The Peremptory Casey Davies Chapter 41 Scared Out of His Pants

It didn't take Morgan long to bring back a few strong tattooed fellows for Casey.

"Casey, what's wrong, didn't he give you the money?" Morgan asked.

"This man is a cheat. He fooled us yesterday. It's useless to reason with him. I can only rely on you guys."

Casey smiled bitterly.

"Damn, how dare he fool my man Casey. Leave it to me. I will have this old guy beaten up." Morgan waved his fist.

"Be careful, he is over fifty years old, and if you don't pay attention, his medical restitution might be much more. Just try to scare him and let him pay all the money back."

Casey said.

"I got you Casey. Don't worry, you just need to wait here, we will go up now." Morgan said confidently.

Casey nodded as he watched Morgan and his men enter the community.

Morgan was really a helpful man, but he had a bad temper and was born to be aggressive. He could be a good sword, but never a general.

Now that Casey wanted to unify the underground world of J City, he must find someone who could plan for the overall scheme. Although Morgan was one of the three underground kings now, he was not good at being a leader at all.

His duty was to follow and fight behind Casey. In the past few years, if it wasn't Casey who made plans for him, he couldn't even be one of the three kings.

Also, judging from Morgan's personality, he wouldn't like to be a leader either. Morgan had told Casey a long time ago that he would rather be a local roughneck than become a leader.

Since he couldn't find the right candidate, Casey didn't rush to eliminate Alfred, who was also one of the three underground kings.

"No hurry, it's hard to find such a talent." Casey shook his head and stopped thinking about it.

Dempsey Wong was sitting on the sofa and watching TV leisurely with his legs folded together.

After coming back yesterday, he had realized that Amara wouldn't ask him for money again, so this TV became his private property.

"Casey is such a useless person. Fooled by me like that, he dared not to complain at all. Now Amara must be thinking that this TV was broken by Casey, who could never explain this clearly."

"It's fun to run into such a coward. I should find another chance to fool him again."

Dempsey Wong was quite self-conceited, since he successfully blamed everything on Casey and also gained a TV for nothing.

Suddenly, there was a knock on the door.

Dempsey hurriedly turned off the TV, worrying that Amara would actually come back to check if the TV was broken.

He immediately came up with some countermeasures. He pretended to be angry when he walked to the door, and said, "I told you it was Casey that broke the TV. Come in and take a look if you don't believe me!"

But when he opened the door, he found that it was not Amara, instead, it was a young man with short hair. Along with him were several tattooed men standing behind, which frightened Dempsey.

"Who...who are you looking for?" Dempsey's voice trembled.

He was beaten by the gangsters when he was a child, leaving serious psychological shadow in his mind, so when he would be scared when he saw the tattoos.

Morgan didn't say anything and just walked straight into Dempsey's place.

Dempsey was forced to move backwards, but he dared not to say anything.

Then Morgan sat on the sofa, staring at the TV, and switched to a channel that he liked.

Dempsey couldn't figure out what these people were up to, so he asked carefully, "Dear brothers, what do you guys want..."

Morgan took out a machete wrapped in newspaper directly and threw it on the table.

Dempsey was scared to the ground, with tears all over his face.

"Please don't kill me. I don't know you guys at all. I'm an old man, please don't do this to me."

Seeing his cowardice, Morgan reassured himself that Dempsey was only a coward that liked to bully the weak ones. If it wasn't Casey's request, he would have already beaten the old man up.

"I heard that you owed someone money recently?" Morgan asked coldly.

"No...I didn't." Dempsey asked back confusedly.

Morgan said no more and picked up the machete directly.

Dempsey was so scared out of his pants at once.

"Wait, wait, wait, I did owe someone money, please calm down."

Dempsey said sadly.

"Don't be nervous, I am just trying to polish my nails." Dempsey indeed began to polish his finger nails.

Dempsey had already cursed Morgan a few times in his heart, who would polish his nails with a machete.

"I don't like people who owe money and never pay it back. I really want to stab these kind of people when I actually meet one. Do you know what I mean?" Dempsey continued.

Dempsey immediately nodded and said, "Don't worry man, I will pay all the money back today, and I will never do such thing."

Dempsey nodded contently and said, "Remember what you said, if you don't pay all the money back, I will come again tomorrow."

After that, he left with his men.
Dempsey sighed in relief, and whispered in his heart that he was really unlucky today. How come he ran into such a roughneck with a sense of justice at this time. He had never dared to fool those people. After Morgan and the others left, he changed his pants and then started to check his bills carefully. In order to pay back all the money that he had owed these years, he added up all the debts and then pay the money back door by door. Even Morgan himself did not expect that Dempsey was so afraid. Originally Morgan simply wanted Dempsey to pay back the money he owed Casey, but now this old man paid off all his debts. Well, it was really a good thing to do. In the evening, Dempsey went to Amara's place with a parcel. As Amara saw that it was Dempsey, her heart trembled a bit, suspecting that whether this guy would fool her again. She opened the door, and trying to think of ways to drive this cheat away. However, Dempsey directly gave the parcel to Amara and said, "Amara, this is the money for your TV and the rest that I owed you. It's all here. Check it. If it's not right, I'll make it up soon."
Amara looked at Dempsey in amazement, and she felt like dreaming. Was the sun rising from the west today? ___

Chapter 42 It Was Casey that Asked the Money Back

"Dempsey, didn't you told me that the TV was broken by Casey, what are you doing now?" Amara asked suspiciously.

"No, it was actually my fault. And the TV is not broken. Just check the money and see if it's right. I still need to pay back the others." Dempsey answered.

Amara opened the parcel and counted the money in it. In addition to the money for the TV, he had also returned the rest that he owed.

Seeing that Dempsey acted differently than usual, Amara wondered if it was because her daughter's status elevated in the Patel family, which made this old man try to please her.

That's right, it must be the reason. It was definitely because of her daughter that Dempsey would return the money. No matter what, it couldn't be Casey's contribution.

"Dempsey, don't say that. I don't need the money in a hurry. You can pay it back later." Though Amara said so, she still put the parcel into her pocket quickly. Dempsey was quite embarrassed. He wanted to pay it back later, but the roughnecks that visited him today wouldn't like that.

He didn't want to have a machete on his neck. It would be a shame if he was scared out of his pants again.

"Okay, if the money is right, then I'll go first, talk to you later," Dempsey turned around without hesitation, and headed to the next debtor.

Amara went back inside happily. Noticing the smile on Amara's face, Edith asked, "Mom, what's wrong, why so happy."

"Your Uncle Wong just paid the money for the TV, and also the money he owed us." Amara answered with a smile on her face.

Edith was surprised by how quickly Dempsey returned the money, since Casey said yesterday that he could ask the money back.

This man seemed to be more reliable than she thought.

"Edith, Uncle Wong must know that your status in the Patel family has elevated and will have a bright future, so now he wants to please us and thus gave the money back." Amara analyzed.

Edith knew that Dempsey would pay back obediently not because of her, but Casey.

"Mom, it has nothing to do with me, it was Casey that asked the money back." Edith said.

Amara glanced at Casey and said contemptuously, "How does a useless man like him ask the money back? Who is he that could have your Uncle Wong come and return the money in person?"

"Don't you speak for this useless man, Uncle Wong returned the money because of you. I am in a good mood today, so I won't throw him out of this family. But tell him to remember that he doesn't have the right to speak in this family and stay obedient in the future."

Edith felt that her mother was so unreasonable, and she almost told Amara that Casey gave her a necklace that was worth 45 million.

However, Casey had told her to keep it secret, otherwise, something bad might happen.

Especially not to tell Amara, who had a big mouth. Once the secret leaked out, their family might be targeted by others.

Casey looked at Edith with a smile. As long as the money was returned, he didn't care about the rest.

"It's fine as long as mom is happy."

Edith felt that her family had owed Casey too much.

Logically speaking, the money for the TV should be given to Casey, but with Amara's personality, it would be impossible to take back the money. Therefore, Edith didn't mention it.

Since the money was paid back, Amara didn't pick on Casey for a few days.

A 25-Year-Old Becomes The Richest Man In His City

No Wonder She's Always In The Top 10 Of These Lists

One day on the weekend, Diana arrived at Edith's house early in the morning. As soon as she walked in, she jumped into Edith's arms and said, "Edith, what should I do? I think I am lovesick."

Edith rolled her eyes and said reluctantly, "If you are lovesick, why do you hug me?"

"I have to practice first. I can put on a good show when my prince shows up." Diana said with stars in her eyes.

They sat on the sofa. Diana hurriedly took out her phone and texted Caesar, "Today is the ninety-ninth time I have missed you."

As soon as the message was sent, the phone on the table rang. It was Caesar's phone. He went shopping for groceries and didn't bring his phone.

Diana was confused, was Caesar living in Edith's house?

She turned around and asked Edith, "Whose phone was that?"

"Oh, it's Casey's, he went shopping and didn't bring his phone." Edith replied.

Diana's face immediately showed a trace of contempt when she heard Casey's name, telling herself that it must be a coincidence just now.

She had imagined how her prince would look like for so many times. He might be an old man, but never Casey Davies.

Without thinking too much, Diana said, "Edith, do you know that my prince sang a song for me that day, and his voice was the most amazing sound I have ever heard. Now this song is so popular on the internet and is used as BGM by many influencers."

Edith was surprised and urged, "Really? Let me hear it."

Diana immediately played the song sang by Casey. As the music rang out, both of them were immersed by Casey's spectacular voice.

When the song was over, Edith asked proudly, "How about that! My prince must be amazing in reality since he could sing so well."

Edith nodded, but she then asked doubtfully, "This song is really good, but... don't you think it sounds like Casey's voice?"

Diana was stunned for a moment. After thinking it carefully, she found that it did sound like Casey.

However, Diana soon denied Edith's speculation and said with contempt "Like, but definitely not the same. You know Casey better than I do. How could he sing so well."

"If it really was him, he would absolutely show off in front of you."

Casey had never sung in front of Edith, maybe it just sounded alike.

"My Prince must be a tall, rich, and handsome man. Casey is nothing in comparison. I know you want him to be like that too, but it's a shame that he can't live up to it." Diana tried to tease Edith.

The latter grumbled in a flirtish manner and said, "Right, right, your prince is the best."

Suddenly, Diana's phone rang. She answered the phone, and after a few seconds, she looked at Edith with a smile.

"Hunter just called me and wanted to ask you out for a meal." _____

Chapter 43 Hunter Powell

"What? This is not good, I'm not going." Edith refused.

"Why not, he said that he has already booked the seats. Please go with me for the sake of my gluttony.

By the way, he will pay for us, so it's free." Diana shook Diana's arm and said.

Edith didn't know how to say no to her best friend.

"Plus, Hunter is so successful now, and he still remember you. If you go see him, maybe you two can make something happen." Diana said with a smile.

"I'm already married." Edith answered firmly. She would never think about finding another man.

"So what, Casey is so useless, he can't give you anything. Now your grandma is gone, why do you have to be with him." Diana said confusedly.

"Okay, let's not talk about this anymore. I can go with you, but please don't mention this again." Edith said seriously.

Diana was really considering for the goodness of Edith. After all, a woman's future happiness was determined by what kind of man she marries.

And Diana didn't think Casey could bring happiness to Edith. Of course, it was just her own thinking.

When the two were still arguing, Casey came back from shopping. Diana looked at him with disgust.

Casey was not too surprised to see Diana here. He was happy today., since Charles gave him two new watches when he was shopping.

It was the Vacheron Constantin's new couple watch, which was made exquisite yet low-key in appearance, with a total price of 380,000. And Casey really liked them. Most importantly, he was very happy when he thought of wearing a couple watch with Edith.

He originally planned to give the watch to Edith directly, but since Diana was also here, he didn't take it out.

Seeing that Casey had returned, Edith requested, "I can go to dinner with you, but I want to bring Casey with me."

Diana widened her eyes, and she said with disbelief, "Are you crazy, we are going to eat with Hunter, and you want to bring Casey?"

"Yes. Okay, I'll go dress up, wait for me here." Edith stood up without hesitation.

She looked at Casey and said, "Come to dinner with me later."

Casey nodded obediently. He would try his best to fulfill all of Edith's requirements.

Diana glanced at Casey and felt sorry for Edith. This guy was just a coward and he was not comparable to Hunter at all.

It didn't take long for Edith to dress up. They left the house soon.

On their way, Casey also learned that they were going to eat with Edith's class president at university.

He had heard Edith mention this class president who went after Edith in college.

Now that Hunter suddenly invited Edith to dinner, Casey knew already what he was planning.

So Casey was moved to see that Edith was willing to bring him along, which meant that Edith had already regarded him as her partner sincerely.

In this case, he would present the watch to Edith in front of Hunter. He must let people know that Edith was his wife.

"We are going to see my class president in college, who is now the manager of the C.S. branch Company.

When you see him, just stay quiet, do you hear me?" Diana said with an impatient tone.

"Oh, I see." Casey answered casually.

Things were getting more interesting for Casey when he heard that Hunter was the manager of the branch C.S. Company.

Diana would never understand why Casey laughed in this situation.

A 25-Year-Old Becomes The Richest Man In His City

It Must Have Been A Kind Of Hell For A Little Chrissy Metz

The three left the community and took a taxi to place booked by Hunter. ...

Inside the Harue Restaurant, Hunter was sitting at the table.

He was holding a beautifully packaged watch box, in which an exquisite watch for ladies was put.

Cartier blue balloon, worth more than 40,000, and it cost Hunter a month's salary.

He bought this watch for Edith of course.

He knew that she was married, but everyone, including Hunter, knew that Casey was just a useless coward.

Through his acquaintances, he also learned that Edith was married to Casey because of the order from Stella Martin, the old hostess of the Patel family. Now that Stella Martin was gone, Edith could totally get rid of Casey.

Hunter was aware of women's material desire, and in the past few years, Edith had been through a hard time after marrying Casey.

Now Hunter was a manager of the C.S. branch Company, with a high salary every year. His level was already among the top of his classmates.

So he felt confident that as long as he gave this watch to Edith, she would understand what he meant and they could make something happen.

"Casey Davies, a notorious trash, you are not qualified to compare with me, Edith will be mine sooner or later."

Hunter sneered in his heart, looking down on Casey.

Soon, Casey and the girls arrived at the Harue Restaurant. The three of them walked in together, and Diana saw Hunter at a glance.

She waved at him and walked over there.

"Hunter, sorry to have you wait for such a long time." Diana apologized with a smile.

"It's fine, I am not busy today. It is my honor to wait for you two."

Hunter said politely.

Edith nodded at Hunter politely and said, "Long time no see."

Hunter also nodded and then his eyes landed on Casey.

"Who is this?" Hunter asked.

"Oh, this is Casey. You must have heard of him. I didn't want him to come, but Edith insisted." Diana answered his question before Edith had the chance to introduce.

Hunter didn't expect Edith to bring Casey along with her.

However, he didn't show his contempt, and stretched out his hand to Casey.

"Nice to meet you, Casey. I am Hunter Powell. I have heard of your name in J City a long time ago, but never get the chance to meet you in person.

Hunter's was being sarcastic.

Casey reached out his hand calmly and said one words simply, "Hi."

Hunter sneered in his heart and was about to see whether Casey was as coward as everyone said.

He had been working out recently, so his grasp was twice the strength of a normal person.

He grabbed Casey's hand with all his strength, trying to make Casey suffer.

Unexpectedly, the moment he exerted his force, a much stronger force rebounded from Casey's hand, grabbing him tightly. The Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 44 Your EQ is low, I don't blame you

Hunter's eyes widened, an awkward smile appeared on his face, and then he tried to free his hand from Casey.

But to his surprise, instead of letting go, Casey's grasp was getting more powerful.

Wasn't he a useless person? How come he's so strong? I had been working out a lot lately. I was even stronger than the coaches.

Hunter was astonished at first. And then he exerted more strength, trying to make Casey suffer.

However, no matter how hard he tried, Casey had no reaction at all. Instead, Hunter felt more and more painful.

Hunter sweated on his forehead. His hand was so painful that he couldn't use any strength, but he had to bare it and pretend to be fine.

It would be really embarrassing if Diana and Edith noticed that he was much weaker than a useless man.

Casey sneered in his heart. He had already foreseen that Hunter would try to embarrass him.

Unfortunately, he wouldn't give Hunter such a chance.

"What's wrong with you two? Why are you still holding each other's hand?" Diana asked strangely.

"Yeah, Casey, you are too excited, my hand will be broken if you keep holding it." Hunter seized this opportunity and said quickly.

Casey let go of his hand and sat next to Edith.

Hunter sighed in relief. His hand had been bruised, which was due to Casey's strong grip.

If Casey continued to hold his hand, his hand might be indeed broken.

Hunter didn't hide his bruised hand from Diana and Edith. He handed over the menu to them and quickly massaged his hand while Diana was ordering food.

That was strange. How was he so strong? Hunter had decided to teach Casey a lesson and let him see their gap today.

Hunter cursed in his mind, thinking that he must find a chance to avenge.

"Everyone says that Casey is a useless man in J City. This is the first time I met him, and he doesn't seem useless." Hunter pretended to speak calmly.

"Then you really overestimate him, he is a completely useless man, he dare not say anything even if I call him useless." Diana said casually while playing on the phone.

"Diana!" Edith was angry.
Diana stuck out her tongue at Edith and stopped talking.
Hunter thought Casey probably worked a lot at home every day, which was why he got so strong, other than that, Casey was useless.
Hunter laughed and said, "I am sorry for speaking so frankly. What I said just now seems to be inappropriate. I hope you don't mind."
Casey glanced at him and said coldly, "You have low EQ, I don't blame you."
Hunter was stunned right away. Diana and Edith almost laughed out loud because of what Casey just said.
Originally he wanted to show that he humiliated Casey intentionally, leaving the latter with no chance to argue.
Unexpectedly, Casey would directly call him to be low EQ, which made him speechless.

Jared Kushner & Ivanka Trump Dropped Off The Planet

"Well." Hunter coughed awkwardly. "Casey you are so humorous."
Edith turned her head and smiled at Casey. She suddenly felt that Hunter was right. Casey was indeed very humorous.
"Edith, see if there are any dishes you want to order. The Hunan dishes here are particularly good."
Hunter chose to ignore Casey, and turned to Edith.
Edith smiled and said politely, "I am good with anything, let Diana choose for me."
"You are still the same after all these years." Hunter said with a smile.
After that, he handed the menu to Casey and said, "What about you? What would you like to eat? It is not easy to book a table at the sixth floor of the Harue Restaurant. I bet you barely have the chance to eat at this place. Try to eat as much as you can."
Hunter said this just to show off that the Harue Restaurant was too expensive for a loser like Casey to dine at. He must be scared to death by the price of the dishes here.

Casey only thought that Hunter was really annoying, but since the latter asked him to order, he wouldn't refuse.

"Are you paying?" Casey asked.

"Of course. You must be using Edith's money all the time, it would be unrealistic to have you pay."

Hunter said this deliberately.

Casey sneered and then said to the waiter, "Except for this fish, I would like to order every single dish on this page, and also the ones on the next page. All of them. Then two bottles of classic red wine. I will call you when we need anything else."

Everyone was shocked by the way Casey ordered food. The waiter also opened his mouth wide. It was the first time he ran into someone who ordered so many dishes.

Diana and Edith also stared at Casey in shock. Diana was embarrassed by Casey. It felt like this man had been starving for many years.

But Edith felt that Casey did this on purpose. He wanted to fool Hunter.

Hunter glanced at the dishes that Casey just ordered. It added up to two thousand yuan.

But it was still acceptable, which made him reassure himself that Casey was a poor loser who hadn't eaten anything good.

His contempt for Casey became more intense, and he felt that Casey was no match to him at all. Edith would definitely not like such a man.

It didn't take long for the dishes to be presented on the table, which was filled with large and small plates.

Hunter poured the wine, and offered a glass to Diana and Edith respectively, but skipped Casey.

Casey didn't care either, eating by himself.

Diana wanted to embarrass Casey more, so she asked, "Hunter, why did you skip Casey?"

Hunter pretended to recall such a thing, quickly picking up the wine glass, and said, "My poor memory! I forgot that Casey is still here. If you don't remind me, I wouldn't have noticed him at all."

Diana chuckled and turned to Casey, wondering how he would deal with the embarrassment.

After all, being ignored by others was very embarrassing. If Diana was the person to be ignored, she would have already lost her appetite.

Casey was as calm as ever. He raised his head and glanced at Hunter, but he simply took a sip of the wine and said, "It's okay. Your brain and your eyes malfunction so often, I don't blame you." ___The

Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 45 A watch worth 380,000 yuan

When Hunter heard Casey's answer, he was mad at once. He really wanted to kick Casey in the ass.

He even suspected that there was something wrong with Casey's brain.

This guy not only said that he had low EQ, but also said that his brain and eyes malfunction. Anyone would be infuriated by his words.

"You are the one whose brain malfunctions. Why would you curse others like this." Diana argued for Hunter.

"Oh." Casey only responded with one word.

Diana was also infuriated by Casey.

Edith looked at the fearless Casey and smiled with her mouth covered.

He wasn't like this normally, but he acted this way to avoid Hunter's humiliation.

"Forget it. It's not a big deal, let's eat and be happy." Hunter pretended to comfort generously.

"Look at you Casey, I really don't understand why Edith keeps you with her." Diana muttered.

They finally started to eat. Casey did not reserve, since Hunter would pay the bill, he must eat as much as he could.

Edith held the same attitude as Casey. She didn't like Hunter either, otherwise she would have already accepted to be Hunter's girlfriend when she was in college. So all she could do now was to eat as much as she could.

Otherwise, wouldn't it be a waste of time?

When they almost finished, Hunter took out the package with the watch that he prepared for Edith.

As soon as Casey saw the package, he immediately understood what Hunter wanted to do.

Casey also wanted to give Edith a watch. Of course he couldn't let Hunter get ahead.

As a result, before Hunter had the chance to speak anything, Casey looked at Edith and said sweetly,

"My dear, I have prepared a present for you today."

Edith was dazed. She didn't expect Casey to say this right now.

Hunter heard what Casey said, so he decided to wait first and put his package back.

"What gift?" Edith asked curiously.

"A watch." Casey answered.

Hunter couldn't hold back his laughter, thinking that this man was so unfortunate to choose the same present as his.

What Hunter prepared for Edith was also a watch. Judging from Casey's financial state, what he could purchase was simply a cheap one. Maybe it was even a second-hand product that was abandoned by others.

Hunter planned to give his Cartier blue balloon that was worth more than 40,000 yuan to Edith after Casey had shown his cheap one. Under such a stark comparison, Edith should know who to choose.

Hunter felt that Casey really helped show off his superiority, so he didn't worry anymore. He just needed to wait for Casey and tell Edith his feelings for her.

When Diana heard that Casey wanted to give Edith a watch, she asked contemptuously, "Isn't your money given by Edith? What can you give her? I recommend you not to embarrass yourself anymore."

Casey ignored Diana's words and directly took out the watch that Charles gave him.

Diana glanced at the couple watch, and said, "It looks good, you probably bought it after visiting a lot of stalls. No wonder you dare to take it out on this occasion."

She didn't know Vacheron Constantin, so she didn't realize the watch was worth 380,000 yuan.

Diana didn't know the price of the watch, but that Hunter did. When he saw the trademark of Vacheron Constantin, he felt his heart trembled.

He knew how expensive this brand of watch was. His Cartier was not at the same level compared with the Vacheron Constantin.

Angelina Jolie Health Struggles - Talk About A Dramatic Change

A Pakistani Man Has Accidentally Found A Way Of Earning More

The two watches of Casey cost more than one hundred thousand yuan, which was enough money to buy several Cartier.

It should be a fake one, how could this guy afford such an expensive watch. Hunter thought.

Casey opened the package that contained the watch, then took it out, asking Edith to stretch out her hand.

Edith's eyes sparkled when she saw the exquisite configuration of the Vacheron Constantin watch. Only by looking at its contour, she already knew that this watch was definitely not cheap.

Hunter took a cold breath after seeing the watch. The box could be counterfeit, but the Vacheron Constantin watch was not so easy to be counterfeited.

The first time he caught sight of the watch, he was pretty sure that it was real.

Hunter subconsciously touched the Cartier in his pocket, and suddenly felt extremely embarrassed in his heart.

He originally planned to wait for Casey to take out his cheap watch first, but then Casey took out his golden watch.

Now if he took out his, it would be even more embarrassing.

"Damn, where did this bastard get such an expensive watch? He certainly didn't buy it himself, maybe he stole it from the store."

Even if the watch Casey had was real, Hunter would never believe that Casey bought it himself.

Casey put the watch on Edith's wrist. Edith loved it so much that she looked at it carefully for several times.

Casey put the other one on his wrist, so that the two now had the first thing that belonged to both of them.

"Do you like it?" Casey asked.

Edith nodded and asked, "This watch is expensive. How much does it cost you?"

"Not much." Casey answered with a smile.

Seeing that Casey didn't dare to tell the price of this watch, Hunter was more confident that Casey stole this watch from the store, and looked down upon him even more.

It was really shameful to give someone a stolen watch.

Although Hunter despised Casey in his heart, he was too embarrassed to take out his watch at this time.

"Edith, this is probably the first time that Casey has given you a present since you two married. And it was so miserable that he bought it from the street stall. Look at Hunter, he has already become the manager of the C.S. branch Company at such a young age. He will definitely not buy anything from a street stall if he gives you a present." Diana said.

Hunter was even more proud of himself. Since he failed to give Edith the watch as a present, then he could only show off his superiority in his job.

"It's nothing, my job is..." Hunter began to talk without stopping. Diana listened earnestly and felt very envious at the same time.

Meanwhile, she kept using Casey as comparison in order to show how good Hunter is, thinking that Edith might consider Hunter.

Casey felt annoyed by this Hunter, so he texted Charles, "Call the person named Hunter Powell and ask him to drink tea with you."

"I usually have lots of free time, and since I am the manager of the company, no one can give me orders.

Just like today, even if I am absent and be with you guys, nobody will say anything."

As soon as Hunter finished talking, his phone rang. It was the president of the company, so he quickly picked it up.

"Hunter, I heard that you didn't go to the company? Why don't you come and have a tea with me since you have so much free time."

The voice of the phone was loud enough for both Diana and Edith to overhear the entire conversation. __The Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 46 Changing Everyone's Views

The embarrassment on Hunter's face was so obvious that almost everyone could notice it. The chairman called him as soon as he did that. He was so awkward but had nowhere to hide.

"Okay chairman, I'll go there immediately." Hunter replied respectfully. Even though he was now the manager of the branch office of the group, he wouldn't dare to defy the chairman's order, and he had to reply respectfully without any dissatisfaction.

What a rough day! Everything he wanted to do didn't go well. Hunter cursed secretly in his heart.

He found that Casey was staring at him jokingly, thinking that his bad luck must be caused by Casey, who was the bane of his day.

Diana and Edith also felt a little bit embarrassed for Hunter. After all, he was talking boastfully just now, and now he had to rush to the chairman immediately after a phone call. The contrast was kind of funny.

However, neither of them spoke out, leaving Hunter some dignity.

"Well, our chairman is looking for me for an emergency, so I can't stay with you today. I will pay the bill later; just feel free to enjoy the meal without me." Hunter said with a guilty conscience.

"If you have something to do, just go first." Diana said, and Edith also nodded.

"Oh? Didn't you just say that nobody would urge you even if you don't go to work?" Casey interjected at this moment.

Hunter's face turned blue suddenly, thinking that Casey must be saying that on purpose. He was definitely making him embarrassed deliberately.

If it weren't for the chairman to call him, he would definitely stay and play the game with Casey.

"It's our chairman who is looking for me. Something important needs to be handled. Normally this is not the case." Hunter still explained.

"Oh." Casey said coldly.

If Hunter had known that Casey was annoyed at him, so he asked Charles to make him away, he might have vomited blood on the spot in anger.

"You can just shut up. The monitor is the manager of a company after all. You are a vagrant and you let women pay for you. What qualifications do you have to make irresponsible remarks here?" Diana said contemptuously.

Hunter agreed with Diana's words very much, and he also had contempt for Casey.

He did not talk to Casey again, but turned to look at Edith, and said, "Edith, you should go to the class reunion two days later. Many classmates miss you and say that they want to see you there."

Edith nodded and said, "Well, I will try my best to go there."

Hunter saw Edith agreed, so he got up to pay the bill, and then left here. Seeing that Hunter was gone, Diana turned to look at Casey and said dissatisfiedly: "Hey! Hunter invited you to dinner out of kindness, and you said that deliberately to embarrass him."

"I'm just telling the truth." Casey said lightly.

"Huh, I think you are just jealous of him, because you are afraid that he will win Edith's heart from you."

Diana pouted.

"You mean him? I'm afraid he's not qualified enough." Casey was indeed very serious this time.

"Stop, you don't even blush when you tell lies. I think you can do nothing except bragging. Edith said that your voice is a bit like my prince charming back then. Now I think you can't even compare with a single hair on my prince charming's legs." Diana said angrily. Casey didn't know whether he should laugh or cry, and it was a little strange to hear Diana compare himself with himself. "Okay, stop arguing, just eat, or the food will be cold any minute." Edith stared at them both.

A 25-Year-Old Becomes The Richest Man In His City He's Using This Secret Trick To Make Millions

The two of them stopped arguing. After eating, the three of them walked out of the Harue restaurant. Edith looked down at the watch on her wrist and she liked it very much. Seeing that Edith adored the watch from Casey so much, Diana immediately leaned over and asked, "Edith, you won't really accept this loser, right?" Edith did not answer her directly, but said, "I feel that Casey's performance is quite good during this period, and he is very reliable, which gives me a sense of security." "Him? Reliable? I think he is the most unreliable person in the world. Look at the watch you wear. He must have bought it from a roadside booth. Maybe it's only a few dozen dollars." Diana said with disdain. "I think it's pretty good," Edith said. Diana sighed helplessly, and said, "I really don't know how to make you understand, but you have to promise me that you won't take Casey with you when you meet the classmates." Edith glanced at Casey and said, "Why can't I take him? They didn't say that you can't take a plus-one. And if I drink too much, he can take me home." Diana really felt that Edith was bewitched by Casey, and didn't know what to say for a while. The three separated at the intersection. Diana returned to her home. Casey and Edith walked back together. Both of them have Vacheron Constantin watches on their wrists, which looked very good.

"Aren't you afraid that your classmates will laugh at you if you take me to your class reunion?" Casey asked.

Edith laughed and said, "I'm not afraid at all. I've already thought this through. I can't live in the opinions of others, as long as I know that you are nothing like what they say." Casey felt moved and said firmly: "I will definitely make everyone change their views of me, and I will never let them laugh at you because of me in the future."

Edith didn't reply, and quietly walked towards the front.

When he arrived at the gate of the housing estate, Casey subconsciously glanced towards the side selling pancakes, and then found that the cart which was used to sell pancakes had fallen on the ground, and the eggs were crushed into pieces. There were obvious signs of fighting.

Casey's heart shuddered, and he quickly walked over there.

He looked at the ground and found that there was still blood.

He quickly asked a person next to him: "Sir, where's the man who sells pancakes? What's going on here?"

"A bunch of people suddenly rushed over and chased the pancake seller.

No one knew what happened.

The pancake seller fought with them for a while, and then ran away.

Now No one knows where he is."

The man replied.

Casey nodded thoughtfully, and then went home with Edith.

After arriving home, he immediately sent a message to Morgan, asking Morgan to find out what was going on.

Casey still had a good impression of the man who sold pancakes.

Although he knew that he was not as simple as he seemed, Casey wanted to find out the truth, even just for the sake that the man had warned him once.

Early the next morning, Casey received a message from Morgan.

"Casey, I've checked it out. The man should be alive now. I will tell you the details when you come

The

Peremptory Casey Davies
Chapter 47 Conor West

After Casey finished the housework, he came out of the house and took a taxi to the Starry Night Club.

Morgan was waiting in a box, he saw Casey came in, and immediately got up to welcome him in.

"What's going on, let's talk about it." Casey went straight to the subject. Morgan thought for a while and organized the language: "Casey, the person you asked me to check on is consistent with the identity of Conor West, who was really powerful in QY City. If my assumptions are right, this person should be Conor West."

"Conor West?" Casey raised his eyebrows. "It's the Conor West who had a whole street stained with blood because of the betrayal of his subordinates, who fought for nearly a hundred people? Isn't he dead?"

Casey had heard of the name Conor West a long time ago. C.S Group had branches in various cities around J City, and he had a relatively timely understanding of the surrounding situation.

QY City was a city to the south of J City. Its economy was better than that of J City. The underground world over there was a hundred times more chaotic than J City. The reason for this was the disappearance of Conor West.

When Conor was still there, the underground world of QY City was a monolithic condition, and Conor firmly grasped the entire underground world of QY City on his own.

When his power was the strongest, he was not even afraid of any first-class family in QY City.

However, just a few years ago, Conor's subordinates conspired to betray him, leaving him in a desperate situation. After fighting with nearly a hundred people in a row, he disappeared in QY City. Everyone believed that Conor had been killed by his own men.

So Casey would be very surprised when he heard Morgan said that the man selling pancakes was Conor West.

"Conor just disappeared back then, and people didn't even find his body, so it can't be strictly said that he is dead." Morgan explained.

"I investigated overnight and found that the time when this person arrived in J City coincided with the time when Conor disappeared, and the people who fought with this man yesterday were from QY City."

Casey nodded thoughtfully. If this was the case, the man selling pancakes might indeed be Conor West.

A long time ago, Casey had felt that this man selling pancakes was unusual. He did not expect that he was Conor who had stirred up the storm in QY City. This surprised Casey. "Where is he now?" Casey asked.

"Based on the clues I found yesterday, I have already found his hiding place, but I can infer that those who presumably hunted him can also find him." Morgan said.

Casey stood up directly and said, "Now take me to him immediately."

"Casey, this is not easy for Conor. If we intervene in this matter, I am afraid it will cause trouble in QY City." Morgan added.

"He helped me first, and I can't just watch him die. Besides, this is J City, and people from QY City can't just do whatever they want here." Casey said calmly.

Morgan didn't say anything more. He always believed in Casey's decision, so he immediately took Casey out of the Starry Night Club and rushed towards the village in the city. On the way, Morgan also mentioned to Casey a puzzling incident after Conor was betrayed.

At that time, those who betrayed Conor could only account for a small portion of his team. At that time, Conor had time to gather his confidants and get rid of those who betrayed him.

But what everyone did not expect was that Conor chose to escape for the first time. He did not notify his henchmen at all. In the end, because he missed the best opportunity, he was blocked by a betrayer in a street, which resulted in the bloody battle that made him famous. Conor was able to hold the entire underground forces of QY City firmly in his hands, and his mind was absolutely extraordinary. He would never be stupid enough to run away alone.

Morgan was very confused, and always felt that there was something wrong.

Casey told him not to think about it anymore. It had been so long, and the truth was probably only known to Conor.

What they had to do now was to find Conor as soon as possible and rescue him from those people from QY City.

Not long after the two arrived at the urban village, Morgan took Casey to a dilapidated area following the route he had found.

There were almost no people living here, only some houses waiting to be demolished. Very few people would come here.

The two stood in front of a courtyard house. Morgan pointed to the door and said, "If I'm right, he should be inside."

Casey nodded, carefully entered the courtyard, and then headed for the house in the courtyard.

He opened one of the doors and walked inside. At this moment, a strong wind came and hit the back of Casey's head.

"Casey, watch out!" Morgan shouted.

"Josh Berry, I did not treat you badly back then, but you brought people to chase me today. You've got no conscience. Even if I die here today, you won't get out of here alive!"

There was a heavy voice, and a fist appeared behind Casey's head.

Casey didn't panic at all. When the fist was about to hit him, he easily dodged on one side of his body, and then grabbed his wrist.

Conor was shocked, and he was about to retreat to the back immediately, but he found that his hand seemed to be frozen, unable to move.

"I didn't expect to see you so strong in only a few years. It seems that God is going to kill me." Conor suddenly let out a desperate sigh.

"Bro, it's me, don't get me wrong." Casey said.

Conor didn't see Casey clearly until then, his face was even more surprised, and he asked, "How? Why are you here?"

Casey laughed and said, "I know you are in trouble, so I came here to help."

"Casey is someone who will repay his favor. He said that you helped him last time, so this time he will save you." Morgan shouted.

Conor turned to look at Morgan, narrowed his eyes, and asked, "Are you Morgan Byrne?"

"Yes, it's me." Morgan replied.

The astonishment in Conor's heart became even stronger. He still had some understanding of the three powerful men of J City. He knew that Morgan was a fierce personality and a cruel man who started fighting whenever he was angry.

He also knew more or less about Casey when he was selling pancakes. He knew that Casey was a real loser in the eyes of people in J City.

Now Morgan Byrne, one of the three most powerful men, even called Casey his brother, and he was so respectful, which made Conor feel a little overwhelmed for a while.

Casey saw Conor's doubts and smiled and said, "I have some secrets more or less just like you, so you don't have to be too surprised."

Conor nodded, and then sighed, "You should leave here. It's not easy to follow me. I don't want you to get hurt because of me."

"You don't have to worry about this. Just stay with Casey and I, no one can lay a finger on you." Morgan patted on his chest.

Conor shook his head. He knew that Morgan could fight, but Morgan could only resist Josh Berry, and Josh had lots of his subordinates with him. Conor was now suffering from old injuries and new injuries, and he couldn't fight at all.

As for Casey, he never thought that Casey could fight.

"Josh Berry, who chased me, also had a reputation in QY City, and his power was not weaker than Morgan's, and he had lots of hit men. The three of us won't be able to handle this. You two should go."

Conor said. .

"So, you really are Conor West?" Casey asked.

Conor was taken aback, but Conor had known his identity, and now he had nothing to hide.

"Yes, I am Conor West. I thought I could spend the rest of my life in J City incognito, but I didn't expect that group of people would be so unrelenting." Conor said with emotion. Casey wanted to tell Conor that as long as he was at J City, no one could hurt him, but at this moment, there was a sound of footsteps outside.

"Conor, I know you are hiding inside, get out quickly and accept your death, don't waste my time!" There was a vigorous voice.

Conor shook his head helplessly. Josh was already here. Even if Casey and Morgan wanted to leave, it would be too difficult for them.

"Let's go out, there is no point in hiding."

Conor took the lead and went out, and Casey and Morgan also followed. There were five people standing in the yard, and Josh was the leader. Josh was tall and muscular, and he looked like a trainer, giving people a very dangerous feeling.

He was also a little surprised when he saw three people coming out of the house, and quickly looked at Morgan and Casey.

"I didn't expect that you've found helpers, but do you think that you can escape from me today?" Josh sneered.

"Josh, this matter has nothing to do with the two of them, let them go; I'll leave myself to you." Conor said calmly. Now that he has accepted his fate.

"Conor, although you are a big man in QY City, Morgan Byrne is not a person who is afraid of things. It is absolutely impossible to let me go at this time!" Morgan stepped forward.

Josh narrowed his eyes, staring at Morgan and asked, "Are you Morgan Byrne, one of the three most powerful men of J City?"

"Yes, it's me!" Morgan shouted.

Josh was a little bit afraid of Morgan, but just a little bit.

"This is J City; you people from QY City can't just do whatever you want here. You can't get out of this yard alive today." Casey also said.

Josh glanced at Casey and felt a little nervous. If this person was also a powerful figure like Morgan, he would be in trouble.

He asked, "Who are you?"

"Casey Davies."

Josh first showed a puzzled expression, then he remembered something.

He laughed, and said, "Aren't you the well-known loser, Casey Davies from J City?" _____The

Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 48 One Strike Is Enough

"Yes, it's me." Casey didn't refute. He didn't care how others think of him, as long as he knew his own capability.

A scornful smile appeared on Josh's face. If it was Casey Davies, he would have nothing to worry about.

Conor had been seriously injured and couldn't fight anymore.

He could handle Morgan, and some of his men could easily defeat Conor.

As for Casey, a loser, he didn't think that a loser could cause him any threat.

Conor was also moved when he saw Morgan and Casey were willing to step forward for him, but he thought the same as Josh did. Only Morgan could fight. He and Casey were basically useless.

Although Morgan was able to resist Josh, the two of them couldn't resist Josh's men at all, and the final result would still be the same.

"Casey, listen to my advice. Don't interfere in this matter. The three of us are not their opponents at all.

Doing so will only cost you your life in vain." Conor said anxiously.

Casey smiled and said, "Things have already reached this point, do you think he will let us go?"

Conor sighed, knowing that there was no remedy for this matter.

"Don't worry. They won't be able to touch a single hair of yours with Casey and me here." Morgan also said confidently.

If he was the only one here today, he might still be a little afraid, but Casey was here, so he had nothing to fear.

And there was a high possibility that he couldn't even have a chance to fight today.

Josh showed a sneer on his face, thinking that Casey was really hard-headed, he was about to die, but he pretended to show such awe-inspiring righteousness.

"You are smart. None of the three of you will be able to leave today. I was ordered to kill Conor. None of the people who know this will survive." Josh said coldly.

"Then you really think too highly of yourself." Morgan said with a smile.

"Ha-ha, Morgan, is it possible that you think you can compete with the five of us?" Josh stared at Morgan and said.

Morgan smiled and said: "Of course I know my capability, but I didn't say I have to compete with the five of you."

"Oh? Then how did you get the courage to say I think too highly of myself?" Josh felt a little strange.

Morgan turned his head to look at Casey, and said, "I got my courage from him."

The five men's eyes all fixed on Casey, and they all laughed mockingly.

"Is this an illusion? You actually said that you got your courage from this loser? His courage is probably less than a mosquito's." Josh said mercilessly.

Casey didn't care about their sarcasm, but took a step forward and said coldly: "You will regret it."

Upon seeing this, Conor quickly grabbed Casey's arm and said, "Casey, don't be impulsive. Josh's strength is not as simple as you thought. You are going to die."

"Don't worry. I'm not stupid enough to take the initiative to die." Casey replied.

Conor saw that Casey refused to listen, and his heart was full of anxiety. He looked at Morgan and wanted Morgan to stop him, but Morgan didn't seem to mean to stop him.

On the contrary, there was a trace of expectation on his face.

Josh suddenly wanted to laugh when he saw Casey, who was least likely to defeat them among the three, stood up.

"Casey, are you sure you won't let Morgan help you? Judging from your reputation, it is impossible of you to defeat me today." Josh smiled.

"I am good." Casey said lightly.

Josh narrowed his eyes, and a murderous look appeared in his eyes.

"Damn, since you are so ignorant, I will show you what despair is. Go get him!" Josh ordered.

Among the four people, one immediately rushed towards Casey. Just by looking at the speed, Casey knew that he was a strong opponent.

Connor's expression changed, and he quickly turned his head and said to Morgan: "Josh's subordinates are very strong. If Casey fights on his own, he will be dead!"

Morgan smiled and said calmly, "Don't worry; I can't even see through Casey. How can some small potatoes be his opponent?"

At this time, the man had rushed in front of Casey, fisted out, and hit Casey in the face.

The man was very proud, and seemed to be very satisfied with his speed.

However, he didn't know that his speed was like a turtle crawling in Casey's eyes.

Just when the man's fist was about to hit Casey's face, Casey quickly stretched out his leg and kicked the man in his stomach.

The man's fist stopped abruptly, and then, his body flew out backwards. He hit the wall, and vomited a mouthful of blood.

Everyone was shocked by this sudden scene, and the sneer on their face disappeared instantly.

"How... how could he be so powerful?" Conor murmured.

A 25-Year-Old Becomes The Richest Man In His City

It Must Have Been A Kind Of Hell For A Little Chrissy Metz

Josh spit on the ground, cursing: "Fuck, I didn't expect it. Y'all go and hit him on the ground!"

The remaining three people immediately rushed towards Casey. The combined strength of these three people was not much weaker than Josh, so Josh was also very confident in them.

However, the next moment, Josh opened his mouth widely and looked at what happened in front of him with disbelief.

The three people rushing in front of Casey, and his body moved quickly. It didn't take long before all the three people fell to the ground and started rolling.

Josh couldn't even see clearly how Casey had made the move.

Was it possible that this Casey and the loser from people's words were not the same person?

Josh didn't dare to despise Casey anymore. He knew that this young man with no expression on his face was definitely not as simple as he thought.

Conor also looked at Casey in shock. It was only at this time that he realized that the so called "loser" was actually a master whose strength was far above him.

Back then, Casey said that everyone has a secret; presumably this should be his own secret.

Conor was also relieved to see that Casey was fine. At this time, a heart-wrenching pain suddenly came from his arm. He hurriedly covered his arm, and cold sweat came out on his forehead.

When he was chased by the killers, his arm had already been seriously injured. Although he didn't lose his arm, it had never recovered.

This time he was hunted down by Josh and his men. His arm was overused and he was injured again. By now, he had already reached the limit.

But he hadn't finished with Josh yet, so he didn't have time to care about his arm.

Casey walked up to Josh, stared at him coldly, and said: "Do you want to kill yourself or let me do it?"

Josh snorted coldly, "Don't fucking think that you have dealt with some of my subordinates, so you are qualified to challenge me here. I will let you know what miserable is!"

After saying that, Josh quickly rushed towards Casey.

Casey shook his head and said, "Your speed is still too slow, one strike is enough to kill you."

"You are so shameless. I'm going to see how you can kill me!"

Josh leaped to kicked Casey.

Casey quickly turned around, and kicked directly on Josh's knee.

Click!

Josh's screams followed, his body was struggling in the air, and then he fell to the ground.

"Ah!!! My legs..."

Casey turned around and didn't even take a look at Josh. He knew that Josh had become a disabled person and he was not a threat anymore.

Morgan walked towards Casey, and said with a smile, "Casey, you are being merciful today. You just took one of his legs."

"You take care of the rest. None of these people from QY City can get out of this yard alive." Casey said.

Morgan immediately understood what he meant, and went to deal with the rest of the people.

Casey walked up to Conor, smiled at him, and said, "The trouble has been solved."

Conor looked at Casey with a complex expression, and said, "I didn't expect you to hide so deeply, even I didn't see your ability."

"I understand the reason why a gentleman wants to hide a weapon next to his body. If you show off too much, it's easy for you to die." Casey smiled.

Conor nodded, admiring the young man's state of mind in his heart.

When he was as old as Casey, he was so angry that he didn't hide any of his power like Casey did.

"This time the people from QY City are killed, what are your plans?"

Casey asked.

Conor smiled bitterly, and said, "What plans can I have? Maybe I'll just go back to sell pancakes at some other place.”

"Why don't you work for me? As long as you are in J City, I can keep you safe, even if the people from QY City come again, I can keep you safe and sound." Casey made him an offer.

He had been looking for someone who could control the situation of J City's underground world. Now it seemed that Conor was obviously the most suitable candidate. Conor shook his head and said, "Never mind. I am a useless person now. Even if I work for you, I can't help you much."

After saying that, he felt another tingling in his arm, which made it difficult for him to stand on his feet.

Upon seeing this, Casey hurriedly got Conor's back, then glanced at his arm, and found that his arm had turned purple, with some of the flesh on it cracked.

"I'm afraid that I'm going to lose my arm. I am very touched when you came to rescue me this time. I am just a useless person. I am afraid that I won't have the opportunity to repay you." Conor said helplessly.

Casey took a close look at his arm, and then seriously said to Conor, "The condition of your arm is indeed very bad, but it hasn't reached the point of being totally useless. I can help you heal it"

The Peremptory

Chapter 49 I Miss You So Much

When Conor heard Casey's words, his eyes widened, and he asked, "You also have medical skills? I have seen the top medical experts for my arm. They all said there is no hope. This time I tried too hard. I am afraid that my arm couldn't be cured even if the greatest doctor of human history were still alive. "

Casey smiled and said, "I am not proficient in medicine, but I do know a genius doctor, he must have a way to heal your arm."

"A genius doctor?" Conor was taken aback. He thought that Casey knew medical skills. It turned out that Casey wanted someone to treat him.

"Yes, this person's medical skills are already superb. It is not an exaggeration to describe him as a genius doctor. I saved his life a few years ago. It shouldn't be difficult for him to heal your arm." Casey said.

Conor hesitated. Of course, he didn't want to lose his arms. As long as there was a glimmer of hope, he still wanted to try.

But he and Casey barely knew each other, and Casey helped him so much that he felt ashamed.

Seeing Conor's hesitation, Casey thought for a while and said, "I'm not helping you for free. I just said that I want you to work for me. If I really find someone to cure your arm, then you can work for me in the future. You can take it as your compensation for me. What do you think?"

Conor thought for a while, his current life was homeless and lonely, and he had to beware of the troubles from QY City every day.

He also saw Casey's strength at that time. If he worked for Casey, Casey might really be able to protect him.

He was not yet a middle-aged man, so he didn't really want to keep selling pancakes for the rest of his life.

It would be better to just work for Casey for a while, maybe there was still a chance to regain his former glory.

Of course, he must cure his arm first.

He took a serious look at Casey, then nodded, and said, "Okay, I promise you, if my arm can really be cured, I will work for you without any complaints."

"You are so talented, it would be too wrong for you to go back to sell pancakes." Casey smiled.

"Oh? What do you want me to do?" Conor asked.

"Take charge of the underground world of J City." Casey smiled.

Conor was shocked. From Casey's harmless face, he could not tell that this young man, who was called a loser, had such great ambitions.

But this also made him confirmed that his choice to work for Casey was definitely not a wrong decision.

"Casey, it's all done." Morgan walked over at this time.

Casey nodded and said, "Take care of Conor. From now on, he will be our family."

Morgan immediately held Conor's hand and said with a smile: "Conor, my brother. As long as there's a fight in the future, you can call me at any time. Of course, you don't need me if Casey is present."

He knew in his heart why Casey wanted to save Conor, and he also knew that he was not a leader.

Conor's arrival also let him breathe a sigh of relief, so he could just fight and kill in the future.

Therefore, Morgan did not complain about Casey's recruiting Conor.

Half an hour later, the three people appeared in a quiet alley.

Casey took the two of them to a slightly quaint door, and a plaque was hung on the door, which read the four characters "Aloof from Temptation". Morgan stared at this plaque for a while, noticed the inscription above, and then opened his eyes widely.

"Casey, isn't this the famous doctor Owen Austin, who was famous across the country?"

Casey smiled and nodded, and said, "Yes, it's him."

"Damn! Casey, I heard that the doctor has a weird temper. He only sees people three times a year. After three times, no matter how much money you give, he won't make another move."

"Furthermore, he treats people depending on his mood. As long as he is in a bad mood, he won't help the patient even if there's a fatal illness."

"If we just go to him like this, will it work?"

Morgan felt a little unsure. If it was Owen Austin, he could indeed help Conor heal his arm. But if he didn't want to treat him, it would be useless to beg him.

He had heard before that someone from a big family in the capital city once invited Owen to cure one of their family members, promising him a lifetime of prosperity, and Owen drove those people away without blinking his eyes.

It was harder to get Owen to treat people than to fly in the sky.

"Don't worry; he won't dare to do this to me." Casey said with a smile, and then walked into the door.

Morgan calmed himself, thinking about how many tactics he didn't know about Casey, who was confident that Owen, the genius doctor, would not dare to be arrogant in front of him.

At this moment, Conor was already in pain and speechless. Morgan did not hesitate, and quickly helped Conor into the door.

Entering the door, they saw an antique medicine store with cabinets full of medicinal materials. At this time, a young girl of about 18 years old was standing in front of the cabinet and checking medicinal materials.

And standing next to the girl was Edith's monitor, Hunter Powell.

"Please help me, kind lady. I really need the prescription of Doctor Austin. Please go and ask him."

Hunter was looking at the girl pleadingly.

"My master has already treated three patients this year, and he won't go out again. It's useless for you to ask, so don't waste time here." The girl said coldly.

When Hunter heard this, he could only sigh helplessly, and turned around to walk outside.

At this moment, he saw Casey walking into the room, and he was surprised.

A 25-Year-Old Becomes The Richest Man In His City

Angelina Jolie Health Struggles - Talk About A Dramatic Change

"Casey Davies? Why are you here?" Hunter asked.

"I came to see Owen Austin." Casey said lightly.

Hunter immediately sneered and said, "You? You also want to see Doctor Austin? I advise you to save the time. The doctor's quota this year has been used up, and you came here for nothing."

Because the girl didn't help him beg Owen, Hunter was also a little unhappy. Now that Casey was here, he immediately gloated.

Casey ignored him, but walked directly to the girl.

The last time he came here, he didn't see this girl.

"Hello, I'm looking for Owen Austin. Please help me inform of him."

Casey said.

The girl turned around and glanced at Casey, her face was full of arrogance, and she said, "Are you deaf?

Didn't you hear what the man said? My master will not treat people this year, and you dare to call my master by his full name. There is no way that my master will see you."

Hearing the young girl treated Casey with the same attitude, Hunter felt a little bit better and said,

"Casey, don't waste your energy. Not even I can see the doctor, let alone you."

Casey turned his head and glanced at Hunter, and said coldly: "You don't need to look for Owen to see your illness; it's just a kidney deficiency. Just go back and have some herbal pills."

When Hunter heard Casey dared to say that his kidney was weak, he immediately went off and shouted:

"What the hell are you talking about here; do you think you are a genius doctor? You can tell what's wrong with me at a glance?"

The girl looked at Casey in surprise, and said to Hunter: "He is right. You do have kidney deficiency. You can tell by looking at your face."

Now Hunter was choked and couldn't say a word. The girl was Owen Austin's apprentice, and what she said might be true.

He glared at Casey resentfully, wishing to peel off his skin.

Both Morgan and Conor couldn't help but laugh. Conor was in pain, but the pain was alleviated a lot after seeing this.

"Don't be proud. No matter what happens, you won't see Doctor Austin." Hunter gritted his teeth.

He had planned to leave, but when he saw Casey came, he wanted to see Casey made a fool of himself.

Casey ignored Hunter, but walked to the girl.

"Tell your master that Casey Davies is here." Casey said.

"Casey Davis?" The girl curled her lips. "I only know that there is a famous loser in J City called Casey Davis. My master is so noble. How could he see that loser? You should leave now."

Hunter laughed loudly and said, "He is the loser you mentioned. That's so funny."

Last time they had meal together, Casey said that Hunter was bot sensible and had no brains. Hunter had already regarded Casey as an enemy, so he did not intend to show any affection.

"What!" The girl exclaimed, "You are loser Casey Davis? Why do people like you come here every day?"

"I'm telling you, no matter who my master sees, he won't see you. You should leave as soon as possible.

You are not welcomed here." The girl held her head high, not afraid of Casey at all, especially after knowing that he was the famous loser of J City. Both Morgan and Conor were embarrassed. At that time, Casey said that Owen would definitely cure Conor. But he couldn't even pass the test of his apprentice now.

"Casey... maybe we should go to the nearby hospital?" Morgan asked cautiously.

Casey glared at him immediately, then turned to look at the girl, and said, "Since you don't want to notify Owen, then I will go by myself."

After speaking, Casey was about to walk towards the room inside.

Upon seeing this, the girl immediately reached out and grabbed Casey, and said anxiously: "Why are you so shameless? I said that my master will not see you, and my master will never treat you."

She was quite angry now, thinking that even a loser would dare to break in. He really didn't show any respect for the genius doctor.

Hunter also sneered. He felt that Casey had completely offended this girl.

In any case, Owen could not help him.

"You are really stupid; this little girl is Owen Austin's apprentice. You offended her and you still want Doctor Austin to help you? You must be dreaming!" Hunter said coldly.

Just when the two people were arguing, a soft cough came from the room inside, "What's the matter, Luna? It's so noisy."

The girl's eyes lit up suddenly. She knew that Owen had a bad temper. If he only realized that someone wanted to break in, he would definitely curse Casey.

Moreover, Casey was the well-known loser in J City. Owen would definitely not be polite to him.

"Master, come out quickly, there is a shameless person here who insists to break in to see you, but I can't stop him" The girl shouted.

After that, she turned to look at Casey, and said proudly, "Well, my master will come out later. He will definitely be angry when he sees you with this attitude. Don't expect my master to treat you in the rest of your life."

Soon, a gray-haired old man walked out of the room inside.

The girl rushed behind the old man, pointed her finger at Casey, and said angrily: "Master, this is the guy who not only calls you by your full name, but also wants to break in to find you. You should scold him.

Let him know that you, the genius doctor, should be respected."

"Yes, I can testify that he called you by your full name at that time. He's so impolite, and he didn't even respect you." Hunter added.

Both Morgan and Conor were a little desperate, thinking that Casey had pissed off the doctor as soon as they arrived. It must be impossible for the doctor to help them.

Owen glanced at Casey, his expression was not angry, but everyone could feel his emotions.

Just when everyone thought Owen was going to scold Casey, Owen suddenly took two steps forward, grabbing Casey's arm with trembling hands, and said excitedly: "Casey, your still remembers me. I miss you so much!"_The Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 50 The Arm Is Mine

Everyone in the room was immediately dumbfounded. No one thought that the famous genius doctor would say such things to a loser.

Casey was suddenly a little embarrassed, he coughed and whispered:

"Pay attention to your image."

Owen released Casey and stared at him with a smile on his face.

Both Morgan and Conor looked at Owen and Casey in disbelief. Only then did they understand why Casey said Owen would definitely help Conor. Hunter had a dazed expression, and he didn't realize what was going on. Why did Dr. Owen have such a good attitude towards Casey? Could it be that Doctor Owen was in a good mood, so he treated everyone like this?

The girl named Luna was even more surprised. This was the first time she saw Owen so passionate about others.

"Master, this guy called you by your full name just now, and he wanted to break in. Why are you being so polite to him?" Luna asked in confusion.

Owen glared at Luna and said, "Luna, don't be unreasonable, Casey is my distinguished guest."

The look in Luna's eyes became even more confused, as if she had heard some joke.

"But, he is the loser that is well-known in J City." Luna was still unsatisfied.

"Shut up!" Owen directly scolded Luna.

Luna was aggrieved, but she didn't dare to say anything.

Owen turned his head to look at Casey, his face turned into a smile again, and asked, "You always come to me when you are in trouble. Do you want me to help you?"

Casey nodded, "A friend of mine was injured. I would like to ask you to heal him."

Saying that, Casey pointed at Conor's arm.

Owen glanced at Conor's arm, his eyes lit up, and then hurried over to take a look, and said, "This arm is a bit interesting, I like that."

Conor's face twitched, thinking that this genius doctor was really different from others, and what he said could give people goose bumps.

"How's that, can it be cured?" Casey asked.

"It can be cured. Just take him to the room inside." Owen said with a smile.

Upon seeing this, Hunter immediately stepped forward and asked, "Doctor Austin, I also want you to help me."

Owen glanced at him and said, "Sorry, I've already treated three patients this year."

"But why do you help them?" Hunter said dissatisfiedly.

"Owen and I are relatives. What about you?" Casey didn't want to waste his time, and said something.

"Yes, we are relatives." Owen also said.

Hunter gritted his teeth, thinking that this loser should be lucky enough to be relatives with Owen. It was really unfair.

He didn't intend to continue wasting time here, so he planned to visit the nearby hospital later.

At this moment, Owen suddenly said: "Young man, you don't have to worry about it. I just took a look at your face. You just have kidney deficiency. Just go back and eat some herbal pills."

Hunter's body was suddenly struck by lightning, and he froze in place for a while before he could finally react again.

He didn't believe what Casey said at that time, but he couldn't ignore what Owen said.

Owen was a recognized genius doctor, and he certainly wouldn't fool people casually.

No Wonder She's Always In The Top 10 Of These Lists

He suddenly felt a little embarrassed. After calming himself, he said to Owen: "Yes...yes, doctor. After I go back, I will buy some herbal pills."

After speaking, he hurriedly left here. If he stayed here any longer, he would be too embarrassed to see anyone in the future.

After Hunter left, Casey immediately took Conor into the room inside and asked Owen to treat him.

Luna stared at Casey uncomfortably, but she dared not to say anything because of Owen's presence.

"The arm is mine. Go ahead and wait. I'll take care of it soon. Let him rest for a few days and it won't be a big problem." Owen said.

Casey nodded, and dragged Morgan away to let Owen concentrate on treating Conor.

Conor was panicked. Just now Owen said that his arm belonged to Owen, which made him shiver.

"God... genius doctor, please be mercy. I still want this arm, don't take it off me." Conor said.

"Don't worry, am I such a person? Only if it can't be cured will I remove it for you." Owen said with a smile.

When he said this, Conor became even more worried and had an urge to escape.

Casey and Morgan arrived at the other side of the room, staring at the surroundings curiously.

There are various organs made into specimens in this room. Morgan also found a human skeleton in the corner. He ran over and took a look and found that it was a real one, not a model.

He suddenly felt a little creepy, wondering if those organs were all obtained from humans.

So what would happen to Conor...?

He turned to look at Conor, and after seeing Conor's horrified expression, he couldn't help but feel deep sympathy for him.

Luna sat alone at a table not far away. There was a chessboard on the table, and she casually placed the chess pieces on the chessboard.

She stared at Casey with anger, and showed murderous intention from her eyes from time to time.

Casey gave Luna a playful look, and walked to the table and asked, "You can play chess?"

Luna suddenly showed a look of complacency, and said, "It's not just that I can play. Although my master is a genius doctor, he has a thorough knowledge of the study of Go. I've learned a lot from him. Not even the professional Go players can beat me."

Casey immediately laughed. According to his memories, he taught Owen how to play Go because he was too bored.

"What are you laughing at? You don't believe what I said? I'm telling you, if you want to play with me, I promise you will surrender within ten minutes." Luna said angrily.

"Casey, I don't know you can play Go! I have never heard of this."

Morgan said.

"There are many things you don't know." Casey turned his head and said to Morgan.

Luna curled her lips and said, "Stop being cryptic! You must be an amateur. Forget it; I won't play with you, or I may hurt your self-esteem."

Casey directly sat down on the other side of the table, set the chessboard, and said, "I'm bored anyway.

Maybe some chess game can rescue me from boredom."

"Just save it. You will only be defeated." Luna said with disdain.

"Let's play a round and make a bet. How about that?"

"What kind of bet?" Luna asked with staring eyes.

"If you lose, you will call me great master and follow my orders in the future, How's that?" The Chapter 51 You Bully Me.

"Just only you? You want to defeat me? Are you insane?" Luna Wood said disdainfully, "How shameless you are! You actually want to be my grandmaster, my master's master?"

Casey Davies smiled and said, "It's me who taught your master's how to play chess. In a sense, I'm his master, do you believe it?"

"I believe you shit!" Luna said firmly, "You want to be my master's master, uh-huh? You wish."

Until now, Luna still thought that Casey was a good-for-nothing. Because Casey and Owen Austin were related, she was willing to help Casey to cure his disease.

"If you lose to me, you have to call me master. You have to listen to me in the future." Luna continued.

"It's a deal." Casey directly agreed.

Luna sneered, looking at Casey disdainfully. She had never lost to anyone in playing chess.

Now her level of playing chess had reached a very high level. Even if her master wanted to win her, he had to try his best, let alone Casey.

However, she didn't know that what Casey said to her was not bragging. Casey indeed taught Owen how to play chess.

They started. Morgan Byrne watched them, not daring to make any sound.

At the beginning, Luna was still aggressive and put down chess piece fast. She thought that even if Casey could play chess, he was just an amateur.

However, as the chess game progressed, Luna suddenly realized that Casey's layout which she disdained forced her no way back.

Then Luna would stare at Casey for a long time before she put chess pieces. She was trying to guess some of his thoughts from his eyes.

But Casey kept smiling. His eyes were calm and unpredictable.

Step by step, the entire chess game was Casey's battlefield. From the time the first chess piece was put, the entire battlefield was under his control.

His mental arithmetic ability was extremely powerful. After the first step, he had already thought of the situation which was after hundreds of steps. Besides, the person was playing against him was still Luna, the little girl. He could win this game without any effort.

Luna's pride disappeared. She needed to think about for a long time to take the move.

Just when she finally came up with a wonderful move, Casey directly blocked her retreating way, which caused her originally planned step to be cut.

If it weren't that she didn't want to be disdained by Casey, Luna would have already retracted a false move.

Morgan didn't know chess. But from the changes in the expressions on their faces, it could be inferred that who was in control of the rhythm of the game.

Seeing Luna almost going crazy, Morgan admired Casey even more, thinking that Casey was really an all-rounder. Under Casey's calm appearance, no one knew how many unexpected skills he had.

Casey put down his last chess piece. He looked at Luna, and said lightly, "You lost."

Luna stared at the chessboard unconvincingly, trying to see if there was no remedy, but what made her desperate was that she couldn't find any way to remedy. She sighed helplessly, and then glanced at Casey in disbelief. She thought that this guy won her by luck.

It Must Have Been A Kind Of Hell For A Little Chrissy Metz

"Is it time to fulfill our gambling agreement and recognize me as your grandmaster?" Casey said with a smile.

Luna was reluctant. Of course, she didn't want to recognize Casey, a good-for-nothing, as her grandmaster.

At this time, Owen had already cured Conor West's arm. He walked to Casey.

Seeing Owen coming, Luna's eyes lit up, as if she had found a supporter. She stood up directly, "Master, come and help me teach this arrogant guy. He actually wants to be my grandmaster, your master."

After saying that, she looked at Casey and said, "It's okay I can recognize you as my grandmaster, but you must defeat my master firstly. Only then is it reasonable, otherwise I will not recognize you as my grandmaster."

Casey turned to glance at Owen, then smiled and said, "Okay, Owen, let's play chess."

Owen was shocked. Was he going to play chess with Casey? No, no, no. Back then, he thought he had a super IQ. After learning something about chess from Casey, he felt that he could defeat Casey.

Finally, they played a total of 100 chess games, of which he lost ninety-nine times, and the other one was because he found an excuse that he said he had stomachache when he played half game with Casey, so they didn't finish the game.

Luna, this little girl, dared to play chess with Casey and betted. It was obvious that he would lose.

In the past, Casey always said that he was Owen's master because he had taught Owen how to play chess, but Owen refused to admit it. If he really played chess with Casey and he lost, Casey would truly become his master.

Owen sighed helplessly. What could he do with his little apprentice? He had to sit down opposite Casey.

Seeing that Owen was about to play chess, Luna suddenly raised hope in her heart. She looked at Casey triumphantly, and said, "Back then, my master and Terence Lam, the famous chess master of J City, ended the chess game in a draw. You can beat me. But if you play with my master, you are nothing."

"Really? Then I want to see how good he is." Casey looked at Owen jokingly.

Owen was full of embarrassment, wishing to block Luna's words.

"Terence is nothing. The one sitting in front of me can be regarded as a real chess master."

"You let me play chess with him. You may make me awkward in front others."

Owen thought to himself, but as Luna's master, he couldn't say it out. He had no choice but to start the chess game with Casey.

Conor also came over and stood beside Morgan, watching the chess game.

He also studied some chess in the early years. He thought he had some knowledge about chess.

But when he saw the game between Casey and Owen, he was surprised.

This was a high-end chess game that could only be played by national-level masters. It had to take a long time for Conor to see through their layout. At this time, they had already taken some moves.

Conor looked at Casey with a complicated expression. He thought,

"What kind of freak is this guy? Is this really the Casey who is regarded as a good-for-nothing by everyone?"

After more than half an hour, Owen frowned and sweated. Finally, he couldn't stand it. He stood up and said angrily, "Stop. You bully me. You even don't give me a chance to fight back. I won't play chess with you anymore!"

The Peremptory Casey Davies
Chapter 52 Do You Still Think He Is a Good-for-nothing?

Both Morgan and Conor were a little surprised when they saw Owen being so furious, but they both knew why Owen was so angry. Because he didn't defeat Casey. Casey was the first one who could make this famous genius doctor so mad.

Luna stared at Owen dumbfoundedly. She was still waiting for Owen to avenge her. Unexpectedly, after only half an hour, Owen voluntarily gave up.

Was this guy really so powerful?

"Now that your master has also lost to me, can you fulfil the bet?" Casey asked with a smile.

Luna looked at Casey reluctantly, then turned to look at Owen for help, "Master..."

Owen glared at Luna and said, "Since you have had the bet, just accept to lose. Don't ask me for help."

Luna knew that today she couldn't escape to recognize Casey as her grandmaster.

"All right, master."

Luna turned to look at Casey, then bowed to Casey. She said, "Hello, Grandmaster..."

Casey was very satisfied with this title. He said smilingly, "Well, since you have become my disciple, you must strictly abide by my orders from now on. From now on, be gentle and polite when you talk to others, do you know that?"

Luna was stunned for a moment, and then she clenched her fist.

Was this bastard saying that she was not polite or gentle?

Now, Luna really hoped that she could have fight with Casey, but Casey was now her grandmaster. She had to listen to grandmaster's order.

"Yes...Grandmaster." Luna gritted her teeth.

Morgan and Conor both wanted to laugh, but in order not to let Luna so embarrassed, they could only hold back their laughter.

Casey stood up. He looked at Owen, and said with a smile, "Thank you this time. I'll teach you a few tricks to ensure that you can defeat Terence Lam."

Owen's expression was not very good, but he was still looking forward to Casey's tricks. After all, he really wanted to defeat Terence.

"Don't break your promise. Otherwise, next time when you come to me for medical treatment, I'll put something bad into your medicine." Owen said angrily.

Conor was shocked immediately. He thought of the medicine that Owen gave him just now.

After walking Casey out, Owen breathed a sigh of relief, then he turned to look at Luna. He said, "No matter who you want to provoke in the future, don't provoke Casey. Did you hear that?"

Luna looked puzzled and asked, "Master, everyone says that Casey is the good-for-nothing in J City. Why can't I provoke him?"

"Good-for-nothing? That's just his low-key cover. You played chess with him just now. Do you still think he is a good-for-nothing?" Owen squinted.

Luna nodded immediately, as if she understood something. She felt so surprised.

"It's a pity that this guy is already married, otherwise, it is a good choice to let you marry him." Owen suddenly changed his tone and murmured.

"Master!" Luna immediately glared at Owen.

Owen laughed, touched his beard and turned back to the house.

In front of the Starry Night Club.

Conor looked at the surrounding scenes and felt complicated. He had been in J City for a few years and was already familiar with it.

But looking at this city now, he felt the city was very different from before.

No Wonder She's Always In The Top 10 Of These Lists

It Must Have Been A Kind Of Hell For A Little Chrissy Metz

"In the future, I, Conor, will be rooted here. I don't want to be rich.

Casey, I only want to repay you for your life-saving grace." Conor said firmly.

Casey smiled and said, "The purpose I let you come here is not let you repay me. I want you to firmly control the underground world of J City."

Conor nodded seriously and said, "Don't worry. I will definitely help you get it."

Morgan patted Conor on the shoulder. He said with a smile, "Let's do it together. Although there is only Alfred Frost left in J City, there are still many tricky people. Controlling the underground world of J City is arduous. There is still a long way to go."

"With you and Casey, this should not be difficult." Conor said.

Morgan and Casey looked at each other and both laughed.

"Don't count on him. Casey's main task now is to accompany with his wife. He can't help you." Morgan said.

Owen looked dumbfounded and said, "I still have you."

"Me? Starting from today, I will only be responsible for fighting. I don't take care of anything else. Before you came, I was forced to do all kinds of things by Casey. Now that you come, these things are left to you." Morgan laughed.

Conor suddenly felt like he made wrong friends. Morgan could be regarded as one of three powerful men in J City. Why did he suddenly feel Morgan so unreliable?

"Casey, it's happy day. Let's got for a drink." Morgan looked at Casey.

"Enjoy yourselves. I have to buy some food and go home to cook." Casey replied.

Conor was shocked again. Such a powerful person as Casey was really willing to be a househusband?

But considering that Casey's wife was so beautiful, if it were him, he would probably be willing to be a househusband.

Thinking of this, some past events came to his mind. Conor shook his head to force himself not to think about those things.

On the way back, Casey went to the supermarket. After buying some food, he returned home.

Just entering the house, Amara Stevens sitting on the sofa said dissatisfiedly, "What time is it? Why are you so late? We are all waiting for you to cook!"

"I'll do it right now." Casey didn't refute. He just took the food directly into the kitchen.

When he went to bed at night, Edith Patel asked Casey to help her with a massage. The advantage that Casey could get was that he could lie on the same bed with Edith.

Two days later, it was the day for Edith's class reunion.

After getting off work, Edith went to home to pick out a dress that she liked. She put on light makeup.

She looked gorgeous.

After finishing these, she turned her head to look at Casey, and said, "Why are you still standing here in a daze? Hurry up, or we'll be late."

"Do you really want me to go with you?" Casey asked.

"Of course, if you still stand here, I'll regret." Edith said.

Casey was happy. He immediately went to get changed briefly.

In Casey's view, that Edith was willing to take him to meet her classmates was a kind of recognition for him.

Although Diana Damla said that day, if Edith took Casey to the class reunion, she would definitely be laughed at by her classmates, but Edith still took Casey there.

Since Edith had already treated him as her husband, he couldn't let Edith be laughed by others in today's class reunion.

Casey was good at letting others awkward. The Peremptory Casey Davies
Chapter 53 Class Reunion

Just when they went out of the house together, Edith got a call from Diana.

"Edith, we are at the gate of TC International Hotel right now. Come on."

"Okay, I will be there soon." After Edith hung up the phone, she hurriedly hailed a taxi.

TC International Hotel was a five-star hotel in J City which was definitely a high-end consumer occasion in J City.

If people wanted to eat here, they had not only to be the rich, but also had to have status.

This hotel was a place for upper class people to having parties. Ordinary people generally didn't consider to hold parties here at all.

Hunter Powell chose this place to hold a class reunion. One reason was to show his status. The other reason was that TY Group was a major shareholder of TC International Hotel.

As the manager of a branch of TY Group, it was relatively easy for Hunter to make a reservation at TC International Hotel than others.

But even so, in order to get a private room, he took painstaking efforts. Casey had heard Charles Clinton talk about the TC International Hotel before. The reason why he became a shareholder of this hotel was naturally to expand his connections.

Anyone who came to eat here would generally have considerable connections value. Charles was proficient at doing business, so he naturally knew the importance of connections.

Half an hour later, Casey and Edith arrived at TC International Hotel. After they got out of the car, they saw a group of people standing in the distance.

Diana and Hunter immediately came over to greet Edith. Diana saw Casey also come here. She immediately muttered, "How shameless he is! How dare he come to Edith's class reunion. Doesn't he know it's awkward?"

Hunter looked gloomy after seeing Casey. He still remembered what happened at Owen's house that day. If Casey said in front of so many classmates that he had kidney deficiency, he would probably punch Casey.

"Hmph, it's good that you also come here today. Let you see how rich I am today, so that you can know who you are, and get away from Edith." Hunter said to himself.

"Since you're here, let's eat together. I guess he has never eaten in such a place." Hunter said with a smile.

The classmates of Edith in the distance saw Edith bringing Casey over. They all started whispering.

"Is that Edith's husband? I heard that he is called Casey. He is a famous good-for-nothing in J City. Why did Edith bring him here?"

"That's him? He doesn't deserve Edith at all. What a pity!"

"I heard that Edith had no way, so she has to marry him. Maybe Edith brings him here is just to make him understand that he doesn't deserve her and let him get out of her way."

"Yeah. Have you heard that Hunter still likes Edith? This class reunion is held for Edith. Compared with Hunter, Casey is nothing."

After Hunter walked over with them, those classmates also stopped talking immediately, but they looked at Casey with contempt.

"Everyone is here, let's go in." Hunter said.

A group of people followed Hunter towards TC International Hotel, all looking around curiously.

They couldn't afford a meal in such a hotel themselves. Thanks to Hunter, this time they could be able to come here for a meal.

"Hunter is really amazing. He can bring us to eat here. I never dreamed of being able to eat here."

"That's right, Hunter is now the manager of the TY Group branch, with an annual income of several hundred thousand. It's a piece of cake for him to come here for dinner."

Kylie Jenner's Most Expensive Outfits: How Much She Spent?

"Wow, Hunter is so awesome. What's more, he is still single. I really don't know why Casey dares to come here with Edith."

Hunter was full of pride. He even cast a contemptuous look at Casey, as if to show off his rich.

Casey directly ignored Hunter. He didn't think how powerful a person with kidney deficiency could be.

Edith was also looking around curiously. It was the first time she came to such a magnificent building.

Casey saw that Edith was interested in this place, so he said, "If you like it, I can bring you here for meals every day."

Edith's eyes widened. Come here for meals every day? How rich that would be?

But for Casey, who could afford Heart of Venus, it should be nothing.

"Don't brag about it here. Do you know how many efforts Hunter spent to book a private room here?"

You think this is the restaurant that everyone can come. Come here for meals every day? You are just a gigolo. What do you have so that you can take Edith here for meals every day?" Diana said mercilessly.

Hunter also sneered, thinking that Casey was bragging.

Those classmates also laughed at Casey.

Casey pursed his lips and didn't say anything. People who were high-powered never bothered to explain to insignificant persons.

After they went in the TC International Hotel, a waiter ran over to greet them.

The waiter glanced at Hunter and asked, "Sir, do you have a reservation?"

Hunter nodded and said, "Phoenix Pavilion."

When the waiter heard the name of private room, his expression changed a little. He said, "Sir, I'm sorry.

Phoenix Pavilion has already been booked. We also have an ordinary private room here. You..."

"What!" Hunter yelled out suddenly, "I have already booked Phoenix Pavilion a few days ago. Why are you giving it to someone else?"

"That's right, one of our golden card customers is used to eating at Phoenix Pavilion. His priority is higher than yours, and the customer is over there." The waiter explained.

Hunter suddenly felt so embarrassed. He knew that if he applied for a golden card at TC International Hotel, he had to recharge one million at least, but he didn't have that much money.

He showed off in front of his classmates just now. He didn't expect to run into such an embarrassing thing so quickly.

He glanced over there and found a huge man in a high-end suit standing over there who looked like the boss of a certain group. He was just a branch manager, so he didn't have ability to compete with that man.

Just as Hunter was entangled in how to solve this matter, Casey walked to the side, took out his mobile phone, and dialed Charles' number.

"I'm at TC International Hotel. I want the Phoenix Pavilion, but someone is fighting the private room with us, you help me deal with it."

"No problem." Charles replied.

"Guys, or... let's go to the ordinary private room?" Hunter asked awkwardly.

At this time, Casey stepped forward and said, "Since you booked Phoenix Pavilion, then go to Phoenix Pavilion. Why do we go to the ordinary private room?" _____ The

Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 54 He Is Actually Right.

Hunter immediately looked at Casey as if Casey was like an idiot. He said, "Did you not hear it just now?

Phoenix Pavilion has already been booked by that gold card customer."

"No matter who he is, first come, first served." Casey said calmly.

Hunter was speechless. He thought to himself, "Do you think this hotel is that kind of restaurant that everyone can come? First come, first served? Now that that man applied the gold card, he has priority to use the private room."

Hearing that Casey said such stupid things at this time, Hunter felt that Casey was a bumpkin.

"Are you out of your mind? You actually said such stupid words? That man is a gold card member. What are you? You're just a jerk. You actually have so many demands." Diana also said contemptuously.

"It's okay, we can also go to the ordinary private room."

"Yeah, why do we have to eat at Phoenix Pavilion? Who do you think you are? Can you compare with the gold card members?"

"The ordinary private room is okay. I didn't expect that Edith's husband is not only a good-for-nothing, but a bumpkin."

Those classmates talked.

Hunter looked at Casey with a sneer. An idea popped into his mind. He said to Casey, "Since you really want to go to Phoenix Pavilion, can you go to talk to him and let him give us Phoenix Pavilion? "

"Hunter, don't be kidding. If he can get Phoenix Pavilion, pigs will fly." Diana said.

Others all laughed.

"Casey really doesn't know who he is. If it weren't Hunter, how could he enter such a high-end place?

Now he even wants more."

"How dare a jerk have so many demands?"

Edith was also a little embarrassed. She tugged at Casey's arm and said, "The ordinary private room is okay."

"But we can really go to Phoenix Pavilion." Casey said.

"Since you really want to go Phoenix Pavilion, then you go to talk to him to see if he is willing to give it to you." Hunter sneered.

"He will give Phoenix Pavilion to us." Casey said.

They looked at Casey disdainfully again.

"What an idiot. I can't talk with him anymore. He still thinks that man will give us Phoenix Pavilion. Does he think he is the owner of TC International Hotel?"

"I really want to laugh. Does he want to show off in front of us? Or he can't feel ashamed anymore?"

"Look, how arrogant he is! I really don't know why he can marry Edith, such a gorgeous. I still think Hunter and Edith are the most suitable."

.....

Hunter saw that everyone was on his side. They all laughed at Casey. He felt happier. That the more stupid Casey was, the better his chances would be.

Casey ignored these people. He walked towards the gold card member over there.

At this time, a waiter ran up to the man and said something to him. The man turned his head and looked at Casey, then nodded.

After that, the waiter who was talking to that man ran over. He said respectfully, "That gentleman is willing to give Phoenix Pavilion to you, and wish you all a pleasant meal here."

Everyone, including Edith, was dumbfounded. Casey was actually right. That gold card member was willing to give Phoenix Pavilion to them.

Edith turned to look at Casey. She became more interested in Casey.

She saw Casey make a call just now. She knew clearly that man was willing to give Phoenix Pavilion to them because of Casey's phone call. Otherwise, Casey would not say it so firmly.

Both Hunter and Diana looked at Casey in disbelief. They couldn't react for a while.

"He... He is right?" Hunter was surprised.

"What the hell? How did he know that man would give Phoenix Pavilion to us? Is it possible..." Diana narrowed her eyes.

"Wow, how did Casey know that man would give Phoenix Pavilion to us? That man gives the room to us because of Casey?" Someone exclaimed.

"How is it possible? How could Casey be so powerful? I think it's just a coincidence."

"Yes, it must be a coincidence. This guy just bragged just now, but he didn't expect that man would actually give the room to him."

"How lucky he is! Shit, I actually thought he was so capable."

Hunter and Diana also believed that it was just a coincidence. It was absolutely not because of Casey.

After all, they thought Casey had been with them all the time, but only Edith noticed that Casey gave a call.

"That man maybe has something to deal with temporarily, so he won't eat here. We can go to Phoenix Pavilion. Let's go." Hunter said with a smile, ignoring what Casey had said.

No matter why the man suddenly gave Phoenix Pavilion to them, this matter must not have anything to do with Casey.

He was just a bullshit.

Everyone present, except Edith, probably thought so.

They walked towards Phoenix Pavilion. Edith walked with Casey and asked, "Is it because of the call you made?"

Casey smiled and nodded.

"They've gone too far. Why don't you explain for yourself?" Edith asked.

"Giant will never prove his power because of the clamor of ants." Casey replied.

Edith suddenly felt that Casey actually had the temperament of a poet. A smile appeared on her face.

The waiter led everyone into Phoenix Pavilion. They all were surprised by the decoration inside.

It was no wonder that the gold card member would want to come to Phoenix Pavilion for meals. Even if they ate bread here, they would feel happy.

When all of them were marveling at the high-end of Phoenix Pavilion, only Casey remained unmoved.

Several women looked at Casey contemptuously. They all felt that Casey was ignorant and couldn't tell good from bad, so he had no reactions.

Everyone was seated at the table. All of them talked about the decoration of here happily. For them, to come here for a meal was simply too extravagant.

Thanks for Hunter, they could come here for a meal.

After everyone sat down for a while, the door of the room was pushed open. It was the gold card member who gave Phoenix Pavilion to them. He came in with a glass of wine in his hand.

Everyone stopped talking and turned to look at the gold card member.

It was the man who took initiative to give the room to them, so they felt a little guilty after seeing the gold card members come in.

If the man wanted to ask the private room back and based on the priority of the gold card members, even if Hunter previously booked this room, the man had the priority use of the private room.

When Hunter saw the man coming in, he was also a little worried and quickly stood up.

The gold card member glanced at everyone. At that time, the waiter told him that one of these people was a friend of the chairman of TY Group. He knew that the major shareholder of TC International Hotel was TY Group, so he immediately gave this room to them.

He wanted to apologize to them. After all, it was him who cut in a line. If he offended TY Group because of this, it would not be worth the gain for him.

Because he didn't know who was from TY Group, he directly said to everyone, "Guys, it's my fault. This room has been reserved by you, but I still cut in a line. I hope you don't mind."

Everyone was taken aback. They didn't expect this gold card member would apologize to them.

"I didn't know that you work for TY Group, so I was rude. Now, I will drink this glass of wine to show my sincerity. My company also has some cooperation with TY Group. I hope we can have a good cooperation in the future. "

After speaking, the gold card member drank the wine in his hand.

"Go on, I'm leaving right now. Enjoy yourselves." After that, the man left here and closed the door by the way.

At this time, everyone realized that it was because of TY Group that he gave the Phoenix Pavilion to them.

Among those present, they knew that only Hunter had a relationship with TY Group.

So everyone felt that why the man would be so polite was because of Hunter.

They all turned to look at Hunter admiringly.

"Hunter, you are so amazing. Even the gold members here give you face."

"Yes, Hunter is the manager of TY Group branch now. That man thinks that Hunter has a promising future, so he came to fawn on Hunter."

"Hunter is awesome. Compared with him, that jerk is nothing."

Several female classmates had become infatuated to Hunter, but they all knew that Hunter liked Edith, so they were all a little bit lost.

Diana didn't expect it was because of Hunter, which made her want to chase Hunter.

But thinking of her Prince Charming, she suddenly had no interest in Hunter.

"Hunter is really good. But compared with my Prince Charming, he's a lot worse." Diana muttered in her heart.

Hunter was dumbfounded. He didn't expect that the man would give the room to them because of himself.

But how did the man know that he was from TY Group? He had never seen that man

However, the man said that it was because of TY Group that he came to apologize. Among these people, Hunter was the only one who had something to do with TY Group, so it couldn't be because of Casey.

Thinking of this, Hunter also showed a trace of complacency on his face, no longer thinking about the strangeness of the matter. He felt that they could enter this room now was entirely his credit.

At that time, someone thought it was because of Casey that they got this room. Now it seemed that there was no such possibility.

Hunter glanced at Casey and Edith. There was a trace of provocation in Hunter's eyes, as if to prove to Edith that Casey could not match him at all.

However, he did not know that Edith had already determined that the man came here because of Casey.

Although she did not know what the relationship between Casey and TY Group, she believed Casey's ability.

After all, Casey could even get to know the owner of TY Manor.

Until now, Edith didn't know that the owner of TY Manor was actually Casey.

After everyone praised Hunter, they stopped discussing the matter. It was the time to order dishes.

Hunter glanced at the menu. Although the dishes on the menu were all expensive, they were still within his tolerance range. After eating this meal, he would be short of money next month.

Just when Hunter ordered food, the girls next to Edith began to talk to Edith. They chatted very happily.

The girl sitting by Edith grabbed Edith's hand and recalled their college life. At this moment, the girl suddenly noticed Edith's watch. Suddenly, her eyes widened.

"Edith, did you buy this watch by yourself?" The girl asked.

"No, Casey gave me it. He also has one." Edith replied.

"That's a bargain that Casey bought from the flea market. It's nothing pretty." Diana said.

The girl took a deep breath and said, "How could this be a bargain? This is a new couple model watches from Vacheron Constantin. A pair of watches costs 55,500 dollars. I only saw it at the mall a few days ago."

Everyone at the table was attracted by them. Seeing everyone looking at Edith's watch, Hunter suddenly became unhappy.

He also knew the watch was genuine watch.

"How is it possible? How could Casey afford such expensive watches? It should be fake." Diana also said with some surprise.

"Impossible, Vacheron Constantin's craftsmanship is not so easy to imitate. This strap is only available in the original factory of Vacheron Constantin. This watch is absolutely real." The girl said firmly.

Everyone looked at Casey. They didn't expect that Casey could give Edith such an expensive watch.

Edith was also a little surprised. Casey told her that the watch was not expensive. 55,500 dollars? But Casey didn't think it was expensive.

"Casey, you live off Edith. Where did you get so much money to buy such expensive watches?" Hunter suddenly asked.

"Yeah, how could you afford such expensive watches? Could it be that you did something illegal?"

"He certainly didn't buy it by himself. Maybe he stole others' watches. I didn't expect Casey would be a thief."

"Oh my god, the watches actually were stolen by Casey. I have to check if I have something lost."

Everyone immediately began to suspect Casey. The reason why Hunter asked such a question was also to arouse everyone's suspicion. He himself felt that it was Casey who had stolen the watches.

"Casey, why don't you explain? Did you really steal watches from others?" Hunter asked again.

Casey was speechless, but he didn't expect that Hunter would make such trouble to him.

But he was not afraid. An upright man fears no gossip

"I bought the watches myself. Please don't slander me without justification." Casey said.

"Then you prove it. We can't believe what you say without any evidence."

"Yeah, how do you prove that you bought them yourself? It's you who stole them from others but you're still quibble here."

"Edith, hurry up and stay away from this kind of person. He's actually a thief. He will harm you sooner or later."

When Casey heard them chattering away, he was speechless. He took out two pieces of paper from his clothes and patted them on the table.

"Here are the invoices for two watches. If you don't believe me, please check it for yourself."The

Chapter 56 Let's Spilt the Bill

The crowd immediately quieted down, and the word "invoice" directly suppressed their ferocious appearance.

That day, Charles dispatched someone to send the watch to Casey Davies, and also gave him the invoice.

After Casey got the invoice, he forgot to put it at home and carried it with him.

He didn't expect it to come in use today.

Diana glanced at the invoice which was at the table in front of Casey. She still didn't believe that it was true, reached out and had a look at it.

The girl who knew the brand, Vacheron Constantin, also looked over and stared in amazement, saying,
"This invoice is true."

All the people exclaimed, looking at Casey in disbelief. They all felt it was something they couldn't believe.

"Did he really buy this watch himself?"

"Isn't Casey a man who relies on women? How could he have so much money?"

"Wow, a sixty thousand-dollar watch, I'm afraid I won't receive such an expensive gift in my life."

Even if they were still skeptical, the invoice was true. None of these people had any reason to suspect that the watch was stolen by Casey.

Hunter thought this matter would make Casey lose all standing and reputation, let Edith realize that Casey was a man on the sly.

He had never expected that Casey would come with the invoice.

However, on one would think Casey were ill-mannered now, they would only regard him as a rich man.

Hunter was so angry that he clenched his fists and thought, "Casey is really odd, carrying an invoice everywhere. Does he always want to show off? He's really a rube!" Edith saw Casey take out the invoice to prove himself, signed with relief. She believed Casey wouldn't steal anything, but only the assertive evidence could shut others up. Fortunately, Casey had the invoice with him.

Diana thought Casey's watch was fake, did not expect it was a watch of Vacheron Constantin, which worth sixty thousand dollars. She was also surprised. But according to her prejudice against Casey, she could not admit that Casey could afford such an expensive watch. She thought that only her Prince Charming had the ability to buy it.

"Well, you have an invoice, so what? You must gain the money by either hiding it or cheating Edith. It seems that you are not ashamed of that at all." Diana said dismissively. People at the table nodded in agreement with Diana.

"That's it. Casey is a waste. How can he afford such an expensive watch? He must have gotten the money from Edith."

"Edith is really pathetic, meets such a shameless man who even cheat her out of money to buy a watch."

"This kind of person is really abominable. As a kept man, he also tried his best to gain money from women. How brazen he is!"

.....

Edith felt angry when heard these people's comments. She didn't understand why those people didn't believe that Casey bought this watch on his own. She wanted to plead for Casey. But he turned his head and glanced at her, smiled and motioned her not to do so.

Casey was also helpless as those people didn't believe him. But he knew it was difficult for people to admit a man who they regarded as a waster was very capable. If he was still anxious about what they said, he could only have endless quarrels with these people in the past few years, and wouldn't establish TY Group.

Hunter heard what people said also thought the money that Casey used to buy that watch was likely from Edith.

Even if it wasn't, it must be his private money that he had saved for many years.

Hunter thought, "As Casey was a waste, he couldn't have too much private money. Therefore, he only has little money after buying this watch." Hunter wanted to play a trick on him.

He glanced at everyone, then smiled and said, "Don't say so, it may be true that Casey earns the money by himself. Casey, as you can afford such an expensive watch, you must have a lot of money, right?"

"I have some." Casey replied.

Hunter sneered, and he didn't expect that Casey would be taken in so easily.

"How shameless he is! Hunter gave him an out, but he even struts his stuff more." Diana said in a contemptuous tone.

Others also felt that Casey was shameless who bloomed after being flattered.

"Casey, it seems that you are very rich. In fact, I didn't think that you would come, so I don't have enough money. Since you are so rich, can you afford to buy a watch of Vacheron Constantin, can you share a part of the bills? Then let's go to karaoke, I'll pay for it, OK?" Hunter said. Casey replied indifferently, "OK, let's split the bill"

Hunter almost did not hold back to laugh out, he thought, "Casey is so silly that he not only agrees with what I said, but also wants to split the bill with me. He may not know how much it will cost to have a meal here. "

"Now as you have agreed, today I will let you understand that the consumption of high-end hotels is not the one you can afford. When the time comes to check out and you don't have enough money, I'll pay it.

As a result, Edith will certainly be disappointed in you, and turn to my arms." Hunter muttered.

"He's really hopeless, dares to split the bill with monitor. I'm waiting to see what excuse he will make for his lack of money."

"He's crazy, doesn't he know himself well? He even wants to pay half of the bill. Does he think he can be compared to the monitor?"

"Who cares? Anyway, it's him who will be ashamed if he doesn't have enough money."

"Poor Edith. He may have designs on Edith. When he hasn't got enough money, he will certainly ask Edith to pay for him. How unlucky Edith is, has a such husband!"

Casey naturally understood what Hunter thought about, so he proposed to split the bill. As Hunter wanted to see him lose face, he didn't care to let Hunter know the feeling of going bankrupt.

Hunter handed the menu to Casey and wanted to see if he would regret after knowing the price of the food here.

"Since you will pay half the bill, please order what you like first."

Casey took over the menu, glanced at the menu, and asked, "Are you sure you want me to order?"

Hunter thought Casey was scared by those prices, sneered and said, "Yes, don't worry about the money, I will pay half of it. We should let others enjoy themselves, right?"

"All right." After hearing what Hunter said, Casey immediately turned up the menu.

He glanced at the waiter and said, "Now, I'll order food."

"There are more than ten people here. So first, ten pounds of Australian lobster at 85 dollars a pound."

"And give everyone a seventy-dollar caviar."

"Royal abalone soup, let's have five first."

"This one, this one, and one more....."

.....The Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 57 It Was Thirty Thousand Dollars

At first, Hunter laughed at Casey and thought that he would not dare to order the expensive dishes. But after seeing what Casey ordered, he stunned.

After a short moment, the price of the dishes that Casey ordered reached about ten thousand dollars.
The people at the table were also surprised by Casey, but thought they didn't need to pay for it, so no one stopped Casey.

Others didn't care about what Casey ordered, but Hunter cared. He had to pay half of the bill, and the dishes Casey ordered were beyond his budget a lot.
He immediately patted the table and shouted at Casey, "Are you crazy? Order so many dishes, can you eat all of them?"
Casey looked up at Hunter, said, "There are more than ten people here. It's easy for us to eat them up, isn't it?"

"But...but you still shouldn't..." Hunter would have liked to say that you shouldn't order so many expensive dishes. But when seeing everyone looking at him, he thought others may think that he was not as generous as Casey if he said so, therefore, he took back the words.
"What's the matter? Do you think it is too expensive?" Casey asked.
Hunter felt embarrassed, had only to say, "How can I think it's too expensive as there are only few dishes? I just think the kinds of the dishes you ordered were too unitary. I'm afraid that they will be tired of them."
Others immediately felt that Hunter was considerable, praised him.
"Our monitor is really kind, afraid we may be tired of the same food, ask to add more different types of food. "

"Yeah, these dishes are expensive. But they are a piece of cake to Hunter, he's certainly not distressed about the money."
"I think it is Casey himself distressed money, even said that the monitor thought that was expensive, he still doesn't think how much worse he is when compared with the monitor."

Although they were all flattering Hunter, but he was not happy at all. As things had gone this way, he could puff himself up to his own cost.

Casey heard Hunter's words, nodded, then turned to the waiter, said, "Each for every dish on this page, and this page as well as that one."

Seeing the way Casey ordered food was the same as he used in Harue Restaurant, Hunter suddenly felt regret for what he said.

Who could afford all the food in the menu?

But he just bragged, and it was too late to take back what he said."

"Well, Casey, don't just order dishes, let's get some wine." Hunter thought that when it came to order drinks meant that the dishes were enough. Then Casey would stop ordering food.

Casey nodded, turned to the wine page, took a general look, said, "Ten bottles of your most expensive wine, by the way, get some good drinks."

Hunter heard Casey's words and almost spat out blood because of anger.

The most expensive wine in TC International Hotel was 1188 dollars for each bottle, and Casey directly asked for ten bottles, which was nearly twelve thousand dollars.

Was this guy really crazy?

Hunter felt that his breathing was not smooth, he originally thought it would take about 4 thousand dollars at most. But after Casey ordered the food, he was afraid that he had to spend at least ten thousand dollars even Casey would pay half of the bill.

"You fucking idiot. Haven't you had delicious food before, even ordered so much dishes? Damn it all! But anyway, we will go fifty-fifty. Then I will only pay half of the bill and I won't pay even one cent more."

"Damn it! Even you, such a jerk, doesn't worry about it, I am also fearless. After all, I have deposit, and you will be regarded as a man who decides to dine and dash by the hotel if you don't have enough money."

Hunter felt better when he thought like this.

After ordering the wine, Casey closed the menu and returned it to the waiter.

"That's all. We will tell you if we need more later." Casey said.

The waiter immediately nodded. It was his first time to meet such a generous guest, thinking that he must be a bigwig, otherwise he couldn't be so bold.

After writing down what Casey ordered, the waiter quickly went out to tell the kitchen.

Diana turned her head and looked at Casey suspiciously, and then asked Edith, "Edith, did you give him all your money and want him to push himself forward in front of everyone?"

Edith shook her head, said, "No. Casey has been spending his own money recently, and he also bought his watch on his own. How can I afford such an expensive watch with my salary?"

"So how does he get his money?" Diana continued asking.

Edith thought about it and said, "Maybe he earned it himself."

Dianna didn't believe it at all. In her impression, Casey was a jerk that couldn't do anything. How could he earn so much money?

Or... Casey was pretending to be a nebbish before?

Thinking of this, Diana remembered Edith said that the voice of her Prince Charming was a bit like Casey's, and that day she sent a message to her Prince Charming, Casey's mobile phone actually rang.

All this made her suspect the relationship between Casey and Caesar.

It was never going to happen! Diana didn't believe that Casey was Caesar, but still took out the mobile

phone quickly and sent a message to Caesar.

Then she hurriedly stared at Casey, and didn't hear his phone ring.

Diana sighed with relief, it seemed that she misunderstood it.

"How could this fool be my Prince Charming, and I'm really stupid. If he is my Prince Charming, he must buy a million-dollar watch instead of a sixty-thousand-dollar one." Diana murmured.

She did not know that Casey had set it in silent mode when he arrived here, so there was no sound of hint tone.

Diana glanced at Casey arrogantly, then stopped thinking. She didn't care how Casey got his money, anyway, she didn't need to pay the bill.

The water severed the dishes soon. They were very excited to see those exquisite dishes.

"Hunter, thanks to you that we can eat such good food."

"Yeah, Hunter, it is the first time that I can eat such an expensive dish.

Let's make a toast."

"Come on, let's all drink a toast to Hunter for we can taste the expensive but delicious wine."

.....

Others picked up the glass and began to toast to Hunter.

Although Hunter was smiling, but he felt very painful. The wine they drank was not wine but his hard-earned money.

He saw Casey was calm, as if he didn't care his money at all, cursed, "I do not believe you aren't painful to spend so much money. You can pretend to be a rich man for a while, then don't cry when it comes to check out."

Others were pigging out and toasting to Hunter. All of them praised that he was generous and honored them.

After drinking and being praised by so many people, Hunter was conceited and said this money was a piece of cake to him.

Everyone seemed to have forgotten that Casey would also pay half for the dinner, none of them talked to him.

Casey also did not bother to chat with them, and enjoyed himself with Edith.

Almost an hour and a half later, everyone was full and looked very triumphant.

"Hunter, we all have had enough. You can check now." A man said.

"No problem, since everyone was full, then I'll check out. After that, let's go to karaoke." Hunter also drank a little too much and spoke a lot louder.

Others cheered immediately.

"Don't forget that Casey will split the bill with Hunter. Now, he doesn't speak, maybe he wants to stack the deck."

Hunter also sneered and glanced at Casey. He thought that Casey wanted to welch on what he said, so he kept silent. Fortunately, someone mentioned it.

"Excuse me, check out!"

The waiter immediately took the bill and went to Hunter.

"That man and I go halves for the bill, so I will only pay half of the bill, and he will pay the rest, okay?"

Hunter said.

The waiter nodded and said, "Sir, you're spending a total of thirty thousand dollars, and if you pay half of it, you'll have to pay fifteen dollars."

Hunter, who had been smiling, immediately sobered up and also almost fell from the chair.

"How much is it?" Hunter asked in disbelief.

"It's fifteen thousand dollars." The waiter repeated it again.

Hunter swallowed. He only had seventeen thousand dollars of working capital. This meal almost ran out of all his money.

"Well, that man will pay first. I need to transfer money." Hunter wanted to see whether Casey had so much money, so he casually made an excuse.

The waiter had to go to Casey.

"Sir, it's..."

Everyone stared at Casey with a sneer and thought he couldn't have so much money.

"I think he was bragging. How could he have had so much money? He might have cried and welched."

"It is thirty thousand dollars. The half of it is still a large amount of money. Casey designated cannot get so much money."

"In my opinion, he may ask Edith to pay for him."

.....

Casey was not as slow as Hunter, but directly took out his bank card, handed it to the waiter, said, "Here is it."

The waiter immediately took the card, swiped it, and let Casey enter the password.

Everyone thought that there wasn't enough money in his account.

But at the next moment, the waiter smiled, returned the card to Casey and said, "Sir, you have paid successfully, thank you for your support of our hotel!" __The Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 58 Dice Game

Others immediately looked at Casey incredulously with their mouth open.

"He...he paid it... How could he have been so rich?"

"It's a credit card, and his credit limit is more than fifteen thousand dollars. Mine is only two thousand dollars."

"Oh my god, he even spent nearly fifteen thousand dollars at random. I'm afraid I can't be so generous in my life."

.....

Hunter saw that Casey actually paid half of the meal, and suddenly felt upset.

He just thought that if Casey couldn't get so much money, then he could pin the blame on him. He would say that it was Casey who wanted dine and dash, then the hotel would get even with him.

But what made him surprised was that Casey really had so much money. Therefore, he had only to pay it.

After receiving Casey's money, the waiter went to Hunter and asked, "Sir, can you pay now?"

Hunter took out a card and handed it to the waiter grudgingly.

There was only seventeen thousand dollars on his account. He thought that there would be none left after paying the meal and the following karaoke.

"Damn it. It's all because of you. I'll make things very difficult for you while singing." Hunter said with his teeth grinded.

After a while, the waiter returned the card to Hunter. Hunter took it over painfully, and then said to the crowd, "Let's go, let's go sing now and have fun."

The crowd immediately cheered, then they left TC International Hotel and went to a famous karaoke nearby.

Karaoke was not a high-end consumption place, although the wine was expensive, but Hunter could afford it. He was not worried that he would need to spend nearly ten thousand dollars more. He thought that it would be one thousand dollars at most.

His only purpose now was to make an ass of Casey, so as that he could show that he was better than Casey.

Casey and Edith were sitting in the corner, like square pegs in round holes.

But Casey enjoyed staying with Edith together very much. Edith meant the whole world to him, and he didn't care about others at all.

Hunter was jealous to see they were so intimate, directly holding a few dices, sitting opposite Casey.

"It's too boring that you two just sit here and don't sing. Let's play the dice game." Hunter stared at Edith.

Edith shook her head immediately and said, "I don't know how to play." Hunter looked to Casey, said, "As Edith doesn't play it, then you take her place. Let's play the dice game, and the one who loses needs to drink, OK?"

Casey shook his head and said, "I'm sorry, I don't want to play it."

Hunter sneered immediately and said, "Are you afraid of losing? You are too cowardly even afraid of playing a game. You know I am very straightforward, please forgive me if my words hurt you. They all said you are a loser, at first, I do not believe it. Now it seems that they are true as you even dare not to play a dice game. "

"It's normal for him dare not to play with you, he's such a coward, how dare he dare to play with you."

Diana who sat next to Edith said sarcastically.

"Casey aren't like a man, even has no courage to play dice game with Hunter."

"It's a pity that Edith married him."

"Is he afraid of losing and drinking. He still dares not play as the bet is so small. How can he be successful?"

.....

Edith heard those people's words, but also a little embarrassed, pursed her lips.

Hunter heard this, immediately continued, "Casey, you are really not a man, let Edith embarrassed in this occasion. If I were you, I would never let her so face-free."

Casey frowned, the reason that he did not want to play with him was he thought the game was so simple that he had defeated all the people of Davies family when he was only eight.

He didn't expect Hunter would mention Edith.

Casey thought, "Well, since Hunter himself wanted to disgraced, he would not go easy on him."

"Okay, I'll play with you." Casey said.

Seeing Casey promise, Hunter sneered and said, "Well, since you promised, we can't stop until one of us drinks to vomit, even it will last the whole night."

"It doesn't take that long. I will end it in thirty minutes." Casey replied.

Hunter did not understand the meaning of Casey's words, thought Casey was to say that he would vomit in half an hour, immediately laughed. He thought Casey was really a wuss who thought he would lose before starting.

Diana looked at Casey and said, "You really have self-knowledge. Hunter has won the dice game all the time. He can definitely beat you in half an hour."

Several more people gathered around, looking curiously at Casey and Hunter, in their view, there was no doubt that Hunter would win.

"Hunter is a good drinker and he can even drink more than ten people can do. Casey can't win at all."

"How arrogant Casey is! We are supposed to see him vomit a lot because of drinking too much."

"Casey, if you really can't drink, don't play it. They are my classmates, won't take it serious." Edith was worried about Casey.

"Don't worry, I won't have a glass of beer." Casey said with a smile.

Edith stunned. She didn't understand what Casey meant.

Hunter couldn't wait to see Casey lose, so directly began the game.

He shook the dice cup with one hand. He was very skilled, and others were amazed at his action.

"Hunter is so good at it that the dice cup looks like dancing in his hand."

Several people exclaimed.

Hunter put the dice cup upside down on the table, and then took it away.

Everyone looked at it and saw the pips of the four dices, three fives and one six.

"Hunter, you are so great, that total number of your pips is so big that Casey can hardly win."

Hunter was also very confident. He was very skilled at dice game and there were few people could do better than him.

"It's your turn." Hunter handed the dices and dice cup to Casey.

Then Hunter went to get beer for Casey. As for he got three fives and one six, he thought that Casey couldn't win.

Casey did not hesitate, holding the dice cup and then shook up. His movement was very simple, which for the control of the strength, it was only he could feel it.

Everyone saw Casey's movements was so simple that they laughed.

"He must be a green hand, so how can he win the game?"

"It looks that he is even worse than me. And if he is "lucky" enough, he's going to get four ones."

Soon, Casey's hand stopped, and everyone did not speak, waiting for him to take his hand away.

At this time, Hunter also got the beer ready. It was an oversized glass that was full of beer. There were about two bottles of beer in the glass.

He came over with the glass, looked at Casey with a sneer, thinking that this glass of beer would let Casey feel bad.

"Oh, Hunter, you use such a big glass, are you going to burst him?"
Someone laughed and said, "I think the game will be over soon. This glass of beer is enough to make Casey vomit."

"Casey, what are you waiting for, open the dice cup, or you want to stall for time?"

Everyone subconsciously thought that Casey would lose this turn. Casey took the dice cup away, revealing the dices in it, and everyone looked over, and then they all surprised.

Two fives and two sixes! The total number of his pips was just one more than Hunters.

"Oh, he's really a lucky dog, it's just one more."

"So he is! It's amazing!"

"Well, this guy may use up all his luck in his life this time."

As Hunter was just about to hand the beer in his hand to Casey, he saw the pips and suddenly stunned.

And his hand holding the beer glass was also still in the air.

"This idiot really has a good luck. The total number of the pips is one more than mine?" Hunter thought.

Casey smiled at Hunter and said, "I'm sorry, just one bigger than you, you lost, drink it."

The reason why he could have these pips was not he had good luck. It was because he was so skilled at dice that he could get any pips he wanted.

He also got the pips on purpose in order to let Hunter feel upset and indignant.

Hunter was really indignant and angry with Casey. He still obeyed the rule and drank the beer in his hand.

He thought that Casey won this time just because of his good luck, and he wouldn't be so lucky later.

After drinking the beer in the glass, Hunter took the dice cup again and began to roll the dices.

This time he also got a relatively large number of pips, and thought Casey must lose this time even if he was lucky.

However, after Casey got his pips, Hunter stunned, because the sum of his dice pips was one more than his.

"Oh my god, he really had stroke of luck." Hunter shivered and didn't want to drink such a big glass of beer at a time.

But this time Casey has poured him beer and handed over, "drink it." Hunter was extremely angry, but still drank all the beer in that glass. The following turns were all the same as the first two, no matter how many pips Hunter got, Casey could always be one more than him, which made him almost crazy.

And as he drank more and more, by the fifth turn, he couldn't hold on. "Well, I'll go ..." Before he could finish his words, he almost vomited and ran quickly to the toilet.

Casey and Edith both laughed.

Diana stared at Casey, feeling that Casey was a little strange. No one could always win even if he was extremely lucky.

She sat opposite Casey directly, picked up the dice cup and said, "I'll play with you, but let's change the wager instead of drinking beer." _____The Peremptory Casey Davies Chapter 59 Truth or Dare

"Oh? What do you want to bet on? Casey asked.

" Truth or Dare!" Diana said with a snicker, as if she were about to play a trick on Casey.

She wasn't afraid that Casey would win, and even if Casey did, she didn't think Casey would let her do anything stepped out of line.

In her mind, Casey was always a coward man, and he certainly dared not make excessive demands or ask blatant questions.

What's more, Edith was still here, she was not afraid that Casey would take this opportunity to retaliate against her.

And as long as she won, she could take advantage of Casey, put an end of his arrogance after winning so many times.

Casey naturally didn't know what Diane was thinking, but he was not worried about it at all.

Diana had no chance of winning the game when her opponent was him.

"Okay, let's get started." Casey said.

Diana handed the dice cup directly to Casey and said, "You do it first. " At that time, she noticed that it was always Hunter rolled the dices first and Casey could be one more than him each time.

She felt that it was the key to Casey's victory, so that she asked Casey to do it first.

Casey smiled and shook his head, did not care, took the dice cup and shook it.

After a while, he opened the dice cup. Others looked over and found the pips of the dices were four fives. The total number was twenty.

Twenty, was already a relatively large number. It was very hard to get 20 if only relied on luck.

Casey didn't think Diana could play it as well as Hunter. Even if she won this time, he would also obey the rules.

Diana saw the pips that Casey got, did not panic, took the dice cup. She turned one dice secretly and pretended to shake the dice cup, then took the dice cup away.

"There are three fives and one six, the sum of pips is one more than you got, and I won." Just now she turned one dice into pips six, and didn't touch the rest.

Casey looked at Diana and felt speechless, and just now her movements were so obvious that he was treated like a fool.

"You just moved the dice with your hand, I saw it." Casey said indifferently.

"What are you talking about. It's you lost this time, why are you cheating? Do you think I am a girl then regard me as a pushover?" Diana immediately looked very aggrieved. When the boys around her heard her, they immediately beefed with sympathy and blamed Casey.

"You're a man, and she is a girl, no matter how she wins, don't be so serious."

"Why are you so mean, isn't it a game?"

"I don't know what you think, but if I were you, I would never let her lose."

.....

Casey was blamed by a group of people. It was Diana who was cheating, but everyone thought it was his fault.

"Casey, don't take it seriously. She just likes trying to be clever." Edith said.

Casey sighed and said helplessly, "Well, you win."

Diana chuckled for the success of her trick, said, "As you are a man, you can only choose "Dare", you must move the marble table forward five centimeters, otherwise, you admit you are a waste!"

Everyone glanced at the marble table in the room, which weighed at least two or three hundred pounds, not to mention Casey, no one there could lift the table.

"Diana, your demand is a little too much." Edith said.

Diana looked unconscionable and said, "It's not too much at all, as it is a dare, it must be difficult to be done. He can also directly admit that he is a waste to everyone, I did not force him to move the table."

Edith felt angry with Diana, thinking that her best friend, Diana, was too mean to Casey.

Casey glanced at Diana, who stared proudly at Casey and was sure that he couldn't move such a heavy table, so he must have admitted in front of everyone that he was a waste.

Casey smiled, then got up and said to Diana, "Excuse me, you are in my way."

"What are you going to do? Are you really going to move this table? "

Diana stared at him in surprise.

"Is Casey crazy? It is a marble table, and weighs more than three hundred pounds."

"Don't brag, do you really think you can lift such a heavy table, don't you afraid of hurting yourself?"

"If he can move the table today, then I will eat shit!"

Casey stared at the table, found a spot where he could direct his efforts. Then his two hands put on it, deepen his breath, lifted the table with all his strength. The table was really raised a little.

Then he quickly moved the table forward, then put it down quickly. Everyone was staring at the scene, it was a three-hundred-pound table, Casey really lifted it up and moved it five centimeters?

Diana stared at Casey as if she were looking at a monster.

"He's... why is he so strong? "

"Is he doing housework every day? Therefore, he is so strong."

"Damn it! How much hard work has he done that he can be so strong?"

"Think about Casey's position in his family. He definitely has to do the most tiring work, and if I do such work every day, I'm sure I'll be able to be strong like him."

"Also, the more strength he has, the more evidence that he does more at home."

.....

"I did it." Casey glanced at Diana and sat back on the side Edith.

Edith stared at Casey and asked, "How could you be so strong?"

Casey laughed and said, "I'm not sure... maybe it's because I do much housework?"

Edith immediately glared at him, thought, "Is Casey complaining that he does too much house work?"

Maybe I should share the chores with him. "

Others continued to play, but this time no one dared to play the dice game with Casey.

Hunter didn't come back after he went to the bathroom, and Casey felt like he was asleep with the toilet in his arms.

Seeing that others were having a good time, Casey turned his head to glanced at Edith, and then took the dices over, shook in front of her, said, "Well, let's play it, OK?"

"No, you're too good at it." Edith said.

"This time I will just rely on the luck." Casey said with a laugh.

Edith thought about it, and nodded.

Casey immediately shook the dice cup, and this time he didn't use any skills.

The total number of the pips was ten.

Casey smiled and shook his head.

Edith took the dice cup, shook hard, then took it away. She found that the pips of the dices were two fives and one four, and was excited to laugh.

"It's fourteen, you lost."

Casey saw Edith so happy, he also felt happy. He was willing to lose to Edith.

"Yes, I lost and said what you want me to do."

Edith thought about it seriously. Then she looked into Diana, suddenly as if she remembered something, she said to Casey excitedly, "Go to sing a song, I want to hear you sing." ___The Peremptory Casey Davies

Chapter 60 Casey's Singing

Casey was also stunned, and he didn't expect Edith to want to hear him sing.

But now that Eddie had asked for it, he couldn't refuse.

Diana heard Eddie's request and immediately twitched her mouth and said, "Edith, are you serious?"

Don't let his singing scare us!"

Several people agreed, showing a contemptuous look at Casey.

"Don't sing, I really have a heart attack. If you scare me when singing, you can't take the consequences."

"I still want to have a good night's sleep tonight. I beg you, don't let me have nightmares at night."

"Just let someone who is good at singing sing. Casey's singing is a torture of us." .....

Edith didn't agree with them, defending Casey, saying, "Casey hasn't sung yet. Why do you say that?"

Maybe he can sing well."

"Edith, I think you are really fooled by him. You have been with him for many years, has he sung a song before? In general, the people who do not sing are because they can't sing, there is no doubt about that." Diana said.

"But ... I feel Casey's voice, a bit like your Prince Charming's, and he may sing very well." Edith went on.

Diana immediately glanced at Casey, and her eyes covered with disdain.

"Well, I'm not slandering him, but you should know exactly that what Casey is like, how can he be compared to my Prince Charming."

As she spoke, Diana greeted a group of girls and said, "Come on, let's listen to my Prince Charming's song."

She turned on her cell and played a song which recorded in live broadcast that day.

These girls were attracted by the singing, indulged in their fantasies.

"Wow, isn't that Caesar, the one who is very famous recently? His song sounds extremely beautiful."

"How could Casey's voice be compared to a super singer's like this. His song must be terrible."

"Casey had better not sing. As we're listening to such a nice song now, we can't help but feeling sick if we listen to yours."

"That's right, but Hunter hasn't come back yet, even if he vomits, he can't vomit for so long."

.....

Edith looked angry, she just wanted to hear Casey sing a song, but she didn't expect to be so ruthlessly rebutted by others.

Casey didn't care what these people say, and since Diana thought he's so bad, it was better to identify himself directly today, so that Diane wouldn't send him these disgusting messages later.

He got up and went to the singing table and ordered a song, I Will Always Love You.

Diana saw that Casey was really going to sing, and stared at Casey more sarcastically, and she even wanted to go out.

Edith's classmates weren't happy with Casey either, and a few covered their ears for fear that Casey would pollute their ears.

As the music rang out, Casey picked up the microphone and looked at Edith.

Edith didn't care what the people around her said, staring at Casey with both eyes, and she had a hunch that Casey would surprise her.

"If I should stay, I would be in your way, so I'll go but I know..."

As soon as Casey sang, the noisy crowd in the room quieted down.

The people, who despised him just now, were immediately stunned when they heard Casey singing, and then the look on their faces turned to enjoyment. This song was too nice. Those who covered their ears saw that the expressions of these people had changed, and they were all strange, and then they took their hands off their ears. Then their expressions became as jovial as those of others. Edith thought that since Casey dared to go up and sing, he wouldn't sing badly. But now hearing Casey's song, Edith had a feeling of sweetness, for Casey's song, she could only describe it as a fairy song. And Casey's song was sung to her, and the emotions contained in Casey's voice might not be appreciated by others, but Eddie completely understood it.

A 25-Year-Old Becomes The Richest Man In His City
Angelina Jolie Health Struggles - Talk About A Dramatic Change
She felt that she had been brought to the fairy tale by Casey's song. And Casey was the prince, she was a princess, the two were carefree, and she was living a life that even the gods admired. If it wasn't for the many people here, she might have rushed up to hold Casey now. Casey's also only looked at Edith. They were looking at each other. The feelings in their eyes all became into the flying magpies, set up a love-bridge between two people. For the first time, Edith felt a sense of being in love with Casey. It felt so sweet that she wanted to have it all the time. The only person who didn't immerse in Casey's song was Diana. She didn't really think Casey was singing too bad, but Casey sang so well that she was shocked. And as Casey's singing continued, Diana suddenly discovered that Casey's singing was almost identical to Caesar's. She stared at Casey in disbelief, and before Edith mentioned it to her, she didn't care until she heard Casey's song, and she wondered if Casey and Caesar heart were the same person.

That's impossible! Diana reassured herself that Casey was a waste, and how could he be her Prince Charming?

It must have been a coincidence that her Prince Charming was so rich, and Casey, who relied on a woman, could be as great as him.

The next second, however, she thought of the watch which was more than six thousand dollars and he had just paid fifteen thousand dollars for the dinner.

In fact, Casey was richer than the average.

"No one knew how he got his money, but he was definitely not my Prince Charming anyway." Diana continued to try to comfort herself.

"Yes, Casey is certainly not Caesar, and I can ask him and prove it if he answers me."

Diana immediately took out her mobile phone and sent a private message to Caesar. "Do you know a man named Casey?"

Just then, a cell phone on the table rang and the screen lit up.

It was Casey's cell phone!

He didn't move it after he put his cell phone on the table just now.

Diana glanced at the phone and didn't take it seriously, but that's when she suddenly saw a private message on the phone's screen.

She immediately stared, then quickly reached for the phone.

Casey's phone didn't have a password, it can be turned on directly, and when Diana turned it on, she saw a lot of private letters above, all of which she sent to Caesar.

"It's ... Is this Casey's cell phone? "

Diana's voice trembled a little, and the most unacceptable fact seemed to be in front of her.

She looked up at Casey and found that there was only Edith in Casey's eyes, an inexplicable sense of loss appeared in her mind.

"Why my Prince Charming is Casey, this asshole? He clearly is just a waste, how can Casey and Caesar be the same person. "

"And ... And he's married to Edith, so what am I supposed to do? "

After knowing that Casey was Caesar, Diana's prejudices against Casey disappeared.

She was obsessed with Caesar for a long time, so even after knowing that Casey was Caesar, her main concern was that Casey was married.

Watching Casey and Edith's affection, Diana almost burst into tears, and suddenly she felt aggrieved, like... her own man was robbed by someone else.

"However, he clearly was already Edith's husband, why he bought me so many gifts? Why would he sing that song to me?"

"Or, Casey actually is a scum man?"

Diana analyzed, but even if Casey were a scum man, she would find that she would not have any resistance to Casey.

Before long, Casey stopped singing, placed the microphone on the table, and sat beside Edith.

Everyone was still full of intoxication, unable to help themselves.

That's when Diana turned her head and looked at Eddie, shy, and asked in a soft voice, "Edith, I... Can I stay alone with Casey for a while? " __
