Chapter 75 The wrath of the stars

The wolf King was finally defeated by them, and everyone heaved a sigh of relief.

The Secretary and Zhang Shan changed back into their cloaks.

that was really close. If we had been a little slower, the wolf King would probably have used a big move.

yeah, it's too hard for a level 20 to fight a level 30 red boss. The wolf King might be the easiest one to deal with.

indeed, if it wasn't for the level suppression, the wolves' attacks wouldn't be much of a threat to the players.

"that's right, i can't even take on three wolves at the same time, if i'm also level 30, wouldn't that be a piece of cake?"

"stop chatting, pull me up. i want to share the equipment." A certain Big Shot who was lying on the ground kept shouting.

The supports were also a little dizzy. There were so many people lying on the ground, how were they supposed to pull them up?

they now had four players with resurrection skills, but there were close to 30 people lying on the ground. it was a problem who they should pull first.

The cooldown time of the resurrection skill was five minutes, and after dying, one could not lie down indefinitely and wait for others to resurrect them.

There was a time limit to lying on the ground. The player could only lie on the ground for an hour at most. If the time was exceeded, the system would make the player automatically resurrect in the city, and the experience would be reduced by one level.

"Resurrect according to the order of death. Let's pull up the ones who died first."

"Hurry up and pull me, i'm the first one to die."

have some shame. You're a vegetable dog that died the fastest. How dare you show off.

"So what if I die the fastest? f * ck, I don't want to lie on the ground for half an hour."

The Big Shot who fell to the ground first ridiculed.

with the help of the resurrection skill, the first four people who died were revived. as for the others, they could only wait.

the last batch would probably have to lie on the ground for more than half an hour. fortunately, they could wait. at least they did not have to return to the city to revive and lose a level.

boss, hurry up and open the equipment. I saw a red light just now. There should be red equipment.

there's definitely red equipment. It's the first clear of a red BOSS, so how can there be no red equipment? "

"Haha, I hope it's useful to me."

so what if it's useful to you? you're such a loser. Do you think you could have rolled for it? "

"It's none of your business,"

Feng Yun realm displayed all the drops.

"Damn, the wolf King is so generous."

"what's that skill book? So awesome, was it an Archer's ultimate move? how did a level 30 BOSS drop it?"

looking at the items feng yun realm displayed, everyone's mouth was about to drool. there were simply too many good items.

two red and two orange equipment, one red material.

The key was that there were two skill books, one of which was a skill for all classes, jump.

The other skill book was the wrath of the stars, which was extremely powerful and was likely to be the ultimate skill of the Archer class.

As for why level 30 bosses would start to drop ultimate skill books, only the system would know.

The two pieces of red equipment were not bad. One was an agility-type bracer, and the other was a thief-type weapon.

perfect skywolf bracer (red): defense 200, health points 1000, agility 120, special effect 1, nimble hand, special effect 2, life care, durability 100-100.

[nimble hand: increase attack speed by 3%]

[favor of life: increases health regeneration speed by 10.]

Complete Wolf Fang Dagger (red): Physical attack power 1400-1600, agility 207, special effect 1, power attack, special effect 2, enhanced critical hit, durability 100-100.

[basic assault: increase attack power by 3%]

[enhanced critical strike: increases critical strike rate by 3%.]

The other two pieces of orange equipment were both strength-type equipment. Although their attributes were not bad, they were not worth mentioning when compared to the red-type equipment.

Compared to the equipment, everyone was more interested in the two skill books.

These two skill books were of the highest quality and were too precious, especially the Archer's wrath of the stars. It was definitely the first one to appear in the New World.

There was no need to talk about the jump. It could be used by all classes. top quality, no explanation, everyone needed it. as long as they had this skill, their life-saving ability would be greatly improved.

With a jump, he jumped ten yards forward and ran away.

[wrath of the stars: shoots an arrow into the sky, causing the stars to fall, causing large area of effect damage.]

10x damage, damage range of 50 yards, charge for five seconds, duration of five seconds, mp consumption of 20000, cooldown time of 24 hours, class requirement, archer.

It was the real ultimate skill, with a large damage range, ten times the damage, and lasted for five seconds.

within these five seconds, anyone who dared to enter the damage range would be courting death, unless they had invincibility or magic immunity skills in the future.

However, the cooldown time was a little long, and he could only use this skill once a day.

there was another thing that was even more ridiculous. the mana cost was actually 20000.

even mages who added all their points to intelligence only had 3000 to 4000 mana.

How could an Archer who focused on agility get 20000 mana points?

Zhang Shan had added all his points to agility, and his magic had not even reached a thousand yet.

20,000 magic. He really didn't know when the Archer class would be able to gather that amount.

although the skill was impressive, it was a pity that it could only be seen and not used for a long time.

"f * ck, isn't this a scam? i only have a few hundred mana points online, is this still a skill that an archer can use? It actually costs 20000 MP."

what a f * cking trap. I thought it was a godly skill, but it's a trap skill.

"not necessarily. although there are no archers with 20000 mana skills, i can collect special items in the future."

"You're right. There are already quite a few special items, and some of them add mana, but they're not that good. They only add a few hundred or a thousand at most."

it can add hundreds or thousands of points. They're all green or white. As long as I get a Red Special item, I'll definitely have enough mana."

you're really daring. A Red Special item? "

"That's right. Other than brother artifact's hand of Madas, I've never heard of a special item above blue."

"There are still some spirit-level special items that can be obtained by following my heart. Zhang Shan interrupted.

“Holy sh * t, is that true?”

“It’s true. He showed it to me before. It’s a special item for spellblades. It increases sword attacks by 50%.”

“What the f * ck, why is he so lucky? what monster did he kill to get it?”

“it didn’t drop. he said that the village chief gave it to him when he left the novice village.”

“There’s such a thing? Why didn’t the village chief give me anything good? he even charged me a gold coin for the teleportation fee.”

“because you’re a bad person.”

“Because you’re ugly, hehe.”

“Hehe my A * s, you speak as if the village chief has given you something.”

“I don’t want it even if you give it to me, I want to kill monsters and kill them myself.”

“All-mouthy King.”

“Don’t talk nonsense, let’s distribute the equipment first? There were so many good things, it made people drool.”

alright, let’s distribute it now. The first item will be the wrath of the stars skill book. All archers will ROLL for it.

After Feng Yun realm finished speaking, he rolled the wrath of the stars skill book.

the boss doesn’t play by the rules. He actually rolled the best item first.

“Hehe, let’s see which one of you is the lucky one.”
