

On The Run 108

Chapter 108

Alpha On The Hunt Chapter 33

Axton POV

My heart thumps erratically when I hang up the phone, the bond screaming at me to get to her and our sons. The panic in her voice sends fear slivering through my veins, turning it ice cold. A fear I've never known so strong sweeps through me, and I run for my bedroom door. My fear for them has adrenaline shooting through me, and I don't even bother to dress; my sole focus is on getting to them.

As I took the stairs two at a time, I nearly smashed my way through the front door, grabbing my keys from the hook next to it as I went. Stepping outside, the night's breeze is warm, but I can smell the brewing storm that is fast approaching the city.

I race to my car, jumping in and reversing out; as I do, I hit the garbage bin knocking it over and sending rubbish everywhere. "Shit!" I curse, spinning the car around and hitting the accelerator, my car bottoms out on the end of the driveway, and the tires screech as I race to get to them.

I try to ring border patrol to tell them to have the gates open. Osiris's men should have just changed over from mine, yet I get no answer, so I try again. Not getting any answer from them, I toss the phone onto the passenger seat.

As I reach the borders of the city, I notice blue and red lights flashing ahead and slow down, wondering what is going on. When I approach, I find it blocked off by police cars, Alpha Osiris's pack members, and Alpha Thomas's. Alpha Osiris stands in the middle of the road with his arms folded across his chest with a smug smile on his lips like he is expecting me.

as I slam on the brakes to stop from plowing into the side of the vehicles blocking the exit and Alpha Osiris. Cursing, I open my pack on?" Eli mumbles, half asleep but becoming alert at my order. Chatter fills the link as aren't letting me out of the city! Elena is way!" I get swapped patrols as we returned to the city!

get here now!" I snap at them, cutting and climb out of the car, snarling. Thunder rumbles loudly, and lightning cracks and whips across the sky, briefly filling it with light,

Alpha Osiris casually strides over, a court order council restrictions?" Alpha Osiris asks were just making sure you were breach probation? He taunts, "I'm just looking out for you, Alpha." I turn my attention drawn to him when he pulls his phone out, messaging someone. He then quickly pockets it, and I grit pack is under attack, Osiris. I will rip through luna and son were coming back