

On The Run 75

Chapter 75

I slide the phone over to my mother and she grabs, glancing down I watch her eyes move across the message and she chuckles.

With a sigh she lifts her gaze to mine. "This will make things worse, anger him. He will retaliate." she tells me and I shrug, uncaring. He made his bed now he gets to roll around in it, hopefully the damn sheets strangle some sense into him.

"And by then, I will have him by the balls along with every Alpha in that city." I tell her and she raises, and eyebrow at

"And do you plan on doing that?" she questions.

"Have you forgotten who was the city account mother? I know all their shady trades and it won't be hard to find Axton's. I just need space to dig it up and I can't do that with him. breathing down my neck."

"But you haven't got the pack back yet from your father. If Axton retaliates we are no match for him." She reminds me.

"I will have the pack. I'll make sure of it. I will head into the City tomorrow and check some things out. Dad either stands down or I take him down with the rest of them. That City belonged to your family, my family. So I am going to remind them who really owns it. And it is not Alpha Derrick or Alpha Axton. But Alpha Bardot." I tell her, grabbing the bottle and walking toward the stairs.

"Oh this is the most excitement I have had since I tortured the bastard that murdered my mother," Sondra chuffs making me stop on the steps. I turn to give her a questioning look.
