

Obsessed CEO Throws Himself at Me Chapter 1811

Chapter 1811 Do You Not Like Kids

With that thought in mind, Abigail quickly had a subordinate sneak into Anna's mansion before dinner ended. Of course, she couldn't do the same to Gaspar, especially since she knew how vigilant he was. Sending someone to tail him would only risk exposing her sooner rather than later.

"Gaspar!" Anna shouted when she saw the man walking back to his room.

As it turned out, Gaspar had already anticipated that and instantly stopped in his tracks with a smirk. "What's the matter?"

"If I hadn't insisted on following you, would you have left me here?"

Seeing how Anna was pouting her lips in annoyance, Gaspar knew it'd be fun to tease her.

"This is your home, though. Isn't it normal for you to stay here?"

matter how open-minded people in closer, his gaze never once leaving her.

already your woman. How could you ditch me?" Anna mumbled before another thought crossed her mind and made her frown. "Hmph! What if I'm pregnant? Wouldn't you be leaving immediately faded as he stared intently at Anna. "Are you really pregnant with many women, none of them are qualified to carry my child. Anna, however, is an exception. I'll gladly marry her if she's pregnant hurriedly shook her head when she felt the man's intense gaze. "How would I know? It's only been a few know if I'm pregnant, wouldn't it? Then again, next second, she stared back into that for a moment, Gaspar was tongue-tied. Do I wanted to nod and say he didn't like children. However, when he saw how hopeful Anna was, he decided that won't apply to my own," he replied. When he saw Anna's