

On The Run 105

Chapter 105

Alpha On The Hunt Chapter 30

"I thought he was her father, but the rest I didn't know; I only met him once when I was really young and caught glimpses of him a few other times, but my mother was always careful, and we were never home when my father dealt with him, or she kept me away from him the few times he came to the house. Yet she never openly admitted he was her father. But I overheard Marco refer to my mother as his niece once and reference Floyd. Mom got all weird, so I never asked. I can't believe they're the same person. But it makes sense why my mother hated Floyd."

"But she never said anything else?" Axton asks, and I shake my head when I feel Noleen open up the mind link, only it cuts out a second later. I try to open it again. "Elena!" she says quickly, only for it to cut out.

link."

"Everything ok?" Axton asks.

"Hang on. One of my Pack members tried to open the

"Tried?"

"Yeah, she cut out. Wait a second. I'll find out what she wants." I stand up, glancing toward the window, when pain suddenly ripples through my chest, dropping me to my knees.

"Elena?" Axton worries when I drop the phone. My chest burns when the pain worsens, stealing my breath before it vanishes completely. Gasping for air, I reach for the window ledge, pulling myself up, but I instantly know what the feeling is. I just lost a pack member, Noleen. I instantly try to reach Michelle. The link is there, but it won't open.

Opening the window, I stick my head out and sniff the air, noticing the scent of his pack in the air.

"Mom?" I call out to drops the box of deserts at her feet. The cupcakes roll across the grass, and her eyes go get inside!" She screams, running over to him. She grabs him, shoving him toward the house, and I see the other women turn to look at her when they all drop what they're doing and start rushing the to catch my breath. I grip the windowsill and lean out. Only when I do, do I see eyes glowing back at me in tance.

and my eyes go to the crib where our boys are sleeping. My heart palpitates here? And how did he find us? Turning my gaze away, I look to the the others try to hide the children, screaming, tossing themselves in front of the kids, and backing up toward my mother tack.

ground, I rush out of

when Sondra comes

her arms. "Lock yourself in the room with my

on?" Axton demands him, and Sondra gasps rushing into her room. "Go, I'll get the boys!" She yells as I race for the stairs, still breathless from

I stagger on the stairs clutching the banister. "Lacy," I curse, feeling my way!" Axton says, but I can't answer him when my head is filled with my to finish with the pack-link, when I hear my mother scream. My feet thud on the stairs as I race down them, hearing all the women screaming and the sounds of fighting. My mother is screaming for Luke, and he is for her when father's arm when he grabs her hair, also trying to drag her to