

Stay Around You Now And Forever - Chapter 4 Behave yourself

Ah... Liam flinched and the car almost mounted the curb.

Unacceptable, this is totally unacceptable! Never has there been any woman who dares to be so disrespectful to Mr. Hunter!

Will the master throw her out of the car?

Emily squinted her eyes and stared at the dashing handsome face, her breathing was fast and labored.

Hunter's face was ice-cold, his fingers pinched her chin and lifted her face. "Who did this to you?"

Tonight was their engagement. Although he didn't have any feelings for his fiancée, she was still his fiancée. Whoever did this to her might as well attacked him. He narrowed his eyes, and with an air of vengeance, he coldly said, "Was it those two men?"

Emily wasn't in the mood to answer that question. Trying to break free from his grip, her head tilted forward and kissed him.

Liam flinched again and the car almost swerved.

"Emily, do you know what you are doing?" Hunter gently pushed her back, but she still held onto her shoulders. That stone-cold face finally revealed a hint of concern for her.

How dare she kiss him! The nerve of this woman! "You... you!"

His voice seemed to be drowned by her kiss.

Hunter's hands continued to hold onto her shoulders and initially he wanted to let go, but the kiss was unexpectedly good.

Then Hunter quickly realized that the girl in his embrace was like a ticking time-bomb.

Hunter grabbed Emily's hand. He spoke again, but this time his voice was a little rougher, "Dont move!"

But this girl could not control herself.

Hunter sighed coldly. Hunter was usually cold as ice during high-pressure situations, but he was losing his cool, "Find a place and stop!"

Liam, sweating profusely in anxiety and he was trying to find a suitable place to stop the car. He accidentally looked at the rear-view mirror and saw Emily kicking up a fuss.

She has really lost all composure; her face was flushed so red that it seemed like blood could ooze out any moment. Hunter took notice and his cold heart started to reveal a trace of compassion.

His large hands grasped Emily's tiny hands and he said as gently as he could, "Behave yourself, don't move."

He glanced at Liam and coldly said, "Do you want to keep your eyes?"

Though his voice was calm and collected, Liam panicked and sweated even more, 'No...yes, I want them...'

Liam took one quick glance at the scene in the back. Emily's hands were still on Mr. Hunter's chest and what took Liam by surprise was, Mr. Hunter who usually hates being touched was actually letting this woman do it

But now he had to find a place to park the car and got out or he would be fired!