

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2231

This made Sean anxious beyond relief. 'What's going on? Is Bonnie even inside this ward? Is she fine? Is her baby still with her? She... Even after what happened, will she still choose to be with Jim?'

Suddenly, the emergency alarm started ringing fiercely. The doctor had installed an emergency button in the ward so people could press it to alert hospital staff when an emergency occurred.

The loud ringing blared across the hallway, scaring the napping guards outside the door awake. Before they could react, however, a man wearing a janitor's uniform dashed right into the ward.

"What happened?" Sean was the first to rush into the ward.

What he did not expect to see, however, was Jim choking Nikki's neck beside Bonnie's bed instead of Bonnie, who was lying on the bed. "Nikki!" Sean instantly rushed over and instinctively pushed Jim away before pulling Nikki into his arms, the woman's face already turning purple at this point. "What have you done to my sister, Jim?!"

Jim stumbled backward due to Sean shoving him, but he managed to regain his footing. He sneered and glanced at Sean. "You should be asking your sister what she has done to Bonnie instead."

Jim squinted at Sean as he coldly added, "See what's she wearing? She wore a nurse's uniform and came in here to inject poison into Bonnie's body. I caught her red-handed, yet she refused to admit it. Manhandling her like that is only fair!" Sean's body trembled as he held Nikki in his arms. He lowered his head to gaze at Nikki. "Nikki... Did you..."

"I didn't!" Nikki vehemently shook her head, her eyes glossed with tears. "I didn't, I swear!"

Tears fell from her eyes as her face reddened. "Alright, I had disguised myself as a nurse to come in here, but... I didn't do it because I want to kill Ms. Craig!" She wiped away her tears as she added, "Sean, after everything that happened, you nearly completely isolated me because of her. I know what she meant to you, and I'd never do anything that would hurt her."

"I've made up my mind to apologize to her, B{D}A, I only after seeking forgiveness from her will I apologize to you. I know I'm your sister, and I shouldn't have considered having any other relationships than that..."

She sniffed, her sobs turning to full-out cries. "I got worried when I saw Ms. Craig had an accident this afternoon. I thought that if something bad happened to Ms. Craig, you'd be devastated, even if you don't think about going after her. Also, I know you and Mr. Landry are at odds right now, and you'd be embarrassed to visit her yourself.

"So, I disguised as the nurse and wanted to visit Ms. Craig to find out about her situation for you, but I never thought Mr. Landry would come in here too, right after I did, so I quickly hid when he came in..."

"I can't believe my eyes! I saw him injecting something into Bonnie's body, and he tried to eliminate me when he knew I had seen everything!"

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2232

The ward fell silent after everyone heard Nikki's words. It was not just Jim and his assistant who were shocked; it was hard for Sean to digest, too.

'Why would Jim want to poison Bonnie?' Sean thought.

"Sean, you need to trust me." Sensing the disbelief in Sean's eyes, malice flashed past Nikki's eyes for a brief moment before she flung herself into Sean's chest, faking being the victim of circumstances." Sean, I'm telling you the truth! Jim Landry poisoned Bonnie and said that if she's dead, no one will ever know that he had been together with Bonnie before.

"If she's dead, then you, Sean, will fall into deep misery. He's using this to take revenge on you... because Ms. Hamilton chose you and Mr. Wheeler instead of him!"

Nikki's every word felt like daggers that stabbed into Sean's heart. He stared at the man before him, the man that he should call his brother.

How much hatred did Jim have toward Lucy and Sean that he could bring himself to try and kill Bonnie, the woman he used to love, just to have his revenge?

Sean had never known who this half-brother of his was, but he was very jealous of him. After all, his half-brother had been a thorn in his mother's heart when she was alive.

Every time when his mother could not sleep, she would murmur his half-brother's nickname in the middle of the night, calling him 'Jimmy'.

Whenever his mother would often end up in tears, she would bring up that name. She kept on saying that the person she felt the sorriest to was her 'Jimmy', that she was sorry for abandoning him.

Sean's father, Richard Wheeler, had always gone off to see Jimmy secretly and took photos of him, just so he could show Lucy what the boy had done for the day. She would then cherish those photos like invaluable treasures, not allowing anyone to see them. Not even Sean, Lucy's own son, had ever seen his half-brother's photo.

Before Lucy took her final breath, he had called Samuel to visit his mother for the last time. His mother held Samuel's hand and repeated again, telling Samuel that she was sorry for abandoning Jimmy. Never once had she told Sean that she was sorry for ignoring him all the time.

Jim had said he was the one abandoned, but Sean believed otherwise—it was he who had been neglected. Lucy was guilt-ridden and remorseful from the moment she left Jim, but Sean had never once experienced the love of a mother despite being the son who accompanied Lucy throughout her remaining years.

Sean had been jealous ever since he was just a child.

All that, and Jim still wanted to exact his vengeance against Sean just because of his hatred toward his mother. Jim wanted to use Sean's beloved woman to take revenge on Sean!

Sean was flabbergasted at the thought. He had no idea how crazy Jim could be.

"Sean..." As Nikki saw the hatred in Sean's eyes when he looked at Jim, Nikki quickly grabbed Sean's hand and lay softly in his arms. "Let's go back. I don't want to stay here and see this man. I hope..."

She turned her head and looked at the still unconscious Bonnie. "I hope the doctor can save Ms. Craig."

Her eyes, on the other hand, conveyed a different type of emotion, showing just how self-gratified she felt. 'Heh! Bonnie will never live past this!' Even if Bonnie woke up at this moment, she would only have seven days left to live. What could she do within such a short time frame? There was nothing else she could do to win against Nikki!

Sean furrowed his eyebrows. "I don't want to go."

If Jim truly had gone to the extent to hurt Bonnie because of him...