

Nothing To Give But My Heart Chapter 107

Ye Moxuan's arms froze mid-air, and he frowned instinctively as he looked at her.

What is wrong with this woman?

Shen Qi didn't answer Ye Moxuan's question. She just quickly shrank back into the blanket and covered the marks on her neck using the blanket.

Ye Moxuan looked a little unhappy when he saw her covering those marks. His fingers froze.

"What's wrong?"

Shen Qi hid under the blanket and only left her head out while she stared at Ye Moxuan helplessly.

"Y-Yesterday night, you..." she stammered, unable to form a sentence.

Ye Moxuan's eyes were bright as he stared at her sharply. "What?"

"Yesterday night, were you..." Shen Qi unconsciously wanted to bite her lips, but she remembered how he warned her not to bite her lips and that her lips were injured because of it. Thus, she restrained herself from doing it.

"Was I what?" Ye Moxuan knew that she wasn't herself and probably didn't know who he was, which was why he had asked her who he was at the crucial moment. When she called out his name clearly even though she was unconscious, Ye Moxuan felt a strange feeling inside.

So now that she asked him, Ye Moxuan couldn't tell if she remembered yesterday night's incident.

"I told you to leave. Did you?" Shen Qi stared at him for a while.

She took a deep breath and tried to calm herself down.

"No." Ye Moxuan's eyes were still as bright as a torch.

No? Shen Qi's eyes blinked. "You didn't leave? Then..."

If he didn't leave, then.... Shen Qi paused for quite some time before she asked, "Are you okay, then?"

The veins of Ye Moxuan's forehead jumped as he squinted his eyes to look at the woman before him. She seemed to be scared, but worried about him at the same time. She obviously didn't remember what happened yesterday night and was still worried about him.

"Can't you tell if I'm fine or not?"

"Erm..."

"You don't remember what happened last night?" Ye Moxuan couldn't take it anymore and finally asked.

Shen Qi fell silent when he asked her. She lowered her eyes, as if she was thinking. "Last night... All I remember from yesterday night was that you came into the room, but Lu Xunchang had lit the incense, and once you entered... you would be... would be..."

"Would be what?" Ye Moxuan squinted as he looked at her.

Shen Qi was too embarrassed to say it as her cheeks flushed red.

"Go on." Ye Moxuan wouldn't let her off the hook and kept asking.

Shen Qi avoided his eyes and whispered softly, "Didn't you know about the incense? If you inhaled it, you would suffer from it, just like being drugged. But aren't you..." Incapable? Of course, Shen Qi didn't say the word out loud.

Instead, she put it in another way. "Lu Xuncheng heard about those rumors and thought that you were... and that's why he thought of taking revenge on you. So are you really... fine?"

Thought that you were... Ye Moxuan finally understood what she meant after a long time.

He was secretly mad and was gnashing his teeth, thinking about how hard he tried to save her last night, yet she had forgotten everything. Worst of all, she even thought that he was incapable and was worrying that Lu Xunchang's incense would make him suffer?

"Young Master Ye?" Shen Qi called him, seeing as he didn't respond.

Ye Moxuan pulled himself back to reality and rolled his wheelchair closer to Shen Qi. "Are you worried about my body?"

Shen Qi paused for a while before she shook her head and answered, "I'm just... a little guilty that they used me to lure you over... Just guilty. Don't get me wrong, Young Master Ye."

Ye Moxuan chuckled. He then reached out suddenly and pulled her out from her blanket.

"Ouch. What are you doing?" Shen Qi screamed from being frightened as he pulled her out from her blanket. She tried to push him away, but Ye Moxuan grabbed her slender, fair wrist.

He grabbed her wrist and put it on his face, and that was when Shen Qi noticed that he had placed her hand exactly where the scratch was on his face.

"See? These... were all your work." Ye Moxuan's voice was deep, and it felt like a mellow wine running down her throat.

What? Shen Qi looked at him in surprise. She noticed the scratch on his face when he came in and wondered what happened. So I was the one who did it?

But why can't I remember anything?

"Including these..." Ye Moxuan grabbed her hand and moved. Shen Qi felt her finger falling on something soft and warm; it was Ye Moxuan's lips.

The place where her fingertip fell was the place where Ye Moxuan's lip was hurt.

How... Shen Qi's heart trembled.

What is Ye Moxuan trying to say?

Ye Moxuan saw her eyes flutter, and her fingers had the tendency to move back, so he grasped her fingers tighter. "Are you denying it?"

"What?" Shen Qi's eyes widened in bewilderment. "I... I don't know what you mean." She figured that it was possible that she scratched his face, but the wound on his lips? It looked way too flirtatious and ambiguous.

Did I jump on him and bit him? Shen Qi could only remember what happened before and couldn't recall anything after.

"Don't know what I mean? Seems like you have forgotten it all," Ye Moxuan sneered. His large hands suddenly reached to her neck. "Should I help you recall?"

Shen Qi looked at him helplessly as Ye Moxuan leaned closer, and his thin lips fell on her ear.

"Someone was holding onto me last night, begging me to save her..."

Shen Qi's expression changed completely when she heard that sentence.

She could tell that Ye Moxuan was referring to her.

"I didn't want to, but she kept throwing herself at me and took off my clothes—"

"S-Stop talking," Shen Qi interrupted him with her voice shaking. "I was drugged yesterday and can't remember anything."

Just as she was done speaking, a few images flashed past her mind.

In the picture, she was holding Ye Moxuan's neck; her clothes were messy, and she sat on his lap as she moved around. Her lips even pouted while she kissed him all over. It was a complete disaster and was out of control!

She could even hear her own voice. "Save me..."

Her voice was coquettish; it was the effect of the drug.

Shen Qi was completely frozen.

"So it was you...?" Those purple marks all over my body were left by Ye Moxuan?

Thinking so, Shen Qi pushed Ye Moxuan away in disbelief. She then looked at him. "Last night, we..."

"You recalled?" Ye Moxuan's eyes were still cold, but his gaze seemed to be a little different, and he seemed to be teasing her.

Shen Qi paused before she uttered, "I recalled some scenes."

"The scenes where you seduced me? Miss Second-marriage, you were the one who seduced me last night."

Shen Qi got confused and instinctively looked between his legs. "D-Don't you... have a problem in that area? How were you able to do it?"

Aren't you impotent? She still couldn't say it out loud.