Butler Fred squinted sharply after listening to Luna's words. "I'm impressed. Ms. Luna is no doubt the sole heir of the Landry family. You're so calm with the sharp observation that scares many people."

After a sigh, he took out a recording device from his pocket. "Of course, Ms. Luna has the right to suspect me. How would I dare try to ruin Ma'am's reputation without the evidence?"

He walked toward Luna and bowed respectfully at her while placing the recording device in Luna's hand. "You can play the recording. If you still think I was talking nonsense after listening to it, there's nothing more I can say."

Luna furrowed her eyebrows and squeezed the recording device tightly. She looked at the device in her as her heart pounded faster. All this time, she thought that Butler Fred and Mickey did not have any evidence to prove the things they said. Just as Joshua said, if they were unable to present any evidence, Rosalyn would not be able to take the fault. However...this recording device was obviously the evidence that Butler Fred prepared.

Luna's finger hovered over the play button, but her heart resisted her from pressing it.

She was scared. She was scared to hear Rosalyn's voice from the recording device when she played the audio. She was scared to find out that Rosalyn truly was the one behind Granny Lynch's death.

If that was the case, then she would not know how to face Joshua . Jim would have a hard time knowing the truth, too.

"Press it." Even though Joshua was far from Luna, he could hear Luna's heavy breathing from the mic. He knew what she was scared of and why she was hesitating , but there were some truths that one could not just run away from.

Luna bit her lip as she heard Joshua coaxing her. As she gritted her teeth, she finally played the audio.

"Tell me, Butler Fred: how can Granny Lynch be so cruel? Is she still unsatisfied with what she did to us and how hard we're trying to get by now?"

"You're right – you're absolutely right. If it weren't for her, I wouldn't be in this situation now. I wouldn't even have lost my daughter in the first place! Butler Fred, is there any way to make this old woman disappear forever? " rang the voice of a younger Rosalyn from the device. The audio continued.

“The medicine that I used to treat Charles could do the job. We just need to give it to her, little by little, and she’ll

“Butler Fred, I’m counting on you. I’m counting on both you and Mickey. There’s something that I just can’t bear to do myself.”

Luna felt devastated, and it felt as though her heart was grabbed by an invisible giant hand in a vice-like grip.

She was right. As expected, it was Rosalyn’s idea. Although she did not know what happened in the end, her mother was the main culprit. If she did not tell Butler Fred about the medicine, had she not told Butler Fred to get rid of Granny Lynch, everything else would not have happened.

Butler Fred would not poison Granny Lynch, and Granny Lynch would not have...

Having those thoughts in her mind, Luna shut her eyes. A vision of the last hours Granny Lynch was alive appeared in Luna’s mind.

Even until the last moment of her life, Granny Lynch left the only antidote to Nellie. While she could be a wicked woman sometimes, she was just paranoid and persistent to seek revenge for her daughter all these years. Luna sighed as she thought of those.

Just as she was about to say something, she heard Joshua’s voice from the earbud.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 2372

“Luna, from now on, don’t believe anything they say and just listen to me. You just have to repeat the things I’ll say, alright?” Joshua sounded anxious as he talked gently. “I still don’t believe your mother would say those things, not even if she was drunk, so please don’t be disappointed in her, and don’t think that you can’t face me. Do you hear me?”

“Even if it was your mother’s idea, it was influenced by the feud from the previous generation. It had nothing to do with you.”

Luna shut her eyes and bitterly smiled. ‘Is that so? Does the feud from the previous generation have nothing to do with me and Joshua at all? If it is that easy to let go of the feud between them, then why does Joshua have to live with me in Merchant City for more than a year? Why did Joshua want to settle the deal with the Landry family and the Quinn family? Why did Joshua have to leave again and again?'

The reason why they were back together was not that their love for each other was bigger than the feud between their families. They knew the feud happened because of the Quinn family, and everything else happened because the Quinn family meddled in them. However, what about when Rosalyn tried to kill Granny Lynch? Did the Quinn family place their foot in it, too? No. Based on the evidence from Butler Fred, it had nothing to do with the Quinn family. It was just an idea that Rosalyn had, and Butler Fred and Mickey did it for her.

Could Joshua and Luna start all over with a clean slate? She did not know the answer herself. What she knew was when Rosalyn said it, when she asked Butler Fred and Mickey to do it...the Lynch family had only been attacking the Landry family business-wise.

Even if Granny Lynch did add insult to injury when the Landry family was at its lowest, it was the reason for Rosalyn to kill Granny Lynch.

"Luna." Joshua had probably guessed what Luna was thinking. His voice became more anxious from the earbud. "Listen to me. If you believe in me—if you love me... Don't listen and believe anything they say. Just listen to me.

"We've been together for such a long time. I can solve everything. Please, can you believe in me this time, too?"

It was rare that Joshua would say such things to Luna. As she listened to Joshua's gentle voice, she bit her lip as she gathered her resolution.

After a while, she lifted her head to look at Rosalyn and Butler Fred. "So, both of you really conspire together to kill Granny Lynch?"

In fact, it was not necessary to ask that question anymore. The recording device in Luna's hand had explained everything.

Rosalyn shut her eyes and leaned back on the wheelchair tiredly. Her voice sounded somewhat bitter as she replied, "I think that's correct. I was very intoxicated at that time, too. When I woke up, I didn't remember anything I said. Maybe it was just something I said because I was drunk. However, Butler Fred and Mickey thought I was serious, hence why someone died."

Rosalyn then opened her eyes and looked at Luna apologetically. "Luna, I only knew about it today. Butler Fred told me that you, Joshua, and Jim were investigating the truth behind Granny Lynch's death, and that was why I called you so urgently this morning and refused to let Joshua tag along. I wanted you to know the truth."

She meaningfully stared into Luna's eyes. "Ask Joshua to stop the investigation. I'm the culprit behind it. If he continues to investigate, he'll discover that Butler Fred and Mickey were the ones that..."

"But Butler Fred only did what I told him to. They're not bad people, and they've been working for us for so long. At the very least, they deserve the credit for their efforts."

Luna squinted at this as she slowly pieced the information.

Butler Fred and Mickey found out that Joshua, Jim, and her were investigating it, so they told Rosalyn in advance and had Rosalyn take all the blame so Joshua, Jim, and her would give up on the investigation.

It was a good plan that Butler Fred had come up with.

First of all, this plan would please Luna. Secondly, he had Rosalyn take the fault of being the culprit and let her plead on their behalf. With that, the reason why Butler Fred and Mickey poison Granny Lynch would once again become an incident that happened because of the feud between the Landry family and the Lynch family. Luna sneered when she thought of all this. She turned her head to look at Rosalyn. "Alright, Mother, I'll listen to you. Once I return home, I'll have Joshua stop the investigation."

Then, she looked at Butler Fred and Mickey ruthlessly. "You two truly are loyal to my mother. Not only did you remember everything my mother said to you while she was drunk, but you even executed it and recorded her words to prove your innocence today. I'm impressed with your thoughtfulness."

Butler Fred and Mickey's expressions faltered upon hearing Luna's contemptuous words.

Butler Fred bit his lip and looked at Luna silently. "Ms. Luna, I'm sure you don't know this, but there were too many moles in the mansion during that time, so I had the habit of bringing the recording device with me at all times. I didn't deliberately record Ma'am's words; it was just a habit I had."

After that, he turned around to look at Rosalyn. "Ma'am, I'm sure you can testify for me."

Rosalyn sighed and nodded immediately, “Yes. During that period, everyone was in a state of extreme nervousness. It wasn’t just him, but most of the maids in the house had a recording device with them. I was the one who requested it because I wanted to know who harbored negative intentions against the family back then.”

Lastly, she took a deep look at Luna. “Luna, I’m telling you the truth now because I don’t want you, Butler Fred, and Mickey to have any conflict. On the contrary, I hope all of you can face the common enemy together and manage our house.

“Butler Fred had a long talk with me last night. You’ll be the one to inherit the Landry family and the business. Your brother, Jim, has already started to be unfaithful to the family.”

Luna furrowed her eyebrows tightly by what Rosalyn said. She looked at Rosalyn , then at Butler Fred, and then at Mickey with stone-cold eyes.

Finally, she sneered and leaned on the pillar of the pavilion while looking at the three of them with cold eyes. “Butler Fred, I wonder how you brainwashed my mother that she actually listened to your every word. Jim, unfaithful? Who said that?”

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 2374

Rosalyn’s face scrunched upon hearing Luna’s words, her back straightening against the wheelchair as she glared at Luna. Her hands balled tightly into fists as she slammed one against the armrest of the wheelchair. “What nonsense are you talking about, Luna? How did Butler Fred brainwash me? I meant everything that I said. Jim always has been unfaithful, but you were never aware of it!”

She reached out her hand at Mickey in anger. “Give it to me. I want to show it to her!”

Mickey sighed and opened the briefcase full of documents that he was holding.

Rosalyn took a deep breath. After she had the documents, she slapped them at the stone table in the pavilion. “Have a good look at it. If Jim is that loyal to us, then he’d treat everything in the family as his own. But what is this?”

Rosalyn sneered and looked at Luna as she sneered, "How long have you known Jim? When he used up the tricks in his sleeve to force other companies into bankruptcy, you never knew him!"

Luna furrowed her eyebrows. She took a deep breath and took the documents to read them. The information in these papers, however, stunned her.

These papers detailed how Jim used the money from their family to build up his career. Outside of the Landry Group, Jim owned more than 10 companies, and some of them were huge companies with famous brands that Luna had heard of before.

Each of the companies started with the money from one account. That account...was the family account.

It was the account that Charles and Rosalyn had specially opened for Jim. That money in the account was the profit from Landry Group.

Luna looked at the documents and stepped back at a pace in disbelief. 'How...could that be? Jim really started with a different plan from the very beginning? He... never treated us as his real family? If that wasn't the case, then what's the explanation for these?'

During these two years, the Landry family faced serious trouble. Under the attacks from Joshua and the disasters caused by Malcolm and Heather, Landry Group had not once but many times been on the brink of bankruptcy.

However, Jim had owned many properties and wealth overseas.

The amount of his net worth had exceeded the entire family, yet not once had Jim proposed to help the family with that money.

Luna bit her lip, and her hand started to tremble. She looked at Rosalyn, and then at Butler Fred. "You... You knew it all along."

"Yes." Butler Fred took a deep breath and looked at Luna solemnly. "I was well aware when Young Master Landry did it, but at that time, I truly believed that he was the future heir of the family. That was until you came back.

"I then realized that it is you who should be the one to lead the family in the future."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2375

"After all the outrageous things Young Master Landry did, I finally decided to give all of these documents to Ma'am," explained Butler Fred.

Luna bit her lip harshly. She looked at Butler Fred as she tried to come up with something to argue with, but she came up empty. In fact, she was made clear.

Before she came back, Butler Fred knew that Jim had his own career outside the Landry Group but never exposed Jim, and it was not because he trusted Jim, but instead...

At that time, Butler Fred knew that Heather could never defeat Jim, and sooner or later, Jim would take charge of the family. Thus, Butler Fred never thought of telling Rosalyn about it and had only hidden those documents.

In that case, when Jim was in charge of the household, he would have leverage on Jim, and Jim would have to keep him and his son working in the mansion. They showed the documents to Rosalyn now and had Rosalyn show them to Luna because at this moment, Butler Fred and Mickey thought that Luna, the biological daughter of Rosalyn and Charles, was confirmed to be the one in charge of the family in the future.

Moreover, more than a year ago, when Luna had just returned to the mansion, Butler Fred and Mickey bore no strong allegiance toward her. The only reason they treated her better was that they knew the feud between the Landry family and the Lynch Family was resolved and she had gotten back together with Joshua, so they thought that Luna would have the advantage while going against Jim.

That was why they were so eager to please her and had Jim removed from the family.

Luna took a deep breath and put down the documents.

She looked at Butler Fred and Mickey. "So, you've been hiding these documents for six years, have you? Butler Fred, you truly are a fan of collecting things. You've hidden the recording to prove my mother was the one who ordered you to kill Granny Lynch for more than twenty years, while the evidence to prove Jim was unfaithful to the family was kept hidden for six years."

She smirked. "What about me? Do you have any leverage on me right now? How long do you intend to hide it before showing it to another person?"

Butler Fred and Mickey's expressions turned ugly upon hearing Luna's scathing words.

Rosalyn furrowed her eyebrows, and her eyes were filled with anger. "Luna! What are you talking about? They've been by my side for many years and have been nothing but loyal to the family. You're hurting and disappointing them by saying these things!" "Mother, you're the one hurting and disappointing me now." Luna took a deep breath and glared at Rosalyn." You insisted on taking the blame for being the culprit who killed Granny Lynch. You know that once Joshua, Jim, and I find out that they were the ones that killed Granny Lynch, we'd kick them out of the house and even send them to jail. That's why you took the blame, right?"

Rosalyn visibly blanched at this, and she quickly turned away, refusing to look at Luna.

Luna sneered as she looked at Rosalyn's side profile and said remotely, "I'm your daughter. You know that Joshua and I are in love with each other, and you know we have four kids together. You know we can't be apart from each other.

"When you made that decision, have you ever thought that your daughter's marriage may be affected by it? No! You only care about your loyal servants—whether Butler Fred and Mickey can have the chance to stay in the family!

"But he has the evidence!" Rosalyn clenched her fists tightly and looked at Luna angrily. "You heard the recording, didn't you?"

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2376

"The reason why I'm so disappointed is precisely because of the recording." Luna let out an exhale, fixated her penetrating stare on Rosalyn's face, and took out the recording device once more.

She pressed the play button, and the voice of a younger Rosalyn rang out from the speaker.

"Tell me, Butler Fred: how can Granny Lynch be so cruel? Is she still unsatisfied with what she did to us and how hard we're trying to get by now?"

"You're right—you're absolutely right. If it weren't for her, I wouldn't be in this situation now. I wouldn't even have lost my daughter in the first place!"

Rosalyn's voice echoed through the entire garden.

Luna stared impassively at Rosalyn's pale face as she played the audio. "You think I've never heard what your voice sounded like when you were younger?"

With that, she took out her phone, located the audio file she wanted, and played it. An equally clear but almost entirely different voice rang out. "Samuel, I don't think we should be keeping in touch with each other anymore. You're in love with Lucy, whereas my husband is Lucy's ex...

"I'm concerned that other people—especially my husband – will misinterpret our relationship and think we were the ones who plotted Lucy's murder..."

A man's voice replied, "Rosalyn, you're too kind for your own good. I can't believe that even after the way Charles treated you, you're still constantly putting yourself in his shoes. Can't you think of yourself for once?"

"No, there's no need for that. I love Charles, and he's my everything. Even if he's never going to get better, I'm willing to stay by his side for the rest of my life. I'm content with this..."

The color drained from Rosalyn's face upon hearing this.

Not only that, but even Butler Fred and Mickey's faces had turned pale, too.

After the audio stopped, Luna picked up the recording device and played the recording once more.

"Tell me, Butler Fred: how can Granny Lynch be so cruel? Is she still unsatisfied with what she did to us and how hard we're trying to get by now?"

"You're right—you're absolutely right. If it weren't for her, I wouldn't be in this situation now. I wouldn't even have lost my daughter in the first place!"

Finally, Luna lifted her head to stare at Rosalyn coldly. "Tell me, Mother: which one of these voices is the real you?"

Rosalyn was rendered speechless by the steely tone of Luna's voice. She furrowed her brows and shot her a helpless glance. "Where did this recording even come from?"

A split second later, she could not help letting out a bitter chuckle as she answered her own question. "I don't even know why I asked; of course it was Samuel who gave it to you."

Rosalyn never thought Samuel would have recorded a conversation between them that happened more than 20 years ago and kept it. She closed her eyes and said, “Luna, I was just trying to—”.

“You were just trying to take responsibility for Butler Fred and Mickey’s actions so that they’d be able to continue working for the Landry family.”

All of a sudden, a cold voice rang out from the direction of the house.

Rosalyn opened her eyes and immediately glanced in the direction of the voice.

Joshua, dressed from head to toe in black, ambled gracefully toward them. “However, you failed to consider how much impact this would have on Luna and me.”
