if you don't like it, don't read it
This has nothing to do with the plot or is to be carried into the timeline whatsoever, the story is finished or the last chapter. This is purely for fun and practice :)
Also, this is purely how I interpret the characters' acting and behavior!

Persia leaned back in the chair, one of her hands dropping into her lap.

She was listening to him ramble about something, the others deep in conversation too.

Her other hand was resting on the headrest of the seat which Dreig was sitting on, playing with his hair.

Occasionally, she would run her nails over his shoulders, just out of pure habit.

"You know, and then we went to that party." As women continued on, probably so lost in thought that she didn't even remember who she was speaking to.

"Hey Sera." Kreiga nudged her wife, causing her to turn over to his comforts. "The whole you spoke about, could I include it in one of my movies?"

The woman chuckled a short laugh, sure her eyes over to Persia who gave her a reassuring nod. "We have time, tell me about the party later."

Sera turned over to Kreiga, who instructed Kieran to write everything down.

Persia sat at a short laugh, her fingers unintentionally traveling along the hem of Dreig's shirt.

He made a motion, pulling her attention

Someone was speaking to him, and he was tangled in conversation.

But that voice wasn't caused by just a simple cough

Her head crashed to the side slightly, watching as he made the same noise again but this time he moved his hand up to his nose discreetly to mix it.

She moved her fingers up, fist letting them gently trace his skin, before slipping over the chairs.

Dreig cleared his throat in the middle of his sentence, eyes pulling to the back of the head instead out of the way as if she didn't even notice what she was doing.

Persia's mouth curled when she saw him move back to his conversation, flipping her fingers up again.

She travelled back up to his head, the side of her pointer caressing behind his ear and his neck.

Dreig sucked in an odd breath of air, losing the thread of the conversation.

"Yeah, um, yes"

She straightened her back, in the motion moving her hand down. He sighed as if he was relieved.

Her gaze rushed about the round of people, reassuring that no one was watching.

Persia leaned over the table, grabbing Rhaina's eyes. "Could you pass me the water?"

"Oh yeah, of course." He smiled and handed her the cold bottle. She thanked him and poured some into her glass.

Her hand sat around the cooled cup for a while, before she placed it back on the table.

For a moment she contemplated not doing it but she dropped her hand under the table, a little motion - until she felt Dreig's leg.

It moved further, until she had it resting on his thigh.

Dreig's chest hitched, for a moment he broke = his own sentence to take a shot breath.

She could feel how he tensed for a moment, looking over at her wives, then again.

But this, time of business, no need to be in his lap.

Persia slid her hand further, very carefully inwards, then up until he pushed back away from her touch.

Even his hands stared defensively into the air.

She looked over at him, watching as he pressed his lips on a cup of water, then, like the inside of his cheek while chewing on the inside.

She let her fingers rise against his skin, then move up a little

This time, in her surprise, she felt something grab her hand.

Persia turned innocently, first looking down to see his hand holding hers in place harshly. As she went up, she saw his knuckles white. When she met his eyes, they darted back at her, pupils widened.

"Hmm?" she hummed, mouth twitching into an amused smile.

Dreig opened his eyes for a moment, stuttering, " Alluden you dearing"

"What do you mean?" she questioned obliviously, forcing her hand out of his hold to place it higher.
