

Oh My God 1431

Chapter 1431 Powerful Ally

In the beginning, the big figures of Picturesque Orchid Lake did not think that the “black dwarfs” were too big of a problem.

After all, everyone knew how narrow and terrible the living space in the depths of Fang Mountain Range was. Whether it was the way of life in Picturesque Orchid Lake or the Land of Holy Light, there was not enough land to develop and support a powerful race.

was

The great chief and the wise high priests did not even think that the “black dwarfs” were a new race.

Instead, they treated them as a small group of harassing troops secretly transported to the back of Picturesque Orchid Lake by the Holy Light Temple, or rat people who had escaped Picturesque Orchid Lake. They had become deformed and ugly after thousands of years of metamorphosis, hence they were simply beyond recognition. As for how many towns had been conquered by the Black Dwarves?

This was extremely normal! One had to know that the southern border was originally the most desolate, barren, and unattractive place in tulanze.

The five great clans all regarded that place as a barren land and had no interest in exploring and expanding

Only the rat people who could not bear the oppression of the five great clans would flee to the southern border and establish their own villages and towns.

After the mandala flower bloomed, the five major clans sent their own conscription teams to the southern border to recruit the rat subjects warriors.

Like moles, they sorted out the rat subjects villages and towns again and again. The rat subjects who were slightly stronger were all captured by them and sent to their own cannon fodder troops.

The rat subjects who were not even interested in the conscription teams were either old, weak, disabled, or had fled to the remaining mountains of the tusk mountain range in advance when they saw that the situation was not good.

After that, the Elite Forces of the five major clans all headed north for the ‘five races’.

Right now, they were all deployed on the northern front, ready for battle and sharpening their weapons. After the general mobilization for the war was completed, they would charge into the land of Holy Light in one go.

Under such circumstances, the entire southern border was almost unguarded.

What was so strange about being taken advantage of by the Black Dwarves for the time being?

The actions of the Black Dwarves after they took over a few rat town also made the big shots believe that this was just a small part of the enemy’s harassing force. According to the eagle warriors of the Thunder clan, after taking over the rat town, the Black Dwarves did not continue to attack the north. Instead, they stationed themselves there and then began to... Dig Pits.

That's right, the eagle warriors saw it clearly. The black dwarfs controlled huge machines that were rumbling and smoking and began to dig pits all over the mountains and plains.

They dug huge holes in the barren land where there was nothing and even the mandala tree did not want to grow. Looking down from the sky, it was so dark that one could not see the end.

They dug a lot of trenches, crisscrossing and spreading like a spider web, connecting the mouse town to all the holes.

The sound of the huge machine was quite astonishing. It was in line with the aesthetic view of the Tulan orcs, "Big is beautiful. The Louder the sound, the more powerful it is."

However, the Falcons could not understand what the black dwarfs were doing with the huge machine. Why were they digging so many strange holes and trenches on the ground?

When the news was sent back to crimson gold city, "Black Mountain Blood Hoof" and the other bigwigs who had become war chiefs could only scratch their heads and think that the black dwarfs probably had the blood of the ratfolk and were "Gopher people", they liked to dig holes and pits and lived in underground nests with complicated structures.

Moreover, the number of black dwarfs should not be many, and their combat ability should be average. Otherwise, they would not have stopped and only satisfied with a few pitiful ratfolk towns on the southern border.

"I'm afraid that to the Black Dwarves who have been curled up in the depths of the tusk mountains, even the tattered rat town is like a splendid palace. They should be satisfied and enjoy themselves to their heart's content, right?"

Although they did not take the Black Dwarves to heart.

They still had to be exterminated. If they could not resolve the problems behind them before the Tulan Army moved north.

Not to mention the problem of being attacked from the south when the northern front was at its peak.

Just saying that the ancestral spirits were furious and did not protect the Tulan army that even the 'Black Dwarves' or 'Gopher people' could not solve, the consequences would be unimaginable.

Black Mountain Bloodhoof had just become the war chief.

He also urgently needed a clean victory to raise his prestige. Of course, it was only to deal with the Black Dwarves. There was no need to send out the heavy armored battle groups of the Five Great Clans who all wore totem battle armors.

The great chief of bloody hooves handed this not-so-glorious mission to his son Casanova.

Casanova's performance in black-corner city was really not satisfactory.

His negligence caused the bloody skull temple to be plundered by the shameless bandits.

The number of treasures he lost was secondary. The most important thing was that he brought shame to his family and almost ruined Black Mountain's Blood Hoof's ascension to the war chief's throne.

The Blood Hoof chief flew into a rage.

He originally wanted to strip his son of his position as the commander of the Blood Skull Battle Group and send him to a certain cannon fodder unit.

However, Casavar volunteered and wanted to redeem himself.

He also provided a piece of information that his father could not refuse.

Casavar told the blood hoof chief that he had seen the Black Dwarves.

No, he had not only seen them. He had dealt with the black dwarves before and had a deep understanding of these insidious and sneaky people.

Not long ago, a black dwarf spy had sneaked into his bloody skull arena.

Including the robbery of the Bloody Skull Temple, it was the collusion of the black dwarves and the rat rebels that allowed them to get away with it.

Although he did not manage the bloody skull temple well.

But in the Battle of wits and courage, he had a deep understanding of the Black Dwarves' modus operandi.

He was willing to make a military order, and he would definitely use the blood of tens of thousands of black dwarves to wash away the humiliation he had suffered in black-corner city.

Otherwise, he would be beheaded!

Having said that, the blood hoof chief reluctantly accepted Casavar's initiative to volunteer.

However, Black Mountain Blood Hoof did not let Casavar command the elite troops of the Blood Hoof clan as he wanted. "They're just black dwarves. No matter which elite troop is in charge of exterminating them, it would be a great insult, not a supreme honor."

The chief of the Bloody Hoof Tribe let casa fa lead his personal soldiers, a few scouts from the Thunder clan and the elite soldiers from the Dark Moon clan, as well as the logistics troops from the Divine Wood clan. The main force came from the Gold clan, the most unruly wolves, tigers, and leopards were mixed together to form an awe-inspiring 'bandit extermination force'.

According to the chief of the Bloody Hoof Tribe's plan, CASA FA being able to annihilate the black dwarves was indeed very good.

If the war came to a stalemate, then this bandit suppression force, which was mainly made up of wolves, tigers, and leopards, would travel a long distance from Red Gold City, which was located in the north of tulanze, to the southern border. Along the way, they would make some slight changes to the logistics supplies, it would be enough to make the wolves, tigers, and leopards suffer a lot. They would lose their temper and learn how to obey the orders of the war chieftain.

If they were unlucky and the war went against them — of course, under the protection of the great ancestral spirit, such a situation was basically impossible to happen.

But if it really happened, then losing an heir who made the family suffer a great humiliation was not a great price to pay.

The most important thing was to make the unruly jackals, wolves, tigers, and leopards hit a big nail, making them dirty and covered in wounds. They did not dare to go against the Warchief's will anymore. To put it bluntly, no one, from the blood hoof warchief to the ordinary Orc warriors, cared about the black dwarves.

They all felt that the black dwarves were just tools to solve the internal problems of Turanze.

They were just sharpening their claws, teeth, and swords before the real war. What happened after that was what everyone witnessed.

The bandit exterminating troops that had just been reorganized had just set off from Crimson Gold City not long ago. Before they left the territory of the Gold clan, they encountered Meng Chao and the Wolf King's 'divine weapon descending from the sky'.

The main force of the bandit exterminating troops, the jackals, wolves, tigers, and leopards that occupied the absolute majority, were not willing to run to the southern border to fight with the Damned 'Black Dwarfs'. If they won, it would be embarrassing, if they lost, it would be an even more embarrassing and inexplicable battle.

No wonder they would submit so readily after Meng Chao suppressed Kashava.

"Lord Wolf King, aren't the black dwarfs our enemies? Why did you say that they are 'allies'?"

The middle-ranking officers who explained the situation clearly were still confused.

Their eyes filled with awe and confusion would occasionally glance at Meng Chao. It seemed strange that the black dwarfs' combat strength seemed to be far stronger than what was reported.

Moreover, how did a black dwarf team up with the Wolf King to go deep into the sacred temple of the sacred mountain and Wear Tu Lanze's totem armor to gain the approval of the great ancestral spirit? The Wolf King did not need to lie to them.

The totem would not lie either.

However, "If they are really allies, why did they occupy the southern town of Tu Lanze?"

The Wolf King smiled slightly.

It was as if his subordinates had asked a stupid question that was not worth answering.

"The five clans of Tu Lanze are not only allies who fight side by side, they are also brothers who share life and death together. Many of us do not only have the blood of one clan flowing in our bodies, but we have gathered the glory of two or even three clans together."

The wolf king asked in return, "Then tell me, why do the five great clans still have to compete with each other through the method of 'five clans' to determine who is stronger before they can swear blood as an alliance and form an army?"

The intermediate military officers looked at each other in dismay and came to a sudden understanding "Now, you should understand, right?"

The wolf king said indifferently, "This time, the new friends that I invited for Turan Ze are all powerful existences that are completely different from the ancient tomb undead, the Frost Barbarians, and the two-headed trolls that you have seen in the past.

"They have the honor and pride that are no less than the Turan orcs. "Of course, they also understand and appreciate Turan ZE's traditions. They like to use games like 'the game of the Braveland 'five races' to increase their understanding, promote their friendship, and understand each other's weight and temperament so as to avoid unnecessary misunderstandings on a larger scale.

"If we can't show some of our real abilities, how can we make them acknowledge Turanze's strength and believe that we are qualified to fight side by side in the longest and Greatest Battle of Glory

Chapter 1432 Recklessness or Conspiracy

After the Wolf King's explanation, the orc warriors finally understood.

"So, they stopped moving in the southern part of Picturesque Orchid Lake just to wait for us to challenge them?"

"Those giant machines that keep rumbling and digging holes, as well as trenches, day and night are digging the battlefield, right?"

"That makes sense. They came out from the depths of Fang Mountain Range out of nowhere, and they don't look as powerful and majestic as us advanced orcs. If they don't show enough strength, it'd be difficult for people to treat them as allies!" Everyone was talking at the same time, and with their Turan logic, they understood the whole thing.

"So, going to welcome our new friends is not a trivial task, but a glorious mission."

The Wolf King struck while the iron was hot. "Only the most powerful orc battle group is qualified to represent the entire Picturesque Orchid Lake and show our new allies what advanced orcs look like.

"This battle group's performance will also determine how our allies will view us, whether they value or fear us, or despise, or even ignore us.

"Since this incomparably sacred mission has fallen on your heads, of course, I will not easily deprive you of your glory. "Now, you will follow me to fight back to Red-gold City and witness the entire process as I reclaim the War Chief's throne.

"After I take over the highest authority in Picturesque Orchid Lake, I will give you ten times more weapons, rations, servants, and secret medicines. I will let you form a large and magnificent diplomatic corps and March to the southern border to tell our new friends what the real warriors of Tulanze look like!"

The Wolf King's words blew up the entire tent.

For a time, the morale of the entire army soared to the extreme.

Including the Blood Hoof Warriors, everyone threw the nominal commander of this army, Kashava, out of their minds.

Although this guy was still alive.

In everyone's eyes, he had become a dead person who could breathe. No, it was just a puddle of mud that could breathe. However, when all the mid-ranking officers left the military tent, only Wolf King and Meng Chao were left in the tent.

ame

Wolf King was still smiling just now, his calm expression suddenly became extremely gloomy. Meng Chao's brows were also tightly knitted as he was deep in thought.

"I feel that we have neglected a very important matter."

After a long while, wolf king slowly said, "Neglected you, Meng Chao, you're really too strong!" Meng Chao said, "I'm too strong? What's wrong with that?"

"There's a problem."

The wolf king said, "In the future that you saw, because of your weakness, the Monster War in Dragon City was dragged on. Not only did it waste decades of time, but it also consumed countless resources and the lives of the people of Dragon City. "When Dragon City finally broke free from the blood-red swamp of the Monster War, you were already exhausted and covered in wounds. It was very difficult for you to launch an all-out war that swept through the other world on your own.

"At that time, Tu Lanze was also deeply involved in the protracted and bloody war with the Holy Light Camp. He also found that after fifty years of recuperation, while Tu Lanze's population had skyrocketed, the war potential of the Holy Light Camp had also expanded to an unparalleled level. With Tu Lanze's strength alone, not only could he not defeat his opponent in one go as he had expected, but he was also in danger of being pushed back by his opponent.

"This is the reason why I will establish the 'Chaos Faction' and try my best to invite Dragon City to join us in the future that you foresee.

"In the future that I foresee, Dragon City seems to have won the monster war several years in advance. It did not bleed out its last drop of blood. It still retained a certain amount of war potential and conquering ambition.

"In such a dragon city, it is very natural for it to become more aggressive and have conflicts with Tu Lanze.

"Fortunately, in this future, Dragon City only 'didn't bleed out the last drop of bloodland not 'didn't bleed at all'. It only 'retained a certain amount of war potential and conquering ambition' and not 'retained an extremely high war potential and an extremely exuberant conquering ambition'.

“Therefore, after the war between us lasted for a period of time, in your words, ‘turning hostility into Amity’.

“The problem now is that the real you, Meng Chao, who has ‘Future Memories’, miraculously rose up at an incredible speed. It seems that you became too strong too early.

“With your help, Dragon City advanced by a full ten years and won the Monster War cleanly. At least on the surface, all the people of Dragon City thought that they had won the Monster War.

“With your help, Dragon City lost tens of thousands of blood and saved enough resources to start another large-scale war.

“With your help, the bigwigs of Dragon City took over everything in the ultimate nest of the monster civilization. In other words, they inherited the power and ambition of the monster civilization.

“Think about it. Such a strong and well-armed dragon city that firmly believes that it is invincible will still put all the ‘Indigenous races’ in the New World in your eyes after the fog has dispersed?

“After all, you are a race blessed by the heavens that has produced a prodigy like Meng Chao!

“What’s even more unfortunate is that, because you helped Dragon City win the War of monsters ten years ahead of schedule, the full-scale war between Tulanze and the land of Holy Light had yet to break out when you rushed out of the Tusk mountain range. “The army of Tulanze is just like you. They are strong and full of killing intent. They are not stuck in the quagmire of war that the Holy Light Camp has prepared for us.

“We haven’t shed too much blood, lost too many resources, suffered enough, and need to stay warm with our allies. We even look down on any civilization on the land except for us, just like you.

“Under such circumstances, if a war breaks out between Dragon City and Tulan ZE, the scale and intensity of the war will certainly be ten times more intense than the future that I have foreseen.

“Maybe, the Holy Light Temple doesn’t even need to make a move. We will destroy each other in the shortest time possible!”

Meng Chao stared at the Wolf King for a long time, then, he said, “Are you saying that Dragon City shouldn’t end the Monster War so soon? We should continue to struggle in the bloody swamp for three to five years or even longer, letting more innocent people die tragically and using more blood to cool our scalding brains

“Maybe. The future is so unpredictable. We will never know if we are walking on the right path.”

The wolf king said, “Just like the story that you earthlings often tell — there was an old man named ‘Saiweng’ who lost his favorite horse. You know what happened after that.”

“But what we are talking about is not ‘steeds’, but the lives of thousands of innocent people!”

Meng Chao said resolutely, "I will not let the blood of so many innocent citizens flow in vain in the protracted war. I will not watch a meaningless and mutually destructive war between Dragon City and Tu Lanze that should have been avoided!

"I will stop the war from breaking out.

"No. In fact, I am already trying to stop it.

"When I was still in Dragon City, I had already considered the possibility of friction between the strong Dragon City and Tu Lanze.

"I tried my best to expand the influence of the Red Dragon Army in the Survival Committee for the same reason. It is because the red dragon army, which is mainly composed of ordinary people, is, in most cases, a defensive force that protects its homeland.

"Unlike the nine super corporations, which were mainly composed of extraordinary individuals, the Red Dragon Army was an offensive force that was more inclined to take the initiative and expand to the outside world.

"And our 'Super Star Group', under my insistence, actively entered the fields of tobacco, wine making, middle-and low-end thermal weapons manufacturing, and so on — these fields were highly complementary to Tulanze and could absolutely meet the needs of the majority of orc consumers and achieve a win-win sunrise industry. "The Dragon City civilization, which has just won the war of monsters and has yet to fully digest and absorb the war dividends, is like a beast that has just had a full meal but still has a round belly. It doesn't have the urgent need to launch a second war immediately.

"I really don't understand. who could be so impatient to rush out of the mountain range of monsters and occupy the rat town?

"You must know that many people, including me and many others — the remnant star association, the Martial God Temple, the Red Dragon Army, the Golden Fang Gang, the Blue Homeland, the Bureau of Investigation of Exotic Beasts, the relic research institute, and even the nine super corporations — have talked about the survival strategy of Dragon City after winning the Monster War.

"Everyone has admitted that Dragon City, which has been shrouded in mist for fifty years, knows nothing about the vast land under our feet and the planet that contains mysterious energy. "If the mist really disappears one day, the first thing that Dragon City should do is to send out a large number of exploration teams to observe and analyze whether there are creatures more powerful and intelligent than 'monsters' on this mysterious planet, and how the people of Earth should get along with these intelligent creatures.

"Even if war is unavoidable, at least we have to make every effort for peace and figure out who our friends are and who our enemies are, and how powerful our enemies have the potential for war. We can't just fight blindly! "Therefore, why didn't Dragon City send an exploration team and an envoy to Tulanze? "With the technology of armored airships and teleportation arrays, we could have done it!

"We should talk to the Tulan Orcs first and see if it is possible for the two parties to satisfy each other's interests in a peaceful state, or even create greater benefits together.

“At the very least, we should get a clear picture of the Tulan civilization first. We should know that the high-level orcs who have been rooted in Tulan for ten thousand years are more terrifying opponents than the monsters. “Why do we have to be so reckless and impatient to draw the entire dragon city into a larger and more dangerous war

Chapter 1433 Eternal War

“Perhaps it’s because they have gotten used to it, and even fallen in love with it.” The Wolf King faintly said, “The people of Dragon City are the same as the people of Turan. Ever since they transmigrated to the treacherous and dangerous Other World, they have been engaged in the most resolute and bloody struggle against the cruel living environment.

“In the process of fighting, survival has become the supreme law and the ultimate goal. Everything in the entire civilization has to serve the war. Most of the people have either directly become soldiers or engaged in all kinds of work related to the war. Our culture has also become increasingly courageous, and more people believe in the law of the strong preying on the weak and winner-takes-all.

“The dividend brought by the war allowed the most powerful experts of Dragon City and Picturesque Orchid Lake to gradually grasp the authority of the entire civilization, allowing them to enjoy incomparably bountiful rewards from the war. They saw the possibility of becoming stronger and stronger, and they won the respect, admiration, as well as submission of thousands of people.

“In such a situation, not everyone likes the idea of ‘peace’. “If I remember correctly in the ‘Doomsday Nightmare’, the nine families that control dragon city are more or less involved in the military industry, and they even formed an extremely large-scale military-industrial complex, right?”.

Meng Chao hesitated for a moment, but he still nodded and said, “Dragon City in the real world has not developed to the point where it is completely controlled by the nine families. However, what you said is right. The nine super enterprises are indeed involved in the military industry, controlling powerful corporate arms, and possessing invincible peak experts.

“If they didn’t have enough tyrannical strength, they couldn’t have developed to the level they are today in Dragon City, which has an extremely harsh living environment.” “That’s it.” The wolf king continued, “If you hold an invincible hammer in your hand, then everyone is like a nail.

“The best way to solve the unknown problem is to transform it into a known problem that has been solved, no matter how difficult and complicated the solution is.

“How to contact and identify with a civilization that is as big as dragon city, or even larger than Dragon City, and reach a series of mutually beneficial agreements to achieve mutual understanding and trust is an unknown problem.

“And ‘start and win another Monster War’ is a known problem that has already been solved.

“The nine Super Enterprises, which have relied on wars to develop, have countless military industries under their banner, and rely on continuous victories to gain the recognition of the entire public, will continue to choose wars. What’s so strange about that?

“There’s nothing new under the Sun. Isn’t Tu Lanze the same as dragon city, choosing war to resolve all conflicts time and time again?”

Meng Chao stared at the Wolf King for a long time.

“No.”

He emphasized again, “Dragon City and Tu Lanze are different!”

The Wolf King laughed.

He did not refute or ridicule Meng Chao’s belief. Instead, he took a step back and said, “Well, even the top management of the nine super enterprises can remain rational. Then, what about the Blood Union?”

“In my ‘Doomsday Nightmare’, the blood union is a semi-public existence in dragon city.

“In Your ‘Doomsday Nightmare’, the Blood Union is also acting sneakily. “This is enough to show that a group of ambitious, unscrupulous guys are lurking in Dragon City, whether they are in the light or in the dark. “Think about it. If you are the remnants of the blood union that should have been annihilated decades ago, what exactly do you need to make the Blood Union rise again? “Yes, chaos, of course, is chaos.”.

remn

“And war is undoubtedly the best way to create chaos.”.

“Think about it. If Dragon City is really caught in a protracted war with Tu lanze, it’s needless to say how much losses the two sides have suffered. But isn’t an organization like the Blood Union just right to fish in troubled waters, stir up trouble, and highlight the value of its existence?” “That’s true.”

Meng Chao nodded.

The Blood Union did indeed have enough motive and perhaps enough ability to start a brand-new war.

Meng Chao narrowed his eyes. His sister, who had become the “Night Witch”, appeared in his mind again.

The cross-shaped mark from the blood union was clearly branded on the back of his sister’s hand.

No, even if it was just a ‘possibility’, even if the probability of such a possibility was only one in ten thousand.

He had to defuse this ‘ticking time bomb’ in advance. Before the Blood Union reached out to his sister, he had to kill and crush this evil organization that was haunting him!

“And ‘Chaos’.”

Wolf King continued, “Didn’t you say that you highly suspected that Dragon City didn’t really win the Monster War? More precisely, the monster mainframe predicted that it would be unable to control the overwhelming monster tide and fight against Dragon City’s steel flood on the battlefield. Therefore, it chose a more secretive and smarter strategy, voluntarily giving up its nest, even giving up most of its flesh and blood organization, and giving up the ability to create and control the monster tide. Instead, it became something like spores, fungi, and viruses, which were extremely easy to infect and invade the human body?”

“If the main brain of the monster that lurks in the underground of Dragon City and the mother of origin that lurks in the underground of Tulanze are from the same origin, and that part of the Super Creature ‘Chaos’ that once covered the entire surface of the planet billions of years ago in the primordial era is the ‘Egg of Chaos’, then the main brain of the monster that lurks in the underground of Dragon City and the mother of origin that lurks in the underground of Tulanze are from the same origin. “So, it’s not surprising that the main brain of the monster would choose a similar way to the original mother, trying to gradually control and change the people of Longcheng in a subtle way.”

Meng Chao took a deep breath and said with a solemn expression, “Are you saying that the main brain of the monster also wants to make use of the war between Dragon City and Tu Lanze to revive and make a comeback?”

“No, I’m guessing that to the ‘chaos’, reviving and making a comeback is not important. War is not its means at all. War is its purpose and the meaning of its existence itself.”

The Wolf King said, “Haven’t you realized that when we wear totem armors and engage in fierce battles, killing, tearing our enemies apart or being torn apart by them, the satisfaction that penetrates into our bones and seems to be able to pierce through our souls, how much will it please the mother of the origin? “And judging from the series of modifications that the mother of the origin carried out on the Tulan civilization, regardless of whether it helped us upgrade the ‘supermagnet’ to the ‘Spiritual Magnet’, compress and package a large amount of combat experience and killing skills into the ‘totem’.

“It also helped us create the mandala tree, a magical plant that seemed to be able to completely solve the food problem, but it caused Tulanze to fall into periodic famine.

“Its purpose was to plunge Tulanze into eternal war.

“The Holy Light Temple’s classics also recorded that once chaos descended, the entire world would be in endless chaos, Slaughter, and darkness.

“Although I can’t agree with the Holy Light Temple’s method of ‘purifying’ This world.

“I can’t help but admit that the Holy Light Temple’s description of the egg of chaos might not be the truth.

“Perhaps, for the egg of chaos that is hiding under Dragon City — the main brain of the monster — it doesn’t matter what it looks like. It doesn’t matter whether it’s a human or a monster that wins and rules the Earth. Even its survival and destruction are not important.

“War, only war, was the most important thing.

“Therefore, it did not have the ambition of ‘making a comeback’, and it had long left the low-level fun of ‘controlling part of the people of Dragon City and holding the highest power in Dragon City’. It simply wanted to wage war and wage war after war!”

“Why?”

Meng Chao found it hard to understand. “Why would chaos do that?”

“How would I know?”

Wolf King Shrugged, "There is an old saying on your earth, 'insects that are born and die in summer can not know what ice is.' If Chaos is really a super creature that once covered the entire surface of the planet, it is as tiny as an ant in front of it. No, it is as tiny as a bacterium. No, it is as tiny as a virus. How could we possibly guess its thoughts?"

Meng Chao was silent for a moment before he gritted his teeth and said, "I'm going back to Dragon City right now to stop the war, find out the truth, dismantle the blood union, and find and solve the hidden trouble of Chaos

"I'm going back to Crimson Gold City, too. I'm going to take back the authority of the war chief from the hands of Black Mountain's bloody hooves and find a way to control the overall situation of Tulanze."

The wolf king said, "The good news is that the people of Dragon City have only occupied a few mouse towns on the southern border of Tulanze, which were originally abandoned by the five major clans.

"Since there isn't much blood on both sides, we still have hope to prevent the worst situation from happening. "However, even if I become the war chief, I can't ignore the people of Dragon City in the southern part of Tulanze for a long time and act on my own. Otherwise, all the chiefs and priests will doubt whether I am tough enough or not loyal enough. "If the torrent of steel of the people of Dragon City actually crosses the southern border and advances toward the central region where the resources of Tulanze are relatively abundant, and even points their troops toward the military towns of the five major clans, believe me, all the Orc Warriors will be furious and won't be as slow to react as they are now.

"Once the armored army of Dragon City and the elite legions of all the people of Tulanze in Totem armor turn both banks of the Tulan River into slaughterhouses littered with corpses, then no matter what we say and do, it will be impossible to stop the mutual destruction of both sides."

"Don't worry."

Meng Chao enunciated each word and said resolutely, "The people of Dragon City will never fear any war, but we must also have enough patience and wisdom to usher in peace and create the future!"

Chapter 1434 Extraordinary City

Meanwhile, at the southern border of Picturesque Orchid Lake, which Turan people called Fang Mountain Range and the Dragon City people called Monster Mountain Range, the sky moat...

Even though the mist that isolated Dragon City had dispersed, the sky above the monster mountain range was still shrouded in large balls of lightning that were dozens of kilometers long. The lightning kept roaring in the dark clouds.

The thundercloud storm seemed to come from the ancient era. It was a huge, strange bird that had spread its wings that covered the sky and the Earth. It let out a howl that made all living beings pale.

It was as if it was the only dominator of that forbidden area of death.

However, when the fleet of dozens of armored airships restrained the lightning, suppressed the thunder, and tore the dark clouds into pieces, they swept through everything all the way from the depths of Monster Mountain Range. The roar of the crystal engines drowned out the shrieks of the weird birds.

The super-high-speed propellers and the overwhelming ripples of spirit energy swept away the storm of thunderclouds too.

Even the unbroken mountain peaks across Monster Mountain Range below the storm of thunderclouds were shivering before the will of steel. It was as if they were going to collapse at any moment.

In fact, the armored airships should have been called “air formations.”

However, their solemn appearance, the sound of breaking waves, and their indomitable momentum reminded people of the Mengchong warships that dominated the ocean and the ocean fleets that explored new worlds in the Earth’s era.

Soon, the fleets forgot about the thunderstorm that was falling apart. Accompanied by an ear-piercing mechanical sound, all the crystal engines changed their propulsion angles drastically. The propellers that were as huge as wind turbines changed from being parallel to almost perpendicular to the ground.

They began to dive.

It was as if they were not armored airships, but dive bombers, or even earth-drilling bombs.

In an instant, they crossed the thousands of meters high drop distance from the monster mountain range to Tulanze.

The super-long-range searchlights, which were set up in front of the armored airship and were powered by a large amount of crystal energy, emitted huge and bright beams of light. They helped the fleet lock onto the landing site on the ground.

At the same time, they also illuminated the potholed mines on the ground; the rows of factories; the chimneys that were like trees that were constantly emitting thick smoke; the mining machines and construction machines that were like steel beasts; the steel structures that were like steel beasts Piles of steel-framed modular units that could be turned into more factories, laboratories, war fortresses, and high-rise buildings at any time; and the criss-crossing railways that connected them all together.

There were splashes of steel and floods of iron. The air was filled with the pungent smell of rotten eggs and vinegar and garlic.

This was the unique smell of low-quality crystals that did not respond adequately. It could also be said that it was the “Smell of industry” and “The smell of civilization.”

When the pessimists smelled this smell and saw hundreds of chimneys appearing on the land of the New World Like a forest of swords and halberds, they might lament the destruction of the environment caused by industrial pollution. Another Garden of Eden was about to be contaminated by ambitious, greedy humans.

When the optimists saw this scene, they would think that in the near future, in this new world that was a hundred times wider than the basin that was surrounded by the monster mountains, many cities that were larger and more prosperous than Dragon City were about to rise up and form a civilization that was even more prosperous and prosperous than the Earth's era, they would rise up from the ground and together form a civilization that was even more prosperous and prosperous than the Earth's era.

Whether they were pessimists or optimists, they could not deny the fact that humans were no taller than three meters. Compared to the entire planet, they were as small as dust and had a lifespan of no more than a hundred years, compared to the astronomical time scale that could easily span hundreds of millions of years, they were as short as an instant. They were simply not worth mentioning, but they already had the ability to leave an inextinguishable mark between heaven and earth for ten thousand years!

Even if one day, the human civilization was destroyed, the last human, at the last moment of the bloody battle, could still hold his head high and proudly announce, "I have been here before!"

Boom!

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom!

Below the armored airship formation, accompanied by a world-shaking boom, an enormous and ugly mountain peak that was like a monster was directly blown flat by the humans.

The shattered rocks followed the route that the humans had planned beforehand and fell into the quarry in the valley.

The mountain that was blocking the humans' flight route had disappeared without a trace. The larger fleet and the new design, the larger armored airship — the steel behemoth known as the "Sky Fortress"—would be more efficient, it would travel between the monster mountain range and Tulanze, transporting supplies and military forces for the human race.

The crushed mountain rocks would be used to build roadbeds, build fortresses, and make quick-drying cement, further changing the face of this world.

There was no more scene than the disappearance of a huge mountain peak, which could more demonstrate the strength, courage, and determination of the human race to conquer everything. Seeing this scene, and after the disappearance of the mountain, the vast world was a hundred times more vast than Dragon City.

The workers, gold diggers, and adventurers who came to the New World on armored airships cheered.

Not far from the quarry.

On a super mining vehicle, supported by hundreds of tracks and accompanied by dozens of stable steel beasts, the codename "Taotie".

Shen Yulin released the pressure lever of the detonator and smiled contentedly, revealing his snow-white and sharp teeth.

Shen Yulin was the third generation of the Shen family, which controlled one of the two biggest mining giants in Dragon City, the 'Universal Group'.

Even in the universal group, where experts were as numerous as clouds and experts were as numerous as rain, he, who was in the six-star spiritual suit, was still one of the best among the best. He was a young man who could take charge of his own affairs.

However, Shen Yulin was definitely not one of the so-called 'elites' who liked to hide in his office and command remotely.

Right now, he was wearing a safety helmet, a protective suit made of the skin of the ferocious beasts of hell, and heat-insulating boots. His face, which had been quite handsome before, was now covered in dust due to the explosion, at first glance, he was no different from the mining engineers around him.

Only his eyes, which were as sharp as lightning, contained confidence and even pride that could hold the entire world in his hands. Only then did his identity as the ruler of the world become apparent.

Such an image, in the eyes of the female reporter who was interviewing him, made the Smile of the female reporter become even more intense and meaningful. "President Shen, I can tell that you like to do things yourself?" The female reporter asked.

"That's right." Shen Yuling smiled slightly. "My grandfather, the founder of the Universal Group, has taught me more than once that if a problem can not be solved, it is often because we are not close enough to the problem.

"The business world is like a battlefield. Only a commander who is brave and willing to go to the front line can be considered a true commander.

"The Great War of conquering the foreign world has begun. Of course, I have to do it myself. I will fight side by side with all the staff of the universal group and my comrades "President Shen's boldness is truly admirable."

The female reporter continued asking, "Can you tell us more about the honghui jade lode under Our Feet?"

"Of course."

Shen Yupeng said confidently, "Our universal group's prospecting team has discovered the most astonishing honghui jade lode so far in this area named 'Hongxigou', which is 11 kilometers long and three kilometers wide.

"In order to explore the size of the Crystal Lode, our prospectors have worked hard day and night. Fifty-seven exploration holes have been dug out. On average, they will start to see the ore when they are seven hundred and fifty meters below the ground. When they are one thousand and four hundred meters below the ground, they will still be able to dig out the complete Honghui jade cluster. In fact, when they are two thousand and one hundred meters below the ground, they will still be able to dig out the accompanying Honghui jade of higher quality, which is worth developing. It can be said that the size of the deposit, the quality of the crystals, and the cost of mining are all very rare!

"According to our estimation, not counting the accompanying ores that extend to the surroundings, the potential resources of the main vein of the brilliant red jade alone are more than 85 million tons. The annual production in the early stage alone can reach 1.5 million tons. Moreover, the quality of the brilliant red jade that is mined is extremely high. It doesn't even need to be refined twice to drive super-large rune machines directly. It can even allow extraordinary individuals to cultivate and enhance their spiritual energy directly!”

The female reporter nodded repeatedly.

But there was a hint of confusion in her eyes.

“Let’s put it this way –“

Shen Yuling caught the confusion in the other party’s eyes and said calmly, “Miss Li should know that the largest Honghui jade mine in Dragon City is located at the bottom of the WUTAO mountain range.

“In order to develop that Honghui Jade Mine, Dragon City also launched a large-scale battle and engaged in a fight to the death with the overwhelming Beast Tide.”

“Yes.”

The female reporter said, “I remember that the red jade lode was discovered by President Meng Chao of the Broken Star Association and Ms. Lu Siya, the current CEO of the Super Star Group. The Red Jade Lode also became the first bucket of gold for the Miracle Rise of the Super Star Group and one of the top ten companies in Dragon City.”

In front of a young man of the Universal Group, Meng Chao and Lu Siya, who were even more dazzling than him, were mentioned.

This female reporter seemed to lack the self-awareness of a reporter.

A hint of gloominess flashed across Shen Yuling’s face.

However, he quickly adjusted his emotions and squeezed out a smile again. “That’s right. What I want to say is that the size of the Honghui jade vein under our feet right now is very likely to be more than five times the size of the raging waves mountain range!” “Five times!”

The female reporter was somewhat shocked.

“That’s right, five times.”

Shen yuling spread his fingers, “That’s why the Universal Corporation spared no expense to develop the ‘Red Creek Creek Project’. Our long-term plan is not as simple as building a mine or developing an industrial area. With this crimson jade lode with astonishing reserves, we can completely build a city, a transcendent city where everyone can enjoy ‘freedom of cultivation’!”

Chapter 1435 Family Law Service!

“That’s really something to look forward to.”

The female reporter said, “However, let’s talk about the orcs first. I heard that during the development of the Red Creek Project, these natives from another world caused us a lot of trouble?”

“Before answering this question, please allow me to correct a point.”

Shen Yuling said, “I know that many people in Dragon City now call these natives from another world ‘orcs,’ but this name is neither scientific nor appropriate. They are not human beings at all. They do not have the wisdom and morality of human beings. They are unable to communicate and cooperate with each other. They are just a group of monsters in human skin. They are a group of savage, bloodthirsty, murderous, and ferocious humanoid beasts that know how to but do not know how to build.

“These things don’t deserve the noble and great name of ‘humans.’ Even if we call them Torcs,’ it will mislead the citizens of Dragon City. who don’t know the truth. It will create foolish goodwill and expectations that are destined to fail.

“They are just a group of wild beasts. They are the close relatives of the monsters we once defeated. They are just a group of ‘orcs.’

“That’s right. This group of ferocious and brutal beasts has indeed created some trouble for our production and construction.

“However, in front of the cutting-edge weapons developed by the Universal Corporation and the heroic and fearless extraordinary equipment, there is no enemy that can not be defeated. There is no difficulty that can not be overcome. “Even so many ferocious apocalyptic beasts have fallen at our feet. Can a mere beast race create more trouble than an overwhelming Beast Tide?

“As I said before, the universal group and all the disciples of the Shen family will abide by the belief that the extraordinaries are the sabers of Dragon City, and the blood of the strong must flow for the weak. We will always fight on the most dangerous frontline. As long as the citizens of Dragon City can give us their unreserved trust and support, we will definitely bring the most generous returns to all the citizens

“The technology of the universal group and the determination of the Shen family’s children are indeed shocking.”

The female reporter suddenly changed the topic and said, “However, there are rumors that the universal group has long known that there is a great danger beyond the monster mountain range. It is very likely that the beast race will cause serious harm to our explorers and ordinary miners.

“However, in order to build the crystal mines as soon as possible and earn more profits for Universal Corporation, you have greatly reduced the time required for the preliminary exploration and reconnaissance. Without having a deeper understanding of the orcs, you have directly exposed thousands of ordinary miners to an extremely dangerous environment. As a result, there is a higher chance of casualties and occupational diseases than mining crystals in the Monster Mountains. The sequelae caused by the spiritual radiation are also much more serious.

“President Shen, do you have anything to explain about such a rumor?”

Shen Yuling’s face immediately darkened.

He gazed deeply at the female reporter.

It was as if he wanted to use his gaze to squeeze out the female reporter’s true colors.

“What a bunch of nonsense!”

Shen Yuling gnashed his teeth and said, “The universal group has always put people first. Our Shen family even treats all of our employees as our brothers and sisters. We pay the most attention to ensuring the health and safety of our employees. How could we intentionally expose our brothers and sisters to Danger?

"I don't deny that some unavoidable accidents did happen during the process of the Red Creek Creek project, which resulted in extremely painful sacrifices.

W

"But this is a war. This is a war for mankind to explore a new world. This is the torrent of steel of Dragon City. It is a war that will conquer the entire foreign world! "Since it is a war, there will be sacrifices. The flower of victory will be watered with the blood of countless warriors. If everyone is afraid of death, what future does Dragon City have!

"I don't know where Miss Li heard these malicious rumors. I only know the principle that 'Mercy does not rule the army'. For the sake of thousands of citizens of Dragon City, for the sake of the descendants of all of us, for the sake of the dragon city civilization that can dominate the other world, for the next 10,000 years, it will always be prosperous and prosperous. Even I myself am prepared to sacrifice everything "President Shen speaks too well. I also believe that all the citizens of Dragon City are ready to sacrifice everything for our civilization after being tempered by the war of monsters." The professional smile on the female reporter's face gradually turned cold. Her eyes and voice became sharper and sharper, "However, it is also rumored that during the development of the 'Red Creek Creek Project', a lot of illegal operations and black-box transactions occurred in the universal group. A large number of Hong Huiyu went into the pockets of the Shen family's disciples without being counted and became the fuel for your cultivation.

"Ordinary miners risked the spiritual radiation, the collapse of the mines, and the attack of the orcs in exchange for the sons of the Shen family who were living in luxury. They became stronger and stronger with the tremendous resources. It was not difficult for them to break through a level that ordinary citizens would never be able to break through in their entire lives. Do you think that is reasonable?

"Also, I heard that many of the minority shareholders of the universal group are very dissatisfied with the Shen family's practices. They think that there are too many problems in the 'Red Creek Project' and that the interests of the minority shareholders have been seriously damaged. Because of this, the performance of the affiliated companies of the Universal Group in the financial market recently has not been satisfactory.

"President Shen, don't you have anything to explain about these questions?"?

"Do you think that the ordinary employees of the universal group are 'sacrificing for Dragon city' or 'sacrificing for the Shen Family'?"

Dark clouds covered Shen Yulin's face.

A thunderstorm that was even more intense than the thunderstorm that was hanging at the top of the monster mountain range was generated at a speed visible to the naked eye.

Before he was enraged, the female reporter sped up, she threw out the last question that was as sharp as a spear. "President Shen, I heard that you have only stepped into the six-star spirit armor not long ago, but you have already cultivated to the peak of the six-star level, becoming a peak heavenly state expert with half a foot in the divine state.

“After the great victory in the War of monsters, Dragon City’s spiritual energy theory, cultivation facilities, and genetic technology have all experienced explosive development. Many people’s cultivation speed has greatly improved compared to the past, but the rapid progress like yours is still shocking.

“It must be noted that your training speed is almost as fast as that of Meng Chao, the top expert of the Golden Generation in Dragon City.

“Meng Chao, on the other hand, has just awakened his spiritual energy and the unblocked spiritual vein from high school to university. Everything starts from zero, and only at an age of infinite possibilities can he create such a miracle.

“You are so much older than Meng Chao that your spiritual vein has long been fixed. You were stagnant in the five-star Spirit Vision Realm for the past ten years, but you have made such rapid progress in just one year after the victory in the War of monsters. May I ask what exactly is your secret?

“Or are you also like the rumors that you used illegal transactions to enrich your own pocket and squander the vast amount of cultivation resources that should not belong to you, forcibly piling up the so-called ‘peak of the Heavenly State’?”

“Can you answer this question, President Shen?”

“Are you willing to accept an external audit unrelated to the universal group and tell us the legal source of all the cultivation resources that you have consumed?”

“What is your opinion on the crystal law that is currently causing a stir in Dragon City? “Do you think that the possession and use of crystals by extraordinary people is justified? “Facing the increasingly powerful extraordinary people, the ordinary citizens who are destined to be unable to awaken, how should they safeguard their legitimate rights and interests?”

Before the thunderstorm on Shen Yulin’s face exploded, a slightly bloated man stepped forward in small steps, with a smile on his face, he tugged at the female reporter. “Miss Li, I’m sorry. Our president Shen still has a very important meeting to attend. Let’s call it a day for today’s interview. Next, we would like to invite you to visit the honor room of our project.”

The female reporter wanted to say something else, but the bloated man coughed lightly. Two burly men came forward, one on the left and one on the right. They lifted the female reporter up and forcefully took her away from the super-large mining cart.

Not long after, the bloated man returned to Shen Yulin’s side in fear and trepidation.

He had a mournful look on his face, and cold sweat kept flowing down his face. Every muscle on his face was trembling. Shen Yulin glared at him for half a minute. He was about to use his eyes to freeze the bloated man into ice cubes, burn him into ashes, and flush him into the toilet bowl.

Seeing that the bloated man was about to have a heart attack, Shen Yulin stretched out a finger and poked the bloated man’s chest.

“Two things.”

Shen Yulin said, "First, take care of this reporter. If it doesn't work, take care of her boss. If it doesn't work, take care of this media company. I Don't care what method you use. If it really doesn't work, take care of yourself. Understand?"

"Understood."

The bloated man hurriedly nodded. "Second, investigate for me. Find out exactly what went wrong, who sent this reporter to me, who wrote the interview script, and how did this reporter do the background check?"

Shen Yulin said with killing intent, "This is deliberately trying to ruin my reputation and make me look bad!"

"Yes, I'll go and check it out right now. I'll go and check it out right now!"

The bloated man stuck out his chest to guarantee Shen Yu Lin, but he was poked by Shen Yu Lin again. It hurt so much that tears fell from his eyes, but he did not dare to shout. He still put on a loyal and unswerving look. After thinking for a moment, he said, "Could it be the Atlas Group? You know, Atlas and Huanyu have never been on good terms, and the Red Creek Creek Creek project is so big this time..."

"You stupid pig, is it that easy for Atlas Group's evil hands to reach our Huanyu Group?" "Besides, this woman picked on US just now. What illegal operations, black box transactions, could it be that Atlas Group doesn't have any?" "Could it be that the few projects developed by Atlas Group outside the monster mountain range are so pure and flawless?" "In order to deal with me, did the atlas group have to resort to such actions of killing 1,000 enemies at the expense of 800 of their own?"

Shen Yuling narrowed his eyes and gnashed his teeth as he said, "There must be a mole in the universal group. It was done by our Shen family's own people. It was those good-for-nothings who didn't do enough and ruined everything. They were jealous that I had taken down the 'Red Creek Creek Creek Project' and had broken through to the peak of the heavenly state so quickly. They were about to break through to the divine state.

"If they don't come out and create trouble, how will the future Shen family and the universal group have the right to speak to them?" "Humph, in order to fight for power and benefits, these good-for-nothings actually disregarded the big picture. Do they really think that our Shen family doesn't have any family rules?"

Chapter 1436 The Big Empty Cake

Like a tumbleweed in a storm, the bloated man rolled and crawled away from the super mining vehicle.

Shen Yuling was still angry. He paced back and forth atop the mining vehicle with a gloomy face.

Looking at the huge wheel-type bucket with a diameter of more than fifty meters, it was like the bloody mouths of dozens of giant beasts, constantly tearing and swallowing the ore. The sparks from the friction between the pieces of ore could seemingly ignite him at any time.

A thin and small-sized prospector with gray sideburns climbed onto the roof of the car.

Judging from the Hell Beast leather, his protective clothing meticulously refined with scales, the Apocalyptic Beast bones, his safety helmet made of super-strong alloy, which was enough to withstand the bombardment of heavy cannons, the prospector had extremely strong abilities and a high status.

However, he was frowning like a crumpled newspaper.

The prospector lingered at the edge of Shen Yulin's anger. It was as if Shen Yulin was a demon that was even more terrifying than a monster. Once he stepped into this circle, he would be completely devoured by the demon, including his skin and bones.

Shen Yulin glanced at the prospector from the corner of his eye.

He also ordered the output power of the super mining vehicle to be increased by a level.

The rotating speed of the wheel-type bucket suddenly increased, producing a deafening roar.

Even with the stability of hundreds of caterpillar tracks and supporting arms, the roof of the car still shook violently like an earthquake.

Now, only Shen Yulin and the prospector were left on the roof.

Both of them were experts above the level.

Even if the sound of mining was as loud as a volcanic eruption.

Both of them could precisely control the vibration of the muscles in their throats and constrict the sound waves into a line and send it into each other's eardrums. They would definitely not be heard by a third party.

"Xue Gong, I've said it many times. If the Sky Falls, there will be a tall man holding it up. If you want to die, we will all die together. Don't always put on a panicked and panicked look. Are you afraid that others won't be able to see through it? Do you have a ghost in your heart?"

Shen Yulin looked at "Engineer Xue" with disappointment.

Engineer Xue had a guilty conscience to begin with.

Hearing Shen Yulin's words, he immediately jumped up in fright. Shen Yulin hurriedly went forward and pressed his shoulders. He pressed his feet back onto the roof of the car and his heart back into his chest. "Don't be anxious, Old Xue. This isn't a matter for you alone. Believe me, no matter what happens, there will be countless big shots who will help us hold it up."

Knowing that engineer Xue would not be able to withstand the intimidation, Shen Yulin could only change his face. He softened his tone and asked, "How is it? What's the latest result?"

Engineer Xue swallowed several mouthfuls of saliva, but he still could not wipe away the dejection on his face. Shivering, he handed over a report as if he was handing over his own death sentence.

Shen Yuling took the report and found that the words on it were all messed up by engineer Xue's cold sweat and his out-of-control spiritual energy.

Frowning slightly, he held the report in his hand and stared at engineer Xue without saying a word. Engineer Xue also realized that he had lost his composure. He wiped his face and closed his eyes, he said in despair, "We secretly drilled three more exploration holes at the edge of the Red Creek Trench, the deepest of which was 2,770 meters underground. The result was the same.

"About 700 meters underground, there is indeed a very rich vein of Honghui Jade. The development of the ore layer and the quality of the Honghui jade crystal clusters are both very good. Based on past experience, this is indeed a super-rich ore with a potential reserves of 100 million tons or even 200 million tons.

"However..

"The average thickness of the ore layer is less than 50 meters. "When it reaches eight hundred meters underground, the ore veins will be fragmented and eroded by all kinds of worthless associated ores.

"The quality of the brilliant red jade crystal clusters has also dropped drastically. The top-quality crystals that can be burned or cultivated without smelting have become inferior crystals that can be stuffed into buses and even destroy the engines.

"When we are less than a thousand meters underground, even the reserves of low-grade crystals have experienced a precipitous collapse. The surroundings of the mother lode are full of holes, faults, folds, and traces of magma erosion. However, the brilliant Red Jade Crystal Cluster is nowhere to be found

"Have you searched every direction and every rock layer?" "Shen Yulin was expressionless, but his fists were clenched so hard that they turned white.

"We've, we've looked everywhere. We've almost turned the entire Red Creek Creek Ravine upside down. Even if there's an embroidery needle hidden underground, we should have found it by now."

Engineer Xue moaned, "But those damn red brilliant jade crystal clusters have disappeared, disappeared..."

"So -"

Shen Yuling said, "Come to a conclusion. Compared to the red brilliant jade mine at the bottom of the raging waves mountain range, how much is the development value of our Red Creek Ravine project compared to the other party?"

"One-third."

Engineer Xue opened his eyes and revealed an expression that said, "Even if you stick out your head, you will still be cut. If you shrink your head, you will be cut. If you die early, you will be reincarnated early."

Shen Yuling was silent for a whole minute.

One minute later, he sighed, he put his arm around engineer Xue's shoulder and said, "Then, Old Xue, as the top prospector of the Huanyu Group, can you tell me why such a poor mine, which doesn't have much development value at all, was considered by you as a mine with amazing reserves and great development value that will completely change the future of Dragon City?"

Engineer Xue began to tremble again.

It was not because of the killing intent that Shen Yulin released, which was sharper than a scalpel, but because of his anger. It was because Shen Yulin had questioned his professional ability.

“Because this was originally a rich mine, an unprecedented and immeasurable rich mine!”

Dozens of thick veins protruded out of engineer Xue’s Monkey Chin. He argued with a red face and ears, “Based on all the specimens, data, and samples that we have found, and the development of the crystal veins in the monster mountain range, this is a super-rich mine with a potential reserves of more than 100 million tons. Unless I’m blind, no, even if I am blind, I can still smell the scent of the brilliant red jade clusters. They were there in the first place!”

“And then?”

Shen Yuling said, “Hundreds of millions of tons of red jade crystals buried deep underground have disappeared?” A strange expression appeared on engineer Xue’s face.

At first, he was at a loss, but then he became extremely determined.

“That’s right, they have disappeared. To be more precise, there are people. Well, they are definitely not people, but there must be something that has stolen all of them!”

Engineer Xue shouted, “We found a lot of very strange channels in the rock about 2,000 meters underground in Hongxi Ditch. We also found a lot of plant fibers inside. It was as if... The roots of some plant had pierced deep into the crystal veins and sucked all our honghui jade crystal clusters dry. Then, they stole them!”

“The roots of plants?” Shen Yulin looked at engineer Xue with a strange expression. “Without the roots of a plant, it’s impossible to go 2,000 meters underground, even if it’s an artificial plant created by the Dragon City Agricultural University.”

“I’m not a botanist.”

Engineer Xue said, “But the samples I collected can only support such an absurd conclusion.”

“In other words –”.

Shen Yuling thought for a moment and said, “The ‘Red Creek Creek Project’ was originally a big cake that was sweet and tempting, but when we really went all out and snatched the cake in our hands, we discovered that the most delicious cream and fruit inside the cake had long been secretly emptied from the bottom, leaving only a thin layer of shell at the top?”

Engineer Xue nodded solemnly.

“Then, where do the ‘plants’ that you are talking about grow?” Shen Yulin narrowed his eyes and asked, “Where did the roots of the plants come from?”

“The erosion and sucking must have happened slowly over tens of thousands of years, or even hundreds of thousands of years. After it devoured all the essence of the Crystal Lode, it retracted the roots, leaving only a few fibers and traces of the pores.”

“Exactly,” engineer Xue said. “Judging from Kong Dao’s direction, if such a plant really existed, it should have grown along the raging Tiger River in the north.”

Following the direction that he was pointing at, Shen Yulin saw the vast land of Tulan under the boundless night sky.

Shen Yulin was very focused.

It was as if every plant in Tulan ze was deeply imprinted in his eyes.

After a long time, he slowly withdrew his gaze, he said as if nothing had happened, “Alright, I already know the situation. Old Xue, don’t be so nervous. There are always more solutions than difficulties. Now is the time to solve the problem, not to find someone to be responsible or to punish. Besides, such a big hole, even if we cut off our heads, it wouldn’t be enough, right?”

“How about this? Leave this report with me for now. When you go back, you can issue a new exploration report. A... Beautiful report. You know what I mean.”

Engineer Xue widened his eyes and took three steps back. His face was full of shock.

“No, this... this won’t do. I can’t tamper with the Exploration Report!” He blurted out.

“You can.”

Shen Yuling said calmly, “You are the top prospector of our Huanyu Group. Your Nose is as sensitive as that woman Lu Siya’s. You have been respected and trusted by so many people in the prospector association. Who would dare to question your authoritative report “Even if no one questions it for the time being, as the project continues to be developed, it will definitely be discovered by others. By then, I will be finished!”

Engineer Xue moaned, “There has never been a prospector in Dragon City who dared to tell such an exaggerated lie on such a large-scale development project! Once the matter is exposed, my reputation will definitely be ruined, and I will be completely finished!”

“Do you think that your reputation will not be ruined now?” Shen Yuling said coldly, “You have already faked it. You have already made a piece of barren ore that has no value for development into a super-rich ore with an astonishing return on investment!”

Chapter 1437 Solution (1)

“That’s different!”

Engineer Xue seemed to suffer great humiliation, and blood was seeping out of every crease on his face. “I admit that I made a mistake during the early exploration, but the development of the vein was too weird. Any prospector in Dragon City, even Lu Siya, who was in my position at that time, would have come to the same conclusion after seeing the images and data!

“Even if I did make an unforgivable mistake, it was only a question of my ability. “However, in the case that I’ve made a huge mistake, I would have to make it knowingly and repeatedly. That would not only be due to my lack of ability but also due to the professional ethics of a prospector...” “Ethics?”

Before Engineer Xue could finish, Shen Yulin grabbed him by the collar and lifted him so high that his toes were off the ground.

“What are you talking about?” Shen Yulin was furious as he enunciated each word clearly. “Let me tell you what morality is!

“Do you know how much capital Universe Corporation has invested in the Red Creek Project because of your rash exploration report? Do you know how many disciples of the Shen clan have bet their future on the damn Red Radiance Jade lode!

“Do you know how many investors, other than the Shen family, have high hopes for the ‘Red Creek Project’? How many more grand plans are being prepared and pushed forward for the project?

“Do you know how much the universal group’s valuation has increased since the great victory in the Monster War? How many people have thrown their lives into the financial market to support the universal group and the Red Creek Project?

“The valuation of the universal group has already reached the sky. If it were to fall in a straight line at this time, would there be a second result other than being smashed into pieces?

“‘morality’. HMPH. Let me tell you. Bringing huge profits to the investors is the greatest morality. Letting millions of investors lose all their money or even lose their families is the greatest unmorality. Do you understand? Do you understand!

“Alright. I Won’t talk to you about these useless theories. Old Xue, let’s talk about the most important issue at hand. If we can’t get past this hurdle, how are you going to explain the red brilliant jade clusters that should have stayed obediently in the crystal warehouse but ‘disappeared’ now?”

Engineer Xue seemed to have been punched hard on his face. His eyes almost popped out of their sockets. He cried out involuntarily, “To be honest, not many of those red brilliant jade clusters have fallen into my Fanny Pack!”

“Nonsense.”

Shen Yuling said in an unpleasant tone, “Not many fell into your Fanny Pack, but how many fell into my Fanny Pack? All of them were used to deal with so many important figures that we couldn’t afford to offend! Otherwise, how could the Red Creek Creek Creek project fall into the hands of you and Me?

“The problem is, is this something that can be brought out and said?

“As the saying goes, one has to admit defeat when one is willing to bet. If one wants to be a thief and eat meat, one has to have the awareness to stand upright and take a beating. If one really creates a huge mess, if you and I don’t take the blame, do you want those big shots who have the ability to control the heavens to take the blame?

“You’re already so old, Old Xue, don’t treat yourself like an old fool. Otherwise, not only will our heads fall to the ground, it might even bring disaster to our families!”

The word ‘family’ made engineer Xue’s pupils shrink.

Shen Yuling knew that he had touched the other party’s soft spot. He squeezed out a gloomy smile.

“We have a life-and-death relationship. Old Xue, your family is my family.” Shen Yuling hugged engineer Xue’s shoulder again and said, “I remember that your eldest son is about to break through to the heavenly state, right?” Engineer Xue nodded with a wooden expression.

“It’s not easy to break through to the Heavenly State!”

Shen Yulin sighed, “Back then, I had the support of the entire family. I didn’t know how many resources I had to expend before I managed to break through to the heavenly state. If I wasn’t a disciple of the Shen family, I’m afraid that even if I put in a hundred times more effort and a hundred times more luck, it wouldn’t be so simple to grasp the power of reaching the heavens!

“However, after the Battle of the beasts, there were more and more extraordinary people in Dragon City. The competition was getting more and more intense. The low-level extraordinary people were becoming less and less valuable.

“In the past, an Earth realm expert might have been able to find a stable job that paid well. He could enjoy the flowers, applause, Cheers, and the envious and admiring gazes.

“But today, if I can’t break through to the heavenly state, I’m nothing. Even the peak of the Earth realm is just a small trick that the experts can order me around.

“If you want to break through to the heaven realm, other than the support of a huge amount of resources, what is the most important thing? A state of mind! A relaxed, calm, and stable state of mind!

“Old Xue, think about it. At the crucial moment when our little brother Xue is about to break through to the heaven realm, such a huge scandal would break out from his father. Putting aside whether or not he would be able to obtain the cultivation resources from the universal group unconditionally, just his state of mind collapsing would be enough to drive him crazy and cause him to explode.”

Engineer Xue trembled even more violently.

This time, it was no longer anger.

It was fear that seeped deep into his bones.

“And your grandson.”

Shen Yuling was still unwilling to let go of the thin and small prospector who was trembling like a withered leaf in the autumn wind. He continued, “I remember that your grandson is still in middle school. Has He not awakened his extraordinary power yet?”

Engineer Xue swallowed several mouthfuls of saliva before he said hoarsely, “No.”

Chapter 1438 Solution (2)

“He hasn’t awakened. In other words, he might not be able to become... No, he might not be able to become a superhuman when his family is in a state of poverty and misfortune?”

Shen Yuling said, “Old Xue, you should know what it means to be an ordinary person living in Dragon City today when superhumans are getting stronger and stronger.

“That’s right, they’re all trash... trash, and a burden.

“You don’t want your grandson to become an ordinary person or a trash and a burden, right?” “Hoh hoh, hoh hoh”. There were some sounds from Engineer Xue’s throat, but he could not tell whether it was a cough, a gasp, a neigh, or a meaningless sound.

The beastly sounds made his originally messy eyes gradually focus. “No, it won’t work.”

Engineer Xue’s bloodshot eyes rolled around. After thinking for a while, he shook his head and said, “Even if I am willing to produce a ‘beautiful’ report, we won’t be able to hide it for long. According to the current excavation progress, we will soon dig through that layer of illusory crimson jade ore shell. Everyone will discover the truth. When that time comes, what will we do?”

“This is not a problem that you have to worry about. I’ve said before that if the Sky Falls, there will be tall people holding it up. If we want to die, we will all die together.”

A mysterious smile appeared on Shen Yuling’s face. He walked over and said in a low voice, “Old Xue, have you ever thought about the situation of our Red Creek Creek Project? It’s not far from us. What will happen to the projects that Atlas, Soaring Dragon, and the others are developing?”

These words seemed to have given engineer Xue a boost.

The face of the skinny prospector instantly shone like a searchlight. “That’s right. Judging from the distribution of the pores left by the roots of the ancient plants that we have observed, the size of this plant, or a plant-like life form, must be enormous!”

Engineer Xue slapped his thigh and said excitedly, “It can not only entangle our honghui jade vein, but let go of the surrounding towering sky, soaring dragon, and so many mining areas developed by Super Enterprises.”

“This, this is not the trouble of our Universal Group!”

“Yes, so you don’t have to panic at all.”

Shen Yulin smiled. “On this issue, we have a complete solution...”

Before he could say the word ‘plan’...

The Crystal Communicator on Shen Yulin’s wrist began to vibrate.

Shen Yulin glanced at it, and his pupils suddenly contracted into two needle tips.

Engineer Xue sensibly retreated to a corner.

Shen Yulin walked to the diagonal line, to a corner furthest away from engineer Xue. Only then did he activate the Crystal Communicator. Gritting his teeth, he said, “Explain clearly. What do you mean? What do you mean by ‘The advance plan might be rejected’?”

“Latest news –“

The voice on the other end of the communicator said, “It is impossible for the survival committee to approve more forward plans with the super corporations as the main body in the short term, nor does it support us to go deeper into the raging Tiger River basin, nor is it possible for us to issue a new issue of war bonds publicly. This is equivalent to completely cutting off our ‘fuel pipeline’.” “Who is it?”

Shen Yuling's face was gloomy. "Do you know which members are opposed to the 'forward plan?'"

"The members from the Disabled Star Association think that Dragon City should devote more resources to the soldiers and civilians who were maimed in the Monster War to try to heal the wounds caused by the war. They don't think that Dragon City is ready to be involved in a new war a year after the end of the Monster War, which is likely to be bigger and more intense."

The voice on the other end of the communication device said, "The representatives from the martial god Temple believe that even if the orcs are really malicious and must choose war as the final solution, the risk of a war is still too great. "These representatives believe that time is on Dragon City's side. They should conduct a more extensive and detailed reconnaissance of the Tiger Fury River valley to fully understand the situation of the orcs. They also believe that after the Red Dragon Army is fully equipped and upgraded, it will be upgraded from a purely defensive force to an expeditionary army with the ability of strategic projection. Only when the odds of success are ensured will they decide whether to fight or not.

"The members of Parliament from the blue homeland believe that the internal problems of Dragon City are more important than the external expansion. "It is reported that the members of Parliament from the blue homeland will once again put forward the 'National Promotion Bill', hoping to devote a lot of cultivation resources to the ordinary people. First of all, they will ensure that all the children of the right age in Dragon City can get two free concentrated monster milk products, one bone cell growth agent, and three to five hours of free access to the training cabin every week until they reach the age of 18.

"The representatives of the blue homeland believe that the 'National Promotion Bill' will ensure that all the citizens of Dragon City and their descendants, regardless of their status, will have the opportunity to awaken their extraordinary power, dominate their destiny, and create their future.

"The representatives from the disabled star association and the Martial God Temple will most likely support the blue homeland and the 'National Promotion Bill'. In this way, a lot of resources will be diverted to the ordinary people and small and medium-sized enterprises instead of being used for the development of the major enterprises "Are these guys fishing for fame crazy?"

Shen Yuling burst out completely, "If you give us the cultivation resources, we can give Dragon City ten times the living space and ten times the cultivation resources. We can give Dragon City ten times the number of heavenly state experts and even deity state experts. We can also give back to the countless natives of the foreign world who are shivering under our feet!

"What can we get for wasting such precious cultivation resources on those trash, garbage, and their descendants? What can we get for them!

"No, this is not a waste. This is a crime against Dragon City! A crime against civilization! A crime against the future!

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. We Don't understand the Beast Clan, and the Beast clan doesn't understand us. If we wage a war now, we will unleash the strongest power of the torrent of steel with lightning-like attacks. We will end the war in half a year, no, three months, and completely conquer the damn beast clan. By then, every penny we invest in the war will be worth a hundred times more!

“If we miss this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, maybe we will be suppressed in the monster mountain range forever, and we will never be able to breathe again!

“No, we can’t just stand by and watch these short-sighted guys who are fishing for fame destroy the future of Dragon City “That’s true, but right now, the representatives of the remnant star association, the Martial God Temple, and the blue homeland are gaining more and more power in the Survival Committee.”

The voice on the other end of the communication device said, “You know, ever since the end of the Monster War, more and more ordinary citizens have gradually forgotten our credit and strength.

“If nothing unexpected happens, the ‘Progress Plan’ will be rejected, and the ‘National Promotion Bill’ will be passed. This result will also deal a greater blow to our reputation.”

Shen Yuling keenly grasped the key point in the other party’s words. “If nothing unexpected happens.” He repeated it, cut off the communication, and walked toward engineer Xue. “Where were we just now?” Shen Yuling asked as if nothing had happened.

“We were talking about the ‘solution,’” engineer Xue answered fearfully. “Yes, the solution.”

Shen Yulin took out the investigation report that engineer Xue had given him. He raised his finger and poked a hole in it. “Now, we have a hole. How Do We solve it?”

Engineer Xue looked at the hole and the sharp finger that Shen Yulin poked out from the hole. He shook his head in confusion.

Shen Yulin snapped his finger.

A wisp of spiritual flame shot out from his fingertip. In half a second, the investigation report was burned into the finest ashes.

“Look –“

Shen Yulin smiled. “The hole is solved.”

“Crash!”

Behind him, a thunderbolt suddenly exploded in the cloudy sky.

In the dark clouds that were torn apart by the thunderbolt, the storm that had been accumulating for a long time finally poured onto the undulating land.

Chapter 1439 Torrential Rain

“What heavy rain!”

The torrential rain was before him, and accompanied by a deafening roar, it descended fiercely toward the earth from the sky. It was so heavy that calling it a waterfall flowing down from a height of three thousand feet would not fit. It was as if a spatial crack had been opened in the sky that led directly to the bottom of the sea. It attracted several hundred million tons of seawater and instantly turned the foot of Monster Mountain Range into a water country.

Even though Meng Chao had broken through to the Deity Realm a long time ago, part of him possessed the ability to influence the planet's magnetic field and change the microclimate within a hundred-meter radius.

He still felt a slight burning pain when the fist-sized raindrops hit his face like hail.

That meant the rain was mixed with a large amount of trace elements that contained spirit energy. It was just like the acid rain on Earth. It carried extremely strong corrosive, as well as destructive power, and it would cause serious damage to the human body, machinery, and buildings.

Meng Chao clicked his tongue in amazement, and he was extremely shocked.

In his memory, he had never encountered such a rainstorm.

It seemed that the mist that separated Dragon City and Tulan Ze had gradually disappeared.

However, the interference of Dragon City's passage on the planet's magnetic field would continue for a long time.

During this period of time, earthquakes, rainstorms, droughts, insect disasters, volcanic eruptions... all kinds of extreme weather and disasters could happen at any time.

Humans still needed to work together to survive in such a cruel environment. "This area is the remnant of the monster mountain range.

"The terrain is uneven and fragmented. There are hills and valleys everywhere, forming crisscrossing natural ravines. "The unruly Tulan River has changed its course many times in history, washing away the vegetation on the hills.

"The crossing of Dragon City led to a flood, which swept through the entire monster mountain range and uprooted countless towering trees.

"The Bare Hills in front of us can not hold much rain.

"The torrential rain falls directly from the mountains into the valley. It is easy for the torrential flood to gather and cause an even greater disaster!"

Meng Chao frowned slightly.

With a thought, electric currents that were as fast as lightning were triggered deep inside his brain. They were instantly transmitted to the cells on both sides of his spine.

The mitochondria received the command and immediately output energy at a hundred times the power.

Every cell of his was beating crazily at a frequency visible to the naked eye.

A pair of colorful and clearly visible wings made of pure spiritual energy spurted out from both sides of his spine and extended toward the space almost a hundred meters away.

Within the coverage of the spiritual wings, the fist-sized raindrops that were as big as hailstones or even meteorites, which contained a tiny amount of spiritual energy and were emitting astonishing noises, were all vaporized into colorful mist, then, they were sucked into the burning spiritual flames around Meng Chao's body, which made him look like a jet fighter. He was moving at lightning speed toward the horizon where the stars were faintly shining. Soon, dozens of kilometers were swallowed by Meng Chao's spiritual wings.

The flickering stars outlined the outline of the giant machines and buildings in the depths of the curtain of rain.

With the extraordinary vision of a godly state expert, Meng Chao saw mines, factories, signal towers, quarries, ultra-high-voltage power transmission towers, and spiritual gas pipelines that were more than five meters in diameter and meandering like giant dragons, there were also railway tracks that extended in all directions as if they were alive, as well as heavy trains that were filled with ores and crouching like Giant Beasts.

These symbols of Dragon City civilization made Meng Chao feel both kind and touched, and even a bit of "Homesickness".

"Finally, I'm Back!"

Meng Chao suppressed his surging emotions and scanned everything he saw with a more detailed gaze.

He couldn't wait to grasp more information and figure out how much his hometown had changed in the nearly one year since he left Dragon City, and whether the lives of the citizens had become better or worse, several key technologies that had stagnated for many years, whether there had been a breakthrough in progress after the victory of the Monster War, and whether the remnants of the monster civilization had jumped out to stir up trouble.., had they turned Dragon City into an unrecognizable state?

Fortunately, judging from the buildings that were still brightly lit in the torrential rain, Dragon City still maintained a vibrant appearance and an aggressive spirit.

And judging from the size of the few super mining vehicles and the diameter of the wheel-type bucket, Dragon City had also made great progress in the fields of materials science, mechanical power, and rune technology.

Such a super mining vehicle must be stabilized by hundreds of caterpillar tracks and supporting feet. Its self-weight must exceed a thousand tons, and its full weight might even exceed five thousand tons. It is literally a 'Land Cruiser'.

With such a huge scale and weight, the casting materials, the mechanical transmission, and the runes carved on the inside and outside are all highly demanding. It is definitely not as simple as magnifying the scale of an ordinary mining vehicle.

"Even the controller of the vehicle was not an ordinary extraordinary human being. He had to be at least a heavenly state expert!"

"However, after paying a price of too complicated a structure, too high of a manufacturing cost, and too difficult of a manipulation, the amount of excavation was also extremely shocking. Look at the bucket-like shovels, which looked like bloody mouths. They were enough to dig out a mountain in one night!"

"When I was still in Dragon City, such a colossus of the 'Land Cruiser' level was merely an idea on paper.

“I didn’t expect that it would really appear in just over a year. It was roaring like an earthling in the land of the Otherworld!

“It seems that the rich heritage of the monster civilization has indeed stimulated the technological and industrial strength of Dragon City. It is advancing at a tremendous speed.

“My civilization is changing with each passing day. The birds and the guns have changed!” The progress of Dragon City made Meng Chao extremely happy.

However, the slightly messy lights that seemed to stretch as far as the eye could see also aroused his worries.

Meng Chao felt that Dragon City seemed to be rushing to develop the world outside the monster mountain range. One had to know that the southern border of Tulan ze was not a fertile land with abundant resources.

Otherwise, it would not have been treated as a chicken rib by the five major clans. It would have been a waste to discard it.

Even if there was a crystal lode deep underground, it must have been touched by ‘Mother Origin’ a long time ago. It was extremely difficult to develop and utilize it, and the cost was extremely high.

If one were to calculate the economic account, if one were to develop wantonly here, it would be easy to lose everything if one was not careful!

However, judging from the signs he saw on the armored airship, the spiritual magnetic communication tower, and the super mining vehicle, all the nine Super Enterprises of Dragon City had appeared here in a swarm. They were like horses riding on horseback and occupying the mountains as their kings, they were building a new satellite city here. “It’s so strange. Didn’t we just win the War of Monsters? The resources in the hidden fog domain alone should be able to be developed for a long time!”

Meng Chao mumbled to himself, “Is there a need for the nine super corporations to expand beyond the mountain range of monsters in such a hurry?”

“Even if they really want to expand, they should at least carry out the most detailed mapping and exploration to find out how many resources are hidden underground, right?”

“Why do I feel like the nine super corporations have all been reincarnated as hungry ghosts? Are they not afraid of losing money and even causing some big trouble?”

As expected, before Meng Chao finished his sentence, he saw a series of dazzling sparks flashing in the southwest darkness.

Meng Chao pricked up his ears. His eardrums were vibrating at an extremely high speed, collecting the tiniest sounds from the southwest.

Soon, he could distinguish the extremely weak, cracking, cracking sounds of metal fatigue from the torrential rain.

Meng Chao could even sketch the scene in the southwest based on the rhythmic metal fatigue sounds. A large steel structure more than fifty meters tall was breaking and collapsing!

Meng Chao's pupils constricted. Like a blurred shadow, he disappeared into the night.

The raindrops the size of fists were still firing at the ground like the densest bullet curtain.

However, not a single raindrop could touch even half of his hair.

In the span of a breath, Meng Chao appeared at the origin of the Lightning and noise.

He discovered that beneath his feet was a crystal communication tower that was seventy to eighty meters tall.

Although this crystal communication tower also used reinforced concrete to build a solid foundation, under normal circumstances, there was no risk of collapse.

However, in order to obtain endless resources from the world outside the Monster Mountains as soon as possible, the builders of the tower did not consider the effects of extreme weather such as earthquakes, rainstorms, volcanic eruptions, and tornadoes.

The sudden rainstorm not only soaked the foundation of the crystal communication tower in the highly corrosive 'acid rain'.

It also stripped away what remained of the soil on the nearby hills and crushed the rocks beneath it, creating a flood-dragon-like mudslide that battered human buildings and facilities, including Crystal Communication Towers.

Even though the steel structure of the tower itself is impenetrable.

But with the soil around the foundation hollowed out and the rock crushed, it could not withstand the constant impact of the debris flow.

In a series of increasingly sharp, scalp-numbing metal fatigue sounds, the crystal communication tower was like a giant that had been fatally wounded. It gradually tilted south, about to break through the critical point of collapse.

To make matters worse, on the south side of the Crystal Communication Tower, there was also a temporary camp.

From the honeycomb-like windows, this temporary building that seemed to have been piled up with containers, there were at least hundreds of workers living in it.

Most of the miners and construction workers were exhausted from the heavy work during the day and had fallen into a deep sleep.

The rainstorm came too suddenly, and the workers had long been used to sleeping amid the deafening sounds of excavation and destruction. Many workers were still sleeping when they were surrounded by the flood and were about to be collapsed by the Crystal Communication Tower again, they were hit right on the spot.

"Let's Save the People First!"

A brilliance flashed in Meng Chao's eyes.

At this moment, all his plans were thrown to the back of his mind.

Without hesitation, Meng Chao smashed himself into the ground from the high sky and into the water and mud.

Chapter 1440 Teamwork

However, someone was faster than him.

As soon as Meng Chao landed on the ground, he heard a high-pitched horn-like sound coming from all directions.

The torrential rain was like raging waves, but in the raging waves, there were figures emanating spirit flames. Like thousands of arrows, they slashed the waves and pounced toward the crystal communication tower that was about to collapse!

“It’s going to collapse! The communication tower is going to collapse!”

“The communication tower is our lifeline! The flood is so rampant that people are trapped everywhere. Without communication, the armored airships and drones will become headless flies. Those who are trapped will be doomed!”

“Save them! Save them, quickly!”

Continuous roars connected everyone together. Meng Chao noticed that most of these people were wearing the plainest leather boots and protective suits. There were even holes made by sparks or crystal clusters on them. It was obvious that they had been fighting in the most difficult working environment for a long time. Everyone’s hair was messy, their faces were covered in mud, and they were in a sorry state. The wrinkles that had been cut by knives and axes were filled with traces of the erosion of time. Even the constantly burning spiritual flames could not erase these traces that were not very decent.

Many people were more or less disabled.

They were either limping or missing a few fingers. There were even shocking scars on their faces that spread all the way to the bottom of their necks and into their chests.

This was the medal they had obtained from the fierce battle with the monsters.

Perhaps, it was also the reason why they were able to awaken their extraordinary powers.

It could be seen that they were the remnant star transcendents or one-star transcendents who had the most numbers and the lowest strength in the circle of transcendents.

They were the cornerstone of the circle of transcendents and were also the mainstay of the front lines of all trades and professions. They ate, lived, and fought side by side with the ordinary laborers.

Although compared to godly state experts like Meng Chao, these low-level extraordinaires who had yet to break through — or perhaps could never break through to the one-star spirit pattern realm — were not much different from ordinary people.

Twenty to thirty stories high, hundreds or even thousands of tons of steel frames collapsed. If they were smashed down, they would still be smashed into a bloody mess, and their souls would be scattered.

However, the attitude of these low-level extraordinaires, who were doing their best to pounce on them, was no different from Meng Chao's dive just now.

When Meng Chao landed, there was already a low-level extraordinaire whose temples were graying and whose face was full of wrinkles. He looked to be in his forties or fifties. He rushed to the base of the crystal communication tower.

Facing the tower base that was constantly tilting and could collapse at any time, he did not even flutter his eyelashes. He pushed his slightly thin shoulders into it like a jack.

The face of the middle-aged low-level extraordinary immediately turned as red as if it was about to explode.

Clear drops of blood seeped out from the tip of his nose. Even the torrential rain could not wipe them away.

He glared and gritted his teeth, but he still could not hold back the painful groans and crawled out from between his teeth.

The veins protruding from both sides of his temples were broken, dancing crazily like a high-pressure water pipe that had gone out of control.

Meng Chao knew that the crystal communication towers built in unknown areas often used multiple super-high-power signal amplifiers at the same time to resist the complicated spiritual magnetic interference and ensure the stability of the communication lines.

And when the Thunder rumbled and the torrential rain poured down, the crystal communication towers were about to collapse, and the signal amplifiers were destroyed, the spiritual energy inside could very likely go out of control, like an invisible whip of lightning.., the whip was mercilessly lashed at anyone who dared to approach the communication tower.

In other words, the flesh and blood of the middle-aged low-level extraordinary was not only bearing the tremendous force, but also the extremely violent spiritual energy, which was attacking like a flood or a ferocious beast.

Meng Chao's eyes glittered. Just as he was about to go forward to save the people, several low-level extraordinary who were even closer to him had already pounced on him.

One of them was drenched in rain and mud. There were even faint traces of blood seeping out of his vital parts. It was as if he had just fought a fierce battle with the flood and saved countless workers and facilities before rushing here without stopping. The protective clothing that was embedded with the scales of the Nightmare Beast had been torn apart, revealing the camouflage clothing that had been washed until it was white and had long faded.

Meng Chao knew that this was a red dragon army veteran who liked to wear military camouflage suits.

Although it didn't have any fancy decorations or high-tech functions, it was strong and reliable — just like these veterans.

Before the middle-aged low-level extraordinaire who led the charge was about to be crushed by hundreds of tons of steel.

The veteran also put his shoulder in.

His eyes were wide open, his beard was shaking, and the blood vessels on the back of his hand were broken.

However, what spurted out of the blood vessels was not boiling hot blood. Instead, it was red spirit flames that were burning fiercely with the blood as fuel.

With the support of the spirit flames, the veteran's hands were deeply embedded in the steel structure that fixed the tower foundation. It was as if he wanted to weld his bones and steel structure together at a high temperature of thousands of degrees, turning his spine into a brand-new tower foundation!

The middle-aged, low-level extraordinary who was leading the charge was finally able to catch his breath

However, the beard of the veteran turned crystal-clear blood-red under the invasion of spiritual energy.

His spine was still as straight as a pine tree that was standing on the top of a mountain.

However, his right leg had lost its chain at the critical moment.

With a series of cracking noises, almost a hundred components below his right knee exploded at the same time.

It turned out that his right calf had been amputated and replaced with a mechanical prosthesis driven by spiritual energy.

Under normal circumstances, the mechanical prosthesis was enough to handle most of the high-intensity operations.

However, with the drastic changes of the planet's magnetic field and the intense interference of spiritual magnetism, as well as hundreds of tons of steel smashing down on his head, the mechanical prosthesis could not have been more powerful.

The will of the veteran could only be carried out in every strand of his flesh and every bone, but it was impossible for the mechanical prosthesis to be as strong and unyielding as his iron bones.

Fortunately, just before the veteran lost his balance and was about to fall, more low-level extraordinaires appeared on his left, right, and behind him.

They moved forward one after another, placing their shoulders into the constantly tilting tower foundation.

There were also people who supported the veteran and the middle-aged low-level extraordinary who led the charge from behind.

Everyone's flesh and blood were closely connected. Everyone's spiritual flames burned together, burning into a torch that even a torrential rain could not extinguish!

If they were on flat ground, giving each of these low-level extraordinary humans a steel cable that was incomparably tough, and everyone working together, it was really possible to pull an armored train that weighed thousands or even tens of thousands of tons.

The problem was that the structure of the crystal communication tower was very special. The vast majority of its weight was concentrated in the middle and upper parts.

And there were not many people standing around the tower, which was constantly twisting and breaking.

Even if twenty or thirty people could stand, they often could not find the position and angle to exert their strength to the limit.

Moreover, as the water level continued to rise, even the ground under the feet of the low-level extraordinary humans, which was originally solid, gradually became soft and muddy. It was unable to carry them and squeeze out every cell of their body, overdrawing the power triggered by their lives.

These low-level extraordinary humans had yet to control the power of magnetic levitation, so they were unable to walk in the air and support the crystal communication tower from the air.

Even though they had all shouted until their throats were hoarse, their palms were worn out, and even their bones were broken, the crystal communication tower was still slowly but resolutely leaning toward the south inch by inch.

Fortunately, their concerted efforts had ultimately slowed down the speed of the collapse of the crystal communication tower. The workers in the temporary buildings on the south side had enough time to wake up and evacuate.

Seeing that more and more workers were escaping from the temporary buildings, the bloodshot eyes of the low-level extraordinary humans became brighter and brighter.

Even if they risked their lives, they would not be able to stop the collapse of the crystal communication tower.

At the very least, they could use their iron bones to make the crystal communication tower last longer, making the collapse slower and later.

“Hold On!”

“Every second the crystal communication tower stands, the communication line will be stable for one more second!”

“Not only will more workers be able to escape, more trapped people might be found by the drones and the search and rescue teams!”

Such beliefs stimulated every mitochondria deep inside every cell in every low-level extraordinary human being’s body.

It made them overdraw their life force time and time again, igniting spiritual flames. They not only welded their own bones to the steel structure of the crystal communication tower, but also welded each other’s bones together.

Some people’s eye sockets, nostrils, ear canals, and corners of their mouths were oozing meandering blood.

Some people's faces, chest, and arms were all blue and purple. It was the symptom of thousands of broken capillaries and severe subcutaneous bleeding.

There were also many broken limbs and broken bones that had not been healed for long that had been poked out from the scars. They rubbed against the mechanical prosthetic limbs and produced a series of dazzling sparks, the noises were cracking. However, no matter how much pain and pressure they were enduring. No one chose to retreat or give up.

All of them turned their grunts into melodious rhymes at the same time, leading their hearts to beat at the same rhythm and with incomparable strength!

Right then, for some reason, many of them suddenly felt that the pressure on their bodies had lessened.

It was as if the surging floods and mudslides had been blocked by a mysterious and powerful force.

Their concerted efforts had finally worked. They had stopped the thousand-ton crystal communication tower from tilting!

"It's a success! It's a success!" "There's a door!"

"That's it! Come on! Straighten the Communication Tower! Straighten the Communication Tower!"

"Let's fight it! Let's fight it!"

The low-level extraordinary humans were greatly encouraged. The fire of their lives burned brighter and brighter.

Even Meng Chao, who was standing among them and had also welded his own bones to the steel frame, felt that the vibration frequency of everyone's life magnetic field was getting closer and closer. Everyone's souls., all had the strongest resonance under the guidance of the same goal!
