Chapter 27 Ugly Woman and Vegetative Man Match Better

So, Ceres quickly got up and came to Johny's room. Johny was lying there quietly.

Ceres took a closer look and found that there was a wound on Johny's chin. The wounds of those two were in the same place. Just because it was dark at that time and the street lamp was far away, she could only see a rough wound on the chin of the masked man. She was not sure if it was the same.

Ceres looked at Johny in front of her and suddenly felt all her hairs stand up. She quickly withdrew from the room.

The masked man was Johny!

This was ridiculous.

After all, every time she met the masked man, he was not with Johny. The masked man was the bodyguard who was responsible for protecting Johny's safety. But she had never seen a masked man in Johny's room.

During the day, when she took care of Johny, she never saw the masked man. That is to say, they never appeared at the same time.

This terrible thought had been lingering in Ceres's mind, so she had been in a half-dream and half-awake state. She even had a dream that when she was with the masked man, he suddenly took off his mask and revealed Johny's face!

Ceres woke up from a dream. What just happened?

She thought that she must figure out the truth about their true identity.

...

In KTV private room.

There were several bottles of wine on the coffee table, and several bottles were on the ground. Henry held a cigarette in one hand and a cup in the other. "Little beauty, come and have another drink with me."

Mary was obviously a little tipsy. She pursed her mouth and pushed the glass of wine away. "Henry, I cannot drink it anymore, I had so much. Can you drink it for me?"

Henry saw Mary was really drunk. "Well, I am giving you so much favor. I will drink this glass of wine for you, and you have to drink the next cup yourself," said Henry. He gulped it down, and Mary clapped her hands.

Then Henry picked up a wine glass again. "Come on now, take this cup and drink it yourself."

Henry and Mary had been together several times. But Mary always refused him after seducing him. He had to get her drunk today and press her down!

Mary had been hanging around with Henry, thinking that he couldn't succeed so quickly. But she was too young. This little trick had been seen through by Henry several times. He was cunning.

She had to sip a few mouthfuls. As a result, Henry poured the wine directly into her mouth. "Hey, you are a psycho!"

"I am not that bad. Don't you like it, huh? My little beauty?"

Mary collapsed in Henry's arms. "Am I beautiful?"

"I would die for your beauty!" Henry said and pecked in Mary's face.

Mary laughed and hugged Henry's neck and said, "I am so beautiful that I almost gave your vegetable Johnny a good time!"

"What are you talking about?" Henry suddenly screwed up his eyebrows.

Mary cocked her head, and her face flushed. "I will tell you a secret. In fact, Ceres, who married your Johnny, is not my twin sister at all. That was because my dad couldn't bear seeing me marry a vegetable man, so he made that ugly person marry the vegetative. Ceres is ugly, ugly, and such a waste."

Henry was stunned for a few seconds and laughed again.

"Yes, an ugly woman and a vegetative man are a better match!"

Chapter 28 It's Not Easy to Kill Him

Mary, with the effect of the wine, suddenly couldn't hold back and said everything.

Henry excitedly kissed her lips and tore her clothes open. Mary patted Henry's chest in a drunk state. Henry had already started his move.

Satiated, Henry sat on the sofa smoking with his upper body exposed, and Mary lay asleep on the sofa. He wiped his hand on the sofa, and the bright red blood was on his fingers, which made his smile bloom instantly.

Originally, he wanted to play with a student girl, but he didn't expect to have such a big harvest.

At the thought that his vegetable Johnny married a fake and ugly woman. While the real Morris' daughter gave him her first night, he felt that every cell in his body was extremely alive.

From childhood to adulthood, his favorite thing was to rob Johnny's things. If Johnny knew that his brother had played with his woman, he would live with anger until he died.

The following day, Mary cried in Henry's arms, since she lost her virginity to him. And Henry vowed that he would be responsible for her. His words comforted her.

Mary also did not think that things would be like that. But since she was already with Henry, the future hostess of the Winsors was not far from her.

Unexpectedly, Mike slapped Mary as soon as she came home that night. Sally quickly stopped Mike. "What are you doing?"

"Did you hang out with Henry? And told him everything about the marriage?!"

Mary looked away and did not dare to speak. She immediately hid behind Sally.

"You!" Mike stamped his feet regretfully and sat on the sofa. "Do you know that Henry has been wooing me recently? I disagreed. Great, he knows the secret of the marriage. Now I have to agree. If I disagree, it will be over!"

Mary didn't realize the stakes at all. "Then you should agree. What's wrong with cooperating with him? He is the future heir of the Winsor family and your future... son-in-law, that is nice."

Mary said the word "son-in-law" in a very light voice word.

"You..." Mike bit his teeth and did not expect his daughter to ruin his own plan. "What do you know? After all, Johnny is not dead, the heir has not been announced yet, and everything is uncertain. I thought that we should wait and see. And you help me make the decision."

“What is the difference between Johnny and the dead? He is barely alive. Besides, it is not easy to let him die. Just let the ugly monster do something casually.”
Mary blurted out.

Mike’s eyes flashed a glimmer of light.

Evian Town.

Ceres observed Johnny while massaging him. Her eyes swept around him all the time. Although he was lying flat all the time, she was certain that his height should be about the same as that of the masked man.

The more she looked at it, the more she felt that Johnny and the masked man were the same people.

This thought lingered in her mind and made her, even more, wanted to find the truth. She went to the table and prepared a glass of water with this thought, and the hot air slowly came out.

She came to Johnny with water and pretended to casually spill water on the back of Johnny’s hand.

Chapter 29 This Is a Secret

Johnny’s hand was soon red and swollen, and she looked at Johnny subconsciously, but he didn’t respond.

At that moment, Ceres suddenly felt a little guilty. Even if he was pretending, it was a bit too much to burn him with hot water!

She immediately brought cold water and began to wash the wound. There was a small piece on the back of his hand with a few bubbles.

After rinsing with cold water, she applied scalded ointment again.

She looked at Johnny’s calm face, and he did not seem to respond.

Was she really overthinking? How could a normal person be so calm when he was suddenly scalded by hot water? Even if he did not scream out, he would grin, right?

Ceres was absent-minded all day because she had been thinking about the matter.

Even when baking cookies in the afternoon, the cookies were made too hot. Looking at the burnt cookies, Ceres carefully put them into the box.

At night, she waited for the masked man on the balcony.

The masked man arrived as promised, and Ceres handed the biscuit to the masked man. "Sorry, today's biscuit was a little burnt, so it will be hard. You just have a try."

The masked man took the cookie and looked at it. "You rarely make such a mistake. Is there something on your mind?"

Ceres subconsciously looked at the hand of the masked man, and he actually wore gloves.

She was a little numb. Why did he wear gloves? Was it to hide something?

"Are you listening to me?" The masked man asked.

"Huh? I'm listening." Ceres scratched his head and then smashed the masked man's chest. "I didn't expect us to get along for a long time. You know me very well. I am a little upset these past few days. I am a little upset when I think that I cannot go to Britain."

"What's yours is yours after all, and you cannot ask for anything if it is not for you."

Ceres skimmed her lips. "Yes, so I have been studying fate recently. I have been studying the palms lines for two days. Do you want me to take a lot at yours?"

Ceres immediately grabbed the masked man's hand, but he quickly pulled out his hand like being burnt. "I do not believe in this."

"Why are you wearing gloves? It's not cold yet." Ceres stared at his hand with gloves.

"My hand was injured."

Injured?

Ceres began to be more suspicious. She just burned Johnny's hand today, and the masked man's hand was injured and he put on gloves. Was that too coincidental?

"How did you get hurt? Let me see, is it serious?"

"It is not serious." The masked man still dodged.

Ceres pretended to be angry. "Oh, why are you so stingy? Let me see what I can do. Besides, for our relationship, it is not a big deal to see your hands."

The masked man seemed to be afraid that Ceres would look at his hand. "I have to go and patrol." Then he turned and was ready to leave.

"Stop!" Ceres was completely anxious. "What are you hiding? I am telling you, you must show me your hand today, or we will break up!"

Ceres requested, she must act like that, she must see his hand that day, and she must get an answer that day! This matter had been bothering her for many days.

"I will count one to ten. If you do not show it to me, I will really break up with you!"

The masked man turned around. "It is a secret."
