

On The Run 66

Luna on The Run – I Stole The Alpha's Sons Chapter 67

However, I have known Marco for a few years. He helped with all the paperwork of my father's will and also the transfer for my takeover since I was under investigation for his murder at the time. Most pack takeovers are either handed down or challenged for, but each city lives by its own rules. Unfortunately, the last city where we lived in, challenges were public events, so I came under hot water for killing my father. Marco helped me with that.

He is also the one helping me with the extension of the city. I'm looking to purchase the surrounding land all the way to the mountains, and the red tape was a pain in the ass to acquire Supernatural council land and human towns.

"Axton." Marco nods, pulling out the chair beside me. "Stupid thing, it's broken. Says my fingerprint isn't reading." Derrick snaps in frustration, bringing everyone's attention to him.

"Eli, go look at it for him." Eli huffs, but Derrick slides it over. "For now, read off Thomas's." I tell him.

We go over the recent attacks for the next three hours before stopping for a break and returning.

When we do, we move on to the development of the city. Bringing up the maps, Marco takes down the list of surrounding towns and the map locations.

"You can't purchase that area," he says, tapping the screen.

"What, why not?" I ask him.

"Privately owned." he shrugs.

"By who," I demand. Great, this is just what I need.

"A new pack. The paperwork went in yesterday." Marco tells me, highlighting the next part.

"A new pack?" I ask him, feeling that we now had everyone's attention. "You know they have a week of anonymity," Marco answers, but I knew if a new pack registered, he would know who they are. That was his job in the council.

"When?"

can tell you." Marco tells me. "I need that land," I tell him, can me which pack moved here?" I snarl at him, and even Khan comes forward, knowing how you it is

give me the pack

make us wait a week before we find of his fangs. He was never one to hide them, proudly vampire, and meet him. Nothing stop- ping us from paying a Think you'll like him." Marco laughs.

looks over the screen, and a growl, I drop back in my seat and snatch my own tablet. Logging into the members' portal, I move to override his login when I snort. The system was automatic, yet I was not even while I try not to laugh tablet.

explains why he can't get in. He no longer has authority." Marco says, override it. I don't know what Louise is playing at. But this had her name all unless she are you talking about?" Derrick demands. Blinking, I look up signature is verified for automation with you stuffed up your forms some-

are you

have access because the pack decision no longer belongs me?" Derrick sits

you have handed the pack over to your thing!" Derrick so familiar to me?" Marco wonders. "My mate, the one that sex tape, right," Marco says offhandedly. "Wait." I

"What?" I ask him.