anything. The TILST all lan caninected. Haliding Ethan by his wist i brought him to the bed, the moment his head hit the plow he was laul. Sighing undressed him and put the blanket over his body. His share filled the room,

I took his clothes ta the laundry basket in the bathraam and went to take a shower. Putting the blanket over my body

I looked at sleeping Ethan, his mouth slightly open, the image of him almost lighting with Ben got me thinking it didn't look good, upecially on Arla's funeral day. I stiffened.

Aria. I thought back to her words on that fateful day.

I need to talk to you about something, anyway.

Her suspicious statement from before the attack echoed in my mind. Her wary eyes, her wolf's expression in the living room: scared and full of sadness. The way she shook her head 'na' with apologetic eyes right before she shut the door to the sale room. It all hit me in a flash.

Aria knew who the traitor was.
