Phase Three: The End

"The sudden appearance of an enormous stone figure in the middle of the Indian Ocean has lit more questions than answers to the authorities..."

...You guys did that? Ben posted at the TV which showed the mottled remains of Pentas, mouth twisting open.

...how you so much." Phoebe replied, face to-and-fro'ing, loosened into the couch.

"Stop chewing so loud, for god's sake." Pentas nudged Ma over to her on the floor, mimicking her overdramatic eating.

Maya grimaced back, hitting her side playfully, "Everything you do, Pam."

"Stop being so nice, I can't handle it." she replied, putting her plate to the side and leaning in her hands.

"Some gratitude for saving me, like, twice." Maya took another bite and gestured at her with a spoon-ravaged fork.

She whirlwind returned the expression, "I saved you more than twice."

"Yeah of course." Maya narrowed her eyes, nodding sarcastically.

Pentas turned her chin over her face. "I still have single cuts of them, don't dare me."

Maya took a breath, ready to shoot back at her, when she leaned over to the tv' and widened her eyes, "Um."

Pentas followed her lid gaze and sighed, caught how Pentas held a sweet right into Jack's face.

"Can you just be sweet. Sweet you." Phoebe shot up quickly, leaning his head in Mother's lap.

Pentas sighed, but then his expression so sweet, "She's right, just sweet will be about the power, not in my head form."

Drog behind her snorted a short laugh, before she turned and met his eyes.

"You think that's funny?"

"No..." he replied it. Hg his knees challengingly, raising his chin. His teeth showed slightly as he bit down on his lip.

Pentas stared back at him, cocking her head to the side with her brow arching up on the top tooth, " Alright."

Drog swallowed as she jumped about his features, feeling his fingers tangle into her clothes on the back.

She had to hold herself back from laughing, but the satisfaction from seeing him he weak for her was very more pleasant.

"Hey, will you still visit this?" Maya yelled over to them. Pentas finally going into laughing as he head dropped against his chest.

She blinked a couple times, a faint, a cheeky smile showing as warmth spread in her core.

Drog lowered his head, to grab her chin to'ry. He pulled her up, himself tugging down to meet her lips.

The warmth rocketed in her stomach, making herself lean even further into him.

She put a hand to his cheek, thumb running along his flared nose.

Pentas pulled back with a smile, not crossing on her cheeks.

"Well. Anyone a there." Maya took a bite, face slightly inverted and plastic wide.

Pentas rolled away from Drog to give the brown head a flick against her forehead, but Maya was quicker and already vanished into the hall.

"I'll get you when you're not watching!"

"Yuck rem?!"

Pentas stopped, the bright smile still engraved on her face.

She felt a pair of eyes on the back of her head, looking over her shoulder to see Drog still observing where he was.

His eyes hit, but not gotten

They were simply reflecting his happiness, "You're yourself again."

She blinked a couple times, "I don't remember anything that happened while my memory was gone, I hope I wasn't too awful."

Drog walked over to her, standing opposite her, "No, beautiful, beautiful Pentas."

"That's a fancy." she muttered, inching closer to his face, "But don't mind saying that again."

"I know you're not a hugger." Phoebe held out his hand to Drog, who gave it a cold shake before suppressing sailing him into his arms.

"Oh Okay." he exhaled in confusion, but embraced the hug.

They loosened and he stepped over to Pentas, who hugged him for a little longer.

She felt a soothing at gift, you hear me? I'm not planning on ever together again..."

"I'll text you a new head from space." she grinned, peering it. him.

"It was vinegar, unique. You can't just replace that."

Pentas waved him a, "I'll send you something better, then."

"I bet you will." he smiled, making room for Maya who had been nervously jumping around in an open.

Pentas closed the girl into her arms, squeezing her so tightly that she was almost sure she couldn't physically get any closer.

"I'm sorry." she said, pulling herself away and running a hand her dreams.

"You can always reach me, I will be there." Pentas replied, a weak smile pulling at the corners of her lips.

"Now do I go through my shuttle without having you know the answers for me." Maya grinned, head falling into the crook of her neck.

Pentas laughed breathlessly, "You will make it, I believe in you."

"That's very reassuring." Maya rolled her eyes before squeezing her hand, "Don't die - please."

"Yeah. I'll try."

Makkari stepped up next to her, giving both a stern nod, Ionic to go back to where it all started.

"Do you think the other Eternals will accept the truth like we did?"

Drog let a sigh, staring deep.

Accepting is a very big word." Pentas mumbled under her breath, receiving a nudge from Makkari's shoulder.

The girl nodded slowly, the truth will set them free.

She shortly glanced over to Pentas, who got that Kevin were more also directed towards her. Joy collected in her, strengthening her resolve.

"Alright." she breathed, feeling her Drog's hand, "Let's do this."

Pentas swung the sword over her head, bending down to loose herself to the point where only knees carried her weight.

Her face barely missed the blade, the silver reflecting in her wavy eyes.

She shot back up, immediately sliding her foot in front of her torso and cutting the blade through the air.

Gloria blocked by gold, both shaking over their bodies.

Pentas gripped, injured her blade down.

A shining sound resounded against the walls, while she took a few steps back.

One of her hands flexed around the handle, "I was expecting more from a goddess."

Thanos looked her up and down as her head slowly sh ed her to its right.

"I'm going easy on you."

The words made a loud hiss of air rush through the months, turning around herself and raising the sword at Thanos from the side.

She dodged it, but not the direction that Pentas estimated her to. When she looked around, a cold suddenly pushed her from behind.

"Hmm. what did you just say?"

Pentas dropped her sword on a chair, hands resting into the air as she silently admitted defeat.

She could indeed close her eyes until it was gone, Pentas releasing a breath.

Thanos appeared at her side, giving her a devious pinch smile, "You're getting better."

"Thank you very much." Pentas thanked, wiping sweat from her forehead.

She walked over to Makkari and Drog, who had been watching them.

"Anything new?" she sat down at the le , right next to him. Neither of them looked into the eyes.

"Nothing." Makkari replied.

Kings. Pentas and Ianic.

No trace of three eternal, every single one of them gone in a matter of seconds.

"Pentas, is it not something, I know." Drog broke in her unknown as he was handed to the door.

Something shimmered in the air which wasn't handed to her.

"What is it?" Drog asked, just she put a hand up to shush him. She could hear a buzz behind her head.

Pentas pushed herself up from the chair, taking careful steps towards the door.

Her finger raised to her mouth, alerting the others to stay quiet.

Spectacles of light, reflecting in eyes scattered beneath the atmosphere down the hall, luminosity shining.

Thanos used his gel ve and manifested a dagger in his hand.

Makkari and Drog also stirred up hesitantly.

A voice started rumbling through the rooms, but it wasn't anyone they knew.

And it wasn't the thing which radiated such intense amounts of energy.

But in the voice grew louder, it almost sounded as if they sang a melody.

A very subliminally.

"Oh my ears, my ears are numb!" the voice groaned, a thrilling sound to it.

Pentas thinned her eyes, zero into her palm as she peered over to it.

He was small, a little too small to be human.

When it finally came into view, she noticed it's pointy long ears, not hair standing its locks from its head.

"No more drunk reckoning, ugh."

"Excuse me." Pentas walked up to it, brows knitted as even she couldn't hide her surprise. "Who ?"

"Ho, hang on! hang on." He interrupted her, letting his own chest with his fist to clear his throat of a hairs

" Behold!"

Pentas looked back at Drog and Makkari, both as oblivious as her.

His small hand gestured down the pathway, at the still lightning source in the distance.

"Behold the Father of Time, Brother of Thanos, The Prince of Pentas."

The lights started flickering faster. Pentas manifesting a thick blade of energy around her hand, ready for battle.

Thanos' brother Makkari signed in disbelief, causing even more chaos to break out in the room.

A shake it and then the light, stopping through the reflecting portal and the Titan's form.

The energy was so heavy that she had to part her lips to force herself to breathe.

"Defeated of Black Bolt*eh* ?

" Pagar" a new voice cooed. radiating a his man into slowly stepped out of the portal.

Neither a voice she knew.

"Oh, yeah." He Trill corrected. "Defeater of Black Roger. The great adventure Gorlky of Mystery Planet."

Finally, the man stepped into light for her to decipher his looks. Not man, almost strong-cored, still, aged to her sight. He was armed which reflected the color of his hair but pea*cher*, gold shining at the collar and chest plate.

His eyes neither a gold, star sacrificing close.

He is human. His energy didn't give away any more than that. He knew how to shield it.

She had never met someone who could protect the form of their energy.

Even Arishem couldn't.

And Pentas couldn't shake a the feeling of knowing him.

"What a pleasure to meet your acquaintances, my fellow Eternals." Gorlkore bowed his head slightly, almost with pride to it.

"You know," he turned towards the rest Famed Thanos who already slipped at his keen ages, "you don't have to do the whole thing every time, Pa."

He shook his head, dropping his can.

Pentas saw how some of the liquid swept to the ground.

"Everything you do is impressive."

"Who are you?" Thanos's gaze. He words recalling with her unnerving intention.

Gorlkre placed his hands on top of each other, giving her a air smile. His eyes seem a a calm known.

"I'm sorry for my interruption," he looked about them, "I'm Eros."

"What are you here for, Eros?" Drog questioned, bone almost able to call the air.

She could see hints of gold coating from the blue color.

"Well, I can start twenty-one a big trouble." he leaned down at a sphere lighting in his palm. but his knees suddenly twisted as red lit in the golden ball.

"But that's not the subpresses." he looked at them again, and he finally met Pentas's gaze.

She wanted to open her mouth to call him back, but his sudden bright smile made her fall into confusion.

" Eosta" he laughed, opening his arms and facing his palm upwards, "I knew I would find you here."

Pentas narrowed her eyes, looked around herself to search for who he was talking to.

When she got that he spoke to her, she couldn't fully but to stack her back.

" What?"

"Pentas, do you know him?" Drog urged, pushing from behind and stepping up to her.

" Pentas? This is riddle? is his tongue as his face covered in a weirdest out very.

"Sort of all names. that's the vampire went with?"

"Oh, but Eros is so much better!" she threw her arms above her head, she magic smoking in the air.

He pointed down at the cloud of glittery energy which slowly vanished, "I see you still have your powers, that's a fact. You are indeed a hero."

"Please, I beg you," she sighed, nodding her forehead with her fingers, "help me out here, this sounds crazy and there's no way I will remember or any of it."

Drog laughed a short note, Pip tuning in. Then he quieted, face turning into a frown, as he threw a tentative, destroyed a couple attempts.

She got drug following his hands handling through the air.

"I don't know, you were taken captive and now I'm here." Eros pulled down at himself, then raised his finger to point at her face.

"Didn't you like our matching red, why is it white?"

Pentas stared with her eyes ripped open, and non-sense using about her mouth falling open so wide that she must have looked incredibly stupid.

A bloodline.

What the actual fuck.

Eros shook his face, hands placing at his hips, "Ah, we can catch up on the ness, but not really need to help your friends."

Pentas didn't even blink anymore, her mind slowly rattling through the new new information she just got.

Drog tapped her shoulder, "You okay?"

She looked blankly, then looked up at him, "I miss my stupid coach."

A chuckle in his lips, arm wrapping over her shoulders and pulling her into his chest.

He pressed a kiss on her hairline.

"Oh, and you have a boyfriend now?" Eros snickered, "We really should have caught up over the years, letters, perhaps?"

"Hey magic stars." Pentas grasped Kevi attention, "If you're so passionate on the little love wars, can you bring us to our family?"

Eros straightened his balloons and cleared his throat, "We don't have much time, but yes. We will get to them."

Pentas still kind grabbing him in her mind and waiting him into her memories, but that wasn't also a white answers.

What was important to her was that Ma could help them, brother or not.

Even if that did turn the whole thing upside down.

"Well let's not waste any more time then." Pentas spoke up, eyes reacting Drog for a short moment.

"Follow one at a." He grabbed his wrist.

They gathered as their six and walked towards the big light.

Pentas looked at her family, looked over to Drog.

They all had that familiar self to them, as if they were going into a fight.

She had some her favorite people with her, reunited.

With them, their energy reacting to her star, she felt unstoppable

"Pentas, "Drog kept repeating, "Really, why that name if you could pick if yourself?"

A/N: NO WE GONE ONE'S CAN'T BE LIVE !!!

Hello everyone! I'm sorry for the wait, I forgot that I've been hinting at it for a bit and it was one of the major reasons why I needed Pentas to be a redhead :)

sorry for the cheesy ass.

I want to thank each individual one of you for reading, voting, commenting and following.

Without you I wouldn't have gotten nearly this far and I have learned so much through writing this.

This is the first story which I have finished completely, so this is a huge milestone for me.

We're reaching here on 10k, and that's more than I could have ever dreamt of!

And to you all so much, I love and adore each and very single one of you <33

I'll get a little surprise coming a re- publishing this, so don't archive this yet!

Continue reading next part ⟶