

Passive Skills 83

Chapter 83 Wild Wolf's talent

As Zhang Shan cleared the monsters, he moved forward. The Dragon King of the East Sea and the rest were also having a hard time chasing after him.

"Boss, are we still going to chase? there are too many monsters, and many people have already died and returned to the city. it's getting harder and harder for us to catch up."

why not? even six-barreled Bodhisattva can advance through a horde of monsters by himself. There are so many of us, what are we afraid of? "

The Dragon King of the East Sea said through gritted teeth. In fact, he didn't want to chase them anymore. He wanted to find a safe place and cast a teleport spell.

However, he could not afford to lose this face. He would rather be killed by Zhang Shan than to return to the city in such a dejected state.

he had just established a guild in high spirits and even challenged the wind cloud guild. if he didn't even have the courage to deal with zhang shan alone ...

Then what was the point of the Guild War tomorrow? even if they had a trump card, it would be useless. How could they fight the Guild War when they had lost all their energy?

Hence, they had to chase after them, even if they had to lose a level.

If you lost your level, you could always level it back up, but if you lost your fighting spirit, it was all over.

Zhang Shan did not know that many of traversing Four Seas 'members were actually giving up. He was only moving forward as he quietly waited for his skills to cool down.

[system notification: your passive skill, passive King, has been activated by killing a demonized wild wolf. You have automatically obtained the wild Wolf's passive skill.]

What?

This was the passive effect of a wild wolf. Could it be that it was easier to trigger the talent when one was red-named?

This didn't make sense.

The last time he had passive magic resistance, it was also when he was red-named, and this time it was the same. This made Zhang Shan feel a little like he had to try the idea a few more times.

Wasn't this a bit dangerous? every time he wanted to farm a passive skill, he should first kill a wave of people and make himself a big red name before farming the passive?

No, this thought was too dangerous. He could not have it. If he thought about killing people for no reason, this would not match Zhang Shan's original intentions.

He just wanted to be a quiet brush, he didn't want to kill people.

It must be a coincidence. Being passive had nothing to do with red names.

It must be like this.

First, let's see what the wild Wolf's talent is like. Does it have the same skill as the wind Cloud Cannon's little wild wolf?

[wild wolf talent (passive): level 1 (acquired talent, can not be upgraded), increases critical hit rate by 3%.]

The skill effect was the same as the little wild Wolf's, but the skill name was different, so it should be able to stack.

Although critical damage only increased by 100%, it was already very good. He just needed to get a few more passive skills like this.

At that time, all his damage would be critical hits. It was so satisfying just thinking about it.

It just so happened that his berserk and fanatic skills were already on cooldown. Coupled with his newly-acquired passive skills, it was time to test out the critical hit effect on the players from traversing Four Seas.

Zhang Shan slowed down the speed of clearing the monsters and pretended that it was already very difficult. He had to give the Dragon King of the East Sea and the others some hope.

Otherwise, they wouldn't have taken the bait, and he wouldn't have chased after them despite the large number of wild wolves.

At the very least, he had to get out of the monster-filled area. There were too many wolves here, and it would be very disadvantageous for his pursuit later.

He had to make them come up on their own.

Zhang Shan slowed down his speed of clearing the monsters, and the wild wolves around him quickly increased.

The Dragon King of the East Sea immediately noticed the situation.

let's hurry up and move forward. Six-barreled Bodhisattva can't be fast. Like I said, he can't clear the monsters faster than we can by himself.

"It can't be a trap, right, boss?"

yeah, I feel like six-barreled Bodhisattva's clearing speed isn't as fast as before. This doesn't make sense.

don't worry about that. As long as we can get close to him, it'll be fine. We still have dozens of people here. Each of us can kill him in seconds.

Right now, Zhang Shan looked like he was having a hard time. The Panda baby was guarding Zhang Shan by his side, holding off a few wild wolves.

And Zhang Shan was slowly killing the wolves with his gun. A large number of newly spawned wolves quickly filled the gap.

they surrounded him.

No matter how one looked at it, Zhang Shan was almost unable to hold on.

haha, Bodhisattva six-barreled, you're doomed. Even if we don't beat you up, you'll be killed by the monsters and sent back to the city.

why are you talking nonsense with him? let's attack together. Warriors, if you have the chance, use charge and hack this b * tch to death. Let him be arrogant and dare to kill our boss.

the men from traversing four seas were slowly approaching zhang shan's attack range, but there were too many wild wolves around him.

Warriors like the Dragon King of the East Sea couldn't use charge against him, as they would accidentally charge into the wild wolves.

Seeing that they had entered the firing range, Zhang Shan did not hesitate. He controlled the Panda baby to block all the wolves around him.

They turned their guns and quickly attacked any traversing Four Seas members that approached them.

Their equipment was decent, much better than the ones from the heaven and earth Guild.

Zhang Shan had to fire two shots for fragile professions. One critical shot was enough.

As for the strength-type, they were much more troublesome. Most of them had close to 20000 HP, and The Guardian had even more HP.

He ignored the strength-type classes and prioritized the brittleskin classes. As long as the brittleskin entered his shooting range, he would defeat them all.

"Let's do it. Six-barreled Bodhisattva's attack is too high and his range is further than ours. We can't get close."

"Warriors, line up and block six-barreled Bodhisattva's line of sight. Don't let him hit our fragile professions."

...

More than ten Warriors moved forward in a row. Of course, this was just a statement. There were so many wild wolves around them, and there were shooting gaps everywhere.

it was impossible for them to protect brittleskin.

Warriors, charge at the wild wolves around six-barreled Bodhisattva. Slash them when they get close.

The Dragon King of the East Sea took the lead and charged towards a wild wolf beside Zhang Shan.

Then he waved the axe and slashed at Zhang Shan. It was hard to believe that he still had spare weapons in his backpack.

The other Warriors also followed suit and charged towards the wolves. When they got close, they used all kinds of knives to cut at Zhang Shan.

This was a little dangerous.

He had to kill the Dragon King of the East Sea first.

Just as the axe of the Dragon King of the East Sea was about to land on Zhang Shan, he controlled the baby panda beside him.

He went up and used a combo skill, seven hits.

The Dragon King of the eastern sea, the boss of traversing Four Seas, had once again fallen to the ground.

...

f * ck! Six-barreled Bodhisattva, you're looking for death. How dare you kill our boss? kill him!

Originally, the wild wolves that had surrounded Zhang Shan had already turned around to attack them because of the warrior's charge.

It saved Zhang Shan a lot of trouble.

Since so many Warriors were close to him, he had to beat them down first. Otherwise, with each of them taking one blade, he would be killed with two blades each.

There was no support to heal him now, so he couldn't hold on at all.

However, it didn't matter. As long as his damage output was high enough and he killed fast enough, there would be fewer people who could deal damage to him.

The level 3 fanaticism skill was activated, and the attack speed increased by 30%. The speed of the bullets fired by the divine artifact hand cannon became faster.

No matter how tanky a warrior was, in the face of a violent damage output, they would not be of much use.

at the same time, zhang shan was also being slashed and his health was decreasing rapidly.