

Passive Skills 53

Chapter 53 Opening the treasure chest

Feng Yun realm did not hold back and opened the treasure chest.

he then took out a shield.

[perfect steel shield: defense 960, hp 4600, strength 86, special effect 1, unmovable mountain; special effect 2, life blessing] Equipment level 20, durability 100 – 100.

[immovable mountain: with this special effect, the user will not be knocked back.]

[life blessing: increase HP by 3%.]

“f * ck, the little secretary is in luck. a level 20 red shield, strong.”

” yeah, just defense alone has increased by almost 1000, health by more than 4000, and there’s even this special effect that increases health. it’s strong. ”

“It’s a pity that I didn’t get a spiritual weapon.”

“How can it be so easy to obtain a spirit tool? the chance is only one in ten thousand.”

“Yeah, the chances are too low.”

there are only two 4-star Treasure chests. The boss has one, and the second place Wargod Lu Bu has one. I wonder if he got any spirit weapons? ”

“He doesn’t have that kind of luck, right? it’s only a one in ten thousand chance.”

“I’m here to ask him. I’m close to him.” Windcloud blade said.

After a short while, wind cloud blade said smugly, ” that idiot was the same as me. He also got an orange material, but he didn’t even get any equipment. It’s far worse than the red Shield that boss got.

f * ck, this treasure chest opening mechanism is too much of a scam. The second place on the leaderboard only got an orange material. I’m going to vomit blood.

“Orange equipment and above are not easy to get, but there will definitely be a lot of purple equipment this time.”

that’s for sure. There are so many people in the game, and there’s a one in ten thousand chance. It’s not surprising that there are ten thousand purple equipment today.

purple equipment is going to be cheap again. I was still wearing purple equipment, but now I’m wearing civilian clothes.

I’ll have to find bosses to farm in the future. Otherwise, I won’t be able to update my equipment. I should at least get orange equipment by level 20.

we have to kill more bosses. We can level up slowly, but we have to keep up with our equipment.

first, arrange for people to guard the four city gates. Report to the heaven and earth Guild's people when they see them and organize people to kill them. We have to kill them until they leave Danyang city and let them mingle in other cities. Don't stay in the same city with us. Disgusting.

Feng Yun realm still remembered the matter with the heaven and earth Guild. Those people were really too much.

boss, I'll arrange this. Our Guild has a lot of people now, so we'll send 200 people to keep an eye on the heaven and earth Guild. If they dare to leave the city, we'll kill them.

Windcloud blade asked excitedly.

Berserkers liked to pk, so he couldn't wait for it to be more lively.

two hundred is too little. The heaven and earth Guild has more than two hundred people. Why don't we go together? "

"no need. we'll draw 200 people. if we don't level up these two days and focus on them, i don't believe they won't leave."

"that's true. if they dare to go head to head with us, they won't have a place in the gaming world in the future if they can't level up their equipment, let alone be one of the top ten guilds."

"en, we'll just send yi dao and his men over. after killing them a few more times, they'll naturally retreat and go to other cities to develop. as long as they don't act lowly in front of us, we'll let them be."

Feng Yun realm ordered the Berserker, one blade, to make the arrangements.

Windcloud blade immediately started recruiting players in the Guild channel. With a single call, the response was overwhelming.

People who played games were still full of energy. When they heard that there was a pk battle, they all wanted to get involved.

There weren't many like Zhang Shan, who just wanted to quietly farm monsters.

"I'll go and block the door." After saying so, Windcloud blade teleported away.

"Okay, okay, let's go. Those who want to kill monsters or bosses find someone to team up with. "Feng Yun realm then disbanded the party.

After the event ended, he still had to continue leveling up. Levels were the king.

"Hey, wait a minute. Brother artifact hasn't opened the treasure chest yet. Don't you want to know what he opened? You might get a divine artifact."

Feng Ling said mischievously to the crowd.

"i don't want to know. i'm afraid of being shocked, so i'll leave first as a sign of respect. don't tell me the results unless he gets a blank slate."

"Yes, if godly equipment bro gets a white board, you have to say it to make us happy."

Zhang Shan was speechless. He had met such a bad person. What kind of people were they? couldn't they hope for something good?

"do you think i can get the panda baby to help me open my suitcase? The baby's luck was high, so the chances of getting good items were higher."

Zhang Shan had not opened the treasure chest all this while. He had been thinking about whether there was such a possibility.

"In your dreams. How dare you have such a shameless thought."

"That's right, how is that possible? the treasure chest should be placed in the bag after it's taken out. You can't take it out and place it on the ground, so how can you let the baby open it for you?"

"Brother artifact might want to throw the baby into his backpack and help him open the box."

"Ah, can't I take out the treasure chest?"

zhang shan really did not know the answer to this question. he had thought that he could take out the treasure chest and open it on the ground.

No wonder he only heard them say that they had found something, but did not see their boxes.

It was opened in the backpack. the results would only appear in front of the character after the game was opened.

He was still thinking too much.

...

Forget it, his luck was 9 points, which was already very high. He should not be too unlucky.

I'm going to open it. I hope it'll give me something good. I don't want the divine artifact anymore. Just give me a red equipment.

zhang shan said to everyone. a portion of them had already teleported away, but most of them were still waiting for him to open the box.

After opening the treasure chest in his backpack, Zhang Shan's front was ordinary, without any lighting effects.

F * ck, it couldn't really be a whiteboard, right?

zhang shan hurriedly checked his backpack. there seemed to be an additional skill book. it should have been obtained from opening a chest. his backpack originally did not have a skill book.

brother artifact, did you really open a white board? this is nonsense. This is the reward for the first place.

hehe, that's possible. They only said that the chance of getting a God-tiered item is one in ten thousand. They didn't say that it won't be a normal item.

that shouldn't be possible. Brother artifact, what exactly did you open? even if it's a whiteboard, let us see.

"it's a skill book," Zhang Shan said happily.

"Eh? Treasure chests can also give skill books?"

...

yes, I just heard that someone got it, but the chances are much lower than getting equipment.

"what skill book? what class? let's see."

zhang shan displayed the skill book.

[berserk: Level 1. Removes all status effects and is immune to all status effects for the duration of the berserk state. During the duration of the berserk state, the damage received will be doubled. Attack power and attack speed will be increased by 2%. Duration of 1 second. Cooldown of 5 minutes. Class requirement. Can be used by all classes.]

"F * ck, this skill is awesome. It can dispel control and increase attack power and attack speed, but the duration is a little short."

"That's not a short period of time. One level is one second."

"This skill is awesome. It's just that after going berserk, it will become more fragile and the damage taken will double. You have to use it at the right time. Otherwise, once you go berserk, you'll be killed immediately."

"Compared to being controlled, this is nothing. More importantly, it can be used by all classes. Why haven't I heard of this skill before?"

this skill might be a rare skill in the later stages. There aren't many crowd control skills now, so it shouldn't have been released so early. Godly equipment bro is ahead of everyone again.

"That's right, divine equipment bro is walking too fast, even the system can't keep up with you, hehe."

Zhang Shan also liked this skill very much. As long as he was not controlled, he would not be afraid no matter how many people attacked him.

His attack power was high and he had a long range. He would not give others a chance to get close to him and cut him down. He was afraid of being controlled and attacked by a group.

After learning berserk, he still had five skill points left. He would level it up to Level 5 first and then Max it out when he had skill points.

The level 5 berserk skill had a duration of 5 seconds and increased attack power and attack speed by 10%. It was extremely powerful.