Chapter 36 How Are You Going to Reward Me?

Mike hung up the phone without waiting for Ceres to speak.

Ceres was completely confused! She had been very sure that the masked man stole his medicine and put it into the nutrient solution for Johny!

It was really over.

...

Office of the President.

Henry sat on the chair and turned around several times. His hand stroked the chair, which symbolized status and power.

Although Henry had been acting as president for three years when Johny was in a vegetative state, he was an agent, and there was still a step away from becoming the real president.

The next day was the moment when the Winsor Group would announce the position of president, and he would really sit in the position soon. Never before had he felt that the chair really belonged to him.

Johny entered the intensive care unit, the doctor said his life was now completely maintained by machines. That was to say, he had only two days.

"Three years, I finally have waited for you to die!" Henry laughed in the office. He could finally truly become the master of the Winsors.

"Knock, knock-" the sound of knocking at the door. "Come in!" Henry shouted, cocked his legs, and looked condescending.

The secretary walked into the office with Mary. "Mr. Henry, Miss Mary is looking for you."

Henry had always disliked Mary going into his office. After all, before he became the real president, he still needed to pretend, but now it was different. He winked at the secretary and hooked his fingers towards Mary.

Mary sat directly on his thigh and put her hands around his neck as soon as he passed. "My dad said that Johny will die soon. I cannot wait to come here after I found out about this."

"My dear cutie is quite well informed!" Henry's hand stroked Mary's leg restlessly.

Mary pouted. "He should die, right?"

"His body is as feeble as a piece of paper. He only needs to push it gently, and it will be scattered. He entered the intensive care unit. Take it easy."

Mary immediately beamed when she heard this. "That's all thanks to me. How will you reward me?"

Henry looked at her charming little face and pinched it hard on her chin. "What credit do you want?"

"I want you to marry me!"

Henry curled his lips and smiled. "Baby, are you too impatient?"

"I gave you my first time, don't you want to marry me? If you do not marry me, then you do not have a conscience!" Mary poked Henry's chest.

"Then we need to do it for the second time, the third time, and the fourth time. What do you think?" Said Henry directly. Mary picked up and walked towards the back lounge.

Soon there was the sound of a man and a woman breathing and having sex in the room.

The next day, the sun was shining brightly.

That day was an important day. Because starting that day, a new Chapter would be open for them, because that day, the Winsor Group would announce the successor and the new president.

In the conference room, many people had come, and everyone was whispering and talking about succession.

Everyone knew that Johny was admitted to the hospital because of an unexpected situation yesterday. It was estimated that the Winsor Group would announce the news of Johny's death today.

Chapter 37 Proclamation of the Heir

Henry finally appeared in a black suit. When he entered the conference room, he was firm and sad as he slowly walked.

Many people came forward. "Do you know how is Mr. Johnny? You are..."

Henry sighed deeply at first. "My brother's situation is not very good. I should not have come to this meeting today. But we've decided this meeting a long time ago, and I cannot live up to everyone's expectations."

"Yes, do not be too sad. After all, it has been three years since Johnny became a vegetable. It is also a relief for him to go early, isn't it?"

"Johnny put all his heart is all in the Winsor Group. Mr. Henry, please stop mourning and complete the unfinished business so that Mr. Johnny in heaven would be relieved."

Henry looked up with sadness in his eyes. "Yes, I have no talent. I hope you can look at try your best to support me and complete my brother's unfinished business."

"Yes, we will do our best!"

Everyone echoed and expressed their heartfelt wishes.

Everyone there had their very own thoughts. They did not care who was sitting in the position. They only cared if they could get the best. Johnny used to be flattered by these people in the past too.

Henry took his seat, and his heart was already full of joy. From that moment on, he would become the master of the Winsor Group.

Jack entered the conference room accompanied by lawyers and secretaries, and the entire conference room suddenly became silent. Everyone knew Jack had been carefully cultivating Johnny. Even if Johnny became a vegetable, he did not give up on him, so no one dared to show any joy, and they all had a tight face.

Henry saw his father coming, so he got up and nodded at him. Jack gave him a sign to sit down.

Jack also sat in the position of chairman. Jack was 60 years old. Years ago, he worked hard for his career. When he had Johnny, he was already 30 years old. Although Jack was sixty years old, more than half of his hair was white. After Johnny became a vegetable, he aged faster.

"Today's meeting officially begins." The secretary announced the opening of the meeting.

Everyone sat upright. For these people, that day's meeting, they were all just observers. They were nothing more than just confirming certain news.

Jack cleared his throat. "Presumably, everyone is very concerned about who is the next heir of the Winsor Group. Before that, my eldest son Johny was in charge of the entire group. He made splendid efforts and worked hard to lead the Winsor Group a new level. However, my son was unfortunate. A car accident made him a vegetable. Although I worked hard with the doctor's team for a long time, I still couldn't wake him up. But the Winsor Group cannot be without an owner for a day. It is getting harder for me to do things as I get older, so today I want to announce a major decision."

Jack choked when he said this.

Maybe he was really old, or maybe he had experienced too much and could not stand tossing anymore.

"I declare..."

The secretary's cell phone suddenly rang, and everyone frowned subconsciously. For such an important meeting, everyone must turn off their mobile phones, but Jack's secretary had made a big taboo.

But what they did not expect was that Jack grabbed the mobile phone and answered the phone. "What did you say? Did he wake up? Good, good..."

Chapter 38 War Begins

Jack hung up the phone and said into the microphone, "We will have to postpone the meeting today."

Then he left the conference room in a hurry like a child. He left the people in the conference room looking at each other. Because Jack's microphone was still on, everyone heard him clearly over the phone.

"What do you mean? Who is awake? Is he more or less awake?"

"My goodness, he is not awake, is he?"

"If he woke up, it must be a miracle!"

...

Everyone was talking noisily, and the entire conference room was in a mess. Henry was very close to Jack's position. He naturally listened clearly, and his eyes were even shaking.

How was that possible?

Shouldn't Johnny die in two days? Why did he wake up? No, it could not be true, it must be a mistake, and it must be!

Henry clenched his fists and could not sit still any longer. He got up and left the conference room directly. He must find out what was going on.

Outside the intensive care unit of the hospital, the doctor was reporting Johnny's situation to Jack. In the past, the doctor always looked serious, but today he was quite different, and he got a smile on his face that was hard to hide.

"It amazed me with the critically ill patient's recovery and with the patient's stimulation! Mr. Jack, this is simply a medical miracle!"

Jack was shaking all over. His son woke up?

"Doctor, do you mean what you said? My son, he is truly alive."

"Mr. Jack, do not get excited. He has woken up. His vital signs are back to normal, although he has been lying in bed for three years. He just woke up and needs close observation, so he is still in the intensive care unit for the time being. We will observe him for another day. If there is nothing wrong tomorrow, it will prove that he is good."

Jack was in tears at that moment, and the secretary hurriedly helped him.
"Chairman, this is a good thing!"

"Yes, this is good!"

Hiding in the dark, Henry had heard the news, and he hit the wall with his fist.

In the past three years, he had been trying to assassinate Johnny. But it was a pity that Jack had protected him so well that Henry could not succeed. Originally, he thought Johnny could not wake up as a vegetable, but it surprised him when he woke up!

His eyes sparkled with resentment.

"Johnny, were you born to be against me? I will surely not let you go, definitely not!"

He looked at Jack's exciting appearance and left with resentment!

When he left the hospital, he looked up at the sky. It was still sunny in the morning, but now it looks cloudy and dark as if heavy rain was about to fall.

Even God was crying for him. He must take everything back from Johnny.

Jazz bar.

"Cheers!" There was a joyful sound of celebration.

The most exciting one was Bill. "Johny, you did not see it. Henry's face was so ugly. That was right, and I have never seen him so angry before!"

Bob chuckled and smiled, but he was much more stable than Bill.

"Johny, after you announced you woke up, the war officially started. You should have a plan, right?"

Bob turned to look at Johny, and his face was gloomy and terrible.

Chapter 39 Isn't This What You Want?

"Can you stop always talking about plans? Let's just celebrate for now. Everyone, please drink." Bill drank up his wine.

Bill put down his glass and filled Johny's glass, "But this time, thanks to the old Mike, he even thought of using that ugly monster to drug my Johny, just let us seize the opportunity and go back to this matter. Let's look into it thoroughly, and remove the Morrises."

Hearing those words, Johny looked up and drank another glass of wine.

Bob winked at Bill assiduously, but Bill looked at Bob with some ignorance. "Am I wrong? By the way, Johny, your role-playing is very successful. That ugly woman wants to poison you, and then run away with another you. If she knows that you are one all along, she might get annoyed."

Johny suddenly dropped his glass, which startled Bill.

"Check it for me thoroughly." Johny left this sentence and angrily left!

"Johny, what's the matter? Shouldn't you be happy?" Bill looked at Bob with incredulous eyes.

Bob shook his head, and he did not know what was wrong with Johny. Johny's reactions shocked him.

Johny pretended to be a vegetable and had been dormant for three years. It was reasonable to say that it was time to announce his awakening, and he suddenly decided to wake up the other day without planning his next step.

"Maybe it has something to do with that woman." Bob guessed.

"Oh, you mean that ugly woman? Johny must have been carried away by hatred with that ugly woman. I must introduce more women to him to change his taste later."

Johny drove to Evian Town.

He had never been so angry that Ceres truly dared to drug him.

When she told him everything that night, he said it on purpose, just to see if she would kill him for her future, and she certainly tried. So, did she want to kill him and run away with the bodyguard now? He stepped the bottom of the gas pedal and the car engine roared.

Ceres had been waiting in her room, waiting until it was dark again, but there was still no news about Johny. She wanted to hear the news, but she was afraid at the same time. She was afraid to learn that Johny had passed away. She did not even dare to go out of her room. She felt guilty that if she had kept the secret, and did not tell the masked man about it. If she did not say that because she was drunk for a while, maybe nothing would have happened.

It was raining outside, there was thunder and lightning, adding a little more to her inner fear, she was curled up in a corner, and shivering with the cock in her arms. Suddenly, she looked up and found a figure appearing at her door, and she let out a cry.

A flash of lightning lit up the room, and she saw clearly that the man in front of her was the masked man. Ceres immediately stood up.

"So, you came back. I have got something to do..." Ceres's words have not finished yet, and the masked man rushed forward in three steps, taking Ceres's waist with one hand, raising her chin with the other hand, and kissing her directly.

Ceres froze!

She did not expect the masked man to kiss her as soon as he came back.

She came to her senses and pushed the masked man away. "What are you doing?!"

"Isn't this what you want? To have someone take you out of here!"

Chapter 40 I Beg You, Don' t Do This

Ceres instantly understood what the masked man was saying as soon as she heard his words. The masked man stole her medicine and killed Johnny, and he wanted to take her out of there! She did not need to ask anymore.

“How could you do such a thing? You...”

Ceres did not know what to say. After all, she once told the masked man to let him take her away while drinking. There was no way she would make a big mistake with just that one sentence.

When the masked man was in Ceres's stupidity, he once again pushed her against the wall and kissed her crazily.

Ceres struggled to death, but she couldn't beat the powerful hands of the masked man. The masked man clamped Ceres's hands with one hand and held them high above her head, while the other hand directly reached inside her shirt.

At that moment, Ceres realized something, and she struggled more desperately. “Don't! Do not do this! Stop it right now!”

But the masked man did not seem to hear her cry.

The drunk masked men greedily sucked Ceres's soft and sweet lips, but he was not satisfied with the collision of her lips, and his hands directly tore her clothes open.

Ceres, who struggled desperately, had no strength, and she hardly ate those past two days.

The masked man was probably aware of Ceres's weakness. He let go of her hand, and then conveniently pulled and tear her coat.

Ceres felt insulted when she heard the sound of her cloth tearing apart!

“Do not do this! Will you stop?” Ceres's voice was almost imploring.

But as if he could not hear anything, the masked man tore open her coat and then her trousers. The cold forced Ceres to endure such humiliation. Suddenly, she looked up and saw a fruit knife on the table. While the masked man was kissing her body, she stretched out her hand hard and took the fruit knife.

"Go away!" Ceres stabbed the masked man's arm with the knife.

The masked man suffered from pain and retreated a bit. He covered his arm and saw Ceres gasping and holding a bloody fruit knife in her hand.

"Do not come near me!"

The masked man suddenly sneered. "Isn't this what you want?"

When Ceres heard him, she felt like a knife was stabbed into her heart. Yes, she said that to him when she was drunk, and everything was her fault! She should not be doing this to the masked man. The masked man just got the wrong idea.

The masked man saw Ceres hesitate and immediately came forward. "Is this how you repay me?"

Ceres immediately raised the fruit knife. "Do not come any closer! If you do, I will die with you!"

The masked man's eyes just flashed with a flash of panic, and then his lip corner hooked. "You finally got everything you want, and now you want to die!"

And he stepped forward again.

Ceres slipped the fruit knife toward her arm, and now blood flowed down her arm!

When he saw the blood flowing out, the masked man finally woke up. "Do not move!"

"Get out! Get out!" Ceres picked up the fruit knife and prepared to row it down on him.

"Do not move. I will go. I will go at once." The masked man appealed Ceres and retreated slowly.

Ceres had been holding a fruit knife and looking at the masked man with resentment.

The masked man finally retreated to the door, "Ceres..."

"Fuck off!" Ceres roared.

The masked man knew that if he stayed, she would only do something more dangerous, so he turned his head and left.

Ceres threw away the fruit knife and sat down on the ground, holding her body, and crying bitterly.
