

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2591

Once Adrian got the news, he immediately sent someone to capture Rianna and Eanne from the kindergarten. In addition, he humiliated and insulted Rianna right in front of Eanne before sending Rianna off to a mental asylum. Three days later, Adrian released Eanne, who rushed to the mental asylum and discovered Rianna had unfortunately taken her life. Rianna's lifeless hand grasped tightly a letter she had written after she became insane. It was a letter to Joshua, and there were only two sentences in the letter

[I'm your mother. Joshua, I love you.]

Eanne held Rianna's dead body in her arms and cried for a long time. Before she left Banyan City, she found out Rianna wanted to see Joshua before she died, but her request was denied.

The people who returned the message said Joshua said his mother had passed away a long time ago. He even said his mother was a smart woman, not a deranged person.

After that, Eanne never allowed anyone in the Moore family to mention Joshua and the Lynch family. She felt Joshua had the same blood coming from Adrian, that he was cold blooded, ruthless, and only cared about money.

"But..."

After Thomas finished the story about Joshua's mother, Yannie opened her mouth wanting to say something, but she did not know what to say.

She only knew about Joshua from her mother and Luna. The only interaction she had with Joshua was the short period when Joshua asked her to collect Thomas' DNA samples.

All the time, she thought Joshua was a good person because her mother, Mrs. Flores and Luna had praised him well. This was the first time she found out Joshua's father was a scumbag and how miserable Joshua's mother was.

"But what?" Thomas raised his eyebrows and shifted into a more comfortable position on the chair as he stared at Yannie. "After all that I said, are you going to tell me Joshua is innocent? Yes, he was innocent when Adrian tried to kill my aunt when she was giving birth. He was a newborn and couldn't do anything at that time. But what about five years later?"

"He was five years old that year. He couldn't recognize his own mother Gs &*d}f even did something that hurt my aunt so badly. He's an accomplice to my aunt's death!" After that, Thomas closed his eyes. "The blood in his body belongs to that scumbag, so he, too, is a scumbag. Otherwise, why did Luna leave him in that way when she was three months pregnant seven years ago?”

He knew Joshua too well. That was why he rushed over to Merchant City after knowing Riley was in Joshua’s hand.

Because of that, he did not dare to visit Riley as he liked.

“But...” Yannie sighed. “I don’t think Joshua did it on purpose when he was five years old.” If she was a five-year-old and people around her told her that her mother was dead, she would not possibly believe the word of a crazy woman if she was to say that she was her mother.

Thomas snorted and said nothing. Yannie sighed again. “And... You said it yourself: your aunt, who is Joshua’s mother, is a good person. How are you sure that Joshua only took after his father’s genetics and not his mother?”

Thomas furrowed his brow and said nothing to Yannie’s words.

Yannie, assuming that Thomas was considering her logic with his silence, slowly persuaded him, “Thomas, I know you don’t like Joshua that much, but you can’t just determine that he’s terrible because his father was a scumbag and how naive he was when he was five years old.”

No matter how Yannie was reluctant to believe Thomas, she could tell whether Joshua was a scumbag or not. All this time, she knew how Joshua’s attitude was when treating her mother, Luna, his three children, and Riley.

Moreover... Thomas had been in Merchant City for more than a month. Ever since the first day he arrived, he went after Joshua and Luna, even using being the ambassador of Luna’s jewelry company to threaten Luna. Despite Thomas’ challenges and provocation, Joshua did nothing but had Yannie gather Thomas’ DNA specimens in exchange for payment. Joshua tolerated, understood, and took care of Thomas.

Yannie did not believe a man like Joshua was what Thomas said he was.

“So you’re saying...” Thomas smirked and looked at Yannie in disdain. “Even after I told you about my aunt, you still don’t believe me and rather believe in Joshua. Is that correct?” Yannie paused. Obviously, she felt Thomas was upset. She took a deep breath and wanted to explain to him. “I don’t mean that. I just think there’s a misunderstanding between you and Mr. Lynch, so—” “There’s no misunderstanding,” interjected Thomas curtly. “I guess I’m wrong.” Yannie was startled for a moment before joy filled her eyes. “So you admit?” “Of course.” Thomas opened the car door remotely. With a darkened gaze, he sneered, “I should’ve known.” He continued sarcastically, “I should've known when there was a rumor about you and Joshua. I kept telling myself that there's nothing between you and Joshua, but now..." His eyes looked serious. "I finally know the rumors aren't wholly unfounded. Even after I told you about my aunt, you're still defending Joshua, taking his side! From the looks of it, your relationship with Joshua is closer than the relationship between Joshua and Gigi Luna. Well, I'm sorry for getting in the way." Yannie's eyes widened instantly. She stared at the man in front of her and was at a complete loss for words. After a while, she bit her lip and said, "Thomas, after everything that I told you, is this the conclusion you have? Is it?"

She had tried so hard to explain to Thomas that he had misunderstood Joshua and hoped he was not biased toward Joshua, yet he brought out the rumor between her and Joshua to say she was selfish and that there was something going on between her and Joshua! It seemed as though this was the image he had of her. The prejudice he had toward Joshua was far greater than the time they had spent together over a month. She even naively thought he was a good person when she went to visit Riley with him.

She sniffled. "Thomas, I think I was wrong too. I shouldn't..."

"I shouldn't think that both of us have feelings for each other."

Suddenly, Thomas felt irritated to hear what Yannie said and to see tears that were about to leak from her eyes.

Thomas furrowed his brow and leaned back on the car seat. He closed his eyes and ordered. "Get out of the car!"

Yannie bit her lower lip and looked at him for one last time. Then, with eyes glistened with tears, she hissed, "Fine!"

She opened the door, got down from the car, and left without looking back. "Sir, I..." The driver furrowed his brow when he saw Yannie walking off angrily. "Do we need to go after her?" This irked Thomas. "Why should I do that? If she wants to leave, then let her!" After that, he exhaled deeply. "Drive to the bar."

The driver stayed silent for a while before replying, "Sir, you can't drink anymore with your current condition. Why don't we...go after Ms. Yannie and explain it to her?"

Thomas smiled bitterly. "Explain what?" He told her the hatred he had for Joshua because he wanted her to understand him and hoped that she would take his side. The result was not what he wanted.

The people Yannie cared about were still Joshua and Luna. To her, everything he said could not overcome the kindness Luna and Joshua gave to her. To her, anyone else was more important than he was!

This was the first time in Thomas' life that he felt so strongly defeated. He took a deep breath and instructed coldly, "To the bar." The driver could not do anything else and turned the car around, heading to the nearest bar. Nonetheless, he texted Yannie after Thomas got out of the car.

Yannie was standing in front of Joshua's house when she received the message from the driver. She raised her head and looked at the grand, luxurious mansion in front of her. After much hesitation, she decided to enter.

Joshua and Luna were good people, but so was Thomas. She believed that this was all a misunderstanding they were tangled in, and they could all be a whole family if this was brought to light.

She took a deep breath and wanted to enter the house, but there was a notification alert on her phone. She furrowed her brow and took out her phone to look.

It was a message from the driver.

(Mister Howard is in Dark Night Bar. His stomach has just recovered, Ds)!—dlh his liver is still recovering. I'm afraid something might happen to him.] Yannie bit her lip when she saw the message. She wanted to reply but did not know what to type.

Should she go look for him?

At that moment, she recalled how cold and remote Thomas was when he shouted at her to get out of the car.

She hesitated.

After a while, she exhaled deeply, put away the phone, and entered Joshua's house.

Inside, Luna was busy cooking dinner for her children. It was not long since she returned home. She had been busy lately and did not have the chance to have dinner with Nigel, Neil, and Nellie.

Since she had the time today, she decided to reward them. After all, she would be traveling to Europa with Gwen in a few more days, and she did not know when she would be back after being apart from her children. "Luna." Suddenly, Yannie's voice came from the door. She was standing at the kitchen door, looking uneasy. "Is Mr. Lynch at home? I...I wish to talk to both of you about Thomas."

Luna, who was cooking, paused. "Joshua's out working." When Luna returned, she had called him and asked if he was coming home for dinner. It was rare for her to cook dinner, so she had hoped he could come home to eat dinner with her and the children.

Alas, Joshua said he had already made an appointment to meet a business partner in Dark Night Bar tonight. Thus, Luna could feel sorry for him for missing out on her delicious food this time. She was not a person who would disrupt Joshua's work arrangement because she wanted him home to have dinner together.

Despite that, she did not expect to see Yannie here, looking for him. She thought for a while and walked to the door while taking off her apron. "Why don't I call him and ask him to come back now?"

Yannie shook her head immediately. "No, it's fine. It's the same as telling you, too." Luna and Joshua were a married couple, and they loved each other very much. Yannie trusted Luna to relay every single word she said to Joshua. She did not want to bother Joshua from work because of her and Thomas. Luna nodded and started to record with her phone while leading Yannie to sit on the sofa.

Yannie took a deep breath. "Luna, I know for a fact that you and Joshua don't have a good impression of Thomas...but there's a reason why Thomas did what he did."

She looked at Luna and slowly told her about what Thomas said regarding his and Joshua's mother without leaving any parts behind. She even told Luna how Thomas said Luna and Joshua deliberately took Riley to be their own daughter after Joshua and Luna's baby died during birth.

All the while, Luna sat quietly and listened. In the end, she raised her head and looked at Yannie. "Hey, Yannie, do you still not know about...your baby?"

Yannie, who was talking about Riley with Luna, was caught off guard by the question. "My baby?"

Her baby was dead right after she gave birth three months ago, and she struggled for a whole few months to get past it. She did not know why Luna would suddenly mention this.

"Yes." Luna looked at Yannie's puzzled look. She took a deep breath and said solemnly, "Yannie, Riley...is your daughter." Clank!

The glass in Yannie's hand fell to the floor and shattered, the glass-shattering sound snapping Yannie awake. She hurriedly scrambled to squat and clean the mess, apologizing as she did, when Luna stopped her. Luna called for the maid to clean up the mess and dragged Yannie back to the sofa. "Yannie, I know it must be hard for you to accept this, but...Riley is really yours and Thomas' daughter. My daughter was kidnapped on the day she was born, but the people who kidnapped her got stopped by another group of people. So...the person who kidnapped my daughter was afraid that he couldn't accomplish his task, so he went to the hospital and took another baby.

"He took the child from the same hospital you gave birth to, Yannie. That child...is Riley." She took out a DNA paternity report from the bag behind her. "This is the result of the test I got today. Riley is your daughter." The news was like a bomb that exploded in Yannie's brain. 'How could... How could that be? Riley is my and Thomas' daughter?' She bit her lip. The scene where Riley smiled at her when she and Thomas visited Riley appeared before her eyes..

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2595

Yannie remembered how angry she was when Thomas said Riley was her daughter. She even reprimanded Thomas and asked him how many women he had before.

In addition...

Yannie looked down at the white shirt with puffy sleeves and mint green long skirt. When Thomas passed her this outfit, he said it was prepared for Riley's mother.

Therefore...this outfit was hers to begin with, was it not? Yannie bit her lip and accepted the DNA paternity test report from Luna. The report stated that Riley was really her daughter.

She and Thomas were Riley's parents! Her daughter was not dead! She was still alive in the hospital!

She felt her blood rushing throughout her body at these thoughts as she turned to look at Luna excitedly. "Luna, am I... Am I dreaming? I'm not dreaming, am I?"

Riley, her Riley! From the first time she saw Riley, she thought Riley was endearing and adorable. She truly liked Riley a lot to the extent that she promised Luna she would be Riley's godmother.

Over the past month, she would always visit Riley right after she felt wronged during the shooting or after a press conference. Riley's smile was enough to brighten her day. In the past, Yannie thought it was because Riley was too cute and she liked Riley too much to have such an effect. As it turned out...

She looked at the report excitedly. She finally understood why she fell in love with Riley the first time she saw the infant and why her mood would alleviate after seeing Riley. It was all because Riley was her daughter. It was the miracle of mother-and-daughter bonding! "You're not dreaming." Luna smiled lightly and extended her hand out to grab Yannie's hands. "Riley is your daughter. I only found out about it a few days ago."

She was not like Joshua who liked to keep secrets. If she knew about the relationship between Riley and Yannie, she would have waited to tell her.

Yannie nodded profusely, her tears threatening to spill from her eyes due to the sheer joy she felt. "Thank you, Luna. Thank you so much! I know that if it weren't for you Cx}— *glg Mr. Lynch, Riley would be... She'd be..."

She could not say the rest of the words.

Luna sighed and embraced Yannie lightly. "You don't have to thank me. Moreover..." She closed her eyes and sighed. "It's only right for us to take good care of Riley. If my daughter is sick or tortured out in the world... I hope someone could take care of her, too."

Her heart broke when she thought of it.

Yannie had found her Riley, and with that, the duo and Thomas were reunited as a family. What about her and Joshua's daughter? She had been separated from her child for more than three months. Was she doing fine? Was she...
