

MY FGB 511

Chapter 511 Talia hastily got to her feet and saw Kayson out of the door. Yvonne was a tad slower, but she still followed them to the door.

Talia said, "Please don't mind my mother..."

Kayson smiled. "It's okay. I don't have that kind of intention, and Ms. Summers is just being paranoid."

Something flashed across Talia's eyes as she snorted, "Hmph! Luckily, you know that yourself. I'm not interested in you at all!"

After saying that, she called the driver and sent him home.

After Kayson left, Yvonne called her over. "Talia, come over here."

Talia went over to her and said exasperatedly, "Mom, what the hell were you doing just now? Do you know how embarrassed I was?"

Yvonne said indifferently, "Stop hanging with him so much in the future. You're my only daughter. I won't allow you to spend the rest of your life in poverty." Talia huffed and said, "I'm not going to marry him! Aunt Yvette just wants you to know more about him. There is no chemistry between us at all!"

Yvonne looked at her calmly and replied, "You're my daughter. Do you think I can't tell when you're interested in a man? This is the first time you brought a young man home."

Talia's face turned red from embarrassment as she said, "He just brought me home!"

Yvonne glanced at her and said, "If he was just bringing you home, then there was no need for you to invite him into your home."

"1..."

Talia was stumped, as she did not know what to say to her mother.

Apparently, Yvonne and Yvette were two different types of people. She looked at her and said in a forceful voice, "I have been through the same thing before, and I've never been wrong about a person. This guy is unreliable. He won't be able to give you a happy life if you marry him." Talia replied angrily. "Kayson is a great man! Even Jairo and the lieutenant from the government office respect him a lot!"

Yvonne was slightly stunned when she heard what her daughter had said, but she was not very impressed by it. "Don't mention Jairo in front of me. He's a disgrace, and people who hang out with him are no good either. As for Lieutenant Beverly, well... He isn't anyone of consequence anyway.

"We and your aunt can talk with the mayor as if we're friends. He's a lot more important than Thomas."

Talia's eyes turned red around the rims as she said exasperatedly, "I don't want to talk to you anymore. All you care about is whether a person can give you any benefits or not!"

After saying that, she rushed upstairs and shut herself in her room.

Yvonne frowned slightly. She found it difficult to believe that her good, obedient daughter had yelled at her just now.

'It seems like she really has a crush on him...' She sighed inwardly.

Apparently, an inexperienced girl like her daughter would easily fall prey to frivolous men who talked big. She called her husband and said, "Roman, you need to come back now. If you do not, your daughter will get deceived by a hooligan." Roman, who was stunned, smacked the table hard. "Who the hell would dare deceive my daughter?! I'm going to break his legs! Wait for me! I'm coming back tonight."

Yvonne hung up the call and called Yvette.

Yvette smiled and said, "Sis? Have you seen Kayson?"

What do you think of him?"

Yvonne said in a serious voice, "I'm not satisfied with him. You need to open your eyes wide next time. We can, of course, milk him for all he's worth, but we mustn't treat him as our friend."

Yvette was stunned. "What are you talking about? Kace is a good young man!"

Yvonne said, "I've never been wrong about someone before..."

Yvette replied angrily, "If you really are that good at reading people, why did you fail to see that Jason's business would be successful?"

Yvonne frowned and said in a dissatisfied voice, "I'm doing this for your own good. You might regret it if you don't listen to me!"

Yvette said angrily, "I introduced Kace to you because I don't have a daughter. Otherwise, I would have done everything I could to make my daughter marry him!" Then, she hung up the call.

Chapter 512

Kayson did not know that Talia had gotten into a fight with her mother because of him.

He also did not know that Yvonne looked down on him and had even told Yvette about it.

Right now, he was going back to the Queen Mansion in the Halls' car.

However, before he arrived at his destination, he received a call from Philip.

Philip asked, "Mr. Yarde, do you have some time?"

Kayson replied, "Yeah. What's wrong?"

Philip then said in a serious voice, "Mr. Shore wants to see you. If you have time right now, he wishes to thank you in person."

Mr. Shore?'

Kayson was stunned,

'Who is Mr. Shore? I don't think I know someone named Shore...'

Suddenly, he remembered Livia from Cloudia Paragon and asked, "Are you talking about the richest man in Skyriv?"

Philip chuckled and said, "That's right. He's very grateful for your help, so he wants me to invite you to a meal."

Kayson thought for a while and said, "Sure. Tell him that I'm going."

He was doing Philip a favor. Livia had found the right person. If it was anyone else, he might have rejected them.

"Sure. I'll let Mr. Shore know. Are you going back to the hotel yourself, or are you going with us?"

Kayson said, "I'll go by myself."

Philip then told him the location. It was Verdant International Hotel, a five-star hotel, as well as the best hotel in Greenspring. Kayson asked the driver to take him to the hotel and went upstairs alone.

Just as he was climbing the stairs, he saw two familiar people.

One of the young men saw him and snarled out, "It's you!"

Kayson was taken aback slightly and chuckled. "What a small world."

The two of them were Westin and Chance.

When Chance had sent someone to take Juniper away,

Kayson had stepped in and ruined his attempt. Then, when he had asked Westin for help, he had been intercepted by Christine. After that, Westin had gone to ask for Jairo's help, hoping that he would help him get back at Kayson. However, little had he expected that Jairo would submit to Kayson and even join his side in the end.

Initially, Jairo had been planning to look for them, but he couldn't just go straight up to them and kick their asses, as all of them worked for Mr. Denn.

Besides, Jairo did not have the luxury of time to care about them either, as he had to take care of his mother.

Westin's face turned grim as he harrumphed, "Kid, Christine has already fallen from grace. There's no one to protect you anymore!" Kayson said faintly, "You should be glad that Christine stepped in. If she had not, you guys would have ended up in an even worse situation in my hands."

Westin scoffed coldly. "Hah, what a snotty brat!" Kayson sighed and shook his head. "I suggest you leave me alone. Otherwise, I'll wipe the entire Sully family out of existence."

After hearing what he said, Chance shouted, "D*mn it! Such a high-sounding sentiment! The Sullys are one of the largest families in Greenspring. Do you think we're going down without putting up a fight?"

Kayson looked at him and asked, "So you two are plotting something against me again?"

Just as Westin was about to say something, someone came out of the restroom and approached them.

It was a fit man in his mid-fifties.

Westin looked at Kayson angrily and said, "Master Rocher, this guy beat up my son two days ago, and now he said he's going to wipe out the entire Sully family!"

Master Rocher lifted his eyebrows and snorted coldly, "What a cocky brat. Well, I guess that is what people always say. The ignorants are always fearless."

Chance asked, "Can you beat him, Master Rocher? I heard that he defeated Jairo too."

Chapter 513 Master Rocher scoffed and said, "Jairo? He's the weakest amongst all the grandmaster - level fighters. It would be an insult to me if you compared me to someone like him.

"If he's at Jairo's level, I can beat ten of him!" Westin's heart skipped a beat when he heard what Master Rocher said, and he said, "Master Rocher, if you beat the hell out of this kid, I'll give you $3,000,000!"

Humans would do anything within their means to become rich, just like birds would do anything to get their hands on food. Master Rocher's eyes glowed when he heard the amount of money Westin was offering him.

"Hahaha! Sure! It's a deal!"

Master Rocher opened his arms, kicked the floor, and dashed toward Kayson. He raised his leg high in the air, just like a crane, and brought it down with a mighty swipe.

Kayson was shocked. "The Divine Crane?"

Master Rocher shouted, "Seems like you're not entirely ignorant either!"

Kayson hastily took a step back. Master Rocher's feet landed on the ground, and the tiles cracked at the collision.

One could see how powerful this kick was based on the fact that the tiles right under his feet had been pulverized.

Kayson leaped into the air with feline-like grace and closed the distance between him and Master Rocher before he could even react. Then, he delivered a palm strike on his body, causing Master Rocher to spurt out a mouthful of blood. He flew back at once, and it took him a lot of effort to stop him in his tracks.

"You... You're a peak-stage grandmaster – level fighter?" Master Rocher's face was filled with shock. This was the first time he had ever come across such a young grandmaster -level fighter , not to mention that Kayson was at the peak stage.

Kayson offered Master Rocher a smile before proceeding to cast the Odinous Power and sent a punch at him across the air.

Master Rocher gave him a sarcastic smile. "Energy projection? Hah! It seems like you've underestimated me. How is there any possibility that you could hurt me from so far away?"

He raised his hand and stretched his arm forward. He was going to do the same thing Kayson had done, and a bang was heard, as though a balloon had exploded.

However, just as a smile appeared on his face, Kayson's Odinous Power hit him in the chest.

His clothes were blown apart, and his chest turned red, as if he had been burned.

"Pfft!"

All his organs and veins were seriously damaged, and he spurted out a large mouthful of blood.

"How... How is there any possibility your energy would have such devastating power..." Master Rocher said before falling unconscious on the floor.

Both Westin and Chance were frightened. Master Rocher had been summoned by Mr. Denn, and once Mr. Denn found out what had happened to him, he would be furious.

After defeating Master Rocher, Kayson turned his head to look at Westin and Chance, who looked dumbfounded.

Both of them shuddered, and Chance fell to his knees with a plop.

"Mercy! I promise I won't appear in front of you again!" Westin's face was pale, and he felt embarrassed for his son.

Kayson looked at them and fell into deep thought. Westin did not say anything, but his heart was pumping fast in his chest.

Kayson asked, "How much do you guys know about Mr. Denn?"

Westin's expression changed, and he said, "What?"

Kayson repeated himself. "It's okay if you guys don't want to tell me anything, but you should be aware that I'll treat you two as his accomplices after I get rid of him."

He paused for a moment before adding, "I'm the Admiralporium's special task force agent. I'm here to investigate something."

Westin's eyes were filled with fear after he heard what Kayson said.

Chapter 514 'The Admiralporium's special task force agent? He's here to investigate something?'

Westin had helped Mr. Denn with a lot of evil deeds, so he knew very well that Mr. Denn was not innocent.

If Kayson had really been sent by the Admiralporium, it meant that the Admiralporium already had their eyes on Mr. Denn!

"I'll give you some time to think about it. Come to me after you make up your mind."

Just as Kayson turned around and was about to go upstairs, Philip's voice rang out from the door. "Mr. Yarde!"

Kayson turned around, only to see Philip and two other people walking into the hall.

"Captain Murphy," Kayson replied. Philip walked toward Kayson with a few quick steps and looked at Westin in surprise. "Mr. Sully? What are you doing here? You look pale. Do you need me to call you a doctor?"

The corner of Westin's lips quivered. "Captain Murphy..."

Before he could finish his sentence, he saw the two men that had come with Philip and he was petrified.

"Mr... Mr. Shore?!"

His face was filled with disbelief. He did not know when the richest man in Skyriv had arrived here at Greenspring.

Royce nodded at him and replied faintly, "Good to see you."

Then, he looked at Kayson and said respectfully, "You must be Mr. Kayson Yarde, right?"

Kayson nodded. "Pleasure to meet you, Mr. Shore."

Royce chuckled and said, "If you don't mind, you can call me Uncle Royce. Anything else would make me feel like we're not close enough."

"Alright, Uncle Royce," Kayson said.

Standing beside Royce, Livia looked at Kayson incredulously and asked, "You're the one who saved me from Cloudia Paragon?"

She was wearing a white dress that Kayson assumed had cost an arm and a leg. She had a delicate appearance, and her light makeup further accentuated her prettiness. She was the kind of woman who would attract everyone's attention when walking down the street.

"Yeah," Kayson replied indifferently. He had seen many pretty girls before, so he was not stunned by Livia's pretty face.

Seeing how calm he was, Livia stretched her arm forward and greeted him. "Hi, my name is Livia. Thank you for saving my life."

Kayson smiled and shook her hand for a short while. "You can call me Kayson. Don't mention it. It's not a big deal."

Smiling brightly, Livia added, "Uncle Philip has told me a lot about you. Now that I'm finally seeing you in person, you do give off a different vibe from other people."

"Do I? Captain Murphy has flattered me too much."

Royce chimed in and said, "Alright. We shouldn't be standing here. Let's move to the room to talk. I'm sure Kayson must be hungry by now." All of them ignored the Sullys and went upstairs by using the elevator.

Chance said carefully, "Dad..."

"Shut up!" Westin stared at him viciously after he came back to his senses. "You're such a disappointment!"

Chance scrunched up his face begrudgingly. He had not known that Kayson was so powerful at all. Even Master Rocher couldn't stand a chance against him.

Westin's expression was dark.

"Kayson is the one behind the annihilation of Cloudia Paragon? Even the richest man in Skyriv has to treat him with respect... This fellow is extraordinary!"

Meanwhile, in the private room above...

Kayson took a seat, and Royce began to express his gratitude to him.

However, there was something he did not understand, so he said, "Uncle Royce, you're the richest man in Skyriv. Why didn't you do anything when your daughter was abducted?"

Chapter 515 Royce sighed. "I had someone to look into it, and the thread led us to Cloudia Paragon. However, we didn't know where they were holding Livia hostage, so we didn't dare do anything rash."

"What did they ask for after they took Ms. Shore away?"

"They wanted money. They asked me to transfer money into an overseas account. They told me that nothing would happen to Livia as long as I did what they said."

Philip chimed in exasperatedly, "They're the worst. I will definitely get to the bottom of this! No matter who they are, I won't forgive them for abducting Livia!"

"I looked into the overseas account as well, but I've found nothing. I was afraid that something would happen to Livia, so I did what they told me to."

Kayson did not make any comments. After all, he wasn't sure if Mr. Denn had been behind the abduction or not.

Master Oczen did not know anything either. They had only told him that someone had sent Livia over to them.

"I'm sure they already know that I rescued Ms. Shore. Therefore, you need to be extra careful not to let them get Ms. Shore again."

Royce said in a serious voice, "Kayson, I have a favor to ask."

"Shoot, Uncle Royce," Kayson replied. "I heard from Captain Murphy that you're the one who defeated all the powerful fighters in Cloudia Paragon?" Royce asked.

Kayson nodded. An excited expression crept on Royce's face as he said, "I'm fully aware of how powerful Cloudia Paragon is. If you can crush them, that means that you're stronger than them.

"Therefore, I hope you can protect Livia. I can pay you as much as you want!"

Kayson, who was stunned, rejected the offer. "I don't have the time to go to Skyspring." Royce added hastily, "You don't have to go to Skyspring. Let Livia follow you around instead!"

He was worried that Kayson would reject his request.

Kayson frowned. Philip was not in any position to persuade Kayson, so he just sat silently aside. Royce gave him a bitter smile and said, "Kayson, I hired grandmaster – level fighters to protect Livia, yet she was still abducted."

Kayson let out a sigh inwardly after he heard what Roy said. It was only now that he realized why Royce would suddenly treat him so well.

It seemed to him that he would be the bad guy if he continued to reject the task.

"I can do that, but I have one rule. Ms. Shore has to obey all my orders and arrangements without question."

He was worried about ladies who had grown up in prestigious families the most. All of them were arrogant and they did not like other people to order them around.

Royce nodded and said, "Of course! She'll do everything you say, Mr. Yarde!"

Livia chimed in and said softly, "You can call me Livia. Calling me "Ms. Shore" makes me feel uncomfortable."

Kayson glanced at the pretty lady and nodded.

Royce was beyond delighted and he urged the restaurant to serve the dishes at once.

They chatted as they had their meal, and Kayson finally understood what this rich man had been doing.

He was involved in both the real economy and the internet industry. Even though information technology was developing rapidly in this era, he had not given up his foray into various industries.

The internet industry was both highly profitable and risky. One might get rich overnight and become poor the next day.

As for the real economy, he had invested a lot of money in various industries, such as the real estate industry, home renovation, water and electrical power, living goods, and so on.

Since Kayson was going to establish a new corporation, he had learned quite a lot from Royce.

It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon when they finished their meal. Royce liked Kayson even more, but Livia did not talk much. Most of the time, she just sat aside and listened to their conversation.

Royce was going to return to Skyspring after the meal. If he hadn't wanted to thank Kayson in person, he wouldn't have come at all.

Before they parted ways, Royce said, "Kayson, you need to find some time to visit Skyspring."

After saying that, Royce drove away in his car, leaving Livia to Kayson.

Chapter 516 Once Royce left, Philip smiled knowingly. "I'll leave you young people alone then!

"Oh yeah, Kayson ... A few of the bodies over at Cloudia Paragon were collected by their families, and they've asked me to thank you."

He sighed after saying that. "Master Octavius, Master Oczen, and the others are already in jail, and the hearing will be held soon..."

Kayson did not know what to say. He had only scanned the vicinity with mind expansion back then, but that had been enough. Those female corpses ... had gone through terrible torture before their death, and even their death had not come easy.

Kayson felt an impending headache after Philip left.

What should he do with Livia? It was not like he could take her to the Wolfendens when he returned to Clouspring. He would not have agreed to meet Royce if he had known. Besides, he was only temporarily staying at Jason's place now. It would not be appropriate for him to bring another person over!

"Ms. Shore..."

"Just call me Livia."

"Livia, I'll take you to Garland Gym while I think of a place to stay."

Livia nodded. "Sure, it's up to you."

At Garland Gym...

Edward went over to welcome Kayson the moment he saw him. "Mr. Yarde!"

"I'm just here to take a break. Keep doing what you've been doing," said Kayson.

The students in the gym looked at him admiringly but dared not go forward. However, the moment they spotted the gorgeous Livia next to him, they ignored him completely.

The girl was so beautiful that she looked prettier than the female celebrities on television.

Kayson and Livia took a seat on the chairs on the side, and Cody and Parker came a while later.

"Kayson!" Cody's eyes shone as he jogged over happily.

"What brings you here?" Kayson asked.

Cody chuckled. "I wanted to train too. Give me a pointer or two. It'll be easier when I pick up girls next time."

Kayson let an amused chortle escape his mouth. “Practicing martial arts isn’t practice for picking up girls...”

Cody could care less about that. He was stunned when he saw Livia. The girl was unbelievably beautiful and she looked like an otherworldly fairy as she sat there quietly. He thought that Kayson was simply the best – he could drink the most, fight the hardest, and pick up the prettiest girl.

Parker bowed before Kayson and went over to train. His brother, Cody, went with him, but since he was new, he looked a little out of place in the crowd.

Kayson told Livia, “Okay, we’ll get two neighboring rooms in Emerald Phoenix. What do you think?”

Livia gave it some thought and asked, “Why don’t we just get a business suite?”

“Oh, that works too. You decide.” Kayson nodded.

Livia pulled out her phone to book the hotel while Cody jogged over right after Parker talked to him.

Cody asked enthusiastically, “You need a place to stay, Kayson? You can come to me. I have several properties. Do you need a villa or an apartment?” Kayson was stunned for a moment before he realized what had happened. Parker must have heard them, as he was already an inner energy fighter and had an above average hearing ability.

He accepted Cody’s offer easily. “Rent a place to me for some time then. I’ll return it to you when I leave Greenspring.”

Cody replied seriously, “Kayson, you’re insulting me now. You didn’t even charge me for helping my younger brother become an inner energy fighter!

“I have a villa by the river, and it’s been half a year since it was renovated. It’s a stand-alone building, and you can stay there after furnishing it a little.”

Chapter 517 “I’ll gift the villa to you, Kayson!”

Kayson did not refuse upon seeing that he had already made up his mind. He just nodded right away. “I’ll take it then.”

“Heh, sure. I can take you there now, okay?”

Kayson nodded and went to Creek Villa, the place that Cody had mentioned, with Livia. They left to get some furniture after confirming the style they were going for. Cody spoke while driving. “You can go to Talia’s family’s Hall Furnishing for furniture. It’s considered a big brand and it has pretty much everything.”

Livia chorused, “Hall Furnishing is really famous. It’s one of the top furniture companies in Skyriv.”

Kayson had no objections since both of them said so.

When they reached one of Hall Furnishing’s outlets, since Kayson did not have any preferences, he let Livia pick what she wanted. While they shopped, Cody paled immediately after receiving a phone call.

“What’s the matter?” Kayson asked.

“My father said that our family company is under attack. Many suppliers have suddenly stopped working with us and asked for returns, claiming that the renovation materials they supplied have quality issues.” Kayson was surprised. Cody’s family ran a decently-sized interior design and renovation company. As they talked, Cody received calls from Diego, Leyla, and Violet. They usually fooled around, but they were still concerned about their family businesses. Their family businesses were suddenly being targeted at the same time, and these people were related to him, so could it be a coincidence?

“I’ll make a call to ask about it.”

Kayson dialed Chadwick’s number to ask him for help to investigate the matter. There was no doubt that the Admiralporium captains were all capable, as Chadwick came back with an answer shortly – Breezy Group was behind it.

Hansel Grant!

‘Looks like it’s time to meet the top company in Greenspring...!’

As soon as this thought flashed in Kayson’s mind, he asked Cody what kind of businesses the others’ families were running. Leyla’s family was in fashion design, manufacturing and retail, while Diego’s family was involved in construction material supply. Kayson then called Diego. “Do you know Northspring’s Shaun Cash?”

Diego was surprised. “That’s the building material mogul in Skyriv. My family runs the same business. How could I not know him?”

“I’ll pass you his number. Just work with him from now on,” Kayson told him with a smile.

Diego gasped. “You’re not kidding, right?”

Kayson then gave Shaun’s number to Diego after informing Shaun. Next up was Leyla. Leyla was currently fretting. Since something so serious was happening at home, and they did not know the cause, her father was making calls to ask why they were returning the goods all of a sudden.

She picked up the call when she saw that it was Kayson.” Kayson...”

“How’s the quality of your clothes?” he asked.

Leyla had no idea why Kayson was asking, but she answered anyway, “Decent...”

“There’s a Rubrum Enterprise in Northspring. Their chairman’s Finnick Sullivan. He’s in fashion retail too and intends to get his stock supply from you,” Kayson told her with a smile.

“I wonder if your family is interested in expanding the business to Northspring.”

Leyla was stunned. It was only when Kayson asked her again for confirmation that she snapped back to reality in delight.

“Yes, yes!”

They had received so many returns from retailers that they had piles of clothes!

Chapter 518 Diego contacted his father immediately and went to the company. His father, Brian Gardner, was currently worrying in his office. The company was not big scale – wise but it was still doing quite well.

There were already a few sites that had rejected his construction material supply, and some had even claimed that the material quality was substandard, thus asking for compensation.

If one or two companies had claimed so, Brian could still have figured out a way to apply for quality assessment and argue the case, but this was not just one or two! About 80% of the bosses he was working with had told him that they wanted to return the materials.

How much money was he going to lose since there was such a large-scale return of building materials going on? In addition, he had new supplies coming in.

He had business partners, but they were not involved in the management, so the company was relatively stable for now. Despite that, people would lose their confidence if this went on. Once there was an issue with his cash flow, he would be done for.

“Dad!” Diego barged into the office excitedly.

Brian said in all seriousness, “You said that someone wants to purchase our building materials in bulk. Is it true?”

“Yes!” Diego replied, sounding thrilled.

Brian could hardly believe that his son, who was still in university, was so capable, so he asked instantly, “Who is it?”

“Shaun Cash!” Diego answered.

Brian was taken aback before he repeated in shock, “Who?!”

“The building material mogul, Shaun Cash, dad!”

Brian gasped. “How’s that possible? What kind of sick joke are you cracking?!” They did not even know Shaun, and would the man even need to purchase construction materials? He would just need to say the word! Diego urged him. “I’ll call him. You talk to him!”

Brian was shocked once more. Call him? His undergraduate son had Shaun’s number?!

Diego called the number and said nervously, "Mr. Cash, I'm at the company now. Should I pass the phone to my father?"

"Mn, I'll talk to him," Shaun replied.

Brian accepted the phone promptly and greeted the man anxiously. "M-Mr. Cash?"

Shaun's tone was laced with a chuckle. "Mr. Gardner, my apologies for meeting you like this. I'll definitely welcome you warmly when you pay a visit to Northspring next time."

It was Shaun Cash's voice! The man had gone on TV before, so Brian remembered his voice.

"That's so nice of you, Mr. Cash. I should be welcoming you instead!"

Brian then asked nervously, "Mr. Cash, are you really interested in purchasing our company's building materials?"

"Yes. Are you not planning to sell them to me?" Shaun asked with a chortle.

Brian answered in a rush, "No, nothing like that!"

Shaun smiled. "To be honest, Mr. Gardner, my construction material supply has been under a lot of pressure recently. I just signed a two-year agreement with Clouspring's Wolfenden Corp.

"Wolfenden Corp. has had too many projects recently, and my building materials can't quite meet the demand. I was so happy when I heard that you've been pressured by the oversupply of inventory."

Brian knew that these were just pleasantries. How could Shaun not be able to meet the demand of his business when his supplying speed was the best in Skyriv?

"It's an honor for Gardisle Construction Materials that Mr. Cash trusts us. How much do you need?"

Shaun hummed and replied, "As much as you can get me. Of course, the quality must be upheld, and you have to give me a discount..."

"I'll give it all to you for cost, Mr. Cash!" Brian said quickly.

He would only be profiting since he had acquainted himself with the mogul Shaun Cash himself. How many construction material companies were there in Skyriv? Countless!

Chapter 519

Only a few top companies could work with Shaun Cash.

"Hahaha, that won't do. You'll have to make some money, won't you? I'll have someone sign the contract on my behalf. His name is Kayson Yarde."

Shaun laughed heartily. "Your son knows him, so just look for him from now on. Anything he says goes."
"Okay, sure. Goodbye, Mr. Cash!"

"Goodbye."

When they ended the call, Brian gasped and stared at Diego with glowing eyes. "Who's this Kayson Yarde he spoke of?"

Diego was also shocked that Kayson had done them such a huge favor.

"I-It's a friend Talia introduced to me..."

Brian held back the thrill gushing within him. "Maintain a good relationship with him, you hear me? He's not a simple guy for sure!"

Meanwhile, Leyla went to see her father, Howie Lang, who was speaking on the phone with Finnick.

"Yes, Mr. Sullivan. I'll arrange for the delivery right away!"

Upon hanging up, Howie was filled with shock. Leyla asked fervently, "Dad, has the issue been resolved?"

Howie smiled in relief and gave her a firm nod. "Your friend is amazing. Finnick ... just ripped some of the big ones not too long ago, and he's been on the rise recently in Northspring..."

"This is basically our family's first step toward expansion."

Leyla hurrahed with pride. "Of course! Kayson's the best!"

Howie nodded with a smile. "Maintain a good relationship with him, but of course, stay sincere. We ought to thank him properly for helping us resolve this huge trouble." "I know! I'm not stupid!" Leyla beamed sweetly.

At one of Hall Furnishing's outlets... Cody was both shocked and impressed. "Holy... Kayson, you know this many big shots?"

Shaun Cash and Finnick Sullivan! The former was the king of construction materials, and given how famous he was, everyone knew him! The latter might have been lesser known in the past, but he was rising up the ranks aggressively nowadays.

It was because Finnick had done something that had shaken the whole business world – he had sunk his teeth into North Fann Group and devoured all the corporation's fashion design, retail, and manufacturing companies! No one knew how Finnick had done it to this day.

There was a hint of surprise on Livia's gorgeous face as well. She had not expected Kayson to be so powerful.

Cody wailed. "Kayson, you've got to help my family too! You can't be partial!"

Kayson could not help chuckling. "How could I forget your family? But your family's in renovation. I don't have connections in this field yet..."

He was planning to ask Michael about it when Livia spoke up, "Uh... I might be able to help."

Both men looked at her, and realization struck Javier. Right, they had the daughter of the richest man in the city there!

Cody was flabbergasted as he stared at the goddess in bewilderment. "You... You can help our family? Miss, are you serious?"

Livia was a little abashed but nodded seriously. "Your family's in the renovation business, right? Let me make a call."

She pulled out her phone and called a number. "Uncle Zen, it's me, Livia."

Uncle Zen chuckled. "Livia, what's the matter?"

"Uncle Zen, as I recall, Eastsea Bay's Vista Hill hasn't picked a renovation supplier, right?" Livia asked.

Chapter 520

Uncle Zen replied, "It's true that it's not been decided yet, but I plan to pick a company from the handful that your father's investing in."

"I have a friend whose family runs a renovation business. Why don't we pass the project to them?" Livia asked.

Uncle Zen was surprised. Livia had never gotten involved in company affairs. Why was she suddenly pulling strings for her friend?

"As long as the quality is assured and they don't do a shoddy job or cut corners, I don't have much to say. It's just that your dad..."

"I'll talk to him as long as you make the decision."

Uncle Zen replied, "Alright then, let me know which company it is. I'll call them and talk to them first."

Livia shifted her gaze to Cody, whose jaw was slack, and he quickly spoke up. "Greenspring's Flying Ape Projects Ltd!"

"A company from Greenspring ...?" Uncle Zen sounded puzzled.

The company was not exactly famous, but he said nothing since Livia had recommended it.

"Leave it to me, Livia. I'll get in touch with them."

Livia added, "Uncle Zen, don't negotiate with them. Let them make some profit."

It seemed like Uncle Zen was stunned, as he only replied after a moment, "Got it."

After the call ended, Cody looked at Livia anxiously. "Uh... Sis-in-law, y-you-where are you from?"

S-Sis-in-law? Livia was so stunned that she needed some time to recover.

Kayson thwacked Cody's head. "Cut it out! This is the richest man's daughter!" Cody shuddered and gaped at Livia. "R-Royce Shore's daughter?! Oh my goodness!"

His legs nearly gave out on him. Kayson had picked up the richest man's daughter? What felt even more shocking was that said daughter was going to stay with Kayson!

Livia smiled bashfully and dipped her head in slight embarrassment, staying silent.

Cody pulled a long face, sobbing in his mind. 'Oh, Kayson ... Why would you even worry about accommodation when you have a rich woman with you...

'You could stay at the best hotel suite every day and afford to be there for life...'

Kayson did not read much into it but asked, "Livia, you done picking?"

"Mm." Livia nodded. "They'll send the goods over. I've already paid."

"Oh," Kayson replied. "Let's go back then."

He contacted Violet on the way back. "Has your family business run into any trouble?" "A few big clients have gone back on their word, but the effect isn't too bad for the time being," Violet answered.

"You let me know if there's a problem."

Violet replied with a smile, "Sure... Right, Talia's family seems to have run into quite a messy issue. Do you know about it?"

"No, she didn't tell me." Kayson raised a brow.

"It just happened a few hours ago. One of their manufacturing factories caught fire, and a lot of equipment and materials were burned. The damage is pretty bad."

Kayson looked serious. "Okay, got it."

After he ended the call with Violet, he called Jason to ask about it.

Jason sounded distressed as well as he said, "Yes, it's true. It's rather bad. Roman just signed a contract with a big client in Skyspring.

"Given what happened to the factory, he's got to contract another factory to manufacture everything for him as soon as he can, or he'll have to pay $15,000,000 for breaching the contract if the handover is delayed."
