

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 208

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved
Jennifer's POV:

"Jennifer, you bitch! Where is my pearl necklace?"

Barbara yelled from outside the door.

Startled by her voice, I stuffed the pearl necklace back into the wooden box in a hurry, and then stashed the box under the pillow to hide it.

I had barely straightened up from the bed when the wooden door of the room was kicked open.

Barbara rushed in with a group of werewolves, followed by Luna Debra, whose face was covered with a thick layer of foundation, but unfortunately, it could not hide the wrinkles at the corners of her eyes.

These two women always dressed up extravagantly, as if they wanted to flaunt all the jewelry they owned in a single outfit.

"Luna Debra, Miss Barbara, what can I do for you?" I asked politely, saluting them as usual with a friendly smile on my face.

"Jennifer, where's the pearl necklace I usually wear?" Barbara growled, grabbing my collar and glaring at me.

"You bitch! You always have sticky fingers. You're the one who cleans my room. Where did my favorite pearl necklace go? I can't find it. Did you steal it?"

"Miss Barbara, I didn't take anything from your room. You can't accuse me without evidence," I replied patiently in a tone that was neither humble nor pushy.

"You shameless bitch! How dare you talk to me like that? You want evidence? Let's find it right now!" Barbara spat, shoving me backward.

Then, she turned to the werewolves she had brought along and ordered them to search my room.

My small and shabby room was soon turned upside down.

The old quilt on the bed was thrown to the floor, and the small wooden table and stool were kicked over with loud thuds.

What was worse, I had to watch Barbara walk all over my quilt in her expensive high-heeled shoes.

She even picked up the half-empty kettle that had fallen on the floor and poured the water on the quilt.

It was as if she was taking this opportunity to vent all her anger.

I tried to keep my face expressionless as I stared at the ruffians turning my room into a mess, but resentment gripped my heart and seeped into my eyes.

“How dare you glare at me? You’ll suffer when I find the necklace!”

Barbara shouted, driving her heels harder into my quilt.

I clenched my fists to suppress my anger and ignored her.

After a few more seconds of watching the werewolves knock all my things to the floor, I couldn’t bear it anymore.

“Stop! I didn’t steal anything. Why are you doing this?” I shouted.

“Why? It’s simple. I am the Beta’s daughter, while you’re just a slave, a piece of garbage abandoned by others!” Barbara snickered at me.

“You’re not noble at all. You are nothing but an orphan adopted by the Luna,” I replied fiercely.

Before their deaths, Barbara’s parents had been close friends with Luna Debra.

That was the reason why Luna Debra had taken Barbara in. In terms of bloodline, I was much nobler than Barbara. I really didn’t know what I had done to offend her.

From the beginning, she had always disliked me, and stirred up trouble for me both in public and in private.

At this time, a she-wolf overturned my pillow, causing the small wooden box to fall to the floor.

“No!”

I anxiously hurried forward to grab the wooden box.

But just when I was about to touch it, Barbara stepped on the back of my hand.

Her heel dug into my skin, drawing blood.

I couldn't help but wince at the sharp pain.

"Bitch, what's the rush? Why do you care about this shabby box so much? You must be hiding something in it," Barbara sneered.

A she-wolf picked up the wooden box and handed it to her.

Barbara opened the wooden box, revealing the pearl necklace that was lying in it.

I wanted to get up, but Barbara drove her heel harder into the back of my hand, pinning me down.

I was afraid that if I got up abruptly, I'd end up tearing my skin.

The pain was too much to take.

But compared to the physical pain I felt, the pain in my heart was even more.

"Luna Debra, look!"

Barbara picked up the pearl necklace and triumphantly waved it in front of Luna Debra.

"I told you that bitch stole my necklace! She just refused to admit it. How can a slave like her own such an expensive necklace?" she spat, glancing at me in disdain.

Looking at the necklace, Luna Debra frowned and nodded in agreement.

"We put a roof over her head, but she stole from us! How dare she? She must be punished severely,"

Barbara continued, trying to provoke Luna Debra even more.

"That necklace is mine! Miss Barbara, look at it carefully. It's not yours at all," I argued, biting my lower lip.

"Even if this isn't my necklace, it can't be yours either. Since you lost my necklace, I'll take this as compensation.

"Clenching the necklace in her hand, Barbara kicked me in the chest and then threw the wooden box to the floor.

"Luna Debra, you have to do something! Barbara is being unreasonable,"

I pleaded, turning to Luna Debra, who was my last ray of hope.

But Luna Debra just stared at me with contempt.

“Since you lost Barbara’s necklace, shouldn’t you compensate her for it? You should just feel grateful that Barbara isn’t holding you accountable for it,” she said mockingly.

I gritted my teeth in anger.

I knew there was nothing I could do against these two vicious women, so I had no choice but to swallow the insult and humiliation.

At the thought that the necklace left behind by my deceased mother was being snatched away from me by Barbara, I almost lost control. I really wished I could tear the two women’s faces apart and let them have a taste of their own medicine.

“Luna Debra, let’s go. This bitch’s room is so dirty. It’s not worthy of your presence.”

Barbara held Luna Debra’s arm and left arrogantly, with the werewolves following them.

“Bitch, you won’t get any food for the whole day tomorrow. That’s what you get for pissing me off,” she added before leaving.

Tomorrow would be my eighteenth birthday, but it turned out that I was going to starve the whole day.

Hatred bubbled up in my heart as I stared at their receding backs.

One day, I’ll make you pay for all the things that you’ve done to me! I swore to myself.

For a while, I sat on the floor with my knees pulled up to my chest, rocking back and forth in the dark and shabby room.

The cold wind gushed in from time to time through the broken window, making me shiver from head to toe.

It was not winter yet, but the weather was already freezing.

Tightening my old apron around my body, I finally stood up, walked to the door, and closed it.

The chipped wooden door creaked as it closed shut.

Then, I turned around, picked up the wooden box lying on the floor, and wiped off the dust on it with my apron.

Tears finally trickled down my cheeks.

That pearl necklace had been left to me by my mother, who had died years ago.

Whenever I missed her, I would take out the necklace and reminisce about the times I spent with her.

In fact, I was not born to be a slave.

My father, Lewis Smith, and my mother, Doris Smith, had been the Alpha and the Luna of the Rainbow Pack.

I also had an elder brother, Jerome Smith.

With the protection of my family, I had a great childhood.

But when I was seven years old, my mother died of an acute disease.

It was said that bad things came in threes.

Not long after, Beta Arthur and a few other traitors rebelled against my father and killed him.

My elder brother took me away from the pack to keep me safe, but the two of us were separated during our escape.

After wandering around on my own for a while, I found myself joining the Dark River Pack.

Of course, I didn't dare to reveal my true identity to them.

From then on, I washed clothes and cooked every day, becoming a slave of this pack. Later, I heard that Beta Arthur had become the Alpha of the Rainbow Pack.

How could a traitor become the Alpha? It was laughable! I carried all the wrongs and misfortune that I had suffered in my heart, including Beta Arthur's betrayal, my father's wrongful death, my brother's disappearance, and the way I was insulted and abused every day in the Dark River Pack.

I wanted to do my best to become stronger so that I could get my revenge.

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved Chapter 209

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 209: Skylar's Wedding

Jennifer's POV:

As soon as I went back to my room, I called Anthony and told him about everything that had happened earlier on.

"Anthony, guess who I ran into at the Rainbow Pack?"

My voice rose slightly with excitement.

"You won't believe it! I met Daniel and Helen right after I saw Skylar and Jerome. We all got together for dinner later that night, where we laughed and shared stories joyfully"

"Really? Honey, that sounds great. I'm really happy for you, Jennifer"

Anthony's gentle voice soothed me and suddenly, I found myself feeling emotional.

"I'm so happy that I got to see my brother become Alpha. Thank you, Anthony. If I hadn't met you in the first place, I wouldn't have had the chance to see this day"

I said to Anthony in a soft voice.

"Honey, Moon Goddess chose you to be my mate for a good reason. We were destined to meet each other. I was impressed by your strength the moment we met. At the same time, your beauty and kindness made me think highly of you. You had won me over with your charms long before I had realized that I was already deeply in love with you. I believe that's why we are here today"

Anthony answered seriously.

His tone was so sincere that my face flushed crimson with elation.

"That was the nicest thing anyone had ever said to me."

His sweet words melted my heart.

"It's getting late. You should get some sleep. Good night, Anthony. I love you"

"I love you too, babe. Good night"

I hung up the phone with a big grin on my face, beaming from ear to ear.

I didn't even realize when I had drifted off to sleep as I kept musing over Anthony.

The following day, I woke up in the early hours of the morning.

After all, it was Jerome's big day and I didn't want to be late for the ceremony.

The ceremony took place at an outdoor venue which was graced by the attendance of guests from all over the world.

The attendant who received me at the entrance led me to my VIP seat as soon I arrived.

The wedding band played soothing music in the background, creating a relaxing atmosphere.

The laughter of children could also be heard as they ran around with flower baskets in their hands.

"I'd like to welcome our bride and bridegroom!"

Simon, the host of the ceremony, stood on the podium and the music took a pause.

I saw Jerome, dressed in a black suit with a white ruffled shirt and a light blue vest, walking from the other end of the red carpet, holding Skylar's hand.

When I saw how beautiful Skylar looked in her wedding dress, I couldn't stop myself from shedding a tear.

The two of them looked like a match made in heaven.

They were destined to be together.

Suddenly, the wedding march started to play as the couple started walking down the aisle.

I felt happy from the bottom of my heart for my brother.

I clapped my hands with the others and cheered them on.

"Long live Alpha! Long live Luna!"

Everyone cheered for Jerome and Skylar.

"All right, everyone please be quiet. Now, I would like to announce that Jerome is officially the Alpha of the Rainbow Pack, and Skylar is his Luna!"

Simon raised both hands.

"The new Alpha and his Luna will now pledge their vows to the pack!"

Jerome took Skylar to the altar.

He looked around at all the werewolves of the pack with a smile on his face.

"I, Jerome, the new Alpha of Rainbow Pack, swear to protect our pack, love our members and lead our kind to prosperity!"

"I, Skylar, the new Luna of Rainbow Pack, swear to protect our pack, love our members and lead our kind to prosperity together with our Alpha!"

Jerome and Skylar made vows.

When I looked at them, I couldn't help but shed tears of excitement.

As Jerome and Skylar expressed their vows, tears of joy soaked my cheeks.

"Mom, Dad, did you see that? Our Jerome has finally become Alpha. He and his beloved Luna will surely lead our pack to prosperity"

"I'd like to call a member of the Alpha's family, Miss Smith, on the stage for a speech"

Simon turned to look at me after Jerome and Skylar made the vows.

I quickly stood up and wiped the tears from my face as I walked onto the stage.

"Thank you all for attending today's ceremony"

I composed my thoughts as I smiled.

"I'm really happy to see my kind and brave brother take over my father's position and fulfill his dying wish. I'm here to extend my best wishes to our new Alpha and Luna. I hope their love lasts for an eternity. I believe that under their care, our pack will become more secure and prosperous"

Jerome stood up and clapped his hands after I finished my speech.

The sound of applause faded in the background as Jerome and I hugged each other, while Skylar smiled at us happily.

Skylar's POV:

I finally became Jerome's wife.

After all the hardships our love had to overcome, we finally had our little happy ending.

Jerome and I had been tested many times, but he never gave up on me.

The thought of spending the rest of my life with him filled me with joy and excitement.

“Skylar, you are finally my wife”

Jerome held my hand tightly and whispered in my ear.

“I’m so happy”

“Me too, honey”

I echoed as Jerome reached out to wipe my tears.

When I turned around, I saw Jennifer smiling at me and I couldn’t help blushing.

“Congratulations, Skylar”

Jennifer gave me a warm hug.

After we exchanged pleasantries, I prepared myself for the next part of the ceremony.

After the vows and kind words from family members on both sides, it was our turn to exchange rings.

Jerome looked at me affectionately as he knelt down on one knee and put a shining diamond ring on my finger.

I truly believed that our love would be as eternal as diamonds.

“I promise to love you forever, Skylar” Jerome said to me.

“I will love you until the day I die, Jerome”

With a trembling hand, I put the ring on Jerome’s finger bringing an end to the ceremony of exchanging rings.

“Hurray!”

“Let’s celebrate! In the honor of our new Alpha and Luna!”

Jerome pulled me into his arms and kissed me passionately in front of the excited crowd.

Soon after, the celebration party started, Jerome and I walked to the dancefloor together.

He took my hand to waltz over flowers that were spread decoratively across the floor.

The people watched us and gave us their blessings while I stared at Jerome, feeling happier than I had ever been.

After all, we were going to become a part of each other's soul from that moment onwards.

After our dance, the other guests joined the dancefloor, while Jerome and I walked to the banquet table to propose a toast to everyone. Daily Latest update

The elders who didn't care much for dancing, gathered around when it was time to drink.

"Elder Simon, thank you very much for hosting my wedding today. I'd like to propose a toast to you"

Jerome poured a glass of wine and said to Simon with a smile.

"You're welcome, Jerome. Besides, it was an honor to usher in a young and promising Alpha like you to our pack"

Simon clinked glasses with Jerome with a big smile on his face.

Jerome joined the others in drinking and I sat next to him, greeting the guests with a smile.

Everyone knew that I wasn't drinking because I was pregnant, but I still indulged in a few sips to thank the guests.

At the end of the party, Jerome and I personally bid farewell to everyone.

Although his face was a little red from drinking too much, his eyes were somehow very lively.

Everyone gave us their blessings again before asking us to go back to our room for the wedding night and my face became redder than Jerome's.

"I guess we should do as they say. I wouldn't want to disappoint our guests"

Jerome whispered in my ear before he picked me up in his arms and carried me to our bedroom.

Although I had made love to Jerome before, I still couldn't help but feel nervous because it was our wedding night and it was very important to me.

Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 210

/ Outcast: The Alpha King's Beloved

Chapter 210: Jennifer Returns

Jerome's POV:

As soon as we entered the bedroom, I pressed Skylar onto the bed.

Holding her face in my hands, I looked into her charming eyes and couldn't help but feel endlessly excited.

I finally married the beautiful she-wolf I loved! Now, she finally belonged to me and only me.

"Honey, you're the most beautiful bride in the world" I whispered.

"I'm so lucky to be married to you"

As I spoke, I began to kiss her passionately.

Her red lips were like hot flames on mine, but I was willing to be burned by her.

"Honey, I'm also happy we're finally married!"

Skylar started wriggling from underneath me, her slender body rubbing against me.

"I love you so much. I want you inside me. I want to make love with you"

Her tempting words practically made me lose my mind.

She took off my suit pants, and my already hardened cock eagerly leapt out.

I parted her legs, took off her dress, leaned over and started kissing her breasts.

In that moment, all I wanted was to enter her body and satiate my hunger.

"Jerome, Jerome!"

Skylar moaned my name over and over again.

I was drowning in her intoxicating charm.

I just wanted to be with her forever.

But when my hand landed on her slightly swollen belly, I stopped what I was doing.

Skylar was still pregnant.

I couldn't just ignore our baby.

"We can't do this, Skylar. I'm afraid it will hurt our child."

I stopped regretfully and felt ashamed of what I had almost done.

"Don't be afraid, honey. I've already asked the doctor. My condition is stable now. As long as we're gentle, sex is fine"

Skylar lowered her head shyly.

"I want to have sex with you, honey. I don't want to leave any room for regret on my wedding night"

"You are so kind, honey. How did I end up with such a considerate wife?"

I picked her up and whispered in her ear.

"Then let's do it gently until you are satisfied"

Then, I carried Skylar all the way to the bathroom and laid her in the tub.

The bathtub was covered in rose petals for the wedding night, creating an atmosphere thick with sensuality.

"I love you, Skylar. I love you so much"

I kept confessing my love to her as I hugged her naked body.

Finally, I gently inserted my throbbing cock inside her.

She let out a soft moan and I kissed her.

I believed that tonight would be one for the books.

Jennifer's POV:

I rushed back to my room after the wedding, excited to call Anthony.

"Honey, how was the wedding?" Anthony asked immediately.

"Oh, of course it was great!" I answered excitedly.

"Anthony, you don't know how moved I was as I watched the couple walk out hand in hand. Their journey together was no easy feat, so I'm glad they're finally together. I hope they stay happy forever!"

"Yes, happiness is always elusive" Anthony said in a gentle voice.

"But I will make you happy, Jennifer. When we get married, I will make you the happiest bride on earth"

I giggled like a schoolgirl, pressing the phone against my ear happily.

"You are so good to me, Anthony" I sank into bed.

"By the way, no one in the Rainbow Pack knows that vampire blood runs in Skylar's veins. Daniel and Helen are fine, too"

"Come back as soon as possible if there's nothing else keeping you there. I'm worried about you"

Anthony paused for a while then burst into laughter.

"Well, I must admit that I miss you"

This warmed my heart.

"Okay, I'll be back as soon as possible. I miss you too" I said with a wistful smile.

After the phone call with Anthony, I went to sleep early because Helen and I planned to give the newly-weds a surprise the following morning.

Early the next day, Helen and I headed to Jerome's room.

Before knocking, we exchanged smiles.

I was holding freshly picked flowers in my arms, while Helen was holding a bottle of champagne

"Surprise!"

The moment the door was opened, I pushed the bouquet of roses into Skylar's arms while Helen popped open the champagne bottle and sprayed it into the air.

Skylar looked at us in surprise before breaking into a wide smile and hugging both of us.

"Skylar, congratulations! You're officially a married woman!" Helen and I giggled.

“Do you like them? I picked them myself from the greenhouse this morning.

“Thank you, my dear friends. You are so kind”

Skylar sniffed the roses and smiled happily.

“Since yesterday, I feel as though I’ve been dreaming”

“We have prepared more than just this” I said, patting Skylar on the shoulder.

“Go get your husband and join us for breakfast!”

Skylar nodded and hurried back inside to call Jerome.

Soon, Jerome emerged from the bedroom.

Helen and I led the newly-weds to the dining room.

Spread out on the table were the dishes Helen and I spent all morning cooking.

If I was being honest with myself, I was most satisfied with the heart-shaped fried eggs.

“Thank you, Jennifer and Helen. This is so nice of you”

Jerome thanked us, and Skylar bobbed her head in agreement.

Everyone sat at the table and dug into breakfast together.

The atmosphere was very merry.

“If there is nothing else I need to take care of, I have to go back to the kingdom as soon as possible. There are still things Anthony and I need to figure out”

I said to Jerome and Skylar after finishing my glass of milk.

“Then by all means, go. Don’t worry about us. We can handle things ourselves. As for Mr. Jones, I’m sure he misses you very much”

Skylar winked at me playfully, which made me turn as red as a tomato.

“Skylar is right. You’re free to go. Even if something crops up, I will deal with it. After all, I’m the Alpha now.”

Jerome smiled and touched my head.

“Jennifer, we look forward to your wedding with Mr. Jones”

I nodded wordlessly, deeply touched by Jerome and Skylar's concern.

After breakfast, I packed my luggage and headed straight to the airport.

Jerome, Skylar, Daniel, and Helen all came to see me off.

I stood at the airport entrance and hugged them one by one.

"Jerome, you must protect and take good care of Skylar. When I finish the matter with Anthony, I will come back"

I hugged my brother tightly.

Skylar's special powers made me feel uneasy.

"Don't worry. I won't let anything bad happen to Skylar. I will protect with my life and make her happy"

Jerome held Skylar's hand and replied solemnly. Daily Latest update

"Helen, take care of yourself. Oh, I'm also waiting for your and Daniel's wedding"

I held Helen's hand and said affectionately.

"Don't worry" Daniel said, bursting into laughter.

"I won't let you wait too long"

"You're so annoying!"

Helen glared at him. Daily Latest update

Seeing that all my friends and family were all fine, I felt relieved.

After saying goodbye to them again, I boarded the plane alone with my luggage.

After returning to Osman Kingdom, I set out to plan with Anthony and made preparations to go to the snow mountain.