

Passive Skills 11

Chapter 11: The First Kill

At this moment, Thousand Miles Riding Alone and Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes also ran over. Now, both of them could also see the attributes of the boss.

“D*mn it! All the bosses in the New World are so strong? Even if we have all the level 10 equipment, we won’t be able to defeat them. How many people would have to die before they could grind them to death?”

Thousand Miles Riding Alone was also shocked by the wild boar king’s attributes. Not only did it have over 500 HP, but it also had a heavy hit passive. Who could withstand it? Only by using lives would have a chance to grind it to death. 1

“How could a boss be stuck? It doesn’t make any sense.” Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes was also puzzled.

“Maybe when it was chasing after Six Guan, it activated its enhanced charge skill, and then it couldn’t stop. I saw the boss suddenly increase its speed at the end. It must have activated its skill. Forget it, let’s fight it together. No matter how strong the stuck boss was, it was still a stump monster. We just fight it.” Thousand Miles Riding Alone was analyzing the situation while carrying his ax and was about to attack the boss.

“Wait, it’s best that we, close-range attackers, don’t go up and attack the boss. What if the aggro gets messed up, the boss falls back, and doesn’t get stuck anymore? It’s best that we just let Six Guan fight it alone and keep attacking the boss at the front to draw the boss’s aggro. This way, we’ll be more stable. Only long-ranged attackers could fight it and draw the boss’s aggro. When it keeps pushing forward, the more it will get stuck, and the tighter it becomes.” Wind-Blowing Wind Chime stopped Thousand Miles Riding Alone and analyzed the situation.

“Then what should we do? I can’t do it by myself. I can only deal 2-3 damage with one hit. With 20,000 HP, how long will we have to fight? Moreover, the boss definitely has a healing effect. Oh yes, what class are your brother and Little Secretary? Are they long-ranged attackers? Call them over to fight together.”

Zhang Shan said anxiously. If he were to fight alone, how long would they have to fight? If the boss had a fast healing speed, they would probably not be able to kill it even if they fought until the sky turned dark.

“My brother is a Fire Mage, and Little Secretary is a Guardian Warrior. I’ll call them over. When we’re distributing the items later, the three of us will have priority. They can be considered to be helping. After all, the boss is already stuck. It’s completely a stump monster. As long as we spend some time, we’ll definitely be able to kill it. Give me the captain, and I’ll add them in.” After saying this, Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes started to contact the World of Storm.

Zhang Shan quickly transferred the captain to Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes. 1

System: you have handed over the captain to Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes.

System: World of Storm joins the team.

System: Little Secretary of Storm joins the team.

“They are a bit far from here. It will take them about seven or eight minutes to get here. Also, I will adjust the distribution model. We cannot randomly distribute items when we fight the boss,” said Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes. 1

“Yes, the randomness is too ridiculous. They all fell into you guys’ hands. They never dropped anything for me.” Thousand Miles Riding Alone could not help but complain.

System: team leader Wind-Blowing Wind Chime has changed the distribution model of the team’s earnings. The new distribution model: the team leader will host the LO points distributing the items, and the money will be distributed equally. 2

Okay.

The team leader hosting LO points was the normal distribution method for fighting the boss. This way, everyone would be able to accept it.

Zhang Shan looked at the levels of the team members. The three of them were level 4. Storm of the World was already level 5. Little Secretary of the Storm was also level 4. It could be that they kept buying equipment and copper coins from others and delayed the time to level up.

After seven to eight minutes, Zhang Shan saw two people running over from afar. Although Zhang Shan had been attacking the boss nonstop, it had only lost less than 1,000 HP. Compared to the boss’s HP, it was very minimal.

If he fought alone, he would not be able to kill the boss even if he used up all the bullets in his backpack. Fortunately, he had bought a lot before he came out. Now, he still had more than 6,000 normal bullets left. With the addition of a Fire Mage’s attack, it should be enough.

At this moment, Storm of the World and Little Secretary of the Storm had already run over. Zhang Shan saw that the staff in Storm of the World’s hand was emitting green light. It should be a green weapon. Its attack power would definitely be very high. The other equipment on him seemed to be complete as well, just that there was no flash of light. They were all probably white equipment.

After all, the possibility of good equipment being produced was too low. Other than Thief opening chests, they could only rely on small monsters to drop them. In the entire novice village, other than Zhang Shan’s own Black Iron Ring, he did not know if there was a second person who had dropped equipment with attributes.

The equipment of the Little Secretary of the Storm was also complete. It was likely that they were all white equipment. However, it was not easy to have a complete set of equipment now, so it was difficult for him to keep collecting equipment.

“Brother, these two are Six Guan Bodhisattva and Thousand Miles Riding Alone. I’ve invited them to join our guild,” Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes said.

“Alright, welcome to the Storm Guild. In the future, everyone can play together. If you need any help, just say it. Let’s fight the boss first.” Storm of the World was very direct, he did not talk any nonsense.

After saying that, he threw Fire Ball Spell at the wild boar king at -12-16-10, and the burning effect of -2-2 kept appearing. A mage’s damage was indeed high, and the damage was several times higher than Zhang Shan's. The burning effect of the Fire Ball Spell was much stronger than Zhang Shan's damage. The effect dealt damage once a second, while Zhang Shan's current attack interval was 2 seconds.

However, a mage's casting speed was relatively slow, and it took about 3 seconds to cast a fireball. But the explosive damage was still high. Mages were indeed the children of the game, and it was the same no matter which game they were in. 2

The two fought the boss while the three people were watching by the side.

At this moment, Storm of the World said, "The three of you, melee fighters, clear the monsters nearby so that you won't accidentally attract the small monsters and mess things up."

Okay.

Two warriors and a Priest were clearing the small monsters by the side. It did not take long to clear them all. Now only the wild boar king was left in this area.

"You guys are so talented. How did you guys stop the boss? Did you have any strategies? If you cut out the video of the game and put it on the forum, you will definitely earn a small sum of money," Little Secretary of the Storm said curiously.

"It was stuck by Six Guan Bodhisattva. He just fought the boss for a while and then ran towards the middle of the rocks. The boss then got stuck. It's very simple, hehe," Thousand Miles Riding Alone said with a smile.

"It can't be that simple. How could there be such a bug in the New World?" Little Secretary of the Storm was in complete disbelief.

"This was exactly how Six Guan Bodhisattva did it. However, it should be a small probability event. When the boss chased until it reached in front of the rocks, it suddenly activated its enhanced collision skill and charged straight towards the middle of the rocks. It couldn't stop and got stuck. If it had activated its enhanced collision earlier, Six Guan Bodhisattva would have died. If it had been a little later, it shouldn't have gotten stuck. It was only at that moment the boss activated its skill and got stuck. It shouldn't be man-made." Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes analyzed for a moment and said.

"In other words, if we try a few more times, there's still a chance to do it," Little Secretary of the Storm said after thinking for a while.

"There's no need to find someone to try. It can't be a bug. It's definitely a small probability event. It has to do with many factors, such as the movement speed of Six Guan Bodhisattva, the position he was standing at, the timing when he started running, and even the direction his character was facing. This is practically impossible to replicate. If you find a Hunter class with the same equipment, the same agility attribute, the same position, the same direction, and the same opportunity to run, then there's a chance of success. Perhaps there's another mechanism. In any case, it's basically difficult to replicate, so there's no point trying.

"However, posting the video on the forum to earn some game coins was fine. After defeating the boss and posting it on the forums, many people would definitely be curious. When the video was uploaded, and fixing the fees cheaper, many people would probably spend money to watch it," Storm of the World analyzed the situation, which indeed made a lot of sense.

“Hehe, Six Guan Bodhisattva, when you’re done fighting, send the video to me. I’ll use my alt account to operate it. I’ll split the money earned with you,” said the Little Secretary of the Storm. 1

As the New World Forum was bound to the game characters, there was no such thing as an alternate account. However, solutions were always more than difficulties. There would always be someone who would come up with a solution. It was just a little more troublesome.

First, they had to buy a helmet. Most importantly, they needed someone to use the helmet. Zhang Shan was not surprised that a large guild would leave such a trick up its sleeves.

“Alright, you can add me later.”

Time slowly passed. Zhang Shan continued to attack the boss. Meanwhile, Storm of the World had to sit down to recover after a while. Although he had enough small blue bottles, due to the cooldown time of the potion, he could not continue to use his skills.

After the two of them had attacked the boss for nearly an hour, the wild boar king’s HP had dropped to 4,000. The wild boar king, whose HP had dropped, went back to its berserk state. Not only were its eyes red, but even its skin was also slowly turning red, and it was still swaying left and right.

After the boss went berserk, it became even more terrifying. But its defense seemed to be much weaker. Now, Zhang Shan could deal more than 10 damage to the boss, and Storm of the World could deal more than 40 damage. As long as nothing unexpected happened, it was estimated that they would be able to destroy it in a few minutes.

“The boss won’t swing out, right? If it doesn’t get stuck till the end, we’ll be at a huge loss. No one can stop it.” Seeing the boss madly dropping items and struggling non-stop, Thousand Miles Riding Alone couldn’t help but feel a little worried.

“It shouldn’t be. It’s stuck tightly. Unless it lifts up the two rocks. But that’s impossible as the rocks are in the game. Even if you use an ax to chop them, it won’t have any effect,” Storm of the World said confidently. 1

“Will anyone be snatching the boss? Should we be on guard?” Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes asked worriedly.

“We should be on guard. The main thing is to prevent Thief from stealing the boss. If you guys keep moving around, the Thief’s stealth will be detected when getting close.” Storm of the World thought for a moment and arranged for the three melee fighters to patrol the area.

After the boss went berserk, its HP dropped rapidly. 3,000,2,000,1,000,500. In just a few minutes, the wild boar king let out an unwilling howl and fell to the ground. The entire process did not cause any waves at all. Several rays of various colors fell into the package of Wind-Blowing Wind Chimes. 1
