

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 129

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved
Anthony's POV:

Arthur pointed at Jerome and asked about his identity. Everyone's eyes were on Jerome now.

I responded quickly, "This is my attendant and friend, Jerome."

I figured that introducing him was the right thing to do.

Sure enough, at the mention of that name, Arthur's face went pale.

He was so frightened that he almost fell off his chair. That was interesting!

"What's wrong?" I asked, feigning a concerned frown.

"Did my friend do something wrong?" I knew he had a guilty conscience, but it was so satisfying to tease him like this.

After all, this was nothing compared to all the evil crimes he had committed in the past.

"I-I also had a friend who was named Jerome," he stammered nervously.

"Unfortunately, he has passed away. I was sad for a long time."

"Really? What a coincidence!" I said with a slight smile.

To Jerome, I said, "In honor of his old friend, why don't you make a toast to Alpha Arthur? He has ruled over Rainbow Pack for more than ten years and has the support of the werewolves here. He is a respectable Alpha."

As I praised Arthur, I observed his face. As expected, his expression was a bit gloomy.

"Mr. Jones, I'm flattered."

Arthur smiled awkwardly.

'It's good that you know it's just flattery. You don't deserve my praise or a toast from Jerome!' I thought. Jerome held up his glass and clinked it against Arthur's.

"I'm honored to meet you," Jerome said gruffly.

As he spoke, Arthur almost dropped his glass.

Did he recognize Jerome's voice? I could see the panic in Arthur's eyes.

He exhibited the look of a guilty man.

Arthur was a cunning, old fox.

It was not easy for him to be struck by guilt.

"Alright, Jerome, you can go back to your seat."

I watched Arthur out of the corner of my eye as Jerome settle back in his seat.

The panic written all over his face remained.

"Today is a good day,"

I said loudly to gather the attention of the crowd.

"I happen to have brought Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! tenth anniversary as Alpha of the Rainbow Pack."

Arthur's panic subsided and he put on a flattered expression.

"Why, thank you, Mr.Jones."

"You're welcome."

Then, I Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! attendant, to bring the gift forward.

The gift was in an exquisite, luxurious-looking black box.

Arthur stared at the box before him, his eyes burning with desire. There wasn't a trace of panic on his face.

He sincerely thought it was a gift for him. How ridiculous!

"Open it!" I urged him.

Arthur lifted the lid off the box.

When he saw what was inside, all the color drained from his face and he collapsed to the floor.

"Mr. Jones? What is the meaning of this? I can't accept a gift as Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! retreat, as though he was scared the antique would attack him.

"Is that so? But from the way you're behaving, I think you are guilty of something, Arthur." I sneered.

"Don't you remember this antique?" Arthur shook his head desperately.

"I don't know what you're talking about, Mr. Jones."

He tried his best to hide his panic, but the way he was acting couldn't deceive anyone.

Everyone saw past his weak facade.

I took the antique out of the gift box and held it up for everyone to see.

"Does anyone here know about this antique?"

Simon stepped forward as planned.

"The late Alpha Lewis gave that treasure to Alpha Arthur. But how did it end up with you, Mr. Jones? How strange!" I pointed at Tony, who was still in disguise.

"Why don't we ask this gentleman?"

Everyone looked towards Tony.

Even from my vantage point, I could see that Tony's eyes were full of hatred for Arthur.

Tony's POV:

The moment Anthony pointed at me, everyone's eyes shifted to me, including Arthur's.

Arthur was a hypocrite and a liar.

He had hurt me for years.

Finally, I had the chance to make him pay for everything he had done.

I couldn't help but revel in this feeling. The moment Anthony pointed at me, everyone's eyes shifted to me, including Arthur's.

Arthur was a hypocrite and a liar.

He had hurt me for years.

Finally, I had the chance to make him pay for everything he had done.

I couldn't help but revel in this feeling.

I stood in the middle of the banquet hall, took off my cap, and raised my head, revealing my face to the crowd.

"Oh my God! It's Elder Tony! I thought he was dead! Why is he here?"

Simon and another elder, whose name was Robert, started making a commotion the moment I took off my cap.

I chuckled internally.

The two of them were really good at acting.

This was all part of our plan.

My sudden appearance would definitely cause a great uproar, and then I would help clear Jennifer's name and erase her reputation as a jinx.

I felt so sorry for her.

But at least now I finally had a chance to atone for my sins.

Now that my identity was revealed, the other elders soon recognized me and were also shocked.

Seeing that the plan was working, Simon added fuel to the fire.

"Elder Tony was the most mysterious elder of the Rainbow Pack. He was once the only elder in our pack who could predict the future. I could never mistake him for anyone else. But I thought he was dead! What on earth could bring him here?"

I shot a murderous glare at Arthur, who cowered behind his chair.

He should be scared.

He needed to pay for everything he had done.

I took a step forward and cleared my throat.

"I'm not dead. I've been in hiding. Arthur has been trying to hunt me down for years, and he has killed all of my family. The reason why I am here today is to expose his crimes. He is nothing but a hypocritical beast."

I pointed at the antique in Anthony's hand.

"Arthur kidnapped my family and then bribed me with that treasure. He asked me to make a false prophecy that Jennifer was a jinx. When I finally caved, he fought the late Alpha Lewis under the guise of eliminating the jinx and killed him."

I was so angry that I pointed a finger at Arthur, trembling with rage.

"He is a traitor and a thief! He is a good-for-nothing bastard. He is a beast with a human face. He's simply hopeless. He doesn't deserve to be the Alpha of the Rainbow Pack!"

And with that, chaos broke loose.

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 130

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved
Arthur POV:

Hearing Tony's accusation, I was flustered.

Today's banquet was just an ordinary one.

I didn't expect so many things to go wrong.

And the most unbelievable part was, how could Tony, who had disappeared without a trace, come back to the Rainbow Pack? He even had the antique that I had used to bribe him all those years ago.

An ominous feeling pooled in the pit of my stomach, telling me that I could be on the brink of facing a huge crisis.

What if they were well-prepared? Well, in this situation, I could only force myself to calm down and vehemently deny everything.

"Elder Tony, what are you talking about? I was never familiar with you. How could I bribe you? Moreover, I never had enmity with you either. Why would I send my men to kill you? It's ridiculous!"

I sneered in a desperate attempt to claim ignorance.

"Why are you lying? What's your purpose of spouting nonsense here?"

"Arthur, you are the most shameless werewolf I have ever seen!"

Breaking out into curses, Tony rolled up his sleeves and showed everyone the dense splatter of scars on his arms.

"If you didn't send anyone to hunt me down, why is my body covered with scars? These past several years, I've been running for my life. I had a narrow brush with death on several occasions. These scars that adorn my body are the evidence of your crime!"

"Who knows where those scars come from? What can they prove? Tony, what kind of deep hatred do you have against me? How can you slander me like this?" I barked.

I would insist that he was cooking up a story till the very end.

"If these scars can't prove anything, then what about this antique? This was a gift to you from the late Alpha Lewis. Many werewolves were there to witness it. How did such a priceless treasure fall into my hands? It was common knowledge in our pack that I liked collecting antiques. You bribed me with this antique and forced me to accuse Jennifer of being a jinx. That was the only way you could have an excuse to kill Lewis and seize the position of the Alpha!"

Tony snarled indignantly, raising the antique in his hand.

To my dismay, the other elders echoed in agreement with him one after the other.

"Tony is right. We all saw Alpha Lewis give this antique to Arthur."

"Tony isn't lying. Arthur, how could you do such a thing? Jennifer was just a little girl. How could you bear to slander an innocent child? And poor Lewis. He should not have died such an unjust death."

"Arthur, the evidence is clear for everyone to see. What else do you have to say for yourself? Unless you can prove that Tony's words are false, we won't believe you!"

Damn it! Simon was the first to speak up, successfully instigating the rest of the elders.

They questioned me heatedly, not even bothering to refer to me as the Alpha anymore. Their attitude was disrespectful and downright aggressive, as if they wanted to force me to a dead end.

"Arthur, please give us a reasonable explanation."

"If you can't prove your innocence, we Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! Tony said is true, what qualifications do you even have to be our Alpha? Please abdicate yourself."

Their discussion escalated, drowning me bit Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! past flashed through my mind.

All those years ago, I killed Lewis with my bare hands.

My body was covered in his blood as he glared at me, his eyes full of anger and resentment even as he took his last breath.

“No, Tony’s lying! You’re all talking nonsense.I didn’t kill Lewis! No!”

I found myself shouting as I covered my head, trying to suppress the splitting headache.

It was as if I was being driven crazy.

A strong sense of panic gripped my chest, suffocating me.

Ever since Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! of him coming back to get his revenge.Had retribution finally arrived?

Jennifer’s POV:

It was finally time to take Arthur down.

Our plan went smoothly, but Arthur was a shameless werewolf.

Even after being backed into a corner, he was still struggling desperately.

Since he wanted to do things the hard way, I had another way to deal with him.

“Arthur, you claim that you didn’t bribe Elder Tony and that you didn’t kill my father.Well, let’s say that’s true.But then I have a question to ask you.If Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! the Rainbow Pack, will you give up the position of the Alpha to him? After all, you were just forced to take over the position of the Alpha in order to maintain the stability of the pack, right? If you were really loyal to Alpha Lewis like you claimed, then you would pledge loyalty to his son.”

Holding Jerome’s hand, I looked straight into Arthur’s eyes and challenged him.that’s true.

But then I have a question to ask you.

If the son of Alpha Lewis comes back to the Rainbow Pack, will you give up the position of the Alpha to him? After all, you were just forced to take over the position of the Alpha in order to maintain the stability of the pack, right? If you were really loyal to Alpha Lewis like you claimed, then you would pledge loyalty to his son.

Holding Jerome's hand, I looked straight into Arthur's eyes and challenged him.

"Jennifer, if the late Lewis' son was here, I would certainly hand over my position to him. I would always be loyal to Lewis. Unfortunately, his son died a long time ago. I feel sorry for him, but there's nothing I can do about it. It's the truth,"

Arthur said hypocritically.

I sneered inwardly.

This was the moment I had been waiting for.

It was time to expose Arthur's true colors.

I pushed Jerome in front of everyone and took off his sunglasses, revealing his face.

"Well, Arthur, it's your lucky day. You don't have to be sorry. Jerome Smith, Alpha Lewis' son, is here. When are you going to abdicate? Just now, you swore that you would return the position of the Alpha to Jerome, right? You won't go back on your word, will you?"

I asked casually, raising my eyebrows.

I secretly felt pleased with everyone's reaction.

As soon as Jerome's sunglasses were taken off, there was an audible gasp from the other werewolves in the hall.

Arthur was so shocked that he shook his head fervently, unwilling to face the reality that stared him in his eyes.

"No way! Jennifer, what kind of sick joke is this? Jerome died a long time ago. How can he come back?"

Arthur screamed hysterically.

"Hello, everyone. I'm Jerome Smith, the heir of the late Alpha Lewis. It's been more than ten years since we've all seen each other. I apologize for my long absence. Thank you for your efforts to keep the Rainbow Pack safe over all these years."

At this time, Jerome confidently walked into the crowd and introduced himself to all the elders with a smile.

"Oh, my! He is indeed Lewis' son. Even though he's all grown up, his eyes look just like his father's. This is Jerome Smith, all right."

One of the elders recognized Jerome at once, and wiped the tears from the corner of his eye.

"I never expected that both of Lewis' children would still be alive. This is such good news. Lewis, how are you doing in heaven? We all miss you very much."

The other elders nodded, seeming to share his sentiment.

I could see that they all revered my father very much.

As a tyrant, Arthur had already lost everyone's support in spirit.

Now, he would be truly overthrown.

The revenge that I had been dreaming of for ten years was finally about to come true.

"Jerome, do you remember me?"

A white-bearded elder walked up to Jerome with hopeful eyes.

"Of course I remember you, Elder Barton. You were my father's right-hand assistant. I was lucky enough to be carried by you in your arms when I was a child. It's been so many years since I saw you, but you still look so strong." Jerome hugged Barton.

"Jerome is the heir to our original Alpha. Arthur is just a Beta who stepped in for him back then. Now that Jerome's here, he should give up the position!"

Simon took this opportunity to fan the flames of the fire once again.

"We will all support Jerome to reclaim his position as the Alpha of our Rainbow Pack. I believe that he'll govern the pack well."

"I support Jerome too. He has Lewis' blood running through his veins. There is no question that he'll be a fantastic leader!"

"I agree. It's time for Arthur to abdicate. Jerome, we firmly support you. Please ascend to the position of Alpha as soon as possible!"

Almost all the elders present voiced out their vehement support for Jerome.

Surrounded by them, my dear brother smiled triumphantly.

In contrast, Arthur's face was deathly pale, with undisguised embarrassment. At this moment, I was the happiest person in the world.

I had finally avenged the wrongful death of my father. Now that the situation had come to this, I wanted to see what other tricks Arthur had up his sleeve.

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 131

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Jerome's POV:

During the banquet, I revealed my true identity, and all the elders present expressed their support for me.

Although Arthur had ruled the pack for more than ten years, I was thankful that the elders had not forgotten me and Jennifer.

With their support and the evidence provided by Tony, Arthur would not be able to turn the table.

"Thank you, elders. It is my honor to see you again." I bowed to them to express my gratitude.

"When we were children, Jennifer and I had been hunted down, and we got separated. I was later saved by Mr. Jones, but I got amnesia after an accident. All this time, I had been living under a different name. I hadn't come back because I hadn't regained my memories. But then I met Jennifer. She jogged my old memories, and we were able to return to the Rainbow Pack with Mr. Jones' help."

"You have been through a lot, Jerome. Welcome back to the pack."

The elders sighed in obvious relief.

"You and Jennifer have managed to escape death all this time. Alpha Lewis' soul must have been protecting you two."

"That's right. Jerome and Jennifer suffered so much. Damn it! How could someone want to kill two children?" The elders were furious.

"Jerome, why were you and Jennifer being hunted down?" Simon asked deliberately.

"The werewolves who kept chasing us were Arthur's men. He wanted us, the rightful heirs, gone so that he could keep his position of Alpha. If he managed to get rid of us, he would not have any trouble in the future."

I pointed my finger at Arthur without hesitation.

"You are a liar who is pretending to be Jerome. You are distorting the facts. I had always been loyal to Lewis. I would never do such a thing!" Arthur argued.

He sounded quite desperate after hearing my accusation.

"I can prove that Arthur is involved in the recent assassination attempt against Jerome and me," Jennifer declared.

As soon as she said that, a video began to play on the screen in the banquet hall.

It was a video of Jennifer and me in a taxi when it got hit by a truck.

The crash ended in a very bloody scene.

When I saw the video, my hands curled into fists. My poor sister... Why did she have to suffer like this?

"Turn that thing off! Where did you get the video? How can you show such a thing Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! turned deathly pale in fear.

He hurriedly urged his attendant to take control of the situation.

As the culprit, he was surely feeling guilty Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! be seen? I arranged for this video to be played because this is evidence that you tried to murder Jennifer and Jerome. You hired a truck driver to cause an accident that was supposed to have killed them," Anthony sneered.

After that, the video stopped playing and a photo popped up on the screen.

The photo clearly showed Arthur negotiating with a werewolf, who was the truck driver in the video that played just now.

"Do you remember who that is? He's the truck driver who Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! Jerome. The evidence is right here. What else do you have to say for yourself?"

Anthony asked coldly.

Arthur crumpled to the floor and closed his eyes in despair.

Now that things had come to this point, he had no more room to argue.

Jennifer's POV:

"Anthony, as the prince of Osman Kingdom, please exact justice for us—for what happened to the Rainbow Pack." I asked Anthony for help after seeing Arthur fall to the floor.

"That is what I plan to do," Anthony agreed.

He then sat in the highest seat in the banquet hall. I led Jerome and Tony to stand before Anthony.

"Arthur murdered my father, Lewis, and seized the position of Alpha more than ten years ago. The evidence is conclusive,"

I hissed while pointing at Arthur. I hated him so much. I hated him for killing my father and for separating me and my brother for so many years.

It was not until I met Anthony that my world began to brighten.

"Arthur killed my family and has been hunting me down ever since. He is nothing but a murderer," Tony added.

"We once served Alpha Lewis. We can testify that Arthur killed him. We could not tell the truth all this time because Arthur is cruel and merciless. His ability to kill without a second thought made us afraid of him."

Many elders stood up to testify against Arthur. Every accusation made the case against Arthur stronger. Arthur looked as if every word hurt him physically.

"I declare Arthur guilty of murdering Lewis and Tony's family. He is also guilty of attempted murder for his continuous attempts on the lives of Tony, Jennifer, and Jerome. As a prince of Osman Kingdom, I sentence Arthur with the punishment of death. He shall be executed in three days,"

Anthony announced to the public.

"Hooray! Long live Mr. Jones!" Simon shouted.

"The evil Arthur has finally been punished. Our pack can now rise to its former glory. Thank you, Mr. Jones!"

"Arthur deserves something worse than death, and Jerome is the rightful heir of our former Alpha. Thank you, Mr. Jones, for upholding justice."

Many shouted in excitement to celebrate this moment.

"Why should I be sentenced to death? I'm innocent..."

Arthur sobbed as he covered his face with his hands.

He was so shameless to pretend that he was the victim in all this.

He did not deserve any sympathy.

All of a sudden, Ella rushed over to Anthony and knelt before him.

"Mr. Jones, I beg you. Please spare my father! This is all a plot hatched by Jennifer to frame my father! Mr. Jones, you are smart enough to know the truth. Please don't believe Jennifer's nonsense. She is lying."

I had not expected Ella to make a scene during a moment like this. Did she think she could save her father by doing so? Well, I still had a score to settle with her.

When we were both on Marge Island, she had tried to kill me many times.

It was now time for her to pay up.

"Anthony, Ella is the liar here. While we trained on Marge Island, she had set up traps for me and tried to kill me many times so that Arthur could keep his position of Alpha. Ella is as cruel as her father. Anthony, please seek out the truth of this matter and bring her to justice too."

I pointed a finger at Ella and exposed her crimes against me.

"Bitch, what nonsense are you talking about? Not only did you slander my father, now you're trying to frame me? You vicious, shameless bitch!"

Ella screamed and cursed at me.

Her face became distorted in her self-righteous anger.

"Calm down, Ella. You know that I am right," I retorted with a sneer.

"Bitch, I'll tear your mouth from your face!"

Ella was so mad that she shifted her right hand into a wolf's paw and tried to swipe my throat.

"If I'm going to die, I'm taking you with me!"

Ella's attack was extremely fast and she was about to hurt me. My pupils shrank.

Damn it! Did this crazy woman want to fight me that badly?

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved Chapter 132

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved
Anthony's POV:

Everything I had planned for the banquet was going flawlessly until Ella appeared.

When Ella went crazy, my first reaction was to protect Jennifer.

I ran and stood in front of her just as Ella swiped her claw at Jennifer's throat.

"Go to hell, bitch!" Ella roared.

Her sharp wolf claw did not land on Jennifer but on my shoulder.

I stumbled backward with Jennifer in my arms.

My shoulder was burning in pain from Ella's attack.

"Anthony!"

Jennifer screamed in horror and tears filled her eyes.

I saw how much she cared about me. I was not afraid of getting injured. I was more afraid of being unable to protect my beloved.

As long as Jennifer was fine, I felt at ease.

"You deserve this, Ella!"

Acting quickly, I reached out, grabbed Ella's claw, and snapped her wrist.

She howled in pain as her wrist bone gave way with a crack. My attendants ran over to us and held Ella down to the floor.

"Anthony, are you okay? Your shoulder is bleeding. Go and have it treated first, okay?"

Seeing the wound on my shoulder, Jennifer bombarded me with questions out of concern.

"I'm okay. Don't worry."

I patted her head reassuringly before turning to address the public.

"Ella attempted to harm Jennifer and she hurt me in the process. For her crimes against the two of us, I sentence her to life imprisonment."

As soon as I finished speaking, Ella and Arthur I were taken away. Ella struggled and cried like someone who had yet to admit that they had done wrong.

Although my memories had yet to return, Jennifer I wouldn't lie to me.

She told me before that Ella had attempted to kill her many times.

Just remembering it made me want to have Ella executed as well.

No one was allowed to hurt my beloved Jennifer and get away with it.

“Jennifer, you bitch! May you die a horrible death! You will pay for this!”

Ella kept cursing Jennifer as she was dragged away.

“Ella, if you keep insulting my mate, I will make it so that you can never speak again!”

I looked at her with malice.

My threat brought Ella to her senses.

She covered under my glare and immediately shut up.

Arthur, on Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! taken away.

It was as if he had gone insane.

Before he was escorted out of the main entrance, he suddenly shouted.

More than ten Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! and me.

I was not surprised.

Arthur had been the Alpha for more than ten years, after all.

He must have gained these werewolves as followers and trained them for this day.

Fortunately, I was well-prepared to take him down and eliminate him from a position of power.

With one arm around Jennifer, I took a pistol out with the other in preparation to fight.

“Jennifer, watch your back.” I patted Jennifer on the shoulder.

To my surprise, she quickly pulled out a dagger and rushed towards Arthur’s men.

Only Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! not one who needed coddling because she was strong.

“Let’s fight side by side!”

I ran to keep up with Jennifer and aimed my gun at the werewolves attacking us.

I had always been good at shooting and my speed was first-rate.

I was confident that these werewolves would be no match for me.

I fired three bullets in a row and managed to hit two werewolves in the head.

They crumpled to the floor.

The third werewolf only got hit in the arm.

He roared, shifted into his wolf form, and ran towards me.

“Mr.Jones!”

At that moment, Jerome rushed forward in his wolf form and fought the werewolf for me.

I didn't need to worry about Jerome at all because he was strong.

Eventually, my attendants arrived.

The banquet hall fell into chaos.

In the end, Arthur's men became outnumbered, and the floor was covered in blood.

Jennifer and I worked beautifully as a team during the battle.

Jerome fought valiantly as well.

“Mr.Jones, thank you for saving us all.Thank you so much.”

Having narrowly escaped death, the elders quickly approached us.

They wiped off the cold sweat on their foreheads and thanked me again and again.

“Jerome and Jennifer, you are clearly Lewis' children.Your abilities are truly amazing.Jerome can definitely lead the pack to prosperity.”

Jennifer's POV:

After seeing how we finished off his subordinates, Arthur became truly defeated.

He could only glare at us as he was dragged away.

He was imprisoned together with Ella.

Arthur was set to be publicly executed in three days while his vicious daughter was sentenced to life imprisonment.

"Dad, we have finally avenged you. Please rest in peace. We miss you and Mom very much."

I stood in the hall as I stroked the antique left by my father. I put my palms together in prayer as tears filled my eyes.

I had been waiting for this moment for ten years.

After ten years of accumulating all that hate, it all came to an end today.

I had no more regrets.

Jerome walked up to me, patted me on the shoulder, and hugged me.

We tearfully embraced each other.

Thunderous applause suddenly broke out.

The elders prayed for my father and wished that his soul could finally rest in peace.

Later on, attendants entered the banquet hall to clean up the mess.

Daniel took Helen's hand and walked toward us.

They sincerely expressed their well wishes.

"Jennifer, Jerome, your biggest wish has been fulfilled. I wish you both, Alpha Lewis' pride and joy, much happiness. You shall lead the pack to a bright future."

"Congratulations for successfully avenging your father. We shall be loyal to Jerome until we die."

All the elders came to express their loyalty towards my brother.

"Jerome, when are you going to ascend to the position of Alpha? We are responsible for preparing for the succession ceremony. It will definitely be better than Arthur's because you have the support of all our pack members,"

Simon said with a smile.

"What about holding the succession ceremony in four days? If my brother takes over the position of Alpha after Arthur is executed, it shall be a blessing for my father in heaven,"

I suggested after giving the matter some thought.

"I agree with Jennifer." Jerome agreed.

The atmosphere brightened as everyone started talking about the succession ceremony.

"I have something important to announce."

Suddenly, Jerome walked over to Skylar and held her hand.

"I have found my mate, and her name is Skylar. I firmly believe that she has the capabilities to stand by my side as my Luna. During the succession ceremony, I want to marry Skylar and make her my Luna."

Skylar lowered her head shyly after hearing Jerome's announcement. After a moment of stunned silence, the elders began to applaud.

"Jerome, you have found your mate! This is great! We are so happy for you!"

None of the elders had any objection about this; they cheered and blessed the happy couple.

"We hope that our new Alpha and Luna have a harmonious marriage!"

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 133

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Jerome's POV:

My sister and I were finally at ease because Arthur got what he deserved.

I spent the next few days preparing to take on the role of Alpha.

With the help of several elders, I became ready to deal with the pack's affairs.

"You are a capable werewolf, Jerome. You have the abilities to govern the Rainbow Pack. Soon, you will be able to take charge of everything by yourself."

Simon's look of admiration made me feel validated.

He was mainly responsible for helping me become familiar with the pack's affairs as quickly as possible.

He was now my right-hand man, just like he was for my father back then.

"Thank you, Simon. I would not be able to learn everything this fast without your help."

I turned to the other side of the room.

“Thank you for your help these past few days, elders. I was able to familiarize myself with the affairs of the Rainbow Pack in such a short time.”

I bowed respectfully in the elders’ direction.

Their eyes welled up with tears after they heard me thank them.

“You are a good man and will be an even greater leader. Your father would have been proud to see the man you’ve become.”

It was not going to be an easy task to rule a pack.

Now and in the future, the Rainbow Pack could only prosper if I could work together like this with the elders.

The first item on my agenda was to gain their approval.

They all praised me as the heir of the Alpha they used to serve and love.

After all, I was modest, polite, and I knew to give credit where it was due.

I could tell that they all thought highly of me.

It felt great to finally live up to my father’s expectations.

I was confident that I could govern the Rainbow Pack well.

Three days passed quickly.

Today was the day Arthur was set to be executed.

We went to the execution ground to watch.

The area became filled with werewolves who wanted to witness Arthur’s death for themselves.

Arthur was tied to the elevated stage, but he looked far from regretful.

“Today is your last day, tyrant. You shall pay for what you have done.”

“Tyrant!”

The werewolves of Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! Arthur after having been suppressed by his dictatorship for so many years.

Some even threw rotten vegetables and eggs at him.

I raised a Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone!
Arthur.

Before he was about to get shot, Arthur looked at my sister and me in despair.

After all, very few people did not fear their own death, and Arthur was not one of them.

“Jennifer, I was wrong. I’m really sorry. Please forgive me. I’ll gladly let you rule the Rainbow Pack. As long as you spare my life, I promise to never appear before you again.”

Arthur looked like he was going to cry as he desperately begged for our forgiveness.

Did he really think he could escape his Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! him? He must have thought we would be too soft-hearted and let him go.

Where did he get the courage to beg? It was only because of our mercy that he wasn’t being torn to pieces.

“Arthur, did you even stop and think before killing my father? You didn’t even think about letting my father go, but now, you want us to let you go. Do you think that is fair?”

Jennifer angrily roared at him. She could have exploded in her fury.

“Fire,” I ordered the executioner.

Arthur Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! was later carried off the platform.

His eyes were wide open and his expression was frozen in horror.

I looked at the blood that was splattered across the execution stage and prayed for my dead father together with Jennifer.

“Dad, Jennifer and I have finally avenged you. Now that the culprit has finally been punished, you can rest in peace. You can rest assured that we will govern the Rainbow Pack well and live a good life.”

I couldn’t help shedding a few tears as I hugged Jennifer.

We had gotten our revenge, but we were far from happy.

Although the culprit had gotten the punishment that he deserved, my sister and I could never get back what we had lost.

Our parents were never coming back to us.

Punishing the man responsible for their death was satisfying, but it did not beat the pain of losing our parents in the first place.

“Jerome, the execution is over. Let’s go back.”

Skylar stood beside me and held my arm. “All right. Let’s go.”

But just before I was about to leave with her, I suddenly saw a figure in the crowd that left me shocked.

The figure was so familiar.

When I stopped in my tracks, Skylar asked, “What’s wrong?”

“It’s nothing.”

I rubbed my eyes and looked again, but the figure had disappeared.

I was probably seeing things out of exhaustion.

There was no way the person I saw just now was my ex-girlfriend.

How could that be possible? She disappeared a long time ago.

I returned with Skylar, but I was in a daze.

The figure I had seen just now was giving me complicated feelings.

Skylar’s POV:

Later that afternoon, I tried on a dress for tomorrow’s ceremony while Jerome dealt with some documents.

I went over to his office to see him.

“Honey, do I look good enough in this dress to become your Luna?”

I walked over to him with a smile, lifted the hem slightly, and spun in a circle.

“Of course you do. You look good no matter what you wear,”

Jerome replied without any hesitation.

Pleased with his praise, I walked over to him and wrapped my arms around his waist.

I then said teasingly, "Jerome, I'm more beautiful when I don't wear anything. Can we make love now? We haven't done it for some time."

I pressed my body against Jerome's flirtatiously only to find that he was not in the mood.

"What was wrong with him? Was he working too hard? "Jerome, aren't you exhausting yourself recently?"

"I'm fine. Don't worry about me. I've been busy because of everything I've had to deal with these past few days. I'll be fine when things calm down," he told me reassuringly.

"All right. Take a break every now and then because it's important that you stay in excellent health. I'll leave you alone for now, but remember to call me if you need anything."

"I will."

Before I could leave the room, one of Jerome's attendants reported, "There is a she-wolf outside who wants to see Mr. Smith."

I turned to look at Jerome.

He was focused on a document so I asked the attendant, "Did she give her name?"

"I believe she called herself Linda."

"Linda?"

It was a common name, but I didn't know anyone with that name.

Before I could think about it some more, I saw Jerome's face become pale in shock.

The document he was holding dropped to the floor.

Did Jerome know her? Why did he react that way?

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 134

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved
Jerome's POV:

Linda?

It was as if my blood froze when I heard this name.

I had not heard that name in a long time, and yet, that person was making a reappearance in my life.

I thought that the figure I had seen at the square had been a figment of my imagination. Who knew that it really was Linda? She had returned.

I had gotten into a relationship with Linda after losing my memories.

Our relationship was so good that we even agreed on getting married.

However, our relationship didn't last long because Linda claimed that she had come down with an incurable disease.

She then disappeared from my world, leaving only a letter behind.

I couldn't understand why she left. Even if she was ill, she didn't have to leave me. What she did was responsible considering the depth of our relationship. I didn't mind if she was sick. I was ready to stay by her side until death tore us apart.

I couldn't accept Linda's disappearance from my life. For a long time, I searched for her but came up with nothing. I even thought that she had already died. I had not expected her to appear here at this very moment. What was going on? Was it really Linda? Or was it another she-wolf with the same name?

"Are you all right, Jerome? You don't look so good." Skylar went to my side out of concern.

"I'm fine. Don't worry," I replied in hopes of soothing her.

"Let Linda in," I told the attendant as I staggered to my feet. I didn't know why but I was not happy. In fact, I was even scared to see my ex-girlfriend. I looked at Skylar, nervous about what was going to happen next.

A beautiful albeit pale she-wolf entered the room wearing worn-out clothing.

I stepped back unconsciously when I saw her face.

It really was my ex-girlfriend.

She had hardly changed over the years.

But what was more shocking was that she was accompanied by a child who looked to be a few years old.

The child was really cute and resembled Linda.

Perhaps this was her child.

But wasn't she supposed to have been missing? What on earth had happened?
Who was this child?

Linda's POV:

I was filled with expectation as I followed after the attendant.

When I entered the room, I saw Dylan getting up from his seat, his eyes wide with surprise.

I had not expected Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! fact, I thought that we were never going to meet again.

A few years ago, Dylan and I fell in love.

We were happy Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! to get married.

I looked forward to being his bride.

However, the Alpha of another werewolf pack was attracted to me and wanted to keep me as his mistress.

That pack was very rich.

The conditions that the Alpha offered were good enough to make me hesitate.

Dylan was Anthony's attendant, and his job was not something we could brag about.

If I married him, it was unlikely that we were going to live luxuriously.

I loved Dylan but he couldn't give me the life that I wanted.

A relationship Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! rocky.

I flinched at the mere thought of such a future.

The future I wanted for myself could not be found with Dylan even though we loved each other.

I secretly spent time with the rich Alpha until I became pregnant with his child.

In order to make Dylan give up on me, I wrote him a letter that claimed I was terminally ill and about to die.

The truth was that I left him for the rich Alpha and joined a new pack. However, things didn't go as smoothly as I had expected.

After the child was born, I thought that the rich Alpha would marry me and I would live the life I wanted.

However, I could not elevate myself from the position of mistress.

Not long after that, the Alpha grew tired of me.

He ordered me to take my child and leave so we were forced to wander around.

I thought we were doomed.

But then I got a stroke of good luck.

Two days ago, I arrived at the Rainbow Pack.

I chanced upon a photo of Jerome on the newspaper and learned Dylan's real identity.

He was actually the son of the Rainbow Pack's former Alpha, Lewis.

I went to see him to try my luck.

The moment I laid eyes on Jerome, I confirmed that he was Dylan.

How great that he was set to become the new Alpha of the Rainbow Pack.

My son and I were saved.

"Dylan? Is that really you, Dylan?"

I took my child's hand and walked over to him.

I let a few tears roll down my cheeks to make Dylan sympathize with us.

The Dylan I knew was soft-hearted.

Every time I cried, he treated me gently and pampered me.

"Yes..."

Jerome admitted he was Dylan.

I knew that he would be suspicious so I had prepared an excuse to approach him.

I needed him to agree to take me and his child in so that I could become his Luna and live a luxurious life.

“Linda...What’s going on?” Jerome asked.

I brought up the excuse that I had come up with.

“Dylan...no, Jerome, I never thought I would see you again in my lifetime.I didn’t tell you then but I was actually pregnant when I learned about my disease.I left so that I would not be a burden to you and sought out doctors to help me.Finally, a cure for my rare disease was found and the baby was born safely.”

When I mentioned the baby, Jerome’s eyes went from me to the child hiding behind my legs.

His eyes flickered with emotion, but he still looked doubtful.

“Now that my disease has been cured, I have been traveling around and looking for you.As you can see, your son and I managed to stay safe and sound.And then, I saw your photo in the newspaper.I didn’t think I’d find you in this place.We’ve been struggling all this time, but now, we have been reunited.I’m here today because I was hoping you could take us in.”

“What did you just say? Who is this child’s father?”

“This is your son, Andy.He is three years old, and he is a sensible child.You will like him.” I patted the child on the shoulder.

Andy immediately walked up to Jerome and greeted him sweetly, “Hi, Dad.”

Outcast: The Alpha King’s Beloved

Chapter 135

/ Outcast: The Alpha King’s Beloved
Skylar’s POV:

The expression on Jerome’s face was very strange, as if he was in some kind of trance.

An unknown dread filled my stomach.

Sure enough, my intuition was right.

Something was deeply wrong.

When I saw Linda appear with that child, my heart skipped a beat.

I already suspected that she might be Jerome's ex-girlfriend.

It turned out that I was right.

But if that was the case, then who was the child with her? As if to answer my unasked question, the little boy named Andy called Jerome his dad.

I heard it with my own ears.

I stood rooted to the spot, feeling like I was struck by a thunderbolt.

I had never imagined that Jerome's ex-girlfriend, who was supposed to be dead, would reappear in his life.

Moreover, she was stunningly beautiful, and even had a child with him.

"Linda, who's this child? Whose child is he?"

Jerome grabbed Linda's arms and shook them excitedly.

He looked more shocked by the news than I did.

"Jerome, what do you think? He's your child! When I left you, I was already pregnant. Andy is three years old now. You can calculate the time and see. It's true. He's your son,"

Linda explained firmly, looking into Jerome's eyes.

"If you don't believe me, you can take a paternity test. Jerome, we were together for so long. Don't you trust me?"

"Linda, it's not that I don't trust you, but..." Jerome trailed off and sighed helplessly.

"I'm sorry. I already have a mate, and I'm going to marry her soon."

"Jerome, are you saying you don't love me anymore? Are you going to abandon me and our child?" Linda cried.

"I'm sorry. I never thought that such a thing would happen."

After a moment of hesitation, Jerome looked at me and pulled me next to him.

"Linda, this is my current mate, Skylar."

"Hello, Skylar."

Linda restrained her emotions and flashed me a kind and beautiful smile.

"You are so beautiful. It's nice to meet you. Jerome must like you very much, right? I'm sure you're a great girl. But I've loved Jerome for a long time, Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! not take him away from me?"

Hearing the anguish in her voice as she begged me, I fell silent.

From a third person's point Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! very pitiful.

But as someone who was directly involved in the issue, I couldn't accept such a drastic change.

What upset me the most was that Jerome had a lovely child with Linda.

"Jerome, I know that you're going to be the Alpha of the Rainbow Pack soon. I wouldn't dream of being your Luna. I know that I'm not fit for such a position. All I want is for you to take me and my child in. Please don't make me roam the streets with Andy,"

Linda said sincerely Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! and me.

Her face gradually turned pale, and as soon as she finished her words, she passed out.

"Linda! Are you okay?"

Jerome caught her in his arms, carried her to the bed, and called the doctor in to treat her.

His eyes were filled with worry, as if he was afraid to lose the most important thing to him.

The undisguised emotions on his face left me distressed and on the verge of tears.

The woman he had once loved, Linda, came back to him with a Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! heard that Jerome's ex-girlfriend, Linda, had reappeared and was recuperating in his room, I rushed there with Anthony.

When we arrived, we saw Linda lying in the bed with a doctor attending to her.

Jerome and Skylar were standing in front of the bed with worried faces.

But what shocked me the most about the scene was the little boy standing next to the bed, crying and calling for his mother.

"Jerome, Skylar, what happened?" I asked in shock.

"Jennifer, you're here! Jerome's ex-girlfriend, Linda, has come back. That boy is Andy, their child. A few years ago, after finding out that she had a rare disease, she left Jerome after sending him a message because she didn't want to drag him down. It turns out that she was pregnant when she left. She received treatment for her disease while carrying the baby. But she has returned only now. She has been wandering around for the past few years and may not be in good health. The doctor is checking her condition right now. We're both worried about her..."

Skylar choked out through sobs, explaining the whole situation to me.

I could see the fear and frustration in her eyes.

"Skylar, don't worry. Trust Jerome. He won't let you down."

I gave her a warm hug and patted her on the back to comfort her.

"She passed out because of malnourishment. She is too weak and fragile to bear any kind of mental stress. As long as you take good care of her, she will gradually recover," the doctor explained, putting down the stethoscope.

After connecting her arm to an IV drip, he gave us a few more instructions and then left the room.

"Jerome, what are you going to do next?"

I asked my brother, frowning.

"Jennifer, I don't know what to do. I had a clear plan, but now... my mind is in a mess."

Jerome let out an irritable groan and covered his head with his hands.

His voice was full of guilt.

"I feel really sorry for Linda and Andy, but also for Skylar. I'm a bad man."

"It's not your fault. Linda disappeared years ago after telling you that she had an incurable disease. It was logical for you to think that she was dead. Besides, I heard that you looked for her for a long time, but couldn't find her."

I shook my head with a sigh.

"Perhaps this is the arrangement of fate. It's always so dramatic."

As soon as I finished speaking, Linda stirred and let out a cough.

"Hello, Linda. I'm Jerome's younger sister, Jennifer. This is my mate, Anthony."

Holding Anthony's hand, I walked up to Linda and gave her a tight smile.

"I just heard about what happened to you. I truly feel sorry for what you have suffered in the past few years. But I have a few questions to ask you that you must answer truthfully. Firstly, what's the name of the disease you suffered from? How was it cured? And secondly, how can you prove that Andy is my brother's child?"

My tone was sharp, and I didn't bother to mince my words.

I knew that it was impolite to be so direct, especially with someone who was in poor health.

However, my brother was no longer an ordinary werewolf.

He would be the Alpha of the Rainbow Pack soon, so I had to be cautious.

The timing of the appearance of Linda and Andy was just too coincidental.

This matter was related to the heir of the Alpha.

No mistake could be made.

"Hello, Jennifer. I had triple-negative breast cancer, which is the rarest and most dangerous type of breast cancer. I was sure that I would die, which is why I left Jerome back then. It was only later that I found out that I was already carrying his child. The baby in my belly gave me a newfound will to live. I wandered around the kingdom looking for the best doctors. It was a doctor in the Red Sun Pack who finally managed to cure me,"

Linda said, wiping her tears as she relayed her past to me.

"I swear on my life that Andy is Jerome's child. I wouldn't lie or joke about such a serious matter. Jerome is the only one that I have ever loved in my life. Please trust me."

"Linda, it is not a matter of trust. This is something that concerns the whole pack. I will try my best to verify whether it's true or not. Of course, a paternity test will be necessary," I told her with a gentle smile.

"Do you agree to let Andy take a paternity test?"

"Of course. Jerome is going to be the Alpha. It makes sense to have a paternity test,"

Linda agreed without any qualms.

Her expression was calm and her words were smooth, so she didn't seem to be lying.

Her reaction even made me wonder if I was being paranoid for no reason.

However, Linda appearing just before my brother ascended to the position of the Alpha was just too strange to ignore.

I couldn't help but suspect that she had come for his power.

"Linda, we can have the paternity test at the hospital. When will you be free?"

"Tomorrow,"

Linda replied without skipping a beat.

Her calm attitude unnerved me.

Could Andy really be Jerome's child? If that was the case, Jerome would be stuck in a dilemma.

What choice would he make next?

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 136

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Jerome's POV:

Linda's sudden reappearance came as a great shock to me.

With this abrupt turn of events, I couldn't get married to Skylar as scheduled without marring my conscience in the process.

Since the Luna's ceremony couldn't be held until our marriage, I announced that the Alpha's succession ceremony would be postponed as well, leaving the exact date and time to be decided later.

Meanwhile, I arranged a good bedroom in the house for Linda and Andy so that they would have a comfortable place to stay.

After all, Linda had been wandering around with the little boy for a couple of years.

I could imagine that she had suffered a lot.

After making sure that Linda's physical condition was stable, I went back to my room and lay in the bed alone, thinking about everything that had happened recently.

I rubbed my throbbing forehead.

Linda's and Skylar's faces kept flashing through my mind alternately, giving me a headache.

It was true that in the past, I had loved Linda very much and regarded her as the woman whom I would spend the rest of my life with.

They was why, after her disappearance, I searched far and wide for her like a madman.

Life had been painful without her.

As the years passed by, I slowly grew numb to the pain, but I still couldn't forget Linda.

It was only after meeting Skylar, whose sweet smile and enthusiastic attitude towards life had a healing effect on me, that I was finally able to let go of the past.

Now, I knew without a shred of doubt that the love of my life was Skylar.

I wanted to marry her.

The problem was, Linda hadn't just reappeared alive and well, but with a child that she claimed to be mine.

How could I turn a blind eye to them? Thinking of that, I felt so guilty.

If Linda was telling the truth, I couldn't abandon her and the child just like that.

Andy was still so young.

If he was really my son, then I had to personally raise him up.

That was the basic duty of a father.

"Jerome, are you in there?"

There was a knock at the door, followed by Skylar's distressed voice.

"Come in."

I got out of bed and opened the door.

I knew that in this situation, Skylar was the most pitiful person.

As soon as I opened the door, she threw herself into my arms and cried hysterically.

"Jerome, I'm so sad..."

Her eyes were red, and tears streaked her cheeks.

She looked like a poor rabbit.

"Skylar, don't be sad. I know it's hard to accept, especially since it happened so suddenly. I'm sorry." held her in my arms to comfort her.

"Jerome, do you still want me? You and Linda used to love each other so much. Now she's back, and she Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! like a treasure that you lost but found again, right?"

Skylar asked with a bitter smile.

Grievance filled her eyes.

"Honey, what are you talking Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! what happens, I'll always be with you. I'm very happy that Linda is still alive, but you're the one I love now. You are my mate. It's just that I feel sorry for Linda and Andy right now. Thinking of how they must have suffered these past few years makes me feel guilty,"

I explained slowly, wiping Skylar's tears away.

"I understand how you feel, but I can't help being sad. I'm scared that I'll lose you. I really love you, Jerome." Skylar sniffed.

"Skylar, don't cry any more. Remember, I will Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! tender kiss on the cheek.

"Can I sleep here? I can't fall asleep alone. I keep overthinking."

Skylar looked at me hopefully, biting her lower lip.

"Of course, babe."

I agreed without hesitation and led Skylar towards the big bed.

As soon as the two of us lay down next to each other, Skylar shrank into my arms and hugged me tightly.

Being held in my embrace seemed to calm her down, because she soon dozed off this way.

Looking at her sleeping face, I sighed.

Skylar was the love of Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! go.

I had to protect her well and never let her get hurt.

Linda's POV: Today, I went to the hospital with everyone for the paternity test.

Just thinking about it made my heart pound against my chest in fear.

However, I couldn't let anyone find out that Andy was not Jerome's child, so I tried my best to act calm and confident on the surface.

When I arrived at the hospital, I was still racking my brain for ideas about how to deceive everyone.

Well, I could Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! Andy's and Jerome's blood.

I was so nervous that I broke out in a cold sweat.

I bit the inside of my cheek and levelled my breathing in a desperate attempt to look calm.

"The result will come out in three days.

You can go back and wait till then,"

Nick said to us with a smile.

I followed Jerome and the others back to Rainbow House, but I was somewhat absent-minded.

After pondering it over on the way, I decided to go back to the hospital to talk to the doctor, Nick.

I secretly slipped away to the hospital and enquired about Nick from some of the doctors and nurses, who more or less told me that Nick was a lecher.

In any other situation, I would have been disgusted to find out that someone was a lecher, but right now, this was a perfect opportunity for me.

I knew that I had a beautiful face.

A man like Nick would definitely be attracted to me.

Making up my mind, I waited at the gate of the hospital for Nick to get off work.

After a while, I saw him walk out of the entrance.

I approached him with a smile.

"Doctor, are you free? I need a favor from you."

My smile deepened, and I shot a wink at him.

"How about we go to a hotel so we can talk in private?"

To really drive home the point, I leaned in slightly, rubbing my breasts against his arm.

Nick could barely contain his glee.

Although he didn't know what I wanted from him, he pinched my butt and excitedly followed me to a hotel.

"Doctor, I'm sure you remember that we met earlier today. The favor I need from is regarding the paternity test. I want you to change the result and make Jerome believe that Andy is his son."

Now that we were alone in a hotel room, I came to the point.

"Bitch, how dare you ask me to deceive Jerome? Why should I help you? Jerome is going to be the Alpha soon. It's too risky for me to cross him."

Nick's words said one thing, but the leery smile on his face said another.

Taking a deep breath, I slowly stripped off my clothes in front of him, seducing him.

"I'm willing to pay with my body."

Cupping my plump breasts with my hands, I leaned over and rubbed them against his crotch.

"Nick, don't you want to fuck me?"

No wonder the other medical staff in the hospital said that Nick was a lecher.

He seemed to have wild fetishes.

After tying me up, he found a vibrator and teased me with it.

As he rubbed it roughly over my pussy, I couldn't help but scream out in a mixture of pain and pleasure.

"Bitch, I'm going to make you scream louder!"

Nick poked the vibrating stick hard into my narrow pussy, which was already wet.

Looking down, I saw the stick thrust in and out of my body.

Transparent liquid flowed out of my pussy and dropped onto his palm.

“Ah, it feels so good...”

I moaned and wriggled my slender waist, trying my best to satisfy him.

“Fuck me, Nick. Fuck me to death!”

“Damn it! You are such a horny bitch!”

Encouraged by my words, he pulled out the vibrating stick and finally stuffed his thick cock into my pussy, which made me sigh with satisfaction.

Although Jerome was the only man I loved, having sex with a stranger still gave me a strong sense of pleasure.

Maybe I was born to be obscene.

Otherwise, how could I think of making such a dirty deal?

I thought that Nick was done with his fetishes, but to my surprise, he prodded my anus with the vibrating stick while thrusting in and out of my pussy.

No one had ever touched that part of my body before.

The foreign feeling made me scream out.

My toes curled and my body quivered all over, but Nick held me tightly, making it impossible for me to struggle.

The most sensitive parts of my body were being stimulated at the same time, driving me beyond the cliff of pleasure.

I felt both pain and bliss, like I was wandering on the edge of madness and breakdown.

My eyes rolled back in their sockets, and a wisp of saliva dripped down from the corner of my mouth against my will.

Nick had sex with me four or five times that night, exhausting me both physically and mentally.

Sometime in the middle, he began whipping my body with a soft whip, leaving bruises on my skin.

At the end of the night, he even stuffed his cock into my mouth and forced me to swallow his cum.

By then, my whole body was covered with his sticky liquid, making me feel like I was a cheap slut.

At that moment, there was only one thought in my mind.

Jerome, in order to stay by your side, I have paid such a heavy price. I won't stop until I get you!

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 137

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved
Tony's POV:

I felt as though a weight had been lifted off my chest.

Finally, I was able to repay my debt to Jennifer and Jerome by helping them overturn Arthur's rule.

The Rainbow Pack was now in the hands of its rightful Alpha, and Arthur had finally gotten what he deserved.

Now that that was settled, there was one more request I had to make of the two siblings.

"Jerome, Jennifer, may I leave the Rainbow House? I want to go back to the mountain and reunite with my friends there. After all, they saved my life, and I haven't thanked them yet."

"Elder Tony, of course. We respect your decision. You may leave as you please."

Jerome gave me permission without hesitation.

"Do you know what pack your friends are from? Do they still live in that mountain?"

"They were always very mysterious. As far as I know, they used to be soldiers of the Osman Kingdom. I heard that they even fought off the vampires on more than one occasion!"

I sighed and smiled helplessly.

"But I don't know if they still live in the mountain." I guess I'll just have to try my luck.

"When are you coming back? The Rainbow Pack is still in need of your service."
Jerome looked at me.

"Elder Tony, I have an idea. How about you bring your two friends back here? That way, we can hold a banquet to thank them for saving your life!" Jennifer suggested.

I looked at her gratefully as tears welled up in my eyes.

I couldn't believe she didn't hold a grudge against me after all the pain I had caused her in the past.

She was too kind! "You're too good to me,"

I said tearfully.

"I don't know how I'll ever repay you for your kindness. I might be old, but I swear to serve the pack for the rest of my life. I'll go find my friends and return as soon as possible."

"What about your health?" Jennifer asked worriedly.

I couldn't believe she was worried about me.

I was the one who had falsely prophesied that she was a jinx, which had ultimately caused the series of unfortunate events in her life.

Despite this, she had forgiven me and even found it in her heart to worry about me.

"Thank you for your concern, Jennifer. I've Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! the chance to help her before my time here on earth was over.

How could such a gentle and kind girl a jinx?

"Elder Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! succession ceremony can't be delayed too long," Simon said as he walked in.

"Please make a decision as soon as possible."

"Elder Simon, don't worry," Jerome said with a nod.

"I will deal with my personal affairs as soon as possible."

Hearing this, I figured he was talking about Linda. I quietly wished him good luck and the wisdom to deal with that matter.

"Simon, you came just in time," I said, waving to my good friend.

"I'm leaving the Rainbow House to look for those two men that Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! after I said goodbye to Jerome, but I didn't expect to meet you here."

"Tony, let me go with you!" he said enthusiastically, pounding his chest.

"Two is better than one." I was moved.

We hadn't seen each other in years, yet he still cared about me.

What a good friend!

"Elder Simon is right.It's safer if you two travel together."

Jerome backed up Simon's idea, and Jennifer nodded in agreement.

"Thank you, Simon." I agreed without hesitation.

After handing over the pack's affairs, we bade Jerome and Jennifer goodbye.

I hoped everything would go well.I wanted to find my friends as soon as possible and fulfill my wish.

Jennifer's POV:

When Simon and Tony were gone, I turned to Jerome worriedly.

"What're you going to do about Linda and her child, Jerome?"

"My mind's a mess.I've been plagued by this matter recently.If the child is really mine, I can't abandon him.Besides, the reason why Linda left back then was because she didn't want to be a burden on me.She has suffered a lot these past few years.I owe her and Andy." Jerome sighed.

"I feel sorry for Linda and Andy, but my dear brother, you have to think carefully.Skylar is your mate.You love her deeply.If you give up on her just because Linda showed up with a child, I'm afraid you'll regret it."

I put my hand on his shoulder and tried to reason with him.

Fortunately, my brother was a rational werewolf.

As long as he knew how he felt, the decision-making process would be much easier.

"Jennifer, I know what you're saying.It's true that my heart belongs to Skylar, but I just feel so bad for Linda.She has nothing.If I abandon her, who else can she turn to?"

"Jerome, don't be so quick to believe everything Linda says,"

I warned my brother sternly.

"The truth is, I've always felt it strange that she showed up out of the blue. Don't you think so, too? After all, she only appeared when it was announced that you were going to be the Alpha of the Rainbow Pack."

"Jennifer, what are you saying?" Jerome looked at me in astonishment.

"Jerome, let me be frank. I think Linda showed up only now because she's hungry for your wealth and power. Most of the werewolves in Rainbow Pack are very rich. As the pack's future Alpha, you're about to inherit a fortune. Every woman will want to be with you."

Finally, I voiced my thoughts. Jerome was shell-shocked.

"Jennifer, Linda and I used to be in love. We were together for so long. I never took her for a money-oriented woman. While what you're saying makes sense, I doubt Linda is that kind of person. Perhaps the timing is all just a coincidence and she has no other ulterior motive. But now that you've mentioned it, I will be more careful."

Jerome paused, deep in thought.

"By the way, how have you and Mr. Jones been?"

"We're fine now. Don't worry. Although he hasn't regained his memories yet, he has already accepted me as his mate and we've been getting along really well. Once you're established here as the pack's Alpha, I'll return to the royal palace with him."

Talking about Anthony, I couldn't help but smile.

"He is very good to me. I can't wait to spend the rest of my life with him."

"It's great to see that you two are getting along so well."

Jerome breathed a sigh of relief.

"But what about you and Skylar, Jerome? I've noticed she's been depressed lately. Please pay more attention to her. She did nothing wrong and must feel terrible about this sudden change."

I kindly nudged my brother.

"She's been sad lately? I'll go find her right away!"

Jerome ran out guiltily, anxious to comfort his mate.

I prayed that he and Skylar would get their happy ending.

I also wished that Anthony and I could make plans for our future without worrying about them.

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 138

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Jerome's POV:

Thanks to Jennifer's reminder, I knew how depressed Skylar was feeling.

It dawned on me that I hadn't been the best mate recently.

Of course it must be hard for Skylar to accept everything that was happening.

I had been so immersed in my own frustration that I had forgotten to care about her feelings.

I quickly went to Skylar's room.

Through the window, I could see her sitting all alone on the bed, next to a delicate-looking dress.

I recognized the dress at first glance.

It was the dress that Skylar was supposed to wear for the Luna's ceremony.

I knew how much she was looking forward to wearing it.

But at this moment, tears streamed down her cheeks as she touched the dress.

"Skylar, open the door. I want to talk to you,"

I called softly, knocking at the door.

Looking at her wallowing in sorrow like this broke my heart.

A moment later, the door opened.

Skylar stood there, looking at me with a pair of red teary eyes.

Without waiting for even a moment, I stepped forward and swooped her into my arms.

I leaned down and kissed away the teardrops on her face.

I held her tightly, pressing her against me as if I wanted to meld her body with mine.

“Jerome, what’s wrong?”

Skylar asked breathlessly, looking up at me in surprise.

“Nothing. I just wanted to hug you. I’m sorry. Did I hurt you?”

I loosened my grip and touched her head.

“Silly girl, why were you crying just now? Was it because of me? Skylar, I’m really sorry for making you suffer so much.”

“You saw it?”

Skylar sniffed and tried her best to wipe the remaining tears off her face.

She walked to the bed, picked up the beautiful dress, and sighed with a longing look.

“I really like this dress. It’s so pretty. You know, I’ve been looking forward to wearing it for a long time. Ever since we bought it, I’ve been counting down the days to when I would get to wear it. I’ve imagined myself in this dress so many times. Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! I really want to be your wife and Luna. But now, with Linda and Andy here, I feel like I’ve been slapped by reality. Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! she spoke, tears uncontrollably welled up in her eyes again, and she choked through sobs.

I couldn’t stand looking at her in so much pain.

“Skylar, you’re thinking too much. I promise I’ll make your dream come true. I will marry you. I’ll never let you down. Please trust me, okay? I just need some time to sort things out.

I can’t be an irresponsible man.

I have to settle Linda and Andy down first.

But don’t worry, I won’t indulge myself in the past.

The relationship I had with Linda is over. Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! is you.

“Then why do I feel like I’ve lost? Linda didn’t do anything, but I still feel like I’m defeated. When I think of how long you were with her and that you even have a child together, I can barely breathe. You two had a wonderful past and a lovely child. But what about me? What do I have? I'm not even your Luna," Skylar cried, shaking her head.

"Silly girl, you have my love! This love is eternal and will never change. I am yours, and Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! delicate cheeks, and looked into her eyes sincerely.

"Really? Are you sure?"

Tears streamed down Skylar's face, and she hugged me tightly, as if she was afraid I would disappear at any moment.

"Jerome, are you still mine?"

"Of course. We are mates chosen by Moon Goddess."

Holding her waist, I lowered my head and gently kissed her pink lips.

I wanted to comfort her, but as usual, the sweet taste of her lips drove me crazy.

As the kiss deepened and our tongues entwined with each other, Skylar gradually Visit <https://novelebook.com> to read the newest content, everyone! loved each other, there was no power that could separate us.

Linda's POV:

It was late at night when the brutal torture finally came to an end.

My whole body was stained with Nick's cum.

An abnormal glint flickered in his eyes as he let his gaze wander over my bruised skin.

"You slut, are you satisfied?"

Nick reached out and wantonly rubbed my swollen pussy.

"Tsk, tsk, I almost tore your pussy apart. I'm sorry, I couldn't control myself and came inside you. You better take a morning-after pill."

"I will," I said meekly, nodding.

"Nick, you will help me change the result of the paternity test, right?"

"Of course. How can I break my promise?"

Nick pinched my butt again.

"You slut, fucking you felt so good. Come and lick my cock clean. Then you can leave."

With my limbs free, I obediently shifted towards him, wrapped my lips around the tip of his cock and licked off all the liquid.

Nick's eyes squinted, and he hummed happily. When I sucked him dry, I mustered up a smile and shook my buttocks at him like a puppy.

He nodded, stretched his arms, and slowly put on his clothes.

After that, he calmly walked out of the room and left.

Now that I was all alone with the mess in the room, I felt the air grow thick enough to suffocate me.

I couldn't help but sob in despair.

Right now, I felt dirty.

Enduring the wave of nausea threatening to overwhelm me, I rushed to the bathroom and washed off the cum all over my body.

After putting on my clothes, I dragged my exhausted body away from the hotel.

On the way, I bought a morning-after pill and took it.

Then, I hurried back to the Rainbow House.

My body ached with every step I took, and my legs were covered with bruises.

Damn it! That lecher had almost broken me into pieces.

Afraid that someone in the Rainbow House would notice my arrival, I secretly tip-toed back to my bedroom.

As soon as I pushed the door open, Andy jumped up and held my thigh.

"Mom, why did you come back so late? I couldn't fall asleep without you by my side," he whined like a spoiled child.

I bent down, hugged him, and gave him a peck on the cheek.

"Baby, let's go to bed now."

With a guilty conscience, I looked around, hurriedly picked up Andy, and crept into the bedroom.

After I closed the door, Andy pointed at the bruises on my arm and asked innocently, "Mommy, why are you hurt? Did someone bully you? Tell me! I'll help you beat up the bad guy!"

Tears welled up in my eyes.

"No one bullied me. My dear, you're such a good boy."

My voice trembled with emotion as I reached out to hug him again.

"Andy, I'm sorry for being a bad mother. I can't give you a complete family."

"Mommy, don't cry. You're here, aren't you? I don't care even if I don't have a dad. I just want you, Mommy."

Andy looked up at me and tried to comfort me.

"But why did you ask me to call Jerome my dad? How many dads do I have?"

When I heard these words, my eyes widened in fear and I covered his mouth in a hurry.

"Andy, don't talk nonsense. What if someone hears you? Remember, Jerome is your father. We need to start a new life. Don't talk about the past at all. Forget everything, okay?"

"Oh, okay, Mommy."

Confusion was evident in Andy's eyes, but he still nodded obediently.

"I'll listen to you. Jerome is my only dad from now on. But...he doesn't seem to like us very much."

"Andy, he will change as time goes by. You'll see. You'll have a good father."

I carried Andy to the bed, held him in my arms, and sang him a lullaby to coax him to sleep.

"Honey, it's time to go to sleep, okay?"

Soon, Andy dozed off.

After that, I went to the bathroom to take a shower again.

This time, I repeatedly rubbed at the marks on my body, willing them to disappear.

After the shower, I lay in the bed next to Andy and tiredly closed my eyes.

Why did I have such a tragic fate? In order to be with Jerome, I had to endure the torture of a pervert.

I clenched my fists and made up my mind to win Jerome back no matter what.

As long as I could force Skylar to leave, my son and I would be able to live a rich, amazing life. I would succeed.