

Pampered 251

Chapter 251

“Ouch!”

The two drunkards’ bodies flew in the air. They lost their consciousness immediately.

Tina let out a sigh of relief. ‘Thank god, I’m saved!’

She rubbed her wrist without raising her head up, “Thanks for the help, but I have to leave now...”

All she could think of now was Keith Langford.

She might still be able to save herself, but the same couldn’t be said for that child if he was in danger...

SO

Just as she was about to leave, a tall figure blocked her way. Feeling anxious, Tina was about to push the person away when a cold voice reached her ears. “Tina Lynd! It really is you!” It was just a few words, but they gave Tina a cold chill down her spine. She looked up, and the person standing in front of her... Was none other than Samuel Langford! God! What was he doing here?!

If the two drunkards from before gave her annoyance... Then Samuel Langford gave her extreme fear! Samuel managed to grab Tina’s shoulder just as she was about to make a break for it.

His grip was so vicious, Tina felt like all her bones had broken.

“Let go of me!”

At this point, Tina had forgotten all the self-defense moves she had painstakingly learnt.

She struggled violently, and even bit the man’s arm.

Even so, the man stared at her without flinching. Without warning, he took off Tina’s jacket and tied it around her hands.

A car appeared next to them at that instant.

“Mr. Langford!”

The driver was about to open the back door for Samuel, but was immediately taken aback by what he saw.

What was happening? Wasn’t Mr. Langford here to pick the young master? Yet right now, Mr. Langford was hugging another woman! That woman was struggling and hitting, but Mr. Langford didn’t seem bothered... The driver was too stunned to react, and simply stood frozen.

Samuel walked towards the car and bellowed, “Open the door!” That finally snapped the driver back to his senses. Pulled out of his musings, he hurried to open the back door.

Samuel threw Tina into the backseat and turned around to the driver. “You may leave now.”

Does that mean Mr. Langford planned to leave with that woman?

If so, a driver like him should just leave.

“Understood, Mr. Langford.”

Without much hesitation, he dashed away.

Tina, who was trapped in the back seat, was furious. She hissed, “Samuel Langford! Let go of me, you bastard! I’m going to report you to the police, you devil...!”. Why?! Why did she have to meet him again?! Again and again, she was forced to return and suffer in this miserable hell!

Tina was on the verge of breaking down as tears filled her eyes. Samuel, however, only found her reaction ridiculously comic.

This woman was still as manipulative as ever, trying to trick him with her obviously fake acts. He truly thought that she had died.

Who knew that they would meet each other again after five years...

She was never dead!

He was certain: all of these were part of her evil plan! “Keep acting!” he spat icily. “Show me how much your manipulation has improved over the years!”

“You absolute bastard! I’m gonna kill you!” Tina glared at Samuel with bloodshot eyes. Instead of being angry, Samuel grinned cruelly at her. “Kill me? Very well, I’ll give you the opportunity to do so!”

Chapter 252

Half an hour later... Under the slightly dim sky, Samuel dragged Tina to one of his mansions.

He carried her there all the way, finally threw her onto a sofa.

Samuel laughed. “Show me how you’re going to kill me, Tina!” Tina trembled with fear, for she knew there was no escape this time. Desperate, she lowered her voice and begged, “Samuel... Please, just let me go...” “Let you go? Ha! You have to pay for your actions!” That sent Tina straight to hell.

As expected, Samuel was still as cruel as he was five years ago. Despite knowing that she almost died that time, he still wanted to kill her. What a cruel demon!

“I don’t want to die. Please...” Tina begged as her face turned pale.

She couldn’t die! Definitely not!

Kara was still waiting for her at home, and Keith was still in danger.

What would happen to the two children if she died?

Samuel grabbed her chin, forcing her to look at him.

His stare was intimidating and forceful, filled with cruelty.

If anything changed for Tina over the past five years, it would be her beauty. She had much, much become prettier.

Samuel came to wonder about the number of men she had been with for the past five years.

The thought fueled his anger even more.

“So, you don’t want to die?” Samuel lifted the corner of his lips into a terrible smile. “Be my servant. Who knows, I might spare your life if I’m satisfied.”

Tina felt a surge of disgust.

She didn’t forget how closely Samuel had stood next to Cindy.

Even her colleagues agreed that Samuel and Cindy were perfect together.

However, Cindy would never know that the Samuel who loved her so much would behave so differently in front of another woman!

Samuel grabbed onto Tina’s chin forcefully and spat, “You’re not willing?” Feeling that her chin was about to break from his violent grip, Tina responded with trembling lips. “L... I’m willing...”

Everything was as he expected! The smile on Samuel grew even more twisted.

No matter how much of a prude this woman pretended to be, at the end of the day, she was nothing but a sl*t. She was always ready to seduce people!

“Nice act.” Samuel chuckled darkly at her weak appearance.

“Tina, now it’s time for me to see if you’ve improved.”

The sound of clothes being torn apart echoed in the mansion soon after. Tina closed her eyes, falling deep into a black swirl of hopelessness and helplessness. The next day, Tina didn’t wake up until the sun was shining through the window, golden rays spilling onto the bed.

She felt someone lying next to her, and subconsciously hugged that person while mumbling softly, “Baby...”

However, she suddenly felt the air growing chilly almost immediately.

That woke Tina up completely, turning her sober.

The person next to her wasn’t Kara, but that demon from hell!

Facing Samuel’s disgust-filled gaze, Tina was completely frozen.

“Baby?” Samuel was staring at her coldly, “Which man are you referring to this time?” Knowing well that Kara’s existence couldn’t be discovered, Tina only gritted her teeth.

If she let it slip, bad things would happen to both her and Kara!

Tina clenched her fists and fought back, snapping, “My baby’s a hundred times better than you!”

Chapter 253 Tina's retort infuriated Samuel. She had touched a nerve,

He didn't hesitate to strangle her and yelled darkly, "You really think I wouldn't kill you?"

Tina could feel her entire body aching. She was too weak to fight back

"You promised to let me go last night. If you decide to break your promise, then there's not much that I can do, can I?"

Samuel gritted his teeth. "Tina, you disgust me" "You're right. I'm dirty and disgusting! You're the only one who's good and amazing! "I'm confused. Why did you insist on sleeping with me when there's a bunch of better women out there?! I wonder if Cindy knew you had such a disgusting fetish!"

Samuel tightened his grip on Tina, who simply gave up struggling

Just when she thought she was about to die, Samuel let go of her

"Leave!" That was the only word that Samuel said

But Tina didn't feel relieved, she knew that the worst had yet to come

"As expected from Mr. Langford Cruelty of the highest order?"

She leapt out of the bed and slammed the door

As she had expected, the sounds of things being smashed rang from the room

That shocked Tina, but she was also relieved that she left earlier

Samuel's personality hadn't changed one bit. In fact, it had turned even worse!

After leaving the room, her stomach began to grow

She might just die of hunger if she didn't feed herself soon

She collected her own thoughts and headed to the latches

Alas, there was nothing in the fridge.

That only meant that Samuel didn't stay here often

She picked her phone up from the floor, only to realize that her screen had cracked and her phone was completely broken.

When she was close to giving up, she heard footsteps from the stairs. Samuel was heading down. He took a glance at the phone in her hand and laughed.

"Don't think of running. You won't be leaving."

Tina was baffled, "Leave? I think I'd die of hunger instead!!

"What do you mean?" Samuel asked with a frown. Tina said, "There's nothing in your kitchen, and my phone is broken. There's literally nothing to eat here."

Samuel checked the fridge and realized that there really wasn't any food inside. He gave a call to his assistant and there were fresh groceries sent to the mansion within ten minutes...

Tina immediately prepared breakfast before she died of hunger.

But.

Samuel was already sitting at her place. "What are you doing?" Tina asked angrily.

Samuel only responded coldly, "What about my breakfast?" "There's none for you."

"Do you have a death wish?" Samuel threatened Tina. "Fine! I'll make another one!" She turned around and walked back into the kitchen. Tina soon realized that other than groceries, there was also a medical report and bottles of sleeping pills.

Chapter 254 The sight of the pills gave Tina a strange feeling. Why did Samuel's assistants send him pills? Out of curiosity, she looked at the report. It was then she discovered that Samuel had sleeping disorders. As time went by, his condition worsened to the point he could only sleep with the help of pills.

No wonder his personality had become so much more crooked. This was the reason!

Serves him right! Tina couldn't help but curse viciously at him. Just then, Samuel's voice rang from outside the kitchen. "Tina! Are you planning to starve me to death?"

That gave Tina a shock, and she immediately put down the reports and the pills.

Samuel was wearing baggy clothes, but that only made him look like a predator casually preying on his food. Tina could practically hear her heart pounding, as if she had committed some sort of crime. Feeling dissatisfied, Tina retorted, "If you're dissatisfied with my speed, order takeaway for yourself."

Samuel chuckled in response. "Tina, you're not here to enjoy your life. You're here to suffer." Tina gritted her teeth, fuming. 'Demon!' With Samuel staring at her from the side, she started preparing the food. : Washing, cutting...

All the while, shafts of sunlight struck Tina's body. She had her hair tied up, revealing her perfect neckline that made her look so vulnerable... Her clothes, too, had gone wrinkly from all the pulling from yesterday. Even though she was wearing an apron, her baggy clothes only made her look all the more alluring. Samuel's eyes darkened immediately.

As a healthy man, he hadn't had sex for years.

Not even with Cindy. Last night was an exception.

He was obviously dissatisfied from last night's activities. Not to mention, how tempting was she to him at this very moment

Tina could feel Samuel staring holes into her back, but she didn't dare to turn around and focused on finishing the breakfast instead. She never wished to be in the same room as him!

While she was putting the vegetables into the pot, Samuel walked toward her and carried her

That gave Tina a shock. She subconsciously wrapped her hands around his neck to defend

“What are you doing?!” Tina was furious, on the verge of screaming her lungs out. But Samuel’s glare was so intimidating, it gave her chills.

“What am I doing?” Samuel flashed her a wicked grin and said, “You’ll find out soon.”

However, Samuel left the room and came back with a men’s shirt. Her clothes were completely torn and destroyed!

“The food’s all burnt! How are we going to eat now?” Tina clenched her fists in anger. “You can choose to starve if you can’t solve it,” Samuel snapped. At that point, Tina wanted nothing more than to feed him poison. However, the images of the pills flashed through her mind as Samuel strode out of the kitchen. Tina realized immediately. in his arms.

He said coldly, “Let’s eat.”

Tina felt like crying ‘It can’t be...” herself.

Chapter 255 Never would have Tina thought that she’d be doing something like this right now.

Still, she knew she had to escape. Otherwise, she might die in Samuel’s hands.

She thought of her daughter. Kara must be worried sick at home.

Because of her broken phone, she couldn’t contact Kara or Frederick.

Those two were her family, and Tina didn’t want them to feel sad or worried over her sudden disappearance. Tina clenched her fists and entered the kitchen. After Tina left, Samuel looked at the papers in his hands. They were divorce papers. He was planning to end his marriage with Cindy once and for all. Of course, he would make sure that Cindy and Keith would be well-taken care of even after the divorce. As he was going through the papers, his phone started ringing. It was Cindy. “Samuel!” Cindy greeted in a sickly sweet tone. “Keith came back yesterday!” “Keith, it’s your father!” Keith, who was sitting next to Cindy, was hesitant to speak. But that angered Cindy and she immediately pinched Keith roughly. “Talk to your dad!”

This little prick! Didn’t they say he’s smart and all?’

‘Why’s he behaving so stupidly now?!! For Keith, the pain on his arm was nowhere near the pain in his heart. He had no idea why his mother would treat him in such a terrible way Keith clenched his teeth and decided to speak. “Dad...!!

“Yes.” Samuel sounded rather cold.

Cindy, on the other hand, was furious.

This son of hers was so completely useless! She couldn't believe he failed to make Samuel like him despite all these years. Plus, he even dared to act cold and uninterested with Samuel!

Cindy continued desperately, “Samuel, when are you coming back to see Keith? A child needs both his mother and father.”

Cindy knew very well that Samuel was a responsible man. Despite not liking her, he would still be responsible for her. As she had expected, Samuel softened his tone. He glanced at the divorce papers once more and said, “I'll be back soon. Also, there's something that I want to talk to you about: “Really?”

Cindy didn't catch the meaning behind his words. She was far too busy immersing in the joy that Samuel would be meeting her.

With that, she whined in a spoiled manner, “Samuel... I know you're a busy man. Are you coming back only at night? That's okay, I can wait!” “Oh, right! There's a romantic French restaurant nearby. Why don't we have dinner there?”

Before Samuel could say anything, Tina walked out of the kitchen. “I'm done!” She slammed the dishes heavily on the table on purpose as a sign of protest. However, Cindy was taken aback to hear Tina's voice. “Samuel, where are you? Who was that?!” Cindy might sound innocent and curious, but she was actually furious. She heard a woman's voice from Samuel's side! She was certain. Another woman was trying to seduce her husband! Tina, on the other hand, thought that Samuel was working. Even so, she still wanted her revenge. She went on, ensuring her voice rang loud and clear. “Mr. Langford, it's been a long night. You must be tired, right? Why not have some of the food I just prepared?”

Chapter 256 Samuel couldn't bother to reply to Cindy and ended the call.

“Did you do that on purpose?” But Tina didn't feel like answering. After settling down, she finally got to eat the porridge that she had previously prepared. But as the porridge had been sitting out for too long, it had turned cold. Samuel hadn't eaten Tina's cooking for quite some time, and he subconsciously missed it. However, the first taste gave Samuel a shock, and his face twisted into an ugly expression. “Tina, how much salt did you put in here?”

A lot of salt, of course.

Since she couldn't poison this man, Tina decided she would torture him with ridiculously salty food.

Obviously, she wouldn't dare to admit that. “Really?” Tina answered with an innocent look “Maybe my hand was shaking a little too much when I was seasoning the food.”

Samuel took a quick glance at Tina. Her face was indeed pale. After some thought, he decided to let her off the hook. Just when Tina thought Samuel would storm away in anger... He betrayed her expectations and he actually finished the whole thing. Did she put too little salt? Out of curiosity, she decided to try the porridge herself.

The next second...

Cough, cough, cough! Tina couldn't help but cough violently. The food was ridiculously salty. It wasn't edible in the slightest! She looked at Samuel, who had remained calm the entire time. Perhaps he had sleeping problems for too long that his taste buds were affected?!

Tina rushed to the kitchen and got herself a glass of water to drown away the saltiness.

"Get me one too." "Okay," Tina responded obediently. The sight of her weak body and the baggy clothes on her softened his heart.

Her obedience softened his heart even more. "Sit next to me," he ordered coldly. Tina froze, but she didn't dare to reject his command. "What are you afraid I'll eat you up?" Samuel felt annoyed. "I'm not cruel." "...Tina was speechless at his lack of self-awareness.

As if!

Before she could even sit down properly, Samuel grabbed her by her waist and put her on his lap.

Tina went numb when she felt Samuel's body warmth radiating around her. Fortunately, Samuel didn't do anything else other than read the paperwork on the table. Feeling confused, Tina asked, "Samuel, are you working?" Didn't Samuel hate when there were people around him while he was working? Why was he hugging her...? What did this mean?

"Quiet." Samuel cut her off without hesitation.

That was enough to scare Tina. Nervous, she started pulling on her clothes. She was wondering when the medicine she put in his water would start working... She was zoning out so much, she didn't notice how much she was moving on his lap.

Samuel frowned and hit her. "Stay still!"

Chapter 257 "Ah!" Tina didn't expect it to hurt. She hissed angrily, "Why did you hit me?!" He was the one who wouldn't allow her to leave, yet now, he was hitting her! He was just finding excuses to torture her. This demon! Samuel replied sarcastically, "Are you still going to pretend? Where did you learn all these seduction skills?" "I don't understand what you're saying!" Tina stood up angrily and left. "Come back here! Tina!"

"Come back so that you can torture me? Am I that stupid?" Tina turned around, glaring at him. But Samuel's voice turned deep from fury. "Leave? Try it!" Tina felt a rush of annoyance. "I'm just going to the toilet!" Samuel was obviously dissatisfied with the answer. He spat, "Be quick."

“Fine.” Tina ran to the toilet.

In truth, she didn’t want to use the toilet. It was just an excuse.

Tina squatted on the stairs and waited.

Finally...

Bang! Noises came from the dining hall.

Tina clenched her fists in triumph and took a deep breath before making her way to the dining hall.

As expected, Samuel was lying on the floor.

Her plan succeeded!

She wanted to escape, but she also knew that the mansion was probably far away from the city.

Thus, she needed to grab Samuel’s car keys. Plus, her phone was broken and she had to return before anything happened. Tina walked toward Samuel cautiously to check on him... Just then, her wrist was grabbed.

“Tina!” Samuel yelled, fuming.

The shock stunned Tina. ‘He’s still conscious?!’ Her hand flinched and she shook it off his grip. She had snuck in the sleeping pills so effortlessly... Then again, it seemed the pills did work. Yet Samuel’s aura was still as intimidating as ever, especially when paired with his fearsome glare. “You! You dare trick me!” Samuel yelled hoarsely. Tina calmed herself down. “Why not? Do you really think I’d give my life up to you and let you torture me to death?” “How dare you! Aren’t you afraid that I’d kill you...?!” “I am! I’m afraid. I mean, is there anything that you wouldn’t do?” Tina gave out a chuckle at his ridiculous words. He killed her once, didn’t he?

He didn’t even blink when he killed his own child, too!

If it weren’t for Frederick, she and Kara would’ve died long ago! “You should be grateful that I only gave you sleeping pills!” Tina shot him a look of unbridled disgust. “I hope you’ll reap what you sowed! Go to hell! Don’t ever come near me ever again!”

“You!”

Samuel had never looked more intimidating than he did at this moment. His glare was akin to a fierce lion ready to hunt and kill. Tina didn’t hesitate to grab his car keys and ran out of the mansion. As she rushed out, she failed to take notice of the divorce papers lying on the table. Clad in a man’s coat, she left the mansion as soon as she could. Before heading out, she sent a message to Frederick.

She must leave before Samuel woke up! Otherwise, Tina knew she would be dead meat!

Chapter 258 Tina stepped on the brakes and left the mansion with fervent speed, eager to escape Samuel grasp Meanwhile, Cindy was fueled with rage. How was this possible? There really was a woman trying to seduce her husband! Incensed, Cindy tried calling Samuel again.

However, an automated message replied instead. "Sorry, the person you called is unavailable. Please try again later..." Bang! Cindy's anger was through the roof. She proceeded to grab everything on the table and threw them to the floor, smashing them into bits. "You bit*h! You sl*t! How dare you seduce my husband!" "I'm gonna kill you! Ahhhh!!!"

Unable to contain her anger, Cindy dialed another number.

"Get your ass to Samuel's mansion right now and find out who that woman is!"

"I'm gonna find that bit*h and kill her!"

Cindy blurted everything out without caring that a child of five was right next to her.

She had lost her composure, and went on screaming venomous streams of curses non-stop. Her maniacal fury was baffling.

Keith, who had witnessed everything, was stunned and at a loss for words. He never knew that his mother could be this cruel!

"Mommy... Calm down..." Keith said softly, trying to comfort Cindy.

However, his appearance only served to aggravate her even further.

Keith's eyes were too similar to Tina Lynd's!

She raised the phone in her hand and threw it at Keith without hesitation.

Bang!

The phone hit Keith squarely on the forehead.

Unable to handle the pain, Keith fell to the ground. The next thing he knew, blood was dripping to the floor...

Staring at the crimson liquid, Keith was frozen stiff. Even though he did not cry nor shout, the pain was unbearable. Yet, Cindy didn't seem bothered by it at all.

He mumbled weakly under his breath, "Why are you doing this to me, Mommy?" "Why?! Because you deserve it! You useless piece of trash! Samuel was seduced by another woman because of you!" "I thought my life would be better if I had a son, but you're so stupid that Samuel hates you!" The more Cindy spoke, the more upset she became. She screamed shrilly, "They say you're a prodigy, but you're nothing but trash! You, lock him up! Lock him up in the attic! If Samuel isn't here, just let him starve to death in there!"

The servants were all terrified, but they were sympathetic towards Keith. "Young master, follow me to the attic! Give her some time to calm down!" one of the servants whispered to him.

After all, Cindy was no better than a madwoman at this point.

The young master was her son! How could she have the heart to abuse him? Keith was soon brought to the attic. Even there, he could still hear Cindy's endless screams, along with the servants' heated gossip.

He was reminded of the kind woman and the cute Kara.

Kara even shared her candies with him. Though he deeply regretted coming back home, he was happy to know that neither Kara nor her mother were involved in this terrible situation. Keith wondered how they were doing now... Far away, Tina felt her heart clenching in agony. What happened...? Why was she feeling this way?

Keith wondered how they were doing now... Far away, Tina felt her heart clenching in agony. What happened...? Why was she feeling this way?

Chapter 260

Kara's question almost broke Tina,

Still, she patted Kara's head with a strained smile.

"I'm not sure either, but I'll give you a call whenever I'm free. Okay?"

"Alright. You promised!" Tina looked at Kara with a smile. When Kara left with Frederick, her tears finally broke free and streamed down her cheeks.

She felt as if her heart had been torn into half. Her body had never felt this weak. It was as if a simple gust of the wind could blow her away with ease.

Despite that, she couldn't give up so easily. Tina took a deep breath and called her company. "What?! You'll be gone for three months?" "Yes, I'm going back to my hometown so I might not be able to return during this period of time." "Okay," Tiffany responded. "Maybe by the time you're back, I'd be a professional already!" "Alright, but remember to buy me a meal." After settling her work affairs, Tina threw her phone away. When Tina first came to Paris, she was a nobody. She had to rely on Frederick for the past five years to get to where she was now. Who knew Samuel would easily destroy everything she had worked for.

Tina took her remaining money and bought a fake identity card and a unit in a poor neighborhood.

It was an old unit, with multiple rooms on the same floor.

Most of the residents of the unit were factory workers or women with inappropriate outfits. Now that Samuel had found out about her existence, Tina had no choice but to hide in shabby places such as this.

Yet as soon as she appeared, everyone's attention was on her.

After all, she looked much cleaner and neater compared to the rest of them.

She didn't have the time to change, and was still wearing Samuel's clothes.

"Why's someone like you here?! Your clothes look expensive! I think I saw them in a fashion magazine once. I bet they cost a lot, right?"

One of the women approached her, wanting to strip the clothes off her.

Slap!

Tina slapped the woman's hands away immediately.

"It's none of your business!"

Despite that, the woman thought that Tina was a pushover and continued harassing Tina.

"What kind of attitude is that? You're just like us! We're all selling our bodies for money." "I didn't want to say this, but judging from your clothes, your customer must be rich!" After the woman finished her sentence, everyone realized what was happening and started laughing raucously. Tina couldn't be bothered with their insults and closed the door immediately after entering her room.

The room had no sound insulation, so she could hear everything from outside.

Thanks to Samuel, she had reverted back to her miserable life five years ago. For the entire night, she couldn't sleep. As it was her first night here, she didn't dare to close her eyes. It was not until morning that she dared to close her eyes and try to sleep. But just as she did so, loud noises came from outside
