

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2411

It was just a simple question, yet Samuel's expression changed instantly. He looked at Joshua quietly and nodded his head.

Joshua isn't a man devout to God, yet he asked me if he could pray at the statue the moment he came.'

In truth, Samuel knew Joshua's true intention. He looked at the tall, strong man walking slowly toward the statue, and he felt his heart softening when Joshua was about two meters away.

"Joshua," Samuel called out to Joshua. "You can pray later. I have something to talk to you about."

He took a deep breath and looked at Joshua. "It's about...giving all of the Quinn family's valuables to you."

The living room plunged into an eerie silence with those two simple sentences. Luna thought she heard it wrongly, while Joshua furrowed his brow. Even Malcolm, who was hiding behind the statue, paled in shock.

"You're giving me all of the Quinns' resources?" Joshua was the first one to react. His eyebrows knitted together as he looked at Samuel. "Uncle Samuel, did you make a mistake?" Never had Joshua thought of acquiring the Quinns' resources nor asking Samuel to give them to him.

"No. I know what I'm talking about." Samuel took a deep breath. He weakly stood up and walked to stand in front of Joshua, patting his shoulder. "You know...there's actually no one left in this family anymore. My mother is still unconscious, and though she's still alive, there's not much time left for her. Hunter is in prison now and would only finish his sentence twenty more years from now. Malcolm has been exiled and is disallowed to come back here." !

At this point, he could not help but look at the statue and sighed heavily. "I'm the one taking charge of this family now, but you know I've been a priest for more than twenty years and devoted my life to God. I'm not capable of doing business nor do I have the intention to, so it's better to give everything to you instead of letting it wane in my hand. Besides..."

He kept quiet for a while and decided to speak the truth. "Most of the wealth was gained for creating the feud and misunderstanding between the Landry family and the Lynch family. You and Luna are coincidentally from the Landry family and the Lynch family..."

After another deep breath, he smiled at Joshua and Luna. "So, giving all of the Quinn family's resources to both of you is the best approach." After that, he took out his phone and called the butler who was waiting outside, instructing him to fetch the Quinn Group's secretary and lawyer.

"Please wait for a while," Samuel requested.

Once the secretary and lawyer listened to Samuel's wishes, albeit being shocked, they still processed with a professional attitude. "Mr. Quinn, we need time to draft the contract for the transfer of wealth. It can be done tomorrow..."

"No, not tomorrow." Samuel squinted in the direction of the statue meaningfully. "Draft it here and now," he instructed firmly. "I want to sign the agreement with Mr. Lynch now.

Luna was shocked by the sudden turn of events. She subconsciously turned to look at Joshua and then at Samuel, feeling that this was a fever dream. 'But...we're here to ask about Malcolm.'

Joshua said that Samuel had ordered a few people to monitor Malcolm at all times. If they wanted to know if the person with Thomas was Malcolm, it would be the easiest to ask Samuel.

Originally, they wanted to send Lucas to ask a few questions in their stead while they visited Sean and Kate in the hospital. However, Joshua felt that it was better for them to come personally, hence their arrival.

All Luna thought of was asking questions. Who would have known that Joshua, who had never been one to pray, actually volunteered to pray at the statue? More shockingly, the priest himself stopped Joshua from praying and said he wanted to give all of the Quinn family's valuables to Joshua.

Was Samuel crazy, or was Joshua? Was she the crazy one instead? Why could not she understand anything that was happening before her eyes?

"You don't have to understand." Joshua saw the confusion in Luna's eyes. He narrowed his eyes and whispered into her ear, his voice husky, "Just take a seat and drink some coffee. Once you see the shadow behind the statue in the glass window, you'll understand everything."

Luna glanced at her husband warily yet did what she was told. She sat on the couch and took a sip of the coffee. While she was drinking, she looked in the direction to see the reflection of the statue from the glass window. She nearly choked herself with the coffee in her mouth.

She saw it! The shadow of a man was reflected on the glass window behind the statue!

Although the reflection was quite blurry that she could not tell the face of the man, it was clear that the man was wearing a blue with white–striped worker uniform. The uniform was the same as the one she saw in the photo Anne posted on her social media account.

That man who looked like Malcolm wore the exact uniform!

A man wearing the same uniform Malcolm did was in the Quinn mansion, hiding behind the statue that Samuel treasured tremendously.

Luna instantly knew who it was.

Her fist tightened as it all clicked for her. From the moment Joshua entered the door, he had guessed that Malcolm was here in the mansion. He had guessed that Malcolm was hiding behind the statue, so he said he wanted to pray.

Samuel knew Joshua wanted to search for Malcolm, and to protect Malcolm, he stopped Joshua and even mentioned giving Joshua all of the Quinn family's valuables.

Luna bit her lip and looked at Samuel once again. 'Is he going to use all of the wealth of the family in exchange for Joshua to let go of Malcolm once again?!

There was no better reason than this, Luna thought to herself.

She took a deep breath and stood up, standing next to Joshua. Then, she grabbed his hand silently while lowering her voice to speak in a volume only both of them could hear, "Are you going to accept the Quinn family's wealth?"

Luna did not understand why Joshua would agree with Samuel. Even though the Quinn family had a massive net worth, Joshua and the Landry family were not short of any money.

In comparison, it was better to apprehend Malcolm than to accept Samuel's gifting. Malcolm was an unstable variant to them. He could use Riley or use the information he had about them to cause trouble anytime, anywhere.

For example, Thomas Howard. He could only have understood so much about her and Joshua from Malcolm. Malcolm must have played an important part to incite Thomas.

"I'll explain it to you later. It takes more than one or two sentences to sum it up," murmured Joshua under his breath before he took out his phone and called Lucas. He said he was not feeling well and wanted Lucas to bring over some medicine for him.

Looking at how Joshua was talking on the phone with his back against her, Luna pursed her lips silently. This man had been acting very mysteriously ever since he stepped foot in the mansion. She looked at his angular face, wanting to say something, but she was cut off by the lawyer who was a considerable distance from her.

“Mr. Quinn, are you sure you want to transfer all of your wealth and possession to Mr. Lynch? You should know it includes this mansion that you are living in now. If you transfer everything to him, you’ll have to find a new place to stay...” the lawyer said.”

With eyes closed, Samuel sat on the couch with his legs crossed, all while he gently thumbed the cross necklace on his neck. “I’ve already found a new place to stay. Don’t worry; give everything to him.”

At that very second, Luna clearly heard an audible gasp from behind the statue and squinted at the sound. ‘Looks like Malcolm doesn’t agree with Samuel’s decision. Other than troubling Joshua and me, he must’ve returned to regain control over the family to be the head of the family! I bet he didn’t expect to hear his father wanting to give all of Quinn’s family assets to Joshua on the first day he came back to Merchant City in this living room.’

Regardless, Luna was impressed with Malcolm. She knew how much Malcolm cared about his family’s net worth and how much he wanted to be the head of the Quinn family. In a situation to choose between exposing his location and looking at his father giving away everything the Quinns had, he chose the latter decision.

Malcolm wanted to stay in Merchant City, but to see the family’s valuables given for free right in front of him... This had to hurt him more than killing him, Luna guessed.

Since Samuel was persistent with his decision, the secretary and lawyer of the Quinn group looked at each other. Sighing together, they drafted the contract, which took nearly an hour.

In the meantime, Lucas came to the mansion to send Joshua his medicine. Within this dreadful one hour, Luna constantly looked in the direction of the statue unconsciously. Other than the gasp that Malcolm accidentally let out, there was no other sound. She even thought that Malcolm might have fainted because of fury.

“Here you go, Mr. Lynch.” When the secretary and lawyer finished drafting the contract, Samuel opened his eyes. He passed the contract to Joshua with a smile. “If there’s no discrepancy, you can sign it.”

After that, he smiled bitterly. “To be honest with you, I feel relieved and at ease to pass Quinn Group to you.”

Luna could imagine the twisted look on Malcolm's face when he heard what Samuel said. She nearly burst out laughing at the image.

Soon, Samuel and Joshua started with the procedure. To retain the evidence, Samuel allowed Luna, the secretary, and the lawyer to record the process from the side.

When everything was done, Joshua passed the medicine Lucas had brought to Samuel with the document Samuel had authorized. "I noticed how unwell you looked when he first walked in. This is the medicine I had my assistant take from my mother-in-law. It's good for your health."

Samuel, though momentarily stunned at this, accepted the medicine from Joshua and grabbed it tightly. "Thank you."

"I should be the one thanking you." Joshua looked at Samuel again before turning to grab Luna's hand. "It's getting late. We don't want to disturb you anymore."

"Let's go," he said to Luna.

Luna bit her lip when she felt Joshua's large, warm hand holding hers. She subconsciously looked in the statue's direction again. "Are we...going to leave just like that?"

Joshua smiled and pulled her to his form. "Why? Are you going to ask Mr. Samuel to move out instantly?"

Samuel, who was at the side, laughed. "This mansion belongs to you now. If you want me to leave now, I can do that, too."

Luna bit her lip. There was so much that she wanted to say, but once she looked at Samuel's carefree expression, she did not know what to say.

She took a deep breath and looked at Samuel for the last time. "Well, then... Please take good care of yourself, Uncle Samuel."

Malcolm was just hiding behind the statue. He must be feeling furious to see Samuel transferring everything in the Quinn family to Joshua. Since she and Joshua were here, Malcolm did not dare do anything because he was afraid of showing himself to them. What would happen when they left?

Luna was terrified of whatever he could do to Samuel. However...she hesitated when she saw the smile on Samuel's face. It was like there was no more reason for her and Joshua to stay here anymore. Samuel had given Joshua everything in exchange for letting Malcolm go.

"I'll do just that." Samuel smiled and waved at Luna when he heard her words.

“Let’s go.” Luna sighed and finally left the Quinn Mansion with Joshua.

Once they were out of the mansion, they got in the car immediately.

“Don’t worry. Nothing will happen to him.”

Joshua leaned back on the seat tiredly while closing his eyes after the car door was closed. He languidly sat in the backseat. “I have left my people in the mansion. He’ll be fine.”

Luna pursed her lips and immediately changed her posture. She looked at Joshua, who pretended to be sleeping, seriously. “Why did you agree to Father Samuel’s request? We don’t need the money from Quinn Group! But Malcolm...”

“You think that it was unnecessary for me to accept Quinn Group and that I should just capture Malcolm, right?” said Joshua.

Luna nodded vehemently. That was exactly what she thought. Joshua should not have accepted Quinn Group from Samuel and should not choose to let go of Malcolm. If they did not apprehend Malcolm today, who knew if they could do so in the future?

Moreover, Malcolm always wanted to be in control of the Quinn family, and since Samuel gave everything to Joshua...that would just worsen the hatred Malcolm had for Samuel and Joshua! How was that not the same as making an enemy for himself? Luna did not understand it at all!
