, Fuller?”

Fuller said confidently, “Admiralporium reserves authority over all fighters in the world. I’m certain that he will be so scared that he’ll pee his pants when I show up in person! “Admiralporium is not a docile organization! Does he really think that Admiralporium can’t touch him just because he can kill Steelification Doyen?” “Alright, I shall wait for your good news then, Fuller!” “Just wait and see!” After hanging up the call, Tyler cracked a mocking smile. Kayson would be doomed if he had the courage to resist a level-1 Admiralporium member.

Three people walked into the projects department of Wolfenden Corp. Sean stepped forward at once and asked, “Who are you?”

The leader was a young man with an arrogant expression. He frowned lightly and berated, “The Admiralporium is arresting an important criminal. Move away, you irrelevant personnel!”

Chapter 364

‘Admiralporium?’ Sean stunned, ‘What sort of organization is that? I’ve never even heard of it before!’

Hence, Sean assumed that the young man was a swindler. He stopped the young man right away and said in a stern tone, “What do you mean by Admiralporium? Why haven’t I heard of it before? Have you made it up?”

A look of displeasure flashed past the young man’s eyes. He raised his hand and gave Sean a slap.

Sean was blasted away and slammed into the office’s glass wall.

The entire office was in chaos at once, with countless people screaming in fear.

The young man expressed his contempt. His name was Connor Fuller, and he was a level-1 member of Skyriv Admiralporium's second division.

He took the liberty to walk toward The Tetrad. He had apparently acquired a lot of intel from the start.

He kicked open the door of The Tetrad's office. After hearing the commotion outside, Easton and the others were holding baseball bats in their hands for protection. Connor looked around the room and asked, "Where's Kayson Yarde?" Easton braced himself to say, "Mr. Kace is out for a meal downstairs! What brings you to him?"

Connor pulled a chair and took a seat. He crossed his legs in a conceited manner and said nonchalantly, "Call him and tell him to come back."

Kayson had been eating downstairs, and he frowned at the sight of the chaotic mess in the projects department upon his return.

He performed a mind expansion and swept the place. Soon afterward, his expression turned somber, and he made his way to the bleeding and unconscious Sean. Sean suffered a few broken ribs and some injuries to his internal organs. Kayson stabilized Sean's condition and placed him on the sofa before returning to the Tetrad's office. He found the arrogant-looking Connor and asked nonchalantly, "Was it you who damaged the office outside?" "You're Kayson, huh?" Connor sized up Kayson, sniggered, and said, "I'm a level-1 member of Skyriv Admiralporium's second division, Connor Fuller!" "Someone reported a case of you killing their master-level fighter, Ricky Lee, without reason. Is there such a case?" Even though Kayson had no idea who Ricky was, he remembered Desmond mentioning Master Lee and figured that it was the master guarding Celeste's parents. He was the one Skye had killed

"So what if it is?" Connor nodded. "Good that you've admitted to it. I know that you're capable of killing Steelification Doyen and exceptionally skilled in fighting. However, I'm an Admiralporium member, and I reserve the authority over all the fighters in the world. "Come with me to the station obediently!" Kayson's smile was cold. "Tyler sent you here, right?" He was disappointed by Admiralporium after Mr. Hamilton Sr.'s incident in Northspring. He found that it was only normal for Connor to behave this way, and he was not surprised at all.

Connor narrowed his eyes and said, "I'm bound by duty to maintain the confidentiality of the informant."

Kayson nodded. "I won't leave with you. Send your captain to me." Connor's gaze turned solemn upon hearing that. "Are you going to resist Admiralporium's order?

"You destroyed our company's facilities and injured the manager of our department. We'll discuss further after you've settled the account." Connor's pupils were constricted. "Are you going to use brute force?" Kayson could not be bothered making small talk anymore. He raised his arm to swing a punch! The two other members Connor had brought with him as reinforcement were shocked. They stepped forward instantly in an attempt to stop Kayson. As a result, they were blasted away by Kayson's energy!

Then, Kayson's punch landed on Connor's body. Connor spat out a mouthful of fresh blood while the chair underneath his buttocks was split from the impact.

Connor's knees buckled, and he was kneeling on the floor. Kayson clutched him by his throat and tossed him to Sean. "Bow down and apologize to our manager, Mr. Batley." Connor said through his gritted teeth in resentment while he was spitting out blood, "I won't let you off for this. I won't ever-" Kayson slapped his shoulder and destroyed his muscles with his Novem Lightning Zero Impact. Connor let out an agonizing scream instantly.

Chapter 365

Kayson said coldly, "Bow down and apologize!" Connor bowed and apologized in humiliation.

Kayson delivered another kick that blasted him to the corridor outside of the office. The two members that came with him as reinforcement were trembling in fear by the side. Kayson turned around and looked toward them. "Take this deadbeat and leave. Send your captain to see me, or I'll kill my way to Skyspring Admiralporium's building.

How would the two members have the courage to comment further? They could only carry the unconscious Connor and ran away from the scene.

Kayson's expression was solemn. While Sadie arrived in a rush, he summoned Easton to tidy up the place. Her expression changed drastically, and she asked, "What happened?" Kayson said, "I'm sorry. Those people came because of me, so I'll pay for the repairs." Sadie felt furious for no apparent reason upon hearing Kayson's remark. Sadie said through her gritted teeth, "No need!" Kayson took a glance at Sadie and said, "Send Mr. Batley to Bwell Therapeutics. Mr. Ewell can cure him. Show him this prescription for the medication." He wrote down a prescription quickly and passed it to Sadie. Sadie received and said with a frown, "Where are you going?" "Every injustice has its perpetrator. I'm going to look for the wirepuller, of course." A look of concern flashed past Sadie's eyes upon Kayson's departure. Soon afterward, she looked at the prescription in her hand.

Did this b*st*rd... give me an order earlier!?' Sadie was slightly irritated and very furious in her heart. 'Forget it. I won't fuss about this matter with him for the sake of his two great accomplishments today!'

Tyler dismissed all Clouspring's Martial Alliance members and waited for Connor's return quietly in the day room. He believed that everything should be fine with Connor handling the matter. After all, Connor was a level-1 member with a rather impressive identity, status, and capability. The middle-aged man who addressed Tyler as Mr. Hann earlier furrowed his eyebrows tightly, and his eyes were filled with worry. The middle-aged man's name was Gregory Cadle, and he was the Hanns' butler. He spent his days bandling the needs of President Kingston's household.

Now that Kingston was in isolation training, Gregory was serving Tyler. All of a sudden, a loud noise came from downstairs. The commotion was so huge that the second floor was shaking. Tyler's gaze turned solemn and cold! "Go and check out the situation, Cadle." "Yes, sir!" Gregory immediately took action. However, he sensed a powerful aura as soon as he opened the door, followed by a gust of strong steel power that pushed him back. He was a dignified master, yet he was pushed back by someone's aura! Gregory's expression changed drastically, and he shouted at once, "Run away, Mr. Hann!"

However, a bolt of gray-black lightning struck instantly and blasted Gregory until his entire body was blackened.

Gregory was killed instantly, while Tyler's expression changed drastically as well. A gush of powerful aura was bearing down on him until he could not move his body. Kayson walked into the room and took a glance at Tyler while he said casually, "Did you send Connor to my company?" Tyler's expression was unpleasant. "S-So you're Kayson?"

He was immensely shocked in his heart to find Kayson here. Could it be that Connor had failed? Kayson asked calmly, "Are you interested in joining Connor to be cripples?" Tyler's pupils constricted violently. "Did you hurt Connor? Connor is a level-1 member. The vice-captain will come for you if you hurt him!"

Kayson said nonchalantly, "Vice-captain, that's all? That's disappointing. Can you please tell me what will bring the captain to me?"

Chapter 366

Tyler felt like he was losing his mind upon hearing Kayson's remark.

'It's not enough that he beat up a level-1 member like Connor, but he's actually trying to provoke Admiralporium's captain!? How does he muster his courage!?'

Could it be that this idiot is unaware that all fighters need to accept Admiralporium's authority in the Nation of Dragons?

'The vice-captain will be dispatched when the level-1 member can't handle their opponent!

"The captain will be dispatched when the vice-captain still can't do the job!

'When the captain can't do the job, the chief officer will be dispatched, which will be terrifying.

On the other hand, he heard that any person holding the vice-captain position in Admiralporium could kill a grandmaster.

All fighters in the world were aware of the Admiralporium's power. Hence, no fighter was allowed to commit crimes in violation of the law, no matter how skilled they were. Otherwise, the person would be targeted by the Admiralporium and killed without a doubt. Tyler said, "You're more conceited than I'd imagined. It seems that you don't understand the limits of Admiralporium's authority at all."

Kayson ignored him and flicked his fingers. He shot out two streams of energy on Tyler's body, and the latter let out an agonizing scream.

Tyler's expression was filled with fear. "W-What have you done to me?"

He could not move his legs nor feel it anymore. "Send Connor's captain to meet me in person and justify this incident. Or else, I don't mind punishing one as a warning to others."

Connor was reckless in his conduct. He had barged into a company and destroyed the company's property without guilt. What had infuriated Kayson was that Connor injured Sean. Even though Sean's life was not in danger, a hit from an early-stage master was enough to leave Sean paralyzed for the rest of his life.

It was fortunate that he was there to prevent that ending for Sean. Kayson ignored Tyler and left the Martial Alliance. He had just walked away briefly when he received Campian's call.

Campian said courteously, "It has been confirmed, Mr. Yarde. That was Joe Roosevelt indeed. He was a wanted man for many years, yet we didn't manage to locate him all this time.

"I didn't expect that he'd actually offend you, Mr. Yarde. His crime deserves more than death. As for Cullen, we will assign the Skyriv Admiralporium to investigate further."

Kayson said nonchalantly, "Hmm. Hang up if there's nothing else."

Campian said in haste, "Mr. Yarde, there's something else that I would like to seek your help with. We have a vice-captain who was injured when he was apprehending a suspect two years ago.

"He wishes to seek your help to treat him and see if he can be cured. I wonder if you're up for it?"

Kayson furrowed his eyebrows and said, "No." He had an unfavorable impression of the Admiralporium and could only tolerate Campian. There were Aquilo from the tenth division, Shien from the fifth division, and Connor from the second division. These people made him feel that the Admiralporium's reputation was unwarranted and its fame was undeserved. Kayson said, "Don't come looking for me unless a member from your eighth division is injured from now on." Campian was shocked. He could hear that the Admiralporium revolted Kayson from his tone. "I have an incoming call. Let's talk again, Captain Wolke." Before Campian could inquire further, Kayson hung up the call. Campian was dumbfounded. However, he trusted his instinct and was convinced that something must have happened.

A middle-aged man with a ghastly pale face and emaciated body walked into the room coincidentally at this time. The person did not seem to be in good health. He coughed a few times and said, "Captain Wolke, did you get in touch with that celebrated doctor Naomi talked about?"

"Chief Rivera!"

Campian stood up and saluted the man before he said, "I just reached out to him, but... he refuses to treat you."

Chief Rivera frowned and grunted. "That's very bold of him. Does he know how big of a favor I'll owe to him if he can cure me? How dare he refuse to do so!?"

Campian did not have the courage to reply, but it was apparent that Chief Rivera was not that furious either. He looked at Campian and asked, "Did someone from the Admiralporium offend him?"

Chapter 367

"Uh... I don't think so... However, he sounded like he has a largely differing opinion of the Admiralporium and you."

Chief Rivera furrowed his eyebrows. Soon afterward, he gave the order. "Look into this matter. Naomi admires him very much. Both Stellar and the Living Reaper are so elusive. I'm afraid that I might die if I don't do anything soon.

"Naomi is the Living Reaper's mentee and is already exceptionally skilled in medical practice, yet she was ashamed of her inferiority. I believe that Kayson is quite capable."

He had already consulted the third-ranking doctor in the Nation of Dragons, The Divine Hand, Joaquin Larson, but there was nothing Joaquin could do. Chief Rivera had noticed that his health was deteriorating in the past few months. Had he not stabilized his injuries with his outstanding stamina, he would have died by now.

"Yes, sir!"

Campian took on the task and went to investigate in haste.

Meanwhile...

Kayson was not lying to Campian. He indeed received an incoming call. The call came from Celeste. She claimed that her parents were very grateful for his help and wanted to thank him in person

Kayson could only agree now that her parents were involved.

He sent a text message to Sadie to tell her he would not be eating in tonight before meeting Celeste

Celeste booked a private room in an intermediate-level hotel for dinner. Kayson arrived at the private room to find her and her parents.

Celeste was overjoyed and called out, "Mr. Yarde!

She had a favorable impression of her savior. "You may address me as Kayson." Celeste smiled sweetly "Then you may call me by my name too." Afterward, she introduced Kayson to her parents. Kayson believed that her parents were business people, but it was possible that their business was not that huge

They were rather gentle mannered and polite

She smiled and went straight to the point by asking, "Kayson, are you married?" Kayson considered for a moment and said, "No." He figured that Sadie would be pissed again if he were to say yes. Cersei could not hide the joy in her eyes upon hearing his answer. Jamie let out a cough and said, "Why are you asking this when we're supposed to buy Kayson dinner to thank him for saving us?" Cersei rolled her eyes at him. "You think that you're sensible and respectful, huh? I'm just worried about our daughter's marriage, unlike you!" Celeste blushed scarlet and said, "Stop talking, father and mother!" Kayson felt embarrassed and wondered whether that was how all the parents in the city behaved.

As Jamie was speaking, his phone rang. He pulled it out, took a glance, and said, "It's from Lowe."

"Why is he calling you?" Cersei seemed displeased. "You don't have to pull a long face like this all the time. Lowe has never offended you." Jamie appeared frustrated. Then, he picked up the call, spoke briefly, and told the private room location before hanging up the call. Cersei said in a displeased tone, "Why are they coming here?" Jamie said, "He claimed that he saw our car." It did not take long before a few people entered the room. The leader, a middle-aged man, smiled and said, "Hahaha, Peach. I heard that my daughter-in-law is back, huh?"

Chapter 368

Celeste's expression changed drastically while Cersei refuted by saying, "Don't say that, Lowe. I've never agreed to let Celeste marry your son!" The middle-aged man looked to be about Jamie's age, and his name was Julian Lowe. "Ma'am, we've betrothed our children to each other many years ago, so Celeste is supposed to marry my son. You can't break your promise now!"

Julian's eyes were glistening with joy when he saw Celeste. He liked her very much. He did not expect that Peach's daughter was so beautiful. She was a worthy match for his son. Cersei pulled a long face. "I wasn't there when Jamie talked deliriously from intoxication! I have never acknowledged that either!"

As she was speaking, she glared at Jamie ferociously. 'Alcohol ruins everything and makes one say things! Jamie appeared embarrassed, and there was nothing he could say to refute it. Julian was displeased as well. He could not be bothered to look at Cersei anymore, so he looked toward Jamie. "Do you not acknowledge that as well, Peach?" Jamie smiled shyly and said, "Uh... Our children are grownups now. They have the right to decide about their marriages. It's inappropriate for us to meddle as the older generation."

Julian furrowed his eyebrows as if he was extremely displeased. "Uncle Julian." Celeste called out to him.

Julian said smilingly, "Celeste, you've been working abroad for quite some time. How do you find the experience to be?" Celeste said, "I'm not very used to it, and I feel more comfortable being in our home country." Julian nodded. "If you haven't encountered an especially good offer working abroad, it's better for you to work in our country."

He looked toward Kayson with a tinge of hostility in his eyes and asked, "Celeste, is this your boyfriend?"

Kayson took a glance at this person. It could be said that the person was rather disrespectful to have just dedicated the question to him by now.

If he really were Celeste's boyfriend, perhaps he would have already flown into a great rage after listening to the betrothal conversation. It was apparent that this Lowe fellow was not very respectful of others.

Celeste said, "No, we got acquainted yesterday. He helped me, and that is why we're buying him dinner as a token of appreciation." Julian's gaze changed slightly, and the hostility in his eyes diminished substantially. However, he did not speak much to Kayson.

On the contrary, he introduced his family. His wife's name was Bianca Simpson, and his son was Christian Lowe.

Jamie invited them to take a seat.

Christian was seated next to Kayson and said nonchalantly, "Hello." Kayson greeted back, and Christian asked, "Where are you working, Mr. Yarde?" Kayson said, "Wolfenden Corp. I'm the team leader of The Tetrad of the projects department." Christian appeared to be astonished. "Is that the Wolfenden Corp. that does construction? Moreover, you're a team leader. That's quite impressive." Kayson nodded while Christian continued. "I work at Waystar Technologies, and I'm the IT department manager." His tone was tainted with pride, as if his job was impressive. Before Kayson could reply, Julian said proudly, "The proudest achievement of my life is cultivating Christian. "He has been promoted to the manager of the IT department of Waystar Technologies at a young age. Perhaps he might be promoted further in another few years." Celeste smiled respectfully and said, "That is impressive indeed. I'm certain that your future is limitless, Christian." Julian said, "Celeste, I bet you haven't gotten a job since your recent return, right? Julian can give you some recommendations because he's acquainted with a number of administrative officers of companies." Celeste said, "There's no need for that temporarily. Kayson recommended me to Wolfenden Corp., and I plan to attend their interview." Julian's expression froze while Christian said, "His recommendation? Celeste, you're a finance graduate of an Ivy League university at the very least."

Chapter 369

"You can't join the company as an ordinary employee because that would be a waste of your capability."

'Kayson is just a small team leader. How can he recommend a good position to Celeste?'

Moreover, Wolfenden Corp. was in the construction industry and not a finance company. Could it be that Celeste was going to join Wolfenden Corp. as a measly accountant?

Celeste did not wish to divulge too much information to everyone before she submitted her resume because it would be very embarrassing if she were to fail the interview. Hence, she smiled and said, "Not an ordinary staff. The position that Kayson recommended to me is quite good." Christian refused to believe that and assumed that Celeste was only defending Kayson's ego. Julian said, "Celeste, don't be fooled! Some people are skilled in branding themselves with fancy words and fine promises. You must make sure that you're able to distinguish that."

He was claiming that Kayson was a swindler with his remark.

Cersei retorted, "What nonsense are you talking about? Kayson is a very capable man!"

Bianca said unconcernedly, "Cersei, swindlers these days are very good at branding themselves."

Cersei still wanted to speak out for Kayson when Christian, who had been looking up something on his phone earlier, suddenly furrowed his eyebrows and said, "The Tetrad of Wolfenden Corp.'s projects department? "The team leader of The Tetrad is Easton Oxley and not Yarde." The people around the table were shocked. Cersei asked in haste, "How can that be?" Christian said, "The employee's personal information can be found on Wolfenden Corp.'s website. Take a look, Aunt Cersei."

The people began to look through the website, and it did not take long before Jamie and Cersei's expressions turned unpleasant.

Celeste was feeling rather anxious as well. Yet, she clearly remembered Queenie mentioning that Kayson was her elder brother's colleague.

Cersei said, "Kayson, why can't I find you on the website?" Kayson said, "I was promoted to team leader today. I suppose they haven't updated the information."

Christian said in contempt, "You're really good at bluffing! Why don't you just say that you've just been promoted to the general manager of Wolfenden Corp.?" Julian said righteously, "Peach, I'm most certain that all of you have been deceived! There must be another reason the boy is trying to get close to Celeste!"

Kayson furrowed his eyebrows. He found the Lowes to be truly irritating because they seemed determined to crush him when he did nothing to them. Celeste's family loathed him because of them. Jamie said, "Alright, alright. It's fine. We're here to express our gratitude to Kayson for his help to our family. Let's eat, let's eat!" His expression was slightly solemn while Cersei kept quiet because she felt humiliated.

The Lowes also stopped speaking after looking at Kayson in contempt. After dinner, everyone got up to leave. The Lowes were delighted and looked toward Kayson with so much contempt in their eyes. Jamie paid the bill and joined the rest of the people to head downstairs to the car park. They bumped into two people, and one of them said in astonishment, "Why brings you here, Mr. Yarde?"

It was actually the chief of the human resource department, Franklin. Kayson was surprised as well. He recovered from his surprise and said, "My friend bought me dinner."

Then, he introduced Celeste by saying, "This is Celeste Peach that I recommended to the company." Franklin's expression changed drastically. He said in a polite tone, "Please to meet you, Ms. Peach. I'm Franklin Green, the chief of Wolfenden Corp.'s human resource department."

Celeste was also slightly anxious, so she answered in haste, "Hello, Mr. Green!" Franklin was shocked in his heart. Could it be that Ms. Peach whom Mr. Yarde recommended...

The more he thought about it, the more terrified he was! Next to them, the Lowes were extremely displeased and looked incredulous.

Chapter 370

They had browsed through Wolfenden Corp.'s website earlier and found that the man who claimed to be the chief of the human resource department before them looked exactly the same as Franklin's photo on the website. Kayson asked, "Are you here for dinner too, Mr. Green?" Franklin explained, "The company is short on staff, so Ms. Wolfenden wants me to expand our employee recruitment. Hence, I invited a few colleagues of the same profession for dinner." Kayson nodded while Franklin said respectfully, "Ms. Peach, do remember to send your resume to our company's email soon!

"You came highly recommended by Mr. Yarde for our company's CFO position. If you have the capability, your experience won't be an issue with the recommendation of Mr. Yarde here."

Celeste said anxiously, "I shall do it and send it later!"

Franklin greeted Jamie and the others before Kayson urged him to enter the hotel soon so that his guests would not be left waiting.

Jamie inhaled a deep breath and asked, "Kayson, are you really a team leader?" Wolfenden Corp. had expanded to a larger scale these days, so it was natural that the status of the human resource department's chief was rising. However, Franklin behaved so respectfully to Kayson as if Kayson was the chairman of Wolfenden Corp. Kayson said, "I'm a team leader indeed, and I was promoted earlier today." Cersei was beaming wifely and said sarcastically, "I knew you wouldn't possibly deceive us. I bet someone must be extremely disappointed, right?" Julian and his family were displeased. Christian felt infuriated and incredulous in his heart. They had witnessed how Franklin treated Kayson as well, and they could tell that Kayson was definitely not just a team leader.

They looked embarrassed at this very moment and did not have the courage to utter a word.

Jamie let out a cough and said, "That's enough. What's the point of talking about this? It's good that the misunderstanding has been resolved."

Cersei grunted and said, "They were behaving so rude with their remarks about Kayson being a swindler and everything earlier! "Now that the misunderstanding has been resolved, they should apologize at the very least, right?"

The expressions of Julian and his family changed. "It's fine." Kayson shook his head. Soon afterward, he said to the Peaches, "Mr. and Mrs. Peach. I'll hail myself a cab. Drive safe." "We'll drop you home! It doesn't take much time," said Jamie.

Kayson declined. Meanwhile, he furrowed his eyebrows and looked toward the police car driving toward them.

He could sense a master's presence!

The car stopped, and a middle-aged man about 40 years old dressed in a black casual outfit got out of the car.

The middle-aged man asked, "You're Kayson Yarde, right?" Kayson nodded. "I am." The middle-aged man smiled. "I'm the vice-captain of Admiralporium's second division, Sergio Ginn."

Kayson did not attempt to pick a fight after noticing how he was rather polite. He asked, "Are you here because of Connor's incident?" Sergio heaved a sigh and said, "My subordinate has been injured after all. I can't not handle the situation as a vice-captain." "Will you please come with me, Mr. Yarde? I'll look into the proceeding of the incident carefully. If it's a misunderstanding, I'll order Connor to apologize to you." "Sure." Kayson did not decline. Celeste grabbed his arm and asked in concern, "Kayson, what's... going on with you?" Christian immediately came forward as if he had found Kayson's flaw. "Celeste, it's apparent that the Admiralporium is a government organization. He has committed an offense!" Kayson darted a look at him but did not comment further. He said to Celeste, "Don't worry, it's fine. Go home first." Then, he got into Sergio's car and left. Celeste expressed her concern at the sight of Kayson leaving in a police car. Christian said in all seriousness, "Celeste, we can't allow ourselves to be affiliated with a criminal like him. Otherwise, it will be bad for us.” Celeste furrowed her beautiful eyebrows. Christian’s remark revolted her.
