

My Mates 455

Chapter 455-Got Played.

Lazlo's POV:

"I cannot believe this," I muttered grumpily, walking from one corner of the living room to the other.

"She packed her bags and left as if my feelings didn't matter at all." I was going crazy thinking she would be with him, doing what G*d knows.

I knew for a fact he would not contain his hands to himself and Enya, being too gullible and madly in love with Thiago, will let Theo f*ck her.

"Are you going to keep walking and talking to yourself the whole day?" I heard Valerie speak up, and it was only then that I realized she had been sitting on the couch and watching me.

"I'm just stunned," I sighed, finally dropping onto the couch. No matter what I did, I just couldn't stop wondering what Theo would be doing with Enya.

"What makes you so confused? It isn't like you didn't cheat on her and hurt her all this time," she put her leg over the other and deepened her stare into my face. I wanted to give back to her, but I held in the anger and only bit my tongue.

I was going through a lot already. Arguing with her was no longer an option.

"I just want to know what your intentions are for me," she folded her arms over her chest and asked me. just staring at her face and wondering where
