

On The Run 71

Chapter 71

"We're here," Eli says, pulling my attention back to my surroundings. We were at what looked like an enormous ranch. Fences lined either side of the driveway and I glance at Eli.

"Are you sure we are at the right place?" I ask, this was not what I was expecting.

"Navman says this is definitely it," he states. Looking out at my surroundings, I see cattle in the paddocks, huge barns, and a massive garage behind the huge three-story house. Halfway down the driveway, I notice the extra eyes amongst the cattle, and two wolves run along the fence on either side of the car, watching us, tracking us and following us to the property..

As we pull up out the front of the huge stone house. I notice a few women looking around.

It takes me all of two seconds to see we are definitely in the right place because the moment I step out of the car; we are surrounded. Three even carried pitchforks. A few others were shifted and they all growl as I shut my door. Eli hops out, glancing around.

"We mean you no harm. We're looking for your Alpha?" I tell them, putting my hands up. They move around anxiously and I sniff the air. Yet none were dominant females, so I knew none were the Alpha's Luna.

"Where are the men?" Eli mind-links me.

"No fucking clue..."

"Where is your Alpha?" I ask one woman, who is eyeing us warily. She doesn't get a chance to answer when the front door is kicked open. A little old lady walks out in a cotton floral dress and I exhale, thinking she must be the Alpha's mother. Yet a sniff of the air confuses me when I find she is human.

I move toward her, only to stop in my tracks when she swings a pump-action shotgun out from behind her back and aims it directly at me, making me grit my teeth and back up. Silly woman, she would hurt herself more by firing it.

"State your business, boy!" she snaps at me. I blink at her. Is she for real? Does she not know what I am, what these women are? Shaking my head, I move toward the steps when the gun goes off with a loud bang. I clutch my ears and growl. Looking up, she had blown a hole in the verandah roof. She cocks the gun, aiming it at me again.

The second one won't be a warning," she yells at the Alpha,"

Now leave!" I grit my

One of the women rushes off, rushing past her and heading inside the door, swinging shut behind her with

I said, the Alpha isn't here. Now leave. You're not don't even know me," intruder. I know

behind her, and I take a step see

just in as

"Louise?"

say his name was?" the old woman asks,

and the woman

barrel of the gun moves with her and aiming at the car. The next second, another loud bang goes off as she shoots the front of the car, the bullet creating as the radiator is blown steps toward us. She pumps the gun again, this time blowing out the front window this crazy bitch?" Eli chokes out, looking at his

the old

actually cry. I would too. The old girl our property. Elena won't want you shit off the property, I don't want it taking up space and don't need anymore yard ornaments," she says, dismissing us with a wave of her hand when I hear the sound of babies crying while trying to piece together what the heck we just walked in go to the second level of the house where the open window is, the noise coming from the room the sound had been playing on repeat since Elena sent us the video yesterday of Bane, his see Louise also looking away from the window. Her eyes meet mine and widen. "Is that?" my lips part, and she glances between the room and me. Her lips part and I know I'm right. Louise rushes toward me, her hands grabbing my arms, but I push her back. Growls erupts from me with his own growl, warning them that it won't be pretty if they try to stop me. Louise yelling behind me as I burst into the house and I can hear down the bottom with stone walls, and a massive stone fireplace as along the ceiling when I hear the sound of my son again, making me look toward the steps leading up.

“Axton, wait. Please, don’t do this.” Louise yells chasing in