

My Life 771

Chapter 771: Because She Is Nian Xiaomu

When Yu Yuehan walked towards her and poked her delicate little face, all she did was pout her lips.

Turning around, she continued sleeping.

“You heartless little rascal,” said Yu Yuehan fondly.

He lowered his head to give her delicate face a peck and left the room.

When he walked into the living room, the butler was carrying a pot of freshly-prepared sobering tea. The butler walked toward him and poured him a cup.

Wisps of white steam rose before his eyes from the cup of boiling hot tea.

Yu Yuehan stared at the sobering tea in front of him. The scene of Nian Xiaomu sitting on the sofa with Xiao Liulu in her embrace, coaxing her to sleep, flashed across his mind.

The gentleness in her gaze had not changed since she had gone for the interview at the Yu Family’s villa.

She also had Xiao Liulu in her arms then. Sitting on the sofa in the living room, she was very gently changing a wound dressing for Xiao Liulu.

The aura she eluded was very gentle, very warm...

It was how he liked her to be.

Perhaps, it was from that point onward that she had moved his heart, bit by bit.

“Bring a bottle of wine over.” Yu Yuehan ordered, as he sat and leaned against the sofa, lifting his eyelids slightly.

Upon hearing that, the butler froze, and said, “Young Master, Executive Assistant Yang said that you have drunk too much today, is it...”

Before the butler could finish, Yu Yuehan raised his eyebrows at him.

A butler should not be questioning a master’s order.

The butler silently sighed. Turning around, he walked toward the cabinet and picked up a bottle of red wine and a wine glass.

He opened the bottle and poured out the wine.

Then, he placed it before Yu Yuehan.

Seeing Yu Yuehan lift the wineglass and drink the wine in a gulp, the butler could not help but say, “Young Master Han, Miss Nian actually came back today.”

Yu Yuehan put down the wineglass and his hand stopped in mid-air. After that, he picked up the bottle of wine and poured another glass for himself.

Just as he was about to drink it, the butler reached forward to stop him.

“Young Master, I feel that Miss Nian does not seem like a manipulative person. Since you can’t let go of her, why did you let her go?”

It took the butler all his courage to stop him just now. Seeing Yu Yuehan take another glance at him, he quickly retracted his hand.

Yu Yuehan put down the wine only after finishing another glass.

He moved his lips slowly, and said, “Because she is Nian Xiaomu.”

Yu Yuehan took a glance at the butler who did not understand what he meant. Without any further elaboration, he poured himself a glass of wine and walked toward the French window in the living room.

The night sky was dark outside the window.

Rays of moonlight fell on the branches, on the grass, as well as the direction where she had departed...

The butler’s question flashed across his mind once again.

Picking up the glass of wine, he took a sip and squinted his eyes.

If Tang Yuansi had managed to receive the news about the footage, so could others.

He could trust Nian Xiaomu, but what about the rest of Yu Family?

He was not only responsible for himself, but also for the rest of the Yu Family. It was the duty of the person who held the most power within the Yu Family.

While he could choose to neither question, mention, nor suspect her, he could not stop others from doing so. It would be unfair for Nian Xiaomu if he were to force her to stay in the Yu family, but unable to protect her.

Moreover, he knew that she took the initiative to leave because he held a place in her heart.

He was unwilling to see them both reach a point of no return due to suspicion...

Others may not understand her, but how could he not understand?

He had allowed her to leave, precisely because he was aware of her thoughts. It was also a chance for them to give each other space, as well as time for him to get to the truth of this matter.

Yu Yuehan closed his eyes and raised his hand and finished the glass of red wine. Following the moonlight, he mumbled softly, “Nian Xiaomu...”

Chapter 772: He Is Going to Become a Father?

On the other side.

Tang Yuansi sat in a cab that was going straight to the Tang Family Villa.

He pushed open the door and got out the moment the car stopped.

After paying the cab fee, he turned and walked towards the Tang Family villa while calling Yu Yuehan's assistant to check on the situation.

Before the call could get through, he saw a familiar figure standing in front of the Tang Family villa's entrance.

Tang Yuansi thought he was drunk and shook his head violently.

The next second, he remembered that he had not drunk alcohol. How could he get drunk by drinking water?!

Then, he turned to look at the person in front of him again.

The person was still there and seemed to have heard his footsteps. The person turned around slowly and looked at him.

When the entire face of the person was visible, Tang Yuansi's body froze just as the call on his phone got through.

The assistant's voice could be heard on the phone.

"President Tang, Young Master Han is alright and has already been taken home, are you okay?"

"..."

He was okay. It was just that he may have seen a ghost.

Could he shout for help?

Or, could someone come and pinch him, he had a feeling that he had started to dream without falling asleep.

Before the assistant said anything else, Tang Yuansi hung up the phone.

Coming back to his senses, he walked hurriedly towards the person in front of the Tang Family villa.

Seeing those eyes that contained clarity and a tinge of wilderness, he was startled.

She is back...

She is actually back...

No, isn't she overseas, why is she back?

And why is she here?

She has become skinnier.

She was already lean, now she looks even skinnier.

What have the people around her been doing?

Did they not remind her to eat more?

Tang Yuansi's hands clenched by his side. He clenched his fist tightly to hold back the pain in his heart, to stop himself from going up to hug her.

Instead, he stood in front of her and stared at her coldly.

It was the guard at the side that ran up to him.

"President Tang, not long after you left, Miss Shangxin came over and didn't say anything. After finding out that you were not home she just stood there and waited for you."

Upon hearing that, Tang Yuansi's heart tightened.

He thought that when she left, she must have hated him. She would never want to see him in her life again. She would probably never appear in front of him, even at his death.

He had never expected that she would come back so suddenly.

After hearing the security guard and before Tang Yuansi could react, Shangxin walked towards him.

She stopped less than one step away from him, looked down and flipped through her bag for a while before taking out a white pen and passing it to him.

Tang Yuansi was stunned and took the pen instinctively

At first, he couldn't understand why she had passed him a pen.

Looking at the two red stripes in the middle of the pen, his eyes narrowed and he was dumbfounded.

Then, he realized that it was not a pen but a pregnancy test kit.

Two red stripes.

It was two stripes.

Two very clear stripes.

Tang Yuansi had seen his adoptive father and brothers holding onto a similar pregnancy test kit and was over the moon.

He knew better than anyone else what the two red stripes meant.

Shangxin bit her lips as she looked at him waiting for his reaction.

"If you don't understand that, look at this instead."

She lowered her head and continued to dig in her bag, taking out an ultrasound scan photo.

On the small photo, there was a crescent-shaped figure. Tang Yuansi was trembling.

Chapter 773: One Will Always Subdue the Other

He took the results from her and looked at the little crescent on the photo.

He was going to be a dad?

This was his kid?

It was their child...

One hour ago, he was still envious of Yu Yuehan. But now, he held onto the pregnancy test kit and ultrasound test result in shock. He didn't know how to react.

His eyes turned red.

He stared hard at the ultra scan results and the little crescent.

He didn't even bear to blink.

It was like he was afraid that if he blinked the crescent would disappear...

His mind went blank and his body stiffened.

He also forgot how ten minutes ago, he was planning to coldly push Shangxin away.

Now, there was only one voice in his mind.

He was going to be a dad?

He was going to be a dad.

He was going to be a dad!

He was actually going to be a dad!

The excitement and surging emotions made him want to hold the test results and run around the Tang Family Villa.

When he regained his senses, his first reaction was to look at Shangxin's tummy.

Her tummy was still flat.

He couldn't imagine that there was a small baby in her womb.

Tang Yuansi was completely stunned.

He stared at Shangxin's stomach for so long, then he remembered that it was chilly outside. He removed his jacket quickly and placed it on her.

He took her into the Tang Family Villa.

He gave Shangxin a blanket and asked the butler to prepare some ginger soup. Then, he sat in front of her and continued to stare at her tummy...

He looked at the tummy then turned to look at the ultrasound results. It was like he was trying to figure out how the baby hiding in her womb.

Everyone in the Tang Family Villa could feel Tang Yuansi's anxiousness.

When the butler brought the ginger soup out, Tang Yuansi glared at him as he walked too loudly. The Butler was so shocked that he almost spilled the bowl of soup.

He placed the soup down quickly and stood to the side.

“Do you understand what you are looking at?” Shangxin picked up the ginger soup and sipped it.

Tang Yuansi had not said anything since she had passed him the pregnancy test kit and ultrasound test result.

Furthermore, his expression was weird...

He kept staring at her tummy to the extent that she wanted to cover it.

She couldn't tell if he wanted the child. ..

When she saw that he still did not speak, she placed the bowl of ginger soup down and said, “I’m pregnant, the baby is about one month old.”

[[Even if he didn't understand the report, he would understand what she said right?

Shangxin was nervous and tensed her body as she saw him nod. He picked up the ginger soup and passed it to her.

The first sentence he said was. “You haven't finished it.”

“...”

After he knew that she was pregnant, his first reaction was to stare at her tummy in disbelief.

Then, there was nothing else he wanted to say?

Shangxin couldn't tell if she was disappointed or angry. She said angrily, “I’m not going to drink it! You can drink it yourself!”

The next moment, he took back the soup and finish the ginger soup.

He placed the empty bowl down and said gently, “I’ve drunk it. Don’t get agitated, it is not good for the baby.”

Chapter 774: Stay?

Before Shangxin could react, Tang Yuansi was back to his original state. He didn't say anything and continued to stare at her tummy.

It was as if he continued to stare, the baby would come out immediately.

Finally, the Butler couldn't take it and reminded him softly. “ Miss Shangxin has just come back. She has traveled for a long time, she must be exhausted. Do I need to prepare the guest room for her?”

Shangxin was taken aback when she heard the Butler.

Prepare the guest room...

She had come here to find Tang Yuansi so many times but she had never once stayed in the Tang Family villa.

Every time she came, Tang Yuansi refused to see her.

After a while, even the guards knew that Tang Yuansi didn't want to meet her.

They didn't even dare let her in, let alone ask her to stay.

She didn't need to reject the butler's invitation. Tang Yuansi would reject it for her...

The moment Shangxin thought of that, Tang Yuansi turned and looked at the Butler.

His handsome face was pale under the light and looked unhealthy.

His reaction was a lot slower than usual, maybe he was shocked by the sudden news.

He was like a child.

He looked at the butler, turned to look at Shangxin then answered the butler, "There is no need to."

Upon hearing that, Shangxin's heart sank.

Although she did not show anything on her face, she was disappointed.

She was about to say something when Tang Yuansi added, "She will sleep in my room. My room is big, the bed is big enough too. She will be comfortable there."

The Butler was taken aback as he knew that Tang Yuansi didn't like others entering his room.

Even Shangxin was stunned.

Tang Yuansi had always been very quiet; he could remain silent for a whole day, he was notorious for being silent.

He didn't like other people touching his things or entering his room.

Except for her.

In front of him, she could do anything.

When he was angry, she would tug the corner of his shirt and call him. "Brother Xiaosi." Then, he would look at her affectionately.

He was helpless against her.

But, that was when they were young.

When he came back to the Tang Family villa it was hard for her to meet him. Every time she would be stopped at the door.

She hated that door so much.

She felt like the door separated them into two different worlds.

Gradually, she didn't know what he was thinking, didn't know what he liked...

In the past, no matter what she prepared for him, he would be overjoyed.

Later on, no matter what she prepared, he would reject it coldly and say he didn't like it.

She was prepared to never return when she went overseas this time.

She never expected to come back but; before she could adjust to life there and before she could forget about him and start afresh, she found out that she was pregnant.

Her reaction was just like his when she saw the pregnancy test kit.

She stared at the two red lines and wondered if it was an illusion.

She rushed down to the hospital in the middle of the night just to do an ultrasound. The hospital staff looked at her like she was mad...

When they confirmed that she was pregnant, at first she was happy then she had mixed feelings about it.

Chapter 775: Unclear

She once thought that since he didn't want her, he wouldn't want their child either.

Instead of coming back to be humiliated, she might as well stay overseas and give birth to the child alone.

However, the thought that the child wouldn't have a father pained her.

She couldn't decide for the baby. It was unfair to the baby.

She considered it for very long and finally mustered up the courage to return.

Before she came back, she prepared herself for the worst.

If he knew that she was pregnant and didn't want the child, she would leave immediately.

She would never see him again.

She also hoped that maybe he would be like her and would be happy about the child...

Shangxin thought about it and glanced at him secretly.

Tang Yuansi looked very calm.

She couldn't tell if he was happy about it. She could only tell that his reaction was slower today.

She didn't know if he was more happy or shocked...

When she heard that he wanted her to stay, she wanted to say that she had booked a hotel. However, Tang Yuansi stood up from the sofa, took her hand and led her upstairs.

When they reached the stairs, he felt her resistance and stopped to look at her.

When Shangxin thought that he had finally remembered to ask if she was willing to stay, Tang Yuansi scratched his head and stared at her tummy.

“I heard that pregnant women get very hungry. Do you want to eat something before sleeping?”

“...”

Had she even agreed to stay here?

Why were they on the next topic already?

And, he made it look like it wasn't a negotiable matter.

Forget it.

She wasn't going to mention it.

Maybe he was too shocked, she shall wait a little longer.

Wait till he came back to his senses.

Shangxin answered, “I don't have any early pregnancy symptoms yet. I don't get hungry easily either. Maybe it is because the baby is still young...”

Before she could finish her sentence, Tang Yuansi gave instructions to the butler.

He asked the butler to prepare bird's nest and some non-greasy snacks for supper.

Shangxin about to say that she wouldn't finish that amount but Tang Yuansi held her face and said, “Even if you are not hungry, you will have to eat. You are too skinny, if you don't eat, our baby will be hungry too.”

Then, he asked the butler to inform the kitchen to hurry up.

After all of these, he led Shangxin upstairs.

His gentle tone was just as he spoke when they were young.

Shangxin followed him up the stairs in a daze.

They entered his room.

This was the first time she had entered his room since he returned to the Tang Family villa.

It was different from when he was with the Yan Family. It looked colder.

All his furnishing were cool colors. Even his furniture and decorations were cool colors.

He stood in the room and emitted an aloof aura. It was like nobody could get near him...

It was a familiar yet foreign feeling for Shangxin.

Foreign because she had not experienced it for so long.

Familiar because when Tang Yuansi was young, he was like that.

No matter where he stood, it was like he was alone in a separate world.

The first time she saw him in her yard, he was like that.

He was so young but acted like an adult

Chapter 776: Is It Important to Be Legal

Every time he looked at it would be with a distant feeling...

Shangxin pulled herself out from her memories and scratched his palm. She said softly, "I didn't bring any clothes to change into, how am I going to stay?"

"..."

Tang Yuansi looked down at the mischievous hand that scratched him. She scratched his hand, but he felt like she had scratched his heart instead.

He swallowed his saliva and looked at the only bag she was carrying.

Her luggage must have been taken by her manager.

It was a bit troublesome if she was going to stay.

Shangxin thought that Tang Yuansi would either send her back or ask the butler to prepare new clothes for her. Instead, he said, "It's okay. You can wear mine."

Shangxin was stunned,

Before she could react, Tang Yuansi took her to the closet and opened it.

He pointed at all the male shirts and asked her, "Do you prefer white or blue? Grey looks good too. Anyway, you are so white, you will look good in any color."

He spoke twice as much today than he normally would.

And every sentence felt so affectionate.

So sweet.

When he realized that she had not answered, he pulled out a shirt and held it in front of her.

He chose a white cotton shirt.

"This shirt is bigger and is comfortable to wear. Do you like it?"

Shangxin was speechless as she looked at how he was recommending his own shirt to her as pajamas.

She took the shirt and walked to the bathroom as she blushed.

"I'm going to bathe."

Then, she rushed in and slammed the door.

She leaned on the door and breathed heavily.

She patted her face.

She needed to calm herself down.

Tang Yuansi hadn't told her if he wanted this baby.

What they were doing was illegal cohabitation.

Even if the baby was born, it would be illegitimate.

Shangxin's heart fell. She was going to ask him properly after she bathed.

When she finished bathing, she looked at the lonely shirt hanging on the rack. Then, she remembered something important.

She wrapped herself with a towel and walked to the door. She was about to open the door and shout for him, but before she could open her mouth, she saw a figure by the door. She almost screamed.

She glared at Tang Yuansi when she recognized him.

She covered her chest and stuttered, "What are you doing at the door? I was frightened to death!"

"I forgot to tell you that the bathroom was slippery. I was afraid that you would slip and fall. I wanted to go in but, I am afraid that you would scold me..." Tang Yuansi stood at the door and looked like a lost child as he explained, "Are you done with bathing? If you are not, I can accompany you."

"...!!"

This was the first time she had heard a man suggesting a bath together and it was with such an earnest tone, like she was a patient to be taken care of.

"I've finished bathing." Shangxin blushed as she replied.

Tang Yuansi's tone was filled with regret. "Oh..."

Shangxin was stunned, so was he worried about her or did he want to take advantage of her?

Chapter 777: Intoxicated by the "Going to Become a Father" Poison

Shangxin wrapped her towel tightly around herself. Her face turned red immediately as she thought of something else.

Looking at Tang Yuansi who was standing at the door, she started stammering,

"Erm, I don't have..."

"What?" Tang Yuansi could not hear her properly as her voice became quieter towards the end.

"I didn't bring..." Shangxin repeated herself.

Tang Yuansi still did not manage to hear her. Her face became increasingly red, as he stared at her in bewilderment.

Suddenly, he reached out to touch her forehead and asked worriedly, "Why is your face so red? Are you running a temperature?"

Shangxin was stunned by the touch of his cool fingers.

Immediately, she regained her composure, grabbed his hand and pulled it away from her forehead. She bit her lip, feeling embarrassed.

"I did not bring an extra set of underwear!"

"..."

Suddenly the room became silent.

Tang Yuansi was stunned for a second. He lowered his head and looked towards her chest.

Before he could see anything, a hand had already covered his eyes and a low growl could be heard, "Get me disposable underwear now! What are your eyes looking at!"

She had thought that Tang Yuansi would turn around after hearing her words.

Unexpectedly, he pulled the hand away that was covering his eyes and said, "The towel covered you, I didn't manage to see anything. Please don't be angry."

"..."

"I know your size. I'll get the butler to fetch you some." Tang Yuansi said. He turned around to make his way out, leaving Shangxin standing in a daze at the bathroom door.

He could have just gotten them from the butler directly if he knew her size. Why did he have to tell her?

She had always been the one who was chasing him and she was used to it.

However, for some reason, his behavior caused her to feel a sense of shame. What should she do?

For the entire night, Tang Yuansi behaved in such a way that made it seem as though he was poisoned by a type of poison called "going to become a father".

Not only did he look silly and zoned out, but he also became nervous easily.

After her shower, he was worried that she would catch a cold and insisted that she should be wrapped in a thick blanket.

After that, he carried her onto his lap. With a hairdryer in his hand, he blew-dry every strand of hair which had become wet when she was bathing.

When she could not finish her bird's nest soup, he started worrying that she would be hungry in the middle of the night. Hence, he got the staff in the kitchen to prepare other healthy and nutritious desserts.

He also insisted that she ate a few more snacks brought by the butler.

"I am really full. I can't finish it. I want to eat potato chips," Shangxin said after swallowing the last piece of food in her mouth. She stared at him, looking visibly upset.

She was only pregnant and had not just returned from a refugee camp.

Why was he trying to force-feed her, as if she had never eaten a full meal in her life?

After Shangxin's complaints, he replied matter-of-factly, "You're too skinny. You should eat more."

"I have always been thin, not because I am pregnant. Why weren't you concerned about how much I ate in the past? I don't care. I want to eat potato chips..." Before Shangxin could finish, she noticed Tan Yuansi's stunned expression, and suddenly realized what she had said.

Her gaze darkened.

In the past, Tang Yuansi had always wanted to hide from her, why would he be concerned about what she was eating.

Both of them became silent when their past was mentioned.

Shangxin pursed her lips and could not help but repeat herself, "I want to eat potato chips."

He kept on nagging that potato chips were unhealthy, and not allowing her to eat them.

This time, however, she really wanted to eat them. She wanted to eat them so badly that she would not be able to sleep if she did not get any.

It was a craving, where a pregnant lady would suddenly feel like eating something. If she did not manage to eat it, she would become grouchy, feeling as if the whole world had mistreated her. Would he even understand it?

Chapter 778: I Am Willing to like Anything You Like

It should be impossible because she could see the disapproval in his eyes.

At any moment, he would probably tell her that pregnant women should not be eating such unhealthy food...

Tan Yuansi suddenly spoke up, "Alright, I'll get someone to buy some."

After that, he failed to notice that Shangxin's eyes had turned as big as saucers in shock. He walked straight to the bedside and telephoned the butler to inform him to buy potato chips.

"She likes barbeque flavored ones. Buy that flavor. Add a tomato flavored one as well, hmm ..." Tang Yuansi turned around to look at her and asked, "The butler asked if there is anything else you want besides potato chips?"

"No-nothing else." This was the first time Shangxin had not known how to respond to what he had said.

She had an unexplainable urge to squeeze his cheeks to check if the person standing right in front of her was a real person.

Why did she have a feeling that the Tang Yuansi today, was fake?

After knowing that he was going to be a father, any normal person would have returned to normal after such a long time, no matter how shocked he was.

However, she felt that he was always in a daze and a little silly.

Very soon, the butler had returned with the potato chips.

Tang Yuansi went downstairs to get them. When he returned, he was not only carrying a few packets of potato chips, he also had a glass of milk with him. He sat in front of her to negotiate with her,

“You can eat the potato chips as long as you finish this glass of milk.”

“...”

Shangxin took a glance at the glass of milk in his hands. Without saying anything, she reached out for a packet of potato chips. She tore the packet open and noisily started munching on them.

One could develop a hearty appetite just by listening to the crunching sounds from her eating them.

As Shangxin was eating, she saw his look of disdain. As a result, she munched even louder on the chips.

Muttering to herself, “ There are actually people who don’t like to eat such delicious snacks...”

“What did you say?” Tang Yuansi asked suddenly.

Hearing his voice, Shangxin realized that she had accidentally thought aloud. Immediately, she shook her head profusely while holding on to her bag of potato chips.

“Nothing, I just wanted to ask if you want to eat some. They’re really good!”

Tang Yuansi furrowed his eyebrows and said, “I’m not interested.”

“Oh. Indeed, we are not from the same world,” Shangxin pouted her lips and continued eating.

However, Tang Yuansi was triggered by the words “we are not from the same world”. As a result, he frowned and stared at her for a few seconds. Suddenly, he took a potato chip from her, put in his mouth and tasted it.

After taking two bites, he thought that it tasted pretty good and took another one.

He came up with a conclusion.

“I’ll take back my biased opinions. These taste pretty good. However, you’re pregnant now so you still have to cut down on junk food.”

Throughout this process, Shangxin was staring at him dumbstruck.

In her heart, Shangxin shouted countless times for someone to help her check if the person in front of her was really the same Tang Yuansi that she had known since she was young.

He had actually praised her for her choice of snacks?

She almost did not recognize him...

Now that Shangxin had eaten her fill and spent an entire day on the plane, she had already fallen asleep on the bed before she could complain about her exhaustion.

The packet of half-eaten potato chips was still in her arms.

Tang Yuansi walked over and took the packet from her. His gaze was filled with love as he looked at her sweet sleeping expression, with potato chip crumbs at the corner of her mouth.

He wiped her mouth with her slender fingers.

He had not recovered from the pleasant surprise of her pregnancy news. Just as he wanted to kiss her on her cheeks, he felt a throbbing pain coming from his chest, causing him to freeze instantly!

Chapter 779: A New Father's Pride

It was painful in that instant, but the pain subsided soon after.

Tang Yuansi's face turned a little pale. As he stared at the sleeping Shangxin, the corner of his mouth curved into a slight arc.

He was so happy.

He was so happy that he seemed so silly.

He had never once imagined that he would have a child, a child that she bore him.

He was so happy he had forgotten that he had heart disease; he just wanted to keep on staring at her and their baby...

Everything that had happened tonight was just like a dream.

Tang Yuansi maintained the same position for a very long time.

After a long while, he shifted his gaze away from Shangxin's sleeping face and turned to stare at her flat tummy.

It appeared to be very flat and he could not tell that a baby was growing inside.

Tang Yuansi thought of something. Taking out the ultrasound photo, he held it in his hands and stared at it repeatedly—it was as if he could not get enough of it no matter how long he stared at it.

He was about to go crazy from holding in the happiness in his heart.

In the end, he reached out for his cell phone, and after thinking about it for a while sent Yu Yuehan a text message.

Apart from expressing his concern and asking if he felt any better after drinking so much alcohol, he also told him that he was about to become a father.

Beep! A cell phone text message alert sounded.

Tang Yuansi switched his phone to silent mode immediately. Annoyed, he turned around and took a glance at the sleeping Shangxin on the bed. He only heaved a sigh of relief after ensuring that she had not been woken by the cell phone alert.

He thought to himself, It's so late and yet that drunk dude is still awake, I can have someone to share my joy of a soon-to-be father too.

Then, he immediately whipped out his cell phone and cast a glance at Yu Yuehan's reply.

In the end, only one word could be seen in the text message, "Crazy!"

"..."

To be honest, if not for the fact that he was busy caring for Shangxin and the baby in her tummy right now, he might just have headed to the Yu Family villa to fight Yu Yuehan the very moment he saw that word.

After some thinking, he figured that Yu Yuehan might not know that Shangxin had already returned to the country. As such, after reading his text message, he might have thought that Tang Yuansi was indeed too hurt and that he had gone crazy and wasn't scolding him after all.

Taking into consideration that Yu Yuehan was a good friend who would accompany him for an 'alcohol versus plain water' drinking session, Tang Yuansi pursed his thin lips and sent him another message.

"Shangxin is back."

After thinking about it, he raised the ultrasound picture and took a photo of it before sending it out.

Afraid that Yu Yuehan might not be able to understand it, he added, "This is our baby, I am about to become a dad!"

Yu Yuehan replied a minute later.

This time, there were no words and only six dots could be seen on the text message.

To be exact, it looked like this, "..."

Tang Yuansi smiled the moment he saw the six dots on his cell phone.

Yu Yuehan must have been dumbfounded since he had used punctuation, eh?

That's right, he knew that any ordinary person would be this happy the moment they knew that he was about to become a father.

He was definitely not silly.

After Tang Yuansi placed his cell phone down, he changed into his sleeping attire and walked back to the bed.

Just when he was about to climb in bed, he suddenly saw that the screen of his cell phone had lit up.

He reached out and took a glance at it—it was a text message from Yu Yuehan.

He had expressed his words through a single photo.

Xiao Liuliu was lying on the pillow; her delicate little face was rosy red, just like a jelly dessert.

She was sleeping very soundly and she was even holding onto one of Yu Yuehan's fingers tightly with her tiny hand, refusing to let go even though she had fallen asleep.

The Xiao Liuliu in the photo appeared to be less than three years old and so this should be an old photo. Nonetheless, her squishy and tender looks still struck one's heart.

Chapter 780: I Had Already Placed a Seal on You

A caption that Yu Yuehan wrote accompanied below the photo.

"Who is the one who isn't a father yet? I have been a father for three years, would I tell you about it?"

"..."

A deep sense of malice toward a new father emitted from the text message...

As Tang Yuansi threw his phone onto the cabinet beside the bed, he lightly lay down beside Shangxin and gently drew her into his embrace.

Shangxin seemed to have felt the warmth of his body as she dove into his embrace instinctively. Tilting her head, she lay against his chest.

This was her favorite position back when she sneaked into his room to sleep when she was young.

As compared to other times, she would always sleep very soundly when lying against him.

A valve seemed to have opened—the two of them were merely lying beside each other, and yet many memories of their childhood together started to surge in...

At that time, he did not like to speak and loved to sit down and stare into space alone.

Since everyone knew about this habit, no one would disturb him unless they had something for him.

She was the only one who would think of ideas to sneak out of her house, just so she could come and look for him. Then, she would surround him and chat to him, just like a chirping bird.

If he did not reply to her after a long time, she would rest her chin on her hands in disappointment.

Then, she would stare at him with her big, glistening eyes and ask him, "Brother Xiaosi, were my stories too boring and hence you did not like them?"

"..."

He did not know how to respond to that back then.

That was because he did not know how to tell her that his eyes and heart had been set on her the moment she appeared before him.

He had placed all of his attention on her lively face and could not focus on anything else.

He did not even hear the stories that she had told him.

Afraid that she was sad and would not tell him stories anymore, he would always raise his head in the end and pat her on her tiny head in encouragement.

“No, you told the stories so well that I was entranced by them.”

And so, she would continue to tell the stories happily after receiving his encouragement.

As long as this happened, the butler and servants in the villa would all reveal an alarmed expression, as if they were suspecting that they had seen a counterfeit Young Master.

She was the only silly one who would ask him.

“Brother Xiaosi, why is everyone looking at you? Could it be that they all wanted to snatch you away from me because you are too good looking?” After she finished speaking, she even climbed onto him worriedly and clung onto his body with her arms and legs to declare sovereignty over him.

“You are mine, I have already placed a seal on you. No one can snatch you from me!”

Those words triggered a burst of laughter among the people surrounding them.

She had been like this ever since she was young. Even though she was born into a rich family, her character has always been loud and casual. She was very decisive with her likes and dislikes, and would never play it coy.

Others only felt that she had behaved this way because a youth knows no fear.

However, he was the only one who knew that it was because she was filled with insecurity.

Even though her parents were very loving, her mother had been in a very critical state when she had given birth to her.

Her mother had gone into a vegetative state the moment she was born.

She nearly lost her life on a few occasions.

She only had her father around during her childhood years. Without her mother, she witnessed with her own eyes how her father trudged through every day as he waited for her mother to regain consciousness.

Years passed by.

It took so long that everyone assumed that her mother would never wake up.

From that period onward, she told herself that everything could wait, but not love.

If she liked someone, she must tell him immediately.

She would do her best to strive for him. At the very least, she would not have any regrets even if they did not make it together in the end...

When Tang Yuansi thought of this, his arm hugged her more tightly. As he put his thin lips against the top of her head, he muttered softly, “Sorry...”